Executive Summary

Since its inception as the repository of Nelson Poynter’s papers, the USF St. Petersburg library has obtained a variety of rare books, manuscript and audio/visual collections, and other primary sources materials that form the core of our Special Collections and Archives area. This report summarizes tasks, challenges, and accomplishments during the period from July 2003 through June 2004.

Although small in physical size compared to the overall library facility, the Special Collections and Archives area plays a large role in the Poynter Library’s strategic plan:

LIBRARY ACTION PLAN	RELEVANCE TO SPECIAL COLLECTIONS
Maintain Poynter Library’s commitment to intellectual freedom, international perspectives, and cultural diversity in its collections and exhibits.	The special collections librarian has assumed the primary role in developing library exhibits that showcase collections, encourage intellectual inquiry, and celebrate diversity.
Develop print, media and electronic collections to support campus programs of distinction.	Manuscript and monographic collections include excellent resources for the Florida Studies and Journalism programs of distinction.
Expand special collections in marine science, journalism, and local history to provide enhanced resources for student research in primary sources.	The special collections librarian purchases and pursues for donation appropriate academic resources.
Strengthen relationships with other Pinellas County libraries and cultural institutions.	The special collections librarian serves as de facto library liaison with other archives and local history organizations in the Tampa Bay area and maintains active memberships in historical organizations.
Increase community access to and awareness of unique and valuable special collections.	Through lectures, public programs, and outreach to organizations (such as local historical and genealogical societies), the special collections librarian promotes knowledge of and access to our collections.
Encourage the Society for Advancement of Poynter Library’s role as a partner in library advocacy and development.	Initiatives sponsored by SAPL (such as the ongoing attempt to acquire additional presidential signatures) include an emphasis on building special and rare collections.
Pursue donations and grant opportunities to enhance special collections and access to these collections.	As outlined in assigned duties form, the special collections librarian will submit at least one grant proposal or application during 2004.

Respectfully submitted,
James Anthony Schnur
 Assistant Librarian

Estimated Reference and Instruction Statistics (See Also Appendix A)

Statistics for June 2003 through April 2004 include estimates based upon patron visits, email requests, and phone calls requesting research assistance in areas covered by Special Collections. Students and faculty in the Florida Studies Program of Distinction accounted for a significant number of these reference sessions. To improve tracking of patron requests and to understand research trends, the librarian began maintaining a spreadsheet of detailed research requests during the summer 2004 semester. This spreadsheet is included as Appendix A to this report.

Explanations and Definitions

Catalogued Manuscript/Archival Collections: This category includes all manuscript, audio/visual, and USF St. Petersburg archival collections available for use, even if a full and complete finding aid does not exist. Florida Public Records Law mandates access to many documents created by USF St. Petersburg even if not fully arranged and described.

Unprocessed Manuscript/Archival Collections: This category includes materials unavailable for researchers at this time because they require additional arrangement, description, and conservation. In most cases, collections shrink in size after processing due to items consolidated and discarded (e.g., duplicate copies, removal of ephemera not considered historically valuable).

Catalogued Books, Serials, and Monographs: These items appear in the library's public access catalogue and almost always have full bibliographic records. Items are arranged by call number within provenance (John C. Briggs Monographs, Suzanne Davis Hardee Collection, etc.)

Uncatalogued Books, Serials, and Monographs: Materials in this category include donations and other books currently located in the Special Collections stacks that may be added to the collection. However, some items, held as donations, may be placed in the general collection or discarded. The substantial increase in this column reflects a change of 20 linear feet of Briggs serials from catalogued to uncatalogued status. If those materials were not included, the percentage of uncatalogued items actually would have declined by approximately 12.3% during the last year.

Total of All Collections: This category includes all print, audio/visual, and other collections by size, but in some cases "double counts" collections that fall into two categories. For example, the Kennedy Assassination Newspapers, Nixon Resignation Newspapers, and similar archival collections count both as manuscript collections and as serials.

Serials and Manuscripts for IPEDS Report: Summary of all processed and accessible collections estimated by linear feet for statistical reporting purposes.

Cataloguing of Bibliographic Materials (Items Sent to Tampa Cataloguing)

The special collections librarian sends materials without USF holdings and those that require OCLC records to the Cataloguing Department of the Tampa Library. In 2003-2004, the librarian sent materials representing 143 unique holdings (consisting of 157 pieces, or items), as follows:

	Number of Holdings	Percentage of Holdings
Briggs Serials	31	21.68%
Mormino Floridiana Collection	26	18.18%
St. Pete Public Library donations	16	11.19%
Other and Unclassified	70	48.95%
Totals	143	100%

Ninety-one of these holdings were added during the 2003-2004 fiscal year. The balance will be returned from the Tampa Library in the summer and fall of 2004. Appendix E includes a detailed list of these items.

Addition of Holding and Item Records (by Special Collections Librarian)

To expedite availability of materials, if a bibliographic record exists for an item donated to special collections, the special collections librarian adds a holdings record (stpt,spec) and item records (for each barcoded volume). Appendix D includes for a complete list of monographs with copy holdings added by the special collections librarian.

	2003-2004	2002-2003	Change
(See descriptions below for more information)
Bibliographic Holding Records for New Items	59	49	20.4%
Number of Item Records Added for Holdings	63	66
Percentage of Unique Holdings for Poynter Library	69.5%	65.3%

Bibliographic Holding Records for New Items: The number of bibliographic records with special collections holdings added by the librarian during the fiscal year. Some bibliographic records include numerous item records (i.e., a ten-volume encyclopedia has one bibliographic record but ten item records).

Number of Item Records Added for Holdings: The number of barcoded item records added by special collections librarian for materials processed in-house.

Percentage of Unique Holdings for Poynter Library: The special collections librarian adds holding and item records for materials already catalogued within the USF Libraries System. This percentage reflects the proportion of items added to St. Petersburg special collections that are not found in other areas of the Poynter Library, such as reference or the circulating collection.

Original provenance for the fifty-nine bibliographic holding records added in 2003-2004:

	Number of Holdings	Percentage of Holdings
Suzanne Davis Hardee Collection	16	27.12%
Mormino Floridiana Collection	16	27.12%
Harold Sims donation of Cuban studies	7	11.87%
St. Pete Public Library donations	3	5.08%
Retrieved from Fountain Inn	3	5.08%
Other and Unclassified	14	23.73%
Totals	59	100%

Promotion and Outreach Activities

Bibliographic Instruction

In addition to formal and informal bibliographic tutorials for students in History, American Studies, and Florida Studies, the special collections librarian offered classroom presentations to students in political science (including the “Road to the White House” class) and journalism courses. Statistics for these sessions appear in the annual report for bibliographic instruction and reference compiled outside of the department.

Throughout the year, the special collections librarian offered a number of individualized research sessions with students requiring access to materials or additional support. Similar to the Research Assistance Program “RAP” sessions offered through the library’s reference department, these focused meetings allow the special collections librarian to describe academic resources available here and at other repositories. Statistics for these sessions are included in the Estimated Reference and Instruction Statistics of this report as some of the “Research Interviews” and “Research—In Depth.”

Finally, academic mentoring efforts included ongoing meetings with four USF students. Two students writing their honors theses, Amy Kiser and Cristina Gonzalez, included the special collections librarian as a member of their committees. Kiser substantially completed research on her biographical portrait of Gardner Beckett, Jr., during the spring 2003 semester, with continued revisions during the summer. Gonzalez delivered her prospectus on Gabriel Cazares’s impact on Hispanic affairs in the Tampa Bay region during the spring 2003 semester, and continues her research into the fall semester. The academic mentoring of Albert Vogt III and Susan Potter is further described in Fieldwork Supervision later in this report.

Web Page Maintenance

Ongoing maintenance of web pages under the <http://www.nelson.usf.edu/spccoll> domain through the fall of 2003. Approximately one-third of the pages provide general information (hours, location, links to other resources) and remaining pages highlight specific collections or record groups. Some collections include full-text finding aids on the web. Updates did not take place during the spring of 2004 due to a major revamping of the library's primary web pages. Planned areas for revision in 2004-2005:

- Addition of new finding aids and guides for recently processed collections
- An improved primary page for the department
- At the collection level, a summary page that includes descriptive and summary information that could later be moved to a bibliographic or MARC record to describe the collection on the OPAC

Archival Education and Supervision

Fieldwork Supervision

Two University of South Florida students provided part-time assistance during the 2003-2004 academic year: Albert Vogt III and Susan Potter.

Albert Vogt, a graduate student in Florida Studies, received a stipend and was assigned by Raymond Arsenault to assist in special collections. A sample of Albert's duties:

- Physical processing of donations, including the first accessions of the Pinellas NOW and Gabriel Cazares collections, as well as clippings provided by Gary R. Mormino.
- Indexing new acquisitions of oral history interviews, seminar papers, and release forms.
- Indexing of St. Petersburg City Records received on microfilm.
- General shelf shifting and collection maintenance.

Susan Potter, a graduate student completing her degree in Library and Information Science, enrolled in a fieldwork supervised by Kathleen de la Peña McCook during the fall 2003 semester. Her major projects included:

- Arrangement and elementary conservation of part of Hazel Evans papers.
- Processing, arranging, and describing papers of Gabriel Cazares and Pinellas NOW.
