USF Student Constitution Approved; 326 Votes Cast

Murrell Is Disappointed By Poor Turnout at Polls

By RODNEY H. KITE-POWELL

The constitution of the Student Association of the University of South Florida has been ratified by a disappointing 326 votes out of a total possible of more than 1,800. Of those voting, only 16 were part-time students.

The most votes that were cast against any one section was 60 against section 1.1, followed by 54 against section 6.1.6, and 49 against section 2.6. It would have taken 109 votes to send a section back to be amended.

The election chairman, Frank Hancock, said: "It was rather disgusting. These people (students) have as much school spirit as a grammar school. I was extremely disappointed with the turnout. I should remind the students, if you didn't vote, don't gripe."

Extremely Disappointed

The chairman of the constitution committee, Dick Murrell, said: "I was extremely disappointed in the reaction of the students at USF in reference to the ratification of their constitution. The total number voting was ridiculously low. A lack of interest was definitely noticeable."

Civics Units Next on List

"The organization of the civics units will be the next action, followed by the election of the Student Association officers. Then the legislature can take form and begin its functions. The organization of the executive council will perhaps be the most difficult procedure immediately facing the students. The organizational activities will begin by next fall."

The chairman of the interim steering committee, Jim Woodroffe, said: "I was most pleased with the outcome, but much displeased with the turnout. We had at least expected 1,000 votes. We were seriously disturbed when only 326 votes were cast."

Concerns Everyone

Mrs. Phyllis P. Marshall, head resident at the UC, had this to say: "I was displeased because of the number of people that voted. The favorite comment of the non-voters was 'Too much trouble.'

"They are usually the ones that are the complainers. This (constitution) concerns all students, not just the ones who set it up. I think the people who worked on the election and constitution committees really did a fine job and should be commended."

During the period of time when the constitution was being developed and discussed, the constitution committee, the University Center committee, and the staff of the Campus Edition had exerted a special effort to bring all the issues before the students. Evidently the "advertising" campaign was not enough to stimulate student interest.

Sylvia Magee (phone WE 5-8596) won the "Anchor Pool" on the vote and collected $8 when her number of 325 missed the total number of 326 votes by a single digit. Several of the USF ex-Navy men who had rigged the pool were disappointed at their lack of success. One said, "If we can't win at our own game we better try a different way."

CAMPUS ROUNDUP

USF Park Planned

By CAROL MARTIN
University of South Florida

—The University Center Recreation Committee, headed by Tony Anello and Jan Harper is making plans for clearing the area by the river on the northeast corner of the USF campus.

Carol

The committee reports that it has collected almost $100 to buy boats and other recreational facilities for the park area, which will be reserved for university use.

Construction in the area will be limited until the extension of Fletcher Avenue is completed. If construction goes on schedule, the road will be extended from 46th Street to the Morris Bridge Road during May 1962.

The area is almost inaccessible except by jeep, but interested students plan to clear it as soon as they can next fall so that some use can be made of it.

University of South Florida — Beta Lambda Omega, the business leader's organization, has elected new officers. Serving as the new president will be Roscoe Davidson. Other new officers include: Joe Garcia Jr., vice president; Ken Kingery, secretary; and John Engelhart, treasurer.

University of Tampa—A new sorority, Phi Sigma Sigma, has been established at the University. President of the new Beta Sigma colony is Linda Veith. Advisors are Mrs. S. A. Rosenberg and Mrs. Richard Hodges.

Florida Christian College — Sandra Walters has been crowned Queen of May and Spring at the annual Spring Festival. Nancy Middleton was chosen as first maid and second maid was Mary Flannery.

University of Florida — More than 1,200 graduates will hear U.S. Sen. George Smathers speak at commencement June 5. The ceremony will take place at 9 a.m. in the Florida gym.

Florida Southern College — Pat Covello and Jerry Nestos have been elected editors and business manager for The Southern, the school newspaper, for next year. Caroline Seldon is the editor for the 1962 annual, the Interlachen.

Florida State University — Thirteen coeds were recently tapped into Garnet Key, a leadership, service and spirit honorary for upperclass women.

Stetson University — Circuit Judge Hal P. Dekle of Miami will head the Dade county portion of the Stetson University state-wide capital fund campaign. The state fund drive is the first phase of a long-range Stetson program to raise six million dollars for new buildings on the Deland campus.

Indian River Junior College—Ninety per cent of the student body went to the polls last week and elected officers of the Student Government Association for the 1961-62 school year. Bob Ferguson was elected president.

Florida Christian College — The annual jamboree was held recently to raise money for the building fund for a new classroom structure for the college's demonstration division.

University of Tampa — The musical production, "Extravaganza Latina Americana," was presented by the university's Spanish Club. The large cast of singers and dancers was composed of students who enacted scenes from five different countries.

Florida Southern College — Yesterday saw 215 seniors attend their baccalaureate and today they will march down the aisle of the First Methodist Church to be graduated.

Florida State University — The Delta Zeta sorority has taken as part of its national project for the year furnishing the waiting room at the FSU speech and hearing clinic.

University of Florida — A week-long program designed to instill honor in the honor system will greet new students upon their return next fall. The program, entitled Honor Week, will open with dormitory discussions on the honor system and speakers who will emphasize the need to bring honor back into UF's 40 year-old system.

University of Tampa — An exhibition of student work completed by University of Tampa art students this year was on display in the ballroom of the university last week.

HIGH HONOR

Dr. Allen Elected To Testing Board

Dr. John S. Allen, president of the University of South Florida, has been elected to the board of trustees of the Educational Testing Service for a 4-year term.

The Educational Testing Service, which began formal operation in 1948, is now a worldwide organization serving education, government, and the professions in four ways:

1. By performing research in measurement and education.

2. By providing advisory services.

3. By publishing tests for direct use by qualified educators.

4. By conducting tests and service programs. These programs are mainly for admission and scholarship selection, placement, guidance, evaluation, and professional selection and certification.

Best Known for Exams

The ETS is perhaps best known for its Graduate Record Examinations program and for its College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test and Achievement Tests, both used by thousands of persons each year.

Dr. Allen, in accepting the appointment, said he considered it a high honor. He added, "The Educational Testing Service is outstanding because it produces a variety of tests that are used by the leading colleges and universities of our nation. Service with the distinguished educators who make up the board of trustees will enlarge my understanding and improve my competence. In turn, I hope that my service may contribute to the further development of higher education in America."

Other top educators on the board of trustees, which is chaired by Dr. Caryl P. Haskins, president, Carnegie Institution of Washington, include; George F. Baughman, vice president and treasurer, New York University; William G. Carr, executive secretary, National Education Association.

John H. Fischer, dean, teachers college, Columbia University; John W. Gardner, president, Carnegie Foundation for Advancement of Teaching; Mason W. Gross, president, Rutgers; Stuart Hedden, New Milford, Connecticut; Philip J. Hickey, superintendent of Instruction, St. Louis, Missouri.

Arnold E. Joyal, president, Fresno State College; Katharine E. McBride, president, Bryn Mawr College; John D. Millett, president, Miami University (Ohio); Edward S. Noyes, acting president, College Entrance Examination Board.

B. Alden Thresher, director of admissions, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and Logan Wilson, chancellor, University of Texas, and president-elect of American Council on Education.

Headquarters of ETS are housed in Princeton, New Jersey, and the board normally holds its meetings in either Princeton or New York.

Serves as Clearing House

In addition to its present testing programs ETS plans to chart the major areas in which testing research is desirable, encouraging, conducting or arranging for research in those areas, and serving with other testing agencies as a clearing house of information about research projects, according to Dr. Allen.

ETS will also endeavor to promote the general understanding of scientific educational measurement and encourage the maintenance of high standards in testing programs and testing research.

FOR FALL SEMESTER

Planning Committee Directs Social Life

By JIM DIXON

Have you ever wondered how the dances, jam sessions, bridge and chess lessons and trips, like to Nassau, came about? Well here's how.

The University Center Committee asked for volunteers to serve in its various sub-committees during the first semester. Those persons signing up for duty are the people responsible for the activities all of us have enjoyed during this rapidly ending academic year.

Now for a preview of next year's activities, as brought about by a decision of the UC Planning Committee in a meeting held last Monday night. First though, a little credit where much more than a little is due—to the members of the Planning Committee who have taken their time to bring more social activities to our "Oasis."

Committee's Officers

Dickey Davis is chairman of the UC Planning Committee, with able assistance from the vice chairman, John Gallagher.

Cookie Steele records the minutes and bears the burden of keeping up with what this fast moving committee is doing.

The sub-committees consist of: Dance, Huey Floyd and Cookie Steele; Hospitality, Sandy De Diego, Roz Hodgkins and Joe De Alvarez; Recreation, Tony Anello and Jan Harper; Functional, John Gallagher and Fred Jenkins; Lessons (bridge and chess), Linda McKnight; Movies, Dickey Davis; and Music, Mark Morris.

These people have set up the schedule for next year, and have added many activities to the calendar.

Next Year's Activities

For those of us who can't remember dates (me too), classes begin on Oct. 2, with an Open House scheduled Friday, Oct. 6, and the UC Planning Committee has its first major social function on Saturday, Oct. 7, a "Welcome Hop" dance.

Beginning Oct. 16, another new feature will be added to the UC program. Ballroom dancing lessons will be given for those interested every Monday evening from 5 p.m. until 6 p.m. in the UC Ballroom for seven consecutive weeks. The Chairman of the Lessons Committee will have this added to that committee's responsibilities.

For the prospective card sharps seven weeks of beginning bridge lessons are to start on Oct. 18 at 5 p.m. The bridge lessons will be held every Wednesday at that time for the duration of the seven weeks.

Change in Jam Sessions

The musicians are not left out in the planning either. Jam sessions are planned for every third Tuesday of the month with the first on Tuesday, Oct. 17 from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m. And for the "Stero" set, several Thursday's Free Hours throughout the year are set aside as Music Listening Hours.

A new idea in dances will begin with the fall semester also, a matinee dance with a movie following. The dances will begin at 6 p.m. with the movie following at 8:30 p.m.

The first semi-formal dance of the '61-'62 year will be held Saturday, Nov. 4. A Talent Show will be held Friday, Dec. 8, and the big dance event of the year will undoubtedly be the Christmas Formal scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 9. A picnic follows on the 10th for those strong enough to drag themselves out of bed after a formal.

The second semi-formal of the semester will be held Saturday, Jan. 6.

Dances are scheduled for every Saturday night, with several matinee dance-movies on Friday nights. Other highlights include fashion shows, a folk sing, a barbecue and river clean up project, a trip to the University of Florida for a football game, and several play and orchestra receptions.

This is just a brief resume of how the first semester of next year looks, from the eyes of the social conscious student body.

MEETING WEDNESDAY

Students To Aid in Planning

USF students and faculty members will be able to aid in planning for the fall semester at an open meeting to be held at 2 p.m., Wednesday in the Teaching Auditorium - Theater, according to Dr. Howard Johnshoy, dean of student affairs.

The meeting follows a conference-retreat held last Saturday at which students, faculty members, and administrators discussed this year's operation and joined in planning for next year.

At Wednesday's meeting students who attended the conference will report on what plans and suggestions were discussed. After the reports, students will be able to advance their own ideas, or can ask questions of a panel of persons who were at the conference.

Several Times a Year

Last Saturday's conference-retreat held at Chinsegut Hill, near Brooksville, was attended by about 45 students and 20 staff members.

The conference, which lasted most of the day, combined periods of discussion with periods of recreation. Dean Johnshoy said the conference was the first of similar periodic student-staff get-togethers to be held several times a year.

The conference, which got under way at 10 a.m. Saturday morning, was organized into discussion groups where students and staff members discussed such problems as how well this year's curriculum worked, how student life coordinated with academic excellence, and how to be a good sophomore.

How to give the incoming freshmen the same opportunities of the first class was discussed in conjunction with the duties of the upper class.

The university's long range plans were discussed as to what modifications, substitutions, and additional strengths would be needed.

USF Instructor Gets $2,750 for Research

Dr. Thomas W. Solomons, chemistry instructor at the University of South Florida, has received a $2,750 research grant from the Research Corp., Division of Grants, at New York, for research in the synthesis and properties of certain organic molecules.

The amount of the grant is to cover the cost of research for one year in the "Synthesis and Properties of 1,3-Disubstituted - 2,6 - polymethylenepyridinium Salts." These are examples of compounds which will have a very large carbon chain attached at both ends to appear in the nucleus, Dr. Solomons said.

When prepared, the molecules will be a new type of molecular structure which should exhibit unusual physical properties of considerable theoretical interest.

String Quartet To Play June 1

The University of South Florida String Quartet will present a Chamber Music Concert at 11 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. Thursday, June 1, in the teaching theater-auditorium.

Featured in this concert will be Ted Hegvik, clarinetist, and Mrs. Lew Watkins, pianist. Members of the string quartet are: Denise Howorth, Armin Watkins, Edward Preodor, and Sabina Micarelli.

The program will consist of: "Concertino da Camera" by Jacques Ibert.

"Sonata No. 6 for Flute and Piano" by J. S. Bach (arranged by M. Mule).

"Caprice en Forme de Valse for Saxophone Solo" by Paul Bonneau.

"Overture of Hebrew Themes for Clarinet" by Prokofiev and "Quartet in C Minor" by Brahms.

Many Come To See Birds

If for a public relations reason the University of South Florida is interested in a high flow of visitors to the campus it may be best that the university never replaces the university sign on Fowler Avenue blown down by Hurricane Donna.

As it is now, frequently visitors walk into the information office in the Administration Building and ask, "Where's the bird show?" After an explanation they add, "We thought it was a mighty nice looking brewery."

In turn many visitors to the area who visit Busch Gardens (the bird show) then drive on out to the USF campus.

With Schlitz now considering building a major tourist attraction the university may expect some additional traffic. Reports say Schlitz is considering either a marine aquarium or a spaceport. Meanwhile, Budweiser's Busch Gardens continues to send traffic toward USF. Attendance figures at the Gardens on good weeks tops the 40,000 mark.

Mobile X-Ray Unit Schedule Announced

The following schedule has been announced for the county mobile X-ray unit this week:

Tuesday — 6:30 to 11 a.m., American Can Co., Adamo Drive and 22nd Street.

Wednesday—2 p.m. to 5 p.m., American Can Co., Adamo Drive and 22nd Street.

Thursday—10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Farmer's Market, 2801 E. Hillsborough Ave.

Friday — 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., Progress Village.

Saturday—1 p.m. to 7 p.m., Progress Village.

FACULTY ROW

Carrollwood Draws 30 of USF's 135

To date 29 faculty members of the University of South Florida have built homes in Carrollwood, one of Tampa's newer northside developments on Lake Carroll. Another has bought a lot and is studying house plans.

That's 30 out of a total of approximately 135, close to 22 per cent. Vance Packard, author of best seller "Status Seekers," we are sure, would call it "Faculty Row," then subdivide his classification.

It seems that University President John S. Allen, his deans, directors, and chairman grabbed the waterfront lots, most of the professors are bounded by dry land. Besides President Allen, three deans, two directors, and three chairmen hold nine of the 13 lots on the waterfront held by USF faculty members. One chairman who came late had to take a spot in the second row. But he can still see water from windows on three sides of the house.

For most of the faculty living in Carrollwood the trip to the office is about seven miles, a brief jaunt via a road through the orange groves, then Fletcher or Fowler Avenues. Believe it or not, it is frequently a trip slowed down by peacocks and peafowl on the highway along Carrollwood Drive. Most faculty members allow about 15 minutes for the trip.

With the university due to get another crop of new faculty members by Sept. 1, 1961, the present group, plus real estate men, the developers of Carrollwood, and the university housing office are wondering whether will this be a "real" faculty row.

What if the university adds another college, gets another dean? Looks like the developers would have to dig another canal, make another waterfront lot.

Moving up "in status" is Dr. Alma Sarett, associate professor of speech, who now lives in a Carrollwood home across the street from those who live on water. Dr. Sarett now has a new home under construction on the waterfront on Carrollwood Drive. A new rumor says Dr. Anthony Zaitz, associate professor of speech, has his eye on a waterfront lot and a new set of building plans. Dr. Zaitz is presently another no waterfront Carrollwood homeowner.

Students Hear Archaeologist

The University of South Florida was host to Frederick Sleight, noted archaeologist and director of the Central Florida Museum and Planetarium in Orlando, who discussed "Prehistoric Genius in the Americas." The meeting was held last Thursday, at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. in the Science Building, Room 100.

During his lectures at USF, Sleight showed that brainpower was a significant human trait even in prehistoric times and the afternoon lecture included slides on the development of the Central Florida Museum and Planetarium in Orlando.

The USF Events Committee sponsored the lectures.

Professors Attend Two Conferences

Dr. Edgar W. Hirshberg, associate professor of English, recently attended a meeting of the Southeastern Humanities Conference, held on the University of Georgia campus.

Dr. Hirshberg served on the program committee and acted as senior recorder for the conference in the business community.

Dr. Irving L. Webber, associate professor of sociology, has recently returned from Williamsburg, Va., where he served as consultant for the Brookings Institution on housing for the aging. The conference conducted a study to determine major research needs relating to housing the aged.

All Students May Rent P.O. Boxes in Fall

The post office boxes for off-campus students will be available the fall semester. They now are available for the various clubs on campus. An application for postal boxes for organizations must be filed with Dean H. G. Johnshoy who has to verify the fact that they are officially recognized and active. They then receive a box number from the security and communications office located in the physical plant division of the university.

Post office boxes will be located in the new dormitory as well as their present location.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

USF Clubs Do Plenty of Planning

By VIRGINIA MONTES

Among the newest of the women's social clubs here on campus is the Ethelontes. Club officers are president, Lola Wykoff; vice president, Patsy Robles; secretary, Karen Fenely; treasurer, Annette Albrect; historian, Rose Ann Overstreet, and parliamentarian, Elaine Caron.

The two functioning committeees of the new organization are the financial committee headed by Annette Albrecht, and the publicity committee headed by Elaine Caron. Advisors are Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Frank. Dr Frank is assistant professor of mathematics.

The Ethelontes held their first informal social event at Clearwater Beach, Sunday, May 21. The first draft of their constitution is completed, and is awaiting ratification. Plans are now under way for future social events, and the ordering of pins and sweatshirts.

Certainly one of the busiest clubs on campus is the Arete Men's Social Club. Their activities so far this month have included a "spring formal," "decoration" of the water tower and additions to the women's dorms, in the form of a few chickens. Plans to put the goat in Dean Johnshoy's office did not pan out.

Epeltas and Aretes

In the planning stage now for the Aretes, is a party which will be held on June 10 at one of the gulf beaches. Rumor has it that the Aretes were to have their party at Anna Maria Island, until it was announced last week, in this column, that this was also to be the scene of an Epelta party. It seems that both parties were to be held on the same day, so plans had to be changed. (What a swinging time Anna Maria Islanders would have had, with both Epeltas and Aretes to contend with).

Another of the new women's clubs organized this semester is the Siges. Officers include president, Betty Jane Salemi; vice president, Janet Brewer; secretary, Patsy Plott; treasurer, Mary Jane Simms; chaplain, Barbara Newsome; social club council, Cindy Franz, and parliamentarian, Sara Peggy Plotts. Sponsors of this club are Dr. Edward McLean, professor of Spanish, and his wife.

CIEOS Honor Sponsors

The CIEO social club held its last meeting of the year last Tuesday in the UC building. The club honored their advisors, Bruce Flanagan and Dr. Dan Orescanin, for the help and assistance they gave in the formation of the club. Frank Hancock was elected pledgemaster.

At the banquet, the CIEOS also elected officers for next year. Dennis Granda was re-elected president; Jim Whidden, vice president; Rodney H. Kite-Powell, corresponding secretary; Charles Harkness, recording secretary, and Frank Hancock and Kent Howell, social club council representatives.

The Delphis have elected officers for next year. Jan Harper has been re-elected president. Other officers are vice president, Marilyn Pike; secretary, Andre Holland treasurer, Barbara Ellison; parliamentarian, Gretchen Mallory; historian, Sandie DeDeigo; social club council, Ellen West, and pledgemaster, Carolyn Wade.

A banquet will be held in the near future to install these new officers. Projects are also being planned for the summer months.

Sandy Jones, the Delphi representative at the recent swim fest, placed first in the women's diving division.

Tri-SIS Wins Swim Fest

Tri-SIS Women won the swimming meet held on May 20, at the Temple Terrace pool. They placed first in the Women's division, and scored more points than any other organization (including the men's clubs). The club won four first place ribbons, three second place, and three third place. They placed first in the backstroke, 100 yard relay, 75 yard medley, and the 22 yard dog paddle.

Paideia Women's Social Club will hold election of officers for next year at their meeting next week. Club members agree that their candy sales are "going great guns," with very few bars left to be sold.

USF Will Play Host At Dinner

The University of South Florida will host a dinner meeting for the School Health Advisory Committee, at 6 p.m., Thursday, June 8, in the former reading room of the university's temporary library, now known as the State Dining Room.

At the meeting several student projects, created by members of the school health education class at USF, will be presented, and a student evaluation of what they receive from the course will be discussed.

The commitee, composed of health workers throughout Hillsborough County, helped to create the course, which started at the beginning of the second semester. The course is designed to give the student information pertaining to health education on the elementary and secondary levels.

The nine students taking the course are presently teaching on the elementary level in various County schools. Dr. Jean A. Battle, dean of the College of Education, and abont 25 other guests will attend the closed meeting.

USF REPORTERS MEET 'GIDGET' AT DINNER

Miss Deborah Walley, who plays the title role in "Gidget Goes Hawaiian," which opens throughout the state and locally at the Tampa Theater on June 2, is seen between USF reporters Jim Dixon and Wing Preodor at the Columbia Restaurant. The Florida State Theaters invited reporters from all the local high school and college publications to a dinner to meet the 19-year-old starlet. The movie is a sequel to the successful comedy production "Gidget," which starred Sandra Dee.

EDITORIAL

IRON-CLAD POLICY

Since the news of "administration policy" bogging down the clothes issue and the talk of "setting standards," other issues have been brought up that seem to indicate that "policy" is a weak word for the iron-clad position that policy seems to hold.

A few weeks ago, possibilities for a new stereo phonograph for the UC were killed in a meeting of the Social Club Council after Dr. Margaret B. Fisher, in a statement of "administration policy," said that she would be unable to approve the project to obtain the stereo—even if the council voted approval.

The makers of Phillip Morris, Alpine, Marlboro and Parliament cigarettes offered the stereo to the school, in the name of the club which saved the most packages of their products during a certain period of time. Other schools, including U of F, FSU, U of Miami and Florida Southern did take part in the contest.

All of USF's social clubs were interested in this project and many persons were seen counting the packages for several weeks but the damper of "administration policy" snuffed out the flame of student interest, presumably on the grounds of "a lowering of dignity and prestige of the university."

Dean Howard G. Johnshoy, official spokesman on "administration policy," was said to have made the statement "I had you organized and I have the power to disband you," to the Social Club Council after a heated debate on the power of the council, according to reliable sources.

The soft spoken administrators claim they wish no rules or laws as we, the students, should be capable of adult thinking and responsibility, yet they insist on "policy" and "standards" which seem to come from molds of case hardened steel.—J. D.

'Gator Finds New Home

Concerning the "big" alligator that was featured last week in "Campus Roundup," he is now stationed at Jim Lanier's home. The alligator, who was named "Albert," after Albert Latina, teaching associate, has become the favorite playmate of Lanier's 4-year-old son.

Beside the activities of the snakes and alligators mentioned last week, there is also a report of three chickens, which had to be chased out of the girls' dorm by Phyllis Marshall, head resident from West Virginia. Goats have also been seen grazing on the northeast section of the campus.

Business Education Offered in Summer

The Hillsborough County Evening Vocational School will open registration for business education classes at 6 p.m. Thursday at 107 W. Ross Ave.

Courses offered in the summer program are beginning and advanced bookkeeping, beginning and advanced typing, business English, beginning and refresher shorthand, dictation, comptometer, calculator and other office machines.

The classes meet two evenings each week and will be completed by Aug. 3. There is no tuition fee.

Large Crowd Sees Band's Final Concert

By MELVIN REESE

Last Wednesday night the concert band of the University of South Florida gave their final performance of the year in the teaching auditorium-theater.

The band was conducted by Dr. Gale Sperry. This fine ensemble performed before a full house with standing room only. It appears that the band has already gained a large following. This was the first appearance of the band in their new uniforms and they presented a very striking picture.

The opening number of the concert was well handled and showed that the band was alert and ready. The recently published "Symphony No. 6 for Band" by Vincent Persichetti was one of the major works on the program.

The band had some difficulty in handling the dissonances particularly in the brass section. The second movement of the symphony was the most successfully controlled of the four movements and showed the capabilities of this organization.

Dr. Sperry is to be compliments on his delightful composition, "A Bit O'Scotland." This was a very refreshing work and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience although many were not aware of the composer.

Tuba soloist, George Uterhardt and narrator, Dr. Anthony Zaitz gave a most enjoyable and amusing performance of "Tubby the Tuba."

Uterhardt had perfect control of his instrument and produced some surprisingly pleasing tones. Dr. Zaitz not only narrated but made his singing debut which was delightful.

The final number on the program, "Crown Imperial," showed showed that some improvement in intonation of the brass section could be made but on the whole it was performed as well as the other numbers on the program.

During the year this organization has improved with great strides and if it continues to do so we will be able to eventually boast that we have one of the best bands in the nation.

IN RECREATION

Extended Program Planned for Fall

The UC Recreation Committee, under the direction of Duane Lake, UC director, has already laid down plans for student recreational activities during the 1961-62 school year at USF.

Oct. 21 will mark the first big activity, when an excursion boat will leave late in the afternoon from an undetermined site, offering dancing and other social activities for about 400 persons. The boat will return late that same evening.

Community Project—Clean-Up

Oct. 28 will include a party to form a clean-up committee for some worthwhile community project, as was done this past year on several landscaping projects.

The University of Florida will sponsor a Nov. 18 football tour by USF students. The students will visit the Gainesville campus, viewing the annual homecoming game and festivities. The trip will end with a dance the same evening back at the UC on campus.

Jamaica Cruise Planned

The travel-happy USF students will trek new ground during the spring vacation next year, when a trip to Jamaica is in the planning.

The UC is, in actuality, a college union, and is a member of the Association of College Unions, which offers intercollegiate competition nationally in bowling, billiards, table tennis and bridge.

Lake related plans for more extensive participation in these areas by the university next year. "We hope to do a bit of competing in each of the areas on the intercollegiate level, if the interest is high enough."

Good Showing in Table Tennis

This year's participation was limited to bowling and table tennis. USF finished first in the regional table tennis tourney, but no national competition existed. The university finished last in regional bowling, and 76th in national competition.

Lake, former president of the association, coached a national champion in billiards a few years back, "proving it can be done. We plan to enter intercollegiate competition in billiards, including 3-cushion, straight rail, and pocket type."

Campus tourneys will be held in all areas, as the demand calls for them. Lessons will be given in each recreational sport.

Pros To Exhibit Talents

Plans also call for exhibitions by touring professionals in the various activities. "We hope to bring an international table tennis team to USF for exhibition," Lake said, "if the budget allows." Lake also spoke of bringing to the campus a top professional billiard player. This, he said, would call for a special table to be set up in the ballroom, where an admission charge could be imposed to pay the expenses.

Dr. Allen To Speak At Awards Banquet

By JOHN GULLETT

Dr. John S. Allen, president of the University of South Florida, will be guest speaker at the P. E. Majors Club's end-of-the-year award banquet, to be held at 5:30 p.m., Thursday, June 1, in Rm. 167-68 of the UC.

Dr. Allen will speak on "The need for a well-rounded physical education program in a university's curriculum."

The purpose of the cafeteria-style dinner is for presentation of awards for outstanding achievement in the 1960-61 intramural program at USF.

Dave Aycock will serve as master of ceremonies. Other members of the committee planning the event include: Bob Alwood, Jerry Bell, John Bell, Teresa Scott, Martha Johnston, and Dr. Gil Hertz, director of physical education and group advisor.

Champs Honored

Trophies and plaques will be presented to the winning teams in seasonal sports: the Desert Rats, winner of the touch football competition; the All-Stars, champions in this year's basketball competition, and the winners of the softball league, still in progress. The All-Stars need only a victory over the celler-dwelling Enotas, May 30, to clinch the title.

A partial list of individual performers to be honored at the dinner includes: Kent Howell, horseshoe champ; David Jenkins, archery winner; Bob Alwood, free-throw victor. Individual and team awards will also be given for top performances in track and field events.

Tri-SIS Win Again

The athletic-minded Tri-SIS, winners of the women's division of the April 20 Campus track meet, went virtually unchallenged May 20, as they swam to victory in the USF Swimming Fest at Temple Terrace pool.

The club representatives won several events on their way to the women's division championship, with the clincher coming in their first place finish in the 75-yard medley relay.

In the men's department, the Independents scored 28 points in the eight events, finishing ahead of Enotas, who totaled 23. Arete finished third with 17 points.

Miss Sunny Fernandez and Gene McCarthy, physical education instructors, directed the four-hour event, which began at 9 a.m.

Sue Jennings Top Paddler

Winners of the women's events include: Sharon Fletcher, 25-yard free style and 25-yard breast stroke; Arlene Morris, 25-yard back stroke and 100-yard free style relay; Sue Jennings, 25-yard dog paddle.

Male winners include: Joe Casper, 50-yard free style; Dickie Davis and Kent Moss, 100-yard free style relay; 25-ward back stroke, Richard Darby; Ron Antinon, 25-yard breast stroke; Casper, Antinon, Darby, 75-yard medley relay; Roger Newman, 25-yard dog paddle.

In the co-ed diving event, Sandy Jones, Del Phi, and Pat White, Enotas, won top honors.

The 45 participants were directed by Bob Hess, executive assistant of procurement, and Steve McArthur, housing director, who served as official timers and judges.

Aquatics Club Forming

Miss Fernandez displayed a positive reaction to the closing intramural special for the year: "It was very successful. As a result, we hope to form an aquatics club in the fall, for those interested in aquatic activities. Club efforts will be aimed at filling the year with events in this area, such as boating, crew, swimming, and related activities."

USF President Is Honored By 'Gator'

Dr. John S. Allen, president of the University of South Florida, has been awarded honorable mention as "Florida Man-of-the-Year" by The Florida Alligator, newspaper at the University of Florida.

The man who won the award was Bob Park, 29-year-old former student president at Florida. "He was cited for symbolizing student efforts to improve higher education and for inspiring a renaissance of intellectual activity on campus."

Dr. Allen, who was acting president of UF before he came to USF, received honorable mention for "his molding of the newest state university during its embryonic stages."

He was previously cited as Man-of-the-Year and received praise for "his consistent efforts to further the cause of higher education by presenting its problems to the state's leaders."
