"Trumpet Calling" Premiere Hits USF Stage This Week

. . MYSTERY HANDS ON USF CAMPUS?

No, this isn't a USF co-ed with slacks, shirt-tail out, and a low "V" neck wringing her hands before mid-term exams . . . it's Claire Luce, an actress famed for her expressive hands, who is on the UF campus to play the lead in the play, "A Trumpet Calling." Five performances of the play are scheduled for students and the public plus a special preview performance open by invitation only.

Three Professional Actors Star in Leading Roles

By LOUISE STEWART

Highlighting this week's schedule of events is the world premiere of "A Trumpet Calling," written by Broadway playwright Abel Plenn with music by Skitch Henderson. The play is being produced by USF Peninsular Players in coordination with the Dowling Foundation to cover the cost of three professional performers featured in the production—Claire Luce, Linda North and Richard Young. In the original plan, there were to be four principals taken from the ranks of professional performers. However, John Caldwell, associate professor of theater arts and director of the play, felt that Jim Woodall would turn in a better performance than anyone who could be found.

There are five public performances—Nov. 15-18 at 8:30 p.m. and a matinee performance at 3:15 Friday. There is one private preview performance to be staged tomorrow night for a special audience invited by the Fine Arts Division.

Follows Theme

Says author Plenn of the play based on Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter"—"It faithfully follows the main theme. It is a morality play set in the New England environ when the American conscience was being born. It is concerned with contemporary problems which happen to be rooted in the soil of our early beginnings as a community."

According to Caldwell, there are only two other universities in the country operating in conjunction with the Dowling Foundation in this manner — Jacksonville and Florida State.

Old Friends

The reason behind the selection is a personal one for Eddie Dowling. Dick Fallon, the director of FSU's players, is an old friend. The program began with "Assignment in Judea," presented here last year. It was then that Dowling spoke with Caldwell.

The two men later met in Tallahassee where Caldwell chose "The Trumpet Calling" script from a large collection. Originally the play was to have been done in the spring, but the date was moved up because of current interest on Broadway and in the television industry.

Tickets in UC

Tickets for the performance are available in the UC information desk up until one hour before each performance. Prices are 50 cents for students and one guest ticket for the same price; faculty tickets are $1 and the same price for one guest ticket; tickets for the public are $2.

Grant Awarded

A $2,400 grant has been awarded to the University of South Florida by the American Chemical Society for research involving the chemical properties of substances at high temperatures. Dr. Jesse S. Binford Jr., associate professor of chemistry at USF, is specified as principal investigator by the ACS's Petroleum Research Fund.

Civic Groups Form

Starting at noon today, students have an opportunity of signing up for civic units which will in turn elect representatives to form the legislature of the USF Student Association.

This sign-up period ends at 2 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 15. After the sign-up period all students not making a selection will automatically be placed in a unit by the registrar's office.

Sign-up places during the day are the University Center lobby from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., and Alpha Hall from 7 p.m. until 11 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday nights only. Groups will be closed at 113 members.

Completed lists of the members of each civic unit will be posted by Monday, Nov. 20.

The first meetings of the civic units will be held Nov. 23 and 24, ten meetings each day. After the units have been organized, there will be a period of time allotted during which students will be able to move to another unit by trading places with some one in the other unit.

The procedure for assigning students to civic units in future years will be determined by the legislature itself after it is organized.

ATTENTION 'NEW YORK TIMES'—

Mayhew Heading For Stanford U.

The University of South Florida will lose one of its top faculty members before Groundhog Day and the New York Times will have to make a change in its subscription mailing list.

The reason—Dr. Lewis B. Mayhew, director of institutional research and evaluation services at the University of South Florida, has resigned effective Feb. 1, 1962, to accept an appointment as professor of education at Stanford University.

Mayhew

The resignation was announced by USF President John S. Allen. Mayhew's duties at Stanford will include teaching and research on higher education, particularly junior college administration and curriculum. The newly created post is the central position in a Stanford program to train and develop administrators for California's extensive junior college system.

Difficult to Replace

In commenting on Mayhew's departure, Allen said it is "an honor to the University of South Florida and to Dr. Mayhew that his outstanding ability should be so recognized by one of the nation's great universities.

"It is, however, an honor we accept reluctantly," he added. "Dr. Mayhew came here from Michigan State University two years ago as a recognized authority in general and liberal arts education. He has made a great contribution to the planning of the University of South Florida's program, and he will be difficult to replace."

Allen said Mayhew's new position will place him "in a role of leadership and responsibility for which he is well suited. His departure is a classic illustration of the weak bargaining position Florida's universities hold in the competition for top level educators.

Money, Money, Money

"We must be prepared to expect disappointments such as this as long as financial limitations preclude us from attracting and holding men whose services are in demand at more affluent institutions," Allen said.

Mayhew has written more than 50 articles for professional journals and is the author of nine books, the most recent of which is "General Education: An Account and Appraisal," published in 1960. He was associated with Michigan State's Office of Evaluation Service for 12 years, and is in demand as a consultant on problems of higher education.

Allen said no choice of a successor has been made at this time.

UC HIGHLIGHTS

Busy Week for Committees

By MARLENE HENNIS

Applications for positions on University Center committees will be accepted Wednesday. A table where applications may be picked up and turned in will be manned in the UC lobby 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Interviews for all applicants will be held by the UC Personnel Committee in UC 214 Thursday and Friday. All interested persons may apply. Those qualified for positions now open will be contacted after interviews.

For those new to the university who ask "What do the Center committees do?" a surprise is in store. Center committees are the ones responsible for those dances in the ballroom, for the jazz sessions, the train trips and the annual cruise to Nassau, Jamaica or some other interesting place. The exhibits in the gallery lounge, campus tours for interested people, academy award movies and lessons in popular games are all functions of Center committees.

Ten Functioning Committees

If you are accepted as a member, you will be on one of 10 committees. These committees are headed by a chairman who is that committee's representative to the UC Program Council. The Program Council, in charge of deciding on and coordinating what activities the committee will have, is an autonomous group composed entirely of students. Currently the Program Council is composed of a representative from recreation, dance, lessons, movies, hospitality, personnel, cultural, talks and topics, music and exhibits committees. Each of the above committees has at least one opening.

In abstract, the center and its committees fill one of the three most important functions of the university. Its programs affect more people than any other campus institution.

Talent Show Auditions

Talent Show auditions are being held by appointment. If you wish to audition, please ask for a registration blank at the UC information desk and leave possible times when you can audition. You will be contacted and an appointment will be made. The talent show will be on Dec. 8 in the TA. People who participate in the talent show will be eligible to participate in a future "talent booking agency" to be initiated by the UC.

UF vs. Miami

The train trip to the University of Florida vs. Miami University football game Dec. 2 will depart Tampa at 9:30 a.m. and will return to Tampa approximately 9:50 p.m. Tickets will cost $12.50 and will be on sale at the UC information desk until Nov. 15

Jamaica Cruise

There will be a movie on the island of Jamaica, plus an informative talk on the British colony, Thursday, Nov. 16, 2 p.m., in the Blue Room lounge of the UC. Everyone is invited to attend. This movie will show some of the sights that could be seen on the tour that is being planned for February.

Possibility of a cruise other than Jamaica will be discussed at this time, and movies and talks on Nassau, Bimini and the Grand Bahamas shall be available in the future.

Semi-Formal Saturday

A semi-formal dance will be given Saturday, Nov. 18 in the ballroom. The dance will be centered around a Thanksgiving theme and Ray Lucas will provide the music for the evening. Admission will be $1 couple and 75 cents stag. The dance will be 9-12 p.m.

"The Robe"

The nationally acclaimed movie "The Robe" starring Richard Burton, Jean Simmons, Victor Mature and Michael Rennie will be shown Sunday, Nov. 19, in the TA. There will be two showings, at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Admission will be 25 cents each.

"TRUMPET CALLING" CAST AND CREW HOPE THEY ARE READY FOR THE CURTAIN

Two-Panel Discussion Scheduled

Two panels have been organized for the discussion of the All-University book, "The Devil's Advocate," by Morrison West. The first will be held Thursday during the free hour in CH100. The panelists will be Dr. David Battenfeld, assistant professor of humanities; Dr. Robert Heywood, assistant professor of history; Dr. Hans Juergensen, assistant professor of humanities; Dr. Gerald Robinson, assistant professor of zoology, and Dr. Donald Rose, chairman and professor of mathematics. Dr. Robert Warner, chairman of American idea, will be moderator.

The second panel discussion is scheduled for Dec. 6. The panelists will include the Rev. Paul J. Wagner, of Palma Ceia Methodist Church; the Rev. Edwin S. Davis, of Temple Terrace Methodist Church, and the Rev. John Largent.

The panels will discuss questions concerning "The Devil's Advocate," which has become controversial due to its earthiness, frankness and the many issues it poses of good and evil.

P.E.—INTRAMURALS

Unbeatens Lay Records on Line

The intramural touch football season winds up first-half play this week, with three unbeaten clubs riding reins on the 15-team league.

Two of the undefeated squads, the All-Stars and Mauers, will meet this afternoon at 4:30 in a battle to decide first place in the second division. Both clubs hold 3-0 records.

The Enotas took sole possession of first place in the first division last Monday with a 12-8 win over the previously unbeaten Terrible Turks.

An intra-residence hall battle is also slated for this afternoon, between Alpha I-W and Alpha IV-W at 4:30 p.m.

Lots of Action

In other activity this week, the Skeeters and Outer Alpha will meet in a 4:30 p.m. duel Wednesday on Field 2, while Alpha II-W and the Blue Devils square off on an adjoining field.

Thursday will find the CIEOs meeting the Disciples, and Enotas facing Arete in an inter-social club battle.

The Turks have a bye this week, while Alpha III and Epelta clash at a time to be announced today.

TURKEY TROT

The all-campus cross-country turkey trot for 1961 has been set for Wednesday, Nov. 22, announced I-M coordinator Jean McCarthy, physical education instructor.

The 1½ mile race will be staged along the road bordering the basketball courts, around the football and softball areas, to the finish line back on the road.

All social clubs, residence halls and independent groups are allowed to enter a maximum of six men in the race, which is an Activity-Points event. The organization with the first four men finishing with the least amount of points will be declared winner and will receive the live turkey as grand prize. Points are accumulated by rank order of finish.

An individual award will be presented the individual winner.

The deadline for new entries is Friday, Nov. 17 in the footrace, which is slated as the feature of the special events day.

Tentative plans call for a volleyball elimination tournament among the girls' social clubs, residence halls, and independent teams. Demonstrations and exhibitions are being planned by the Sports Car Club, along with organizations connected with archery and gymnastics.

AQUATICS

The Aquatics Club has officially changed its name to the Nautico Club. One of the first activities to be performed under this new title will be a splash party for its members Saturday, Nov. 18 beginning at 2 p.m. at a local lake site providing cookout facilities.

Before they are qualified to attend the festivities, all members will be required to swim 100 yards.

The active group, with over 50 members, meets bi-monthly in workout sessions to improve swimming skills in preparation for a water show they hope to present to the public in the spring.

OFFICIATING

Officials for the intramural events on campus will be scheduled at the weekly meetings of the Officials Club starting this week, according to club sponsor Miss Sunny Fernandez, physical education instructor. The switch was made to give a more equal distribution of game assignments among available officials.

SPORTS CARS

The Sports Car Club will hold a rally and display at 2 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 16, on a campus parking lot.

Dual Program—Honor Awards, Installations

Two students were recipients of high scholarship awards and newly elected Student Association officers were installed in office during a dual purpose ceremony in the TA last week.

Joanna K. Sigfred and Robert R. Borrell, members of USF's charter class, earned the highest grade averages of the nearly 2,000 students who attended the university during the past academic year. The award cups, each engraved with the recipient's name, were presented by the local chapters of Alpha Xi Delta and Sigma Chi. The fraternal organizations have established the awards permanently in honor of full-time students who, during the previous 30 or more semester hours of work, have achieved the highest scholastic averages of students at USF. In addition to the cups which the students will keep, a plaque, bearing the donor organization's name and the student's name, will be displayed permanently in the University Center.

Newly elected charter officers of the Student Association installed were: James Woodroffe, president; Frank Meiners, vice president; Dave Aycock, treasurer; Sandi Marti, recording secretary; and Paula Paster, corresponding secretary.

Representatives-at-large to the student legislature include: Rocoe Davidson, Jackie Diaz, Fred Frey, Don Gray, and Sandy Jones.

Reserve Group Visits Campus

Dr. Jack Fernandez, assistant professor of chemistry, spoke to members of the "Chemical, Biological and Radiological Survival Class" of the 9879th Air Reserve Squadron which met on the USF campus, Monday, Nov. 7.

Lt. Col. Edmund Wool, regular instructor of the class, made the arrangements for the visit and while on campus the group made a campus tour under the guidance of Lt. Col. James Parrish, a member of the class and an associate professor of English on the USF faculty.

Calling Someone In Alpha Hall?

Calling Alpha Hall? While on the campus a caller may go to the information desk in the University Center and ask the attendant to help locate the party.

Those students who are off campus and want to make a call, can dial WE 8-4131 and ask for Alpha Hall. The switch board operator takes calls from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. From Saturday noon through Sunday calls are taken at WE 8-4130. To get in touch with residents upstairs in the University Center, call WE-9986.

TEAS, HAYRIDES

Fraternal Groups Plan for Holidays

By MARLENE HENNIS

Fraternal societies on campus are beginning to make plans for the holidays and many are engaged in varied activities. The picture this week looks like. . . .

CIEO: Plans have been made to order lavaliers, blazers and personalized stationery sometime in the near future. A Moonlight cruise is in the makings for December, along with a water party?

Enotas: Miss Marci McDougald was selected as the club sweetheart. Miss McDougald is a freshman and a graduate from the Academy of Holy Names.

John Ward and Ken Keebler were elected football captains for the Enotas football team.

A hayride was given Saturday night in Plant City. Members and dates attended the event and the party was the usual success.

Ethelontes: Officers for the 61-62 school year have been elected, they are: president, Annette Albrecht; vice president, Lola Wykoff; secretary, Elaine Caron, treasurer, Virginia Montes; Inter-Fraternal Society representative, Rose Ann Overstreet.

FIA: New officers for the 1961-62 school year have been elected. They are: president, Jackie Chancey; vice president, B. J. Tynes; secretary, Eileen Stanton; treasurer, Judy Shelton; chaplain, Lynn Nichols; pledge master, Karen McKay.

Social events on the calander for this semester include a hayride and a Christmas tea. The hayride will welcome the pledges into the club. The tea is planned so that the parents may meet the girls and other parents.

Dr. and Mrs. Heywood have joined Fia as advisors.

FIDES: Fides had the pleasure of being entertained by the Tri-SIS Nov. 4 to a luncheon and pool party at the home of one of the Tri-SIS members. Pledges from both clubs provided entertainment and much fun was had by members of both clubs.

PAIDEIA: As a Thanksgiving service project, Paideias are providing prayer cards for the cafeteria tables and preparing a food basket for the needy. Plans are being made to adopt a child from the children's home.

TRI-SIS: Saturday, Nov. 4, Tri-SIS, once again took an important step toward developing one of their goals, sociability. The club formulated a plan of inviting one of the other clubs for a get-together. This they hoped would give the girls, from the different clubs, a chance to get to know one another better and at the same time would dissolve any barrier between them. The guest at this first gathering were the FIDES. Tri-SIS enjoyed them tremendously and hope that the other gatherings to follow will also prove as successful.

'Earnest' Tryouts Coming

Tryouts for Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," the Peninsula Players second show of the season, are scheduled for next Monday afternoon and evening, Nov. 20, at 3 and 8 in UC264.

Callbacks from these preliminary readings will compete for final casting the next day, Tuesday, Nov. 21, at 3 p.m.

All readings are open to both university students and the public.

"Earnest" rehearsals are slated to begin the following Monday, Nov. 27, right after the Thanksgiving recess. The play, which opens for four performances on Jan. 25, will rehearse for three weeks before the Christmas vacation and three weeks after.

"A witty, elegant farce set in great-grandfather's London at the turn of the century, 'Earnest' has been one of the favorites of our stage for better than 60 years," says new USF director Jack Clay. "The show features a cast of nine, seven principals and two small parts, including two of the most famous comic roles in all English comedy," added Clay.

Stage designer Russell Whaley is planning authentic Victorian scenery, two detailed interiors and a garden exterior, and a set of elaborate costumes. "It has more ornate scenery than any production the Players have done so far," says theatre head John W. Caldwell.

Reading copies of "Earnest" are available in the Reserve Room at the library.

Students To Learn Rapid Reading

"The University of South Florida will offer several experimental sections of Accelerated Reading next semester," according to Dr. Sidney French, dean of the College of Basic Studies.

Two of these sections, 01 and 29, will be the second semester of existing Functional English sections. Another will be offered other freshmen whose registration has been approved by their advisors. Dr. James Parrish and Dr. Robert Zetler will continue to teach the existing sections. The other section will be taught by a professor who has taken the Rapid Reading course this semester.

In the three remaining sections which are to be offered on a non-credit basis, priority will be given to sophomores. Each of these sections will be taught by a team of two faculty members who have taken the Rapid Reading course presently being taught by Dr. Robert Zetler and Dr. William Bott.

"Since there is great interest on the campus in this program, admission, up to the limit of 90 for these three sections, will be by permission slip," stated Dr. French. These slips may be obtained on a first-come first-served basis in the office of the College of Basic Studies. When the sections are filled, a limited number of alternate or stand-by slips will be issued.

Freshmen wishing to register for the one Accelerated Reading Functional English section will follow a similar procedure.

All slips must be countersigned by the advisor and presented to the registrar with other registration papers.

This course has not been designed for students who are having serious difficulties in reading. These students should take the Developmental Reading course.

Four Students Dismissed

By WING PREODOR

The first disciplinary action resulting in suspension from the University of South Florida was taken last week.

Four students were charged with taking three paintings from the University of Tampa Saturday, Nov. 4, at approximately 2 a.m.

The students were Hank Seamon, Eugene Lenorke, Jerry Weeks, and Stuart Arrow.

They were dismissed on suspension with the condition that they may be readmitted after an undetermined length of time. At that time, they will be required to submit their application for admission to Dean Howard Johnshoy, dean of student affairs.

One of the boys stated that they were wandering around the University of Tampa with two other boys, Mickey Lantz, and Mike Neifeld, when they came across the pictures and decided to take them. They took two mosaics and one oil painting.

They slipped the paintings out the window into their car and brought them to Alpha Hall here on campus. Arrow said that they tried to decide what to do with the paintings. Finally they decided to return them as soon as possible without involving their school.

However, before any action could be taken to return the paintings, Mike Niefeld informed residence assistant Pete Hammond of the theft. Hammond contacted residence instructor Pat Distasio, who sent the boys to Dean Johnshoy, who issued the disciplinary action.

Arrow — Johnshoy

Stuart Arrow stated "I feel, due to the fact there was no malicious intent, that the punishment was too severe. The statement of policy in "Pipe Line" is to the effect that first offenses will be considered errors of judgment, and only after continued violation will extreme disciplinary action be taken. This was our first offense."

Johnshoy said that in a college situation an individual must be responsible for his own actions, and calling an action that is, in reality, stealing a "college prank" does not excuse it.

Seeks New Members

The USF Foreign Language Club is presently campaigning for new members in an attempt to raise its current roll of 25.

The club, organized to promote the study of foreign languages at USF, is making preparations for United Nations Day, March 14, when they will have a cultural display on campus.
