Revised Guide with Second Accession,

Introduction to the Collection

Mr. Norman E. Jones, Jr., donated a variety of museum brochures, directories, and ephemera related to African American historic sites throughout the United States and Canada. These materials, collected during his many travels, provide illustrative examples of how historic museums and other public history venues commemorate the legacies of African Americans. Mr. Jones delivered these items to the Nelson Poynter Memorial Library at the conclusion of a lecture he offered on campus as part of a 2004 Black History Month program on 17 February 2005. The library received a subsequent accession of materials in the summer of 2005. Staff merged these accessions into a single collection as reflected by this finding aid.

Preservation Note

The materials in this collection occupy five acid-free document boxes. While preservation measures may slow the physical deterioration of such items, these steps cannot prevent damage from occurring.
