FRAMED IN SPANISH MOSS

Halooed by the Florida sun and flanked by the Florida State flag and the USF banner, Old Glory lightly furls in the evening breeze. This picture was taken especially for Patriot's Day April 19 when USF will have a four-minute bell ringing spree. The National Commander of the American Legion has urged all Americans to demonstrate patriotism and opposition to communism with the ringing of bells across the nation. The plan is for every bell, chime, and carrillon to ring for a period of four minutes at 1 p.m. on this Thursday. At USF, the bells will begin at four minutes before 1 and continue until the hour, in order not to disrupt classes. USF flies two U.S. flags daily, except weekends, in front of the Administration building and on top of the library.

Humanities Building Work Progressing

By CHARLOTTE ANDERSON

Since the beginning of February, work has been progressing on the new Humanities Building. It is being erected at a construction cost of approximately $1,400,000. After the building has been furnished, the total cost will be around $1,700,000.

Designing architects for the building were Watson and Co., architects and engineers, of Tampa. Plans were coordinated by the board of control architect, The Clutter Construction Co. of Miami is constructing the building. This company is also putting up the new residence hall.

Largest on Campus
Soon to be the largest building on USF campus, the Humanities Building will cover 100,000 square feet and will contain 29 classrooms. The Chemistry Building, second largest, contains 16 classrooms. In addition to classroom space, the building will be the center for courses in the fine arts division.

The south wing of the building is planned for the use of the music department. It will contain private practice rooms, choral and band rooms, and musicology classrooms.

Fine Arts Offices
The center wing will hold general classrooms for humanities courses, faculty offices, and the administrative suite for the director of fine arts.

The visual arts department will be in the north wing. There are plans for room space for design, painting, ceramics, a kiln room for ceramics, etching, jewelry design, and a sculpture studio.

The physical portion of the building is to be finished by June of 1963. It will be furnished and ready for use by September of that year.

Registration Card

Any student who plans to attend the summer session should pick up an "Intent To Attend Summer School" card at the Information Desks in the University Center or the Administration Building. This card should be completed and dropped through the slot in the door of the Registrar's Office, AD2064. Early filing will insure adequate preparation for maximum convenience at the time of registration.—L.M.S.

USF Quartet Will Present Final Concert

The University of South Florida String Quartet will present its final concert of the semester on Wednesday, April 18, in TA, at 1 p.m. and at 8:30 p.m.

In contrast to the past presentations of the quartet, usually featuring several short compositions, the coming concert will consist of two longer chamber works, the "Divertimento in E Flat" for string trio by Mozart and the famous "Death and the Maiden Quartet" by Schubert.

The trio will be performed by Edward Preodor, violin; John Tartaglia, viola, and Margery Enix, cello.

The quartet will be performed by Preodor, violin; Armin Watkins, violin; Tartaglia, viola, and Mrs. Enix, cello. The public is invited to attend either the matinee or evening performance. There will be no charge, but a general admission ticket is required. Reservations may be made by calling 988-4131, ext. 266, or tickets may be picked up at the box office immediately before the performance.

NEXT PAPER APRIL 30

New Registration System Gives Students More Say

Proposals, Subject to Change Go Into Effect for Trimester

By BILL BLALOCK

The Academic Standards Committee of the university has approved several recommendations regarding registration for the first trimester in the fall, according to Dr. Sidney J. French, dean of academic affairs. The proposals, all subject to revision, have been approved by the Executive Committee and the Student Advisory Committee of the University Senate. The recommendations will go into effect in the immediate future and should mark a great improvement in registration procedure at USF.

Johnshoy Resigns, Leaves in June

Dr. Howard C. Johnshoy, dean of student affairs, announced his resignation from the University of South Florida staff last week but declined to say why or what were his plans for the future.

USF Ranked 10th Place In Debate

Bob Bickel and Charlie Money have just returned from Austin, Tex., where they represented the USF in the Southern Speech Association's Annual Invitational Tournament, March 31 through April 8. They represented the university in five events and picked up Excellent Awards in Speech to Entertain (Bickel) and Congressional Speaking (Money). The other events were oratory, extemp on current affairs, and standard debate. USF ranked 10th out of 27 attending universities.

In the congress session, Bickel and Money succeeded in passing their bill which recommended placing the John Birch Society under investigation with the possibility of putting it on the subversive list. There was great opposition, especially from Auburn, but Money gave a clinching speech which brought an ovation from other "Senators."

Representing USF's only form of intercollegiate competition, the debate squad has placed high in most of its tournaments in varsity division even though the students are only on the sophomore and freshman levels. Other members of the squad are: Bernard Zaidman, president; Louise Stewart, vice president; Henry Benafield, Joel Blum, Larry Felix, and Armando Sanchez.

Started in the early fall of 1960, the squad has been active for two academic years. Its final membership at the end of the first tournament season was limited to four: Bob Bickel, John Kondelik, Marcella Torres, and Bernard Zaidman. These four recently received gold pins embossed with green letters—USF and DEBATE—honoring the year of pioneer debate for USF's 1960-61 season.

The club is open to all interested parties showing any debating potential. Those desiring to join should contact Dr. Herman Stelsner, the squad's sponsor, in UC252.

For some time rumors had flooded the campus that the dean was leaving. But no official word was forthcoming until the USF News Bureau prepared a release last week naming his replacement. When asked by the editor of the Campus Edition for any comment, Johnshoy said he believed it best not to say anything at this time as he still has more than two months to serve before leaving June 30.

Johnshoy came to USF in January 1960 from Ball State College at Muncie, Ind., where he held a similar position.

Lost "Battle of Shorts"

Johnshoy, who held one of the three top-level positions in the USF organizational structure, was well known to students. In developing student activity and student association he tangled with campus leaders frequently. One of his major battles was over the wearing of shorts on campus—from the number of shorts still seen it is agreed the dean lost the battle although short shorts seem to have disappeared.

One of Johnshoy's latest battles was with the GDI Journal which was banned from the campus but which the editors claim will make a strong comeback in the future.

Successor Named

Meanwhile the board of control named Johnshoy's successor in a meeting Friday. Named to fill the position was Dr. Herbert J. Wunderlich, 55, dean of students at Kansas State University, a post he has held for seven years. A graduate of the University of Idaho and Harvard University, he received his doctorate in history and education at Stanford University.

Prior to his appointment at Kansas State, Dr. Wunderlich was dean of students at the University of Montana for seven years. He has also held deanships in the area of student affairs at Stanford and Idaho.

The new USF dean was a commander in the U.S. Navy during World War II. He is married and has one son, a third year medical student at Stanford.

New Plan

Under the new registration plan, students will be able to select preferred sections of course offerings. Dean French said that it should be pointed out to students that merely selecting courses and times preferred would not insure receiving them. Dean French said that the expected increase in enrollment would necessitate scheduling 40 per cent of all classes in the afternoon.

The new plan includes a move toward separation of the advising and registering operations. The student has the responsibility of selecting course sections after consulting with his adviser and planning a schedule that is free from conflicts.

Centralized

Actual registration will be more centralized into an area type program. This means that all registration, other than advising, will take place in one area. This recommendation was made in an effort to shorten the length of the registration process.

Course IBM cards will be issued by representatives of the colleges under which a course a student wishes to take is listed. This means that a freshman taking basic studies courses will receive his section assignments from the College of Basic Studies. Under this system, it is possible that a student would receive class cards from several different colleges prior to completing registration.

Cards by Colleges

Representatives of all the colleges will be available to students in the same area at the time of registration.

In explaining the reason for distribution of class cards by the colleges at the time of registration instead of by the Registrar's Office, Dean French said the new plan would enable the deans of the different colleges to know immediately when sections are filled and make possible opening of new sections with less loss of time. French added that this system would make it more likely that a student would receive courses needed for graduation or a major.

Easter Vacation Includes Monday

The Easter Holiday has been extended to include Monday, April 23, and the Memorial Day holiday, May 30 has been cancelled, according to Dr. John S. Allen, USF president. The extension received final approval from the University Executive Committee April 11.

The idea of canceling the Memorial Day holiday, scheduled for a Wednesday in May, and adding a day to make a longer holiday for Easter weekend, came from the Alpha Hall Council.

The Council's suggestion was sent to Dean Johnshoy and copies were sent to President Allen and Jim Woodroffe, president of the Student Association.

Executive Committees Approve
The University Executive Committee, consisting of Dean Sidney French, dean of the College of Basic Studies; Robert Dennard, business manager; and Johnshoy, approved the Hall Council's suggestion for consideration by the Student Association Executive Committee and the University Senate.

According to Woodroffe, the SA Executive Committee approved the change unanimously and sent its decision, along with letters from all the Senators, back to the University Executive Committee for final approval. Meanwhile, the University Senate members gave their approval. Woodroffe stated that the advantages of the change overshadowed any tentative plans which may have been made for the scheduled mid-week holiday in May.

According to Allen, this will be a University holiday for students and staff. All offices and the Library will be closed April 20-23. Classes will resume on Tuesday, April 24, and May 30 will be a regular class day.

Women's Club To Name New Officers Today

The University of South Florida Women's Club will meet at 3 p.m., today in the Library Lounge at which time the nominating committee will announce the slate of officers for the 1962-63 year. The main speaker at the meeting will be Mrs. Katherine Nunez who will discuss "Art Glass."

Mrs. Nunez also deals in the selling of furniture of estates. She will have a display of antiques and also her rare books on antique collection.

Mrs. Harris Dean, chairman of the ways and means committee of the University of South Florida Women's Club has announced that the Campus Store is selling note paper depicting various campus scenes. The proceeds from these sales will go to the USF Scholarship Fund.

Pneum'ia Deaths Cut By Drugs

By W. C. ALVAREZ, M.D.
The National Tuberculosis Association has published an interesting folder called, "Pneumonia, the Facts." As many people know, there is a broncho-pneumonia, which affects only part of a lobe of a lung, and there is a lobar pneumonia, which involves one or more lobes of the lung.

Years ago, with a lobar pneumonia, a person would have about one chance in four of dying. We doctors then had no remedy of any value.

Lobar pneumonia is caused often by germs and often by a "pneumococcus." Under the microscope, these germs look like little round dots.

As we all know, pneumonia can come when the person has been severely chilled, or has had a severe cold, or perhaps has been drinking heavily, or has an accident like a broken hip, which causes him or her to have to remain in bed for a while.

Today, many pneumonias are avoided by quickly getting old people out of bed and into a chair, and then using a "walker."

Those of us who were living in 1918 can remember that during the terrible epidemic of influenza, there were many persons who had a pneumonia and died of it. Many of us know also that pneumonia is more likely to come during the winter. Men are more likely to get it than women. Even children can get a severe type of pneumonia, perhaps after measles or whooping cough.

Often we doctors speak of a terminal pneumonia which helps a sick old person to leave a life that perhaps is no longer worth living. Alcoholics often end up with a pneumonia.

In cases of pneumonia, a high white blood cell count is likely to indicate a bacterial cause, while a low count will suggest a virus infection. Sometimes, if penicillin won't work, streptomycin or aureomycin will. One trouble with bronchopneumonia is that sometimes there is a relapse, and the patient gets sick again after he has appeared to be on the mend.

Often a pneumonia begins with a shaking chill. Then the temperature shoots up perhaps to 103 or 104 degrees; the patient may get much pain in his chest; he is good and sick, and he begins to cough. He may have what is called red or rust-colored sputum. In the old days, all the doctor could do was to hope that the man would soon have what is called a "crisis."

Often, this came in a week or on the ninth day. If he didn't get a crisis, he was likely to die. Today, with penicillin and other antibiotics to help us, often the relief obtained is dramatic; it comes quickly, and few people now die. The big danger comes when a person has a virus type of pneumonia because unfortunately, few viruses are affected by antibiotics.

Brochopneumonias are usually not so severe; and often the patient has only what looks like a bad bronchitis. The disease often attacks children who have measles, or it can come after an operation when it seems to be due partly to the ether that was given. The temperature may not be high. The disease may last from five to 10 days and the person is likely to get well without a dramatic crisis.

Correction—Just For the Record

Below is a letter received from Robert Dennard, USF business manager. The staff of the Campus Edition attempts to be as accurate as possible in its reporting and in event of error we welcome letters which set the record straight. This letter was received too late for processing for the last edition but is run today in the hope of presenting the facts as soon as possible.

Miss Wing Preodor
Editor, USF Tampa Times
Tampa, Florida.

Dear Miss Preodor:

I should like to call attention to a misstatement which occurred in the article concerning faculty salaries in the Monday, March 26, 1962 edition of The Times. There has been a great deal of publicity about various amounts of money and serious question as to the intent of the legislature and the usage of this money.

One of the amounts of money which has created so much concern, is the $1,300,000 mentioned in that article and stated as being for faculty increases. The $1,300,000 figure was developed in response to a request by the Board of Control for the institutions to show that they could give any merit increases. At no time was the $1,300,000 ever specifically earmarked for faculty salary increases. The amount of $1,300,000 was stated by the work sheets developed by the institutions as being available for faculty salary increases and other purposes. If there is any figure in existence specifically appropriated for faculty salary increases, it is the $623,000 figure. The work sheets of the House Appropriations Committee clearly set out the $623,000 figure as being available for faculty salary increases for the second year of the biennium.

To repeat, the $1,300,000 figure was developed by the several institutions merely to show that they could cover the $623,000 figure, plus other adjustments, should the board be willing to allow these adjustments. The final action of the Board of Control on this matter would appear to be a sound fiscal decision, in that it is impossible to predict at this point in time what the impact of the third trimester will be on each of the institutions. They have therefore required each institution to budget a contingency reserve to cover any unexpected increase in enrollment for that third trimester. The amount of money finally allowed for merit increases for the faculty by the Board of Control will permit a substantial adjustment upward in faculty pay. While we will not catch up to the 20 institutions with which we have been comparing, we will have made substantial progress toward catching them during the current biennium.

Sincerely,
Business Manager

USF Forum To Discuss Cuban Problem

"Which Way Cuba?" an exploration of the Cuban situation and its implications on United States foreign policy, will be featured in the Search for Truth forum series at the University of South Florida Tuesday, April 17, at 11 a.m., in CH 111.

Dr. Edward F. McLean and Dr. Charles W. Arnade, USF faculty members, will be principal figures in the discussion. Dr. McLean, assistant professor of Spanish, received his bachelor's degree from Universidad de Oriente at Santiago, Cuba. Dr. Arnade, associate professor of history and political science, specializes in Latin American history and government.

Dr. Russell M. Cooper, dean of the College of Liberal Arts at USF, will be the moderator. The forum is open to the public.

SA To Attend April SUSGA Convention

Dr. Robert J. Decker, associate director of student personnel, and four student officers including Frank Meiners, president; Skipper Smith, vice president; and Lee Moffitt, treasurer, will attend the Southern Universities Student Government Association convention at Clemson Agricultural College in South Carolina, April 26, 27, and 28.

The conference will feature 16 panel discussions on all areas of student government and student life. An open forum on "The Role of the Dean and the Student Personnel Administrator in SUSGA" will be given the first evening.

CHINSEGUT CONFERENCE

Student-Faculty Retreat Helpful

STUDENT VS. ADMINISTRATION

Almost simultaneously Dr. Decker, associate director of student personnel (left) delivers a talk on the whys and wherefores of policy administration and John Bell (right) makes a point against him. They were participating in one of the afternoon discussion groups at Chinsegut Hill. The subjects under discussion were conduct in the library, and student dress. Some students were advocating a list of written rules. Decker felt that college students should be mature enough to discipline themselves in these areas.

The future of the annual Chinsegut conference-retreat is not clear, but everyone agrees that this year's meeting, held April 7 at Chinsegut Hill, was a successful instrument of cooperative achievement by students and faculty. "This is the place," Dr. Sidney J. French, dean of the college of basic studies commented at the close of the conference, "where both administration and student voices mix to discuss philosophically the problems of growth."

French pointed out to the 37 student representatives and 17 faculty members, who met on the grounds of the old southern plantation and botanical paradise for the three and one-half hours of small-group discussion concerning certain areas of operation at USF, that the university is expected to reach a student enrollment of 12,000 by 1970.

USF Growing
Because of its rapid growth, USF needs to continue conferences of this type, according to French. "Possibly next year's conference should be titled 'Becoming seniors,' and the following one 'Becoming Graduate Students.'"

The rash of compliments almost hid the remarks of new student association president Frank Meiners, who was quoted as saying the "Conferences in the future will be devoted, primarily to planning sessions between old and new officers and members of the organization."

Concrete Results
"The real worth of the meetings is difficult to determine for the discussion was presented on the philosophical level. 'In this respect it is not clear what accomplishments were made,' commented Robert J. Decker, associate director of student personnel. "But a close look at what came out of the discussions shows some very concrete achievements."

"The conference has proven that the university officials and the students can make improvements through harmony, in addition to the head-butting method. I think the conference was a success. There appeared to be agreement on that point among others attending the conference, financed by the student association."

Rights vs. Status
"In the discussion of rights vs. status," group secretary Fred Jenkins related to the members of the summary session, "It was pointed out that students do not have the rights they should have, mainly because status has priority, and students don't holler about things that don't allow freedom."

unless they are affected directly. In many cases students are not even aware of their rights.

"One source of dissension stems from the neglect on the part of the faculty and administration to give explanations for certain decisions affecting the students."

"We look to them for leadership, they should look to us with explanations."

Campus Publications

The campus edition of the Tampa Times did not escape criticism. One member of the group felt the staff should headline controversial matters rather than meetings and events of little interest. However, in another group, after hearing the financial problems and the little support the campus edition student staff receives, many thought it was doing a creditable job. However, the future of all campus publication programs are on shaky ground until the university hires a journalism professor—an on and off situation for more than a year.

In the discussion on organization, secretary Ronnie Lerner reported, students inquired as to the exact procedure of putting a new bill into operation on campus. Members of the group felt a committee on curriculum should be appointed to inform students of the purpose of each committee.

PA System

Ralph Tindell reported the results of the communications discussion, on the problem of lack of communication between students and administrators. A public address system could be utilized in the university center, to serve as a supplement to the newspaper.

Robert L. Dennard, business manager, pointed out the decline of yearbooks on college campuses at the present time. The remark was in response to a brief discussion on the difficulties the USF yearbook is facing this year.

No Yearbook?

"Class identity is lost," commented Dennard, "more than ever now with the trimester system coming into effect. There is really no reason for a student to pay for something that doesn't offer him something in return."

INFORMALITY IS THE KEYNOTE

These members of the Chinsegut conference have noted the informality of the atmosphere interfere with their serious contemplation of the business being presented by the speaker just out of the picture on the left. Lack of furniture does not seem to have hindered attendance at these discussions.

SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN

Seated in the foreground are Pam Morales, Paula Paster, John Bell, students, and Dean Martin of the College of Basic Studies.
