Freeman Slated for Grilling

WASHINGTON, May 7 (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman faced questioning by newsmen today on his department's relations with Billie Sol Estes, Texas farm tycoon who was indicted on fraud charges.

Freeman scheduled a news conference at 10:30 a.m. EDT, his first since Estes was indicted last month. The news session came amid new Republican demands for a broad inquiry into the Estes case.

Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., said he had written Freeman urging him to testify before the House Agriculture Committee to clarify agriculture department officials' dealings with Estes and "restore public confidence" in the department.

Last Thursday, Freeman said government investigators had found no evidence that his department had given Estes "one bit of special favoritism or special privilege." In fact, he said, Estes had been forced to pay a marketing fee for planting more cotton than his allotment permitted.

Estes parlayed price-supported cotton crops, revenues from grain storage operations and fertilizer deals into a multimillion dollar business from his Pecos, Tex., base.

He served Freeman as a consultant on the National Cotton Advisory Committee until he was indicted.

Disclosures in the Estes case by Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson at Texas Courts of Inquiry have resulted so far in:

Firing of William E. Morris, a veteran Agriculture Department employee.

Resignation of Emory E. Jacobs, former deputy administrator.

MRS. ELIZABETH HANAWACKER

Mrs. Elizabeth T. Hanawacker, 108 N. Fremont Ave., widow of Edwin M. Hanawacker, died yesterday in a local hospital.

A native of Magnolia Springs, she had resided in Tampa for the past 45 years. She was a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. George E. LaFountain, Tampa; two sisters, Mrs. La Norah Peter, Indianapolis, Ind., and Miss Winifred Tucker, Ocala; two grandchildren, George (Sonny) LaFountain and Miss Renee (Bunny) LaFountain, both of Tampa.

DEAFNESS RESEARCH "PAYS OFF"

TAMPA, May 5 (Special)—Hearing problems and the necessity of paying premium prices for conventional hearing devices may now be a thing of the past.

Unfortunately, however, only 70% of those who are afflicted are adapted to this amazing A.V.C. Aid. A technical test must be made under exacting conditions to determine the person's sensitivity and adaptability.

As a public service, this test is being made available without cost or obligation through the cooperation of the National Hearing Aid Center located in Suite 205 at 308 Tampa Street. If an appointment is desired, write, or phone 229-6885.

—An FBI investigation of former Assistant Secretary James I. Ralph.

—Rep. Ed Edmondson, D-Okla., discharging Mrs. Alice Morris, wife of William E. Morris, as his secretary for failure to explain her connections with Estes—chiefly her employment as a columnist on an Estes newspaper.

Freeman's aides have refused to divulge much information about the department's dealings with Estes, claiming it would be improper to do so because the FBI is investigating. This defense has brought on two congressional investigations and demands for at least two more.

The Senate Investigations Subcommittee, headed by Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., and a House Government Operations Subcommittee, headed by Rep. L. H. Dornan, D-N.C., expect to hold public hearings on the Estes matter in about a month.

Republicans have demanded that both the Senate and House Agriculture Committees also conduct inquiries. They noted that Estes was a heavy contributor to the Democratic Party.

Estes is free on bond and his vast financial empire is in receivership. His creditors are arguing among themselves how to divide up what is left of his assets—if anything—after the government's interests are taken care of.

J. W. Hall, Businessman Here, Dies

James W. (Sam) Hall, 49, president of the Hall Maytag Co. at 4610 Florida Ave. for 12 years, died Saturday at Mound Park Hospital in St. Petersburg. He was 49.

A long-time resident of Tampa, Mr. Hall recently moved to 906 35th St. N. in St. Petersburg.

He was a member of the Sunshine Kiwanis Club of St. Petersburg, Masonic Lodge 185 of Tampa, the Egypt Temple Shrine of Tampa. He was also a member of the Emanuel Baptist Church of St. Petersburg.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gladys Hall of St. Petersburg; two sons, Ray Wendell Johnson and Gary W. Johnson, both of Tampa; six brothers, R. H. Hall and W. L. Hall of St. Petersburg and Martin Hall, J. T. Hall, Rayburn Hall and Edward Hall, all of Abbeville, Ala.; four sisters, Mrs. Inez Scott, Mrs. Helen Tye, Mrs. Rebecca Kelley, all of Abbeville, Ala.; one nephew, Marvin Hall, St. Petersburg, and several other nieces and nephews in Alabama, and five grandchildren in Tampa.

Services will be held at the Florida Avenue Baptist Church in Tampa Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Beautiful Words

PITTSBURGH (P)—Dr. Mario Pei, a linguist with "a knowledge of 100 languages," was asked on a recent visit to Pittsburgh to name the most beautiful words in certain languages.

He chose these:

English—murmuring.

Latin—susurrus, which means whispering or rustling sounds.

French—lac, meaning lake, and fleur, meaning flower.

German—Lorelei, the name of a Rhine maiden.

Serbo-Croatian—rajan, meaning king.

Japanese—yuki, meaning snow.

Italian—sterno, meaning eternal.

Spanish—iglesia, meaning church.

Out of Goldfish Bowl

NASHVILLE (P)—It thrives in some people's goldfish bowls, and the Tennessee Valley Authority is out to get rid of it.

It is a pesky fern-like growth called water milfoil which has moved into TVA's vast network of dams and reservoirs. TVA officials say the plant is used in goldfish bowls, later poured down the drain and eventually winds up clogging the intake screens at hydroelectric plants. The small weed is even blamed for increasing the mosquito population.

Dilly of a Guard

HEREFORD, England (P)—Parading outside a little white-washed cottage in the nearby hamlet of Lower Eggleton is Dilly—probably the most unusual "house guard" in Britain.

Dilly, now in her 18th year and blind from birth, is a Khaki Campbell duck.

For 17 years, she has maintained a guard over the house of her owners, Miss Winifred Evans, a seamstress, and Miss Elizabeth Burnett, a retired schoolteacher.

Blindness is no handicap to Dilly. When strangers appear at the cottage gate, she promptly issues a challenge with a series of high-pitched quacks and a violent flapping of wings.

If the visitor does not halt, she attacks.

For familiar friends such as the postman, newsboy and milk woman, Dilly's quack is less strident. She recognizes them by their footsteps and voices.

"There never has been any question of Dilly ending her days in the oven," says Miss Burnett, "she's a perfect guard despite her blindness."

Delinquents Assigned

CINCINNATI (P)—Juvenile Court Judge Benjamin Schwartz has organized an experimental religious training program for young offenders.

Each weekend groups of 15 to 20 boys are sent to nearby church camps where they spend Saturday in a work and recreation program and Sunday morning in church services.

When the youths return Sunday afternoon they and their parents are counseled by workers of the local council of churches, the Salvation Army and the Catholic Archdiocese of Cincinnati.

Plans are under way for a similar program for girl offenders.
