Announcements & Gossip fit to print:

HAPPY THANKSGIVING!!!

The library conducted a Library Safety Seminar on Tuesday, October 31, 1995. The meeting was facilitated by Officer Margaret Carr. Prior to the meeting, the staff had divided into small groups and worked on solutions or responses to scenarios describing different types of safety related issues and occurrences in the library. The staff felt the seminar was very productive. Thanks to Lanny Greaves for all his support in this effort.

Regina is asking for help with a display on Egypt. Maps and other objects representing Ancient Egypt are needed. If anyone has materials or knows of someone please contact Jackie or Regina.

Public Services News:

From Tina Neville: Reference sources

I have been planning to begin a reference log or card file to record frequently asked reference questions/sources. This could be particularly useful for those faculty assignments that require the entire class to locate some obscure source or fact. I know that this is a common practice at many institutions and it might help to avoid duplicate efforts and/or lead us to sources we may not have considered.

Signe has placed a red folder (in the Princeton file at the reference desk) containing a list of some business sources which she has found useful for frequently asked business questions.

If any of you have similar information that you would like to share, please feel free to add it to the red folder.

A reminder from Reserves:

We are finding quite a few items misshelved in Reserves. One binder was found on the little book truck, and the fine was mounting.

PLEASE be very careful when discharging and replacing items.
