Introduction and Provenance

In December 1993, Dr. Hugh W. Cunningham, a former professor of journalism at the University of Florida, donated two distinct newspaper collections to the Special Collections room of the USF St. Petersburg library. The bulk of the newspapers document events following the November 1963 assassination of John F. Kennedy. A second component of the newspapers examine the reaction to Richard M. Nixon's resignation in August 1974. This finding aid will assist the researcher who wants to examine issues in the Kennedy Assassination Newspaper Collection.

Restrictions/Preservation Note

The acidic paper often used on printing presses has promoted the rapid physical deterioration found in some titles of this collection. To prevent further damage to the Kennedy Assassination Newspaper Collection, refrain from placing any additional stress on the paper fibers by folding or creasing newspapers, or by exposing them to light for an extended period of time. Please report any tears or other damage so library staff may take appropriate preservation or conservation measures. While no restrictions limit access to the newspapers, library staff will evaluate photocopying requests on an individual basis to ensure the long-term preservation of this unique collection.

Scope and Contents

The 409 individual issues represented in this collection occupy 13 storage boxes and offer a broad geographic diversity of newspaper accounts from 45 states. Duplicate copies bring the total number of single issues to 418. This collection serves as an excellent primary source for a "slice-of-life" analysis. By examining these newspapers as cultural artifacts, the researcher may study journalistic reactions to Kennedy's assassination, as well as evaluate the relationship between this "headline" story and other articles that appear in the paper.
