Festival Program - Start with Reading to Infants

View this email in your browser

A spring celebration of literature in the Sunshine State.

Behind Baby Talk: Why Reading to Infants Really Matters

Let's read to our newborns, infants, and toddlers.

It's crucial!

Estimates are that up to 85% of brain development has been completed by the time children are 3 years of age.

Join us for a seminar presented by Dr. James McHale, Director of the USF St. Petersburg Family Study Center and Past President of the Florida Association for Infant Mental Health.

CHILDREN WELCOME! The Junior League of St. Petersburg will read to children while parent or guardian attends the seminar. Every child will leave with a free book!

- ❖ COST - FREE but you must RSVP to intern@stpeteartsalliance.org
- ❖ The first 25 registrants will also receive Hey! Wake Up! a good-morning book with the irrepressible language, the inimitable illustrations, and the irresistible cast of characters only Sandra Boynton can create.
- ❖ DATE – Monday, March 9, 2015 at 6:00 p.m.
- ❖ WHERE - Childs Park YMCA, 691 43rd Street South, St. Petersburg
