ANOTHER NEIGHBOR NEAR USF CAMPUS
Another neighbor to the USF campus is this modern apartment project completed across Fletcher Avenue from the north entrance to the campus, near the University Center. The architectural style, Florida contemporary, ties in with the university buildings. Students rooming in the apartments must obey university housing regulations as enforced by the apartment manager. The apartments are rented from $100-$125 per month. Occupancy will be possible before September 1.

AN EDITORIAL

After-Dinner Reflections

Bread may be the staff of life but it is also a bone of contention at this university today. From gourmet to gnahh! was the gamut of opinions about the food here at the University of South Florida. Some of those interviewed had specific pet peeves, others disliked everything in general and some had no complaints. Unfortunately the latter group was a very small minority.

One of the most often mentioned faults was the service of cold food, especially at breakfast. Perhaps only those who are submitting to the brutality of a 7:30 a.m. class are familiar with the sight of a cold egg and bacon congealing on their plates, but almost everyone has been faced with a plate of cold stew at lunch.

Also mentioned frequently was the fact that with a large number of people in line desiring hot sandwiches, only one hamburger is grilled at a time on a quite sizable grill.

Lack of variety and prices received about equal attention from those interviewed. Most felt that the price of the main course items is a little excessive since several additional items are necessary in order to obtain a well-balanced meal. This can easily run well over $1 which is a little steep for those of us who must operate on rather rigid budgets.

We do not wish to be unfair and certainly most of us are aware of the difficulties involved in trying to adequately serve good food to several hundred people three times per day. It did occur to us, however, that the company which holds our food concession franchise would not prosper if they offered in their commercial establishments in town the type of service and food which they offer us here. Certainly they cannot please everyone but we feel a greater effort could be made in that direction.

At a time when the university hopes to establish a good student feeling and keep students interested in campus activities it seems unfortunate that each mealtime sees a large exodus of both students and faculty to restaurants that have recently opened nearby. Food has long been an effective instrument for bringing people together in good fellowship and establishing good relations and it would certainly profit the university if something could be done to remedy the conditions of our food facilities. Surely there must be a clause in the Food Franchise contracts that protects the university's rights and would allow some changes to be made!—T. S.—

FOOD SERVICE

Comments Aplenty On USF Cafeteria

Service and variety seem to be the major complaints of food service at USF. Recently a survey was made on Campus; several students and a few members of the cafeteria staff were interviewed.

The responses varied and are such as the following:

Butterfly Problem

A mysterious sign has been appearing in classrooms of the University Center. The sign reads as follows:

"ALL-UNIVERSITY PROBLEM—Can you work the Butterfly Problem? It is on the blackboard in rooms AD 1030, AD 2007, AD 2011 and AD 2073. Investigation revealed actual existence of the problem, a trigonometric enigma. The problem reads as follows:

Given: circle with center O. Construct: (a) chord ab which is bisected at c

(b) chord ghd and eif—points h and i are on ab

To Prove: chord ch equals chord ci

Hint: first try to prove that chord ah equals chord ei

The problem when drawn reveals chords forming the shape of a butterfly in the circle—hence the name.

Anyone with information regarding the origin and purpose of the so-called "All-University Problem" please contact the Campus Edition in UC 60 or AD 1070.

Books Are Bulging

"The USF Book Store is bulging at the seams," said John P. Gorie, Manager of Service Activities. "There doesn't seem to be any immediate relief in store for the situation at the present time."

Mr. Gorie feels that we are at a loss, because we can't add the many paperback editions that are available. "There are, at the present time, approximately one thousand good editions available from just one company," but we have no room for them.

According to Andrew Rodgers, Director of Procurement and Auxiliary Services, "There is a great need for more book space on campus and a request has been made to the Legislature; however, this won't be taken up until their second meeting of next year."

'Berlin' Forum Topic

"Berlin and the German Question" will be the topic of a forum at the University of South Florida tomorrow, at 1:30 p.m. in CH 100. Doug Pidgeon, program director of radio station WDAE, will moderate.

Panel members will be The Rev. George Hill, minister of world affairs for Palma Ceia Methodist Church; Holmes Alexander, editorial writer for The Tampa Tribune; and Dr. Robert W. Heywood, assistant professor of history at the University of South Florida. The forum is open to the public.

ETV Facility Okayed By Board Of Control

Programs Will Be Classroom Variety

An educational television station may be in operation on the University of South Florida campus in about a year as a result of action taken at the last meeting of the State Board of Control.

The board authorized the University to apply for federal assistance to establish the ETV facility, which will be a low-power UHF (ultra high frequency) channel covering the campus and immediate surrounding areas.

"Perhaps—I'd say this is a very liberal kind of guess—perhaps a year from now we may be very close to being on the air," said Robert A. Brown, radio-TV coordinator for the Division of Educational Resources.

Brown outlined the preliminary steps necessary in establishing a station, which include applying to the Federal Communications Commission for a channel in this area, and said there seem to be no great problems involved.

No Westerns!
For the immediate future, the majority of programming would be of the classroom variety, with a few special events such as concerts to be telecast from time to time. Brown emphasized that the station will not attempt to compete with other local television stations, WEDU, the educational television station which serves the West Coast area, concentrates heavily on classroom programming for public schools and has little or no time available for the college credit courses which will be telecast from the University.

According to the University's proposal for the station, the broadcast facilities will be used only for educational purposes, which will include "the systematic instruction of students in a wide range of academic pursuits and the training of students in the College of Education and Liberal Arts in television broadcasting techniques."

Radio, Too
An application has already been filed for a campus FM radio station, Brown said, and both stations will have studios in the basement of the Library.

In making his proposal to the Board of Control July 19, President John S. Allen said the total cost of the station would be approximately $200,000. Of this, the state legislature has already appropriated $100,000, and the board agreed to ask $75,000 more from the next legislature and $25,000 from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

For Campus and City
The station would make educational television available to existing University buildings, to new ones as they are built, and to many students in their homes in the Tampa area, Dr. Allen told the board. He recommended the broadcast station in preference to enlarging existing closed circuit television facilities on the campus.

A commercial station in St. Petersburg, WSNV-TV, has been operating on a UHF channel for years, and as a result many homes in the area have sets equipped to pick up UHF broadcasts. Under a new federal law, all new sets manufactured in this country are required to be equipped for UHF reception.

USF Gallery Hosts Sarasota Art Exhibit
An exhibit of some 34 works by Sarasota artists opened yesterday at the University of South Florida Gallery.

The exhibit, assembled by the Ringling Museum of Art for the University, is a follow-up to the Jacksonville artists' exhibition of last month, assembled by the Jacksonville Museum.

The works represent 12 Sarasota artists, including such nationally famous artists as Gabriel Kohn, sculptor, and Jon Corbino and Syd Solomon, painters. Solomon was the recipient of the Purchase Award for USF's First Annual Invitational Exhibition, Florida Artists, last year.

The Gallery, located in the University Library, is open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, and 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. It is closed Saturday.

MAKES HONOR ROLL
Another name was added to the spring semester honor roll last week as Stephen Randall Shannon had a grade of "X" removed and entered the select circle. It is possible others may leap into the select group by the end of summer school.

Meanwhile, those on the Honors List will be recognized at the opening convocation, Sept. 10.

Course in Community Planning Offered
A course in Community Planning was offered for the first time this summer at the University of South Florida. Social Science 415 is a graduate course provided by the General Extension Division of the Florida State University. Sixty hours of class attendance during a three-week period was required of all students for three hours of college credit.

Social Science 415 was taught by George A. Sanford, director of planning, Lakeland, Florida. Sanford, a graduate of Georgia Tech, reported he had nine students enrolled in the class; each student came from different communities in Florida.

Sanford was assisted in the planning of this course by the following men: Dr. Ernest Bartley, Gainesville-Zoning; Bill Young, Urban Renewal; Frederick Riggan, FSU, Local Government; Dr. Winthrop, USF Statistics; and Dr. Fuson, USF Geography.

UM Editor At Author Series
"Most writers are faced with one of two problems—either they don't know how to write or they don't know how to write," quipped Mrs. Marjorie Stone- man Douglas, editor of the University of Miami press.

Elaborating, Mrs. Douglas explained to the Meet the Author gathering that those who don't know how to write have been written with the ones who can't write but try to go to established authors to relate their imaginative tales.

In telling about the works of an early Florida writer, Mrs. Douglas noted that his vivid writing, "Xanadu," was the basis for the poem "Kubla Khan" by Samuel Coleridge.

During the meeting, Mrs. Douglas told about the work of the university press, the work of contemporary authors, and the great field of research and historical writing that is wide open for young writers.

This was the last of the Meet the Author series for the summer session.

British Film, Forum Highlight Activities

"I'm All Right, Jack" is the featured British film to be shown today at 4:30 and 8:30 p.m. in the TAT. The union members in the factory strike; but he, being a non-union, continues to work at the factory, as the lone employee. The press gets hold of the story, and excitement begins.

Book Store Annex
One of the most urgently needed accommodations will also be included in the Core Unit. This will be a fourteen hundred square foot annex to the book store.

A new cafeteria and main dining room will be located on the ground level; there will also be two private dining rooms. One interesting fact about the situation of the new cafeteria is that the kitchen will be located on the same floor; this will help solve the problem of serving the food while still hot.

A study lounge and restrooms will also occupy the ground floor.

The second level of the Core Unit will be quite inviting.

There will be a large activity area—to be used as a ballroom also. There is great hope of having a Baby Grand piano located in this room for entertainment.

There will be a private dining room, which will be connected by sliding doors to a game room. These can be used separately or together as one large unit—depending on the need.

At one end of the second level there will be another private dining room, which will also be connected by sliding doors to a party lounge. These, too, can be used together or separately.

Visitors' Apartment
An apartment will be available for visiting lecturers, to accommodate them during their stay on campus.

Perhaps one of the most inviting bits of news is the fact that the second level will house a 3-4 chair barber shop for the men and a 5-chair beauty salon for the women.

MASS DEMONSTRATIONS SPUTTER

Albany Protest Showdown in Court Today

ALBANY, Ga., July 30 (AP) — The faltering mass demonstration phase of this Deep South city's lengthy integration fight headed today for a court battle over marches, picketing, boycotting and other activities.

With 266 persons arrested last week, Negro followers of the Albany Movement showed no inclination yesterday to join their leaders in hot and often crowded jail cells.

Efforts to stage a demonstration produced three persons from a crowd of several hundred. The three went to city hall, prayed and left.

A hearing is scheduled this afternoon before Federal Dist. Judge J. Robert Elliott who has been asked by city officials to permanently enjoin integrationists from protest demonstrations and other activities.

Elliott, in a temporary order 10 days ago, granted such an injunction but the temporary decree was stayed by a higher court four days later.

However, the stay does not prevent Elliott from acting on the question of a permanent injunction.

Contempt citations are being sought by the city against several persons and organizations named in Elliott's original order.

Meanwhile, integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., jailed here Friday for the third time, lounged in blue silk pajamas yesterday and spent his time reading, writing and listening to a transistor radio. His cellmate is the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy.

King fasted for the first 24 hours as is his custom when jailed. King and Abernathy were among 10 Negroes arrested for refusing to disperse after staging a prayer session in front of city hall.

King's aide, the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker, tried to arouse several hundred Negroes at the mass rally.

"Today is a fateful day," Walker said. "This is a decisive moment in the history of Albany." Then he called for volunteers for a demonstration.

Three men stood up. They later went to city hall, offered prayers and left quietly. Police ignored them.

Police Chief Laurie Pritchett said he believed that large scale demonstrations had ended.

The Albany Movement, Pritchett said, "to be almost non-existent." He said there was a lack of interest and "the people are tired of going to jail."

He disputed statements made on NBC's "Meet the Press" by Dr. W. G. Anderson, president of the movement, who substituted for King.

Pritchett dismissed as unfounded Anderson's prediction that unless the federal government acts, Albany would become "another Little Rock," with racial clashes.
