NEW UNDERSIZED TROPHY CASE

The University Center's new trophy case is admired by officials after USF's intramural trophies were transferred from the library. The case, located on the first floor of the University Center near the north entrance, has already been filled to capacity with plaques and trophies which are awarded annually to champions in the intramural athletic program. From left to right are: Murphy Osborne, intramural coordinator, Dean Herbert Wunderlich, dean of student affairs, and Dr. Gil Hertz, director of physical education. For details on the season's opening Sept. 24, see story below.

Intramural Season Opens Monday

By JOHN GULLETT

Volleyball and bowling kick off play Monday, Sept. 24, in the third season of USF intramural athletics, according to new intramural coordinator Murphy Osborne Jr.

Osborne and bowling are the only additions or changes from last year's program, which counted more than 1,000 participants in the dozen or more activities directed by Jean McCarthy, then intramural coordinator and instructor of physical education.

Last year's bowling play was conducted within the recreational activities program of the University Center.

Starting dates for other activities have not been set, but touch football, cross country and tennis are slated for play during the current trimester, with football expected to begin during the second week of October.

Program Flexible

Osborne emphasized the flexibility of the program. "This program is young, as is the school, and if at anytime students want a particular activity, we do our best to schedule it."

"Interest will determine what type of play will be scheduled for each event. We are working on the participation angle this year. We want to break last year's record."

All sanctioned intramural athletics is officiated by student members of the USF Officials Club, and Osborne has called a meeting for all members and interested persons for the free period Wednesday, in the I-M office, UC 219.

Managers Meet

A team manager's meeting has also been slated for the free period Tuesday in UC 219. Any group of students, faculty or staff members, may organize and enter a new team, according to Osborne, but the team entry deadline for bowling and volleyball for both women and men is Sept. 20.

Activities scheduled for the second trimester include: basketball, basketball free throw, tennis, golf, archery and possibly billiards.

As last year, each event will be assigned activity points, which will vary with the length of time spent on play. Champions in basketball, football and softball will receive 150 points each, while golf, swimming, tennis, track and field and volleyball are worth 100 points each. Archery, bowling, cross country, free throw, and table tennis all merit 75 points for the winners.

Points Vary

Other entries in each sport are assigned activity points in relation to their rank order of finish. Organizations with the greatest number of activity points at the end of the academic year receive a rotating award as I-M sports champions.

Last year's all-university men's champions, Enotas Fraternal Society, are rated a top favorite to repeat, with the All-Stars, an independent team and last year's runnerup, co-favorites.

The Enotas took trophies in basketball, golf, table tennis, tennis, and track and field while compiling their 1,084 activity points. The All-Stars finished with 890 points, claiming championships in archery, cross country, free throw, softball and touch football.

This season marks the first summer intramural activity, with softball, track and field and swimming slated for the third trimester.

Tri-Sis Fraternal Society won the all-university women's championship with 840 points. Play was limited to playdays in basketball, softball, swimming, and volleyball, but Osborne has scheduled competition this season in bowling and table tennis, in addition to last year's sports.

SOUNDING OFF

A Freshman Tells Of Life at USF

By JIM JORDAN

We Freshmen are a rather pathetic lot, really we are. Our first glorious week is, pardon the expression, a living hell. To illustrate: when a schedule reads LS 0202, or some such barf, we're sunk. We either think it's some exotic formula or an ad for Lucky Strike. Incidentally, just what is the first zero for, anyway?

Campus Notices

FACULTY CALENDARS—Faculty members of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences have been scheduled for Sept. 27, Nov. 29, Jan. 31, March 28 and May 20. The meetings will be held in UC 264 during the free hour (1:25-2:20 p.m.).

COLLEGE TEACHING SEMINAR—A seminar on College Teaching, designed for new faculty and anyone interested, will be held on alternate Mondays beginning Sept. 24, 1:30-3:00 p.m. The seminar will be held in UC 264 during the free hour (1:25-2:20 p.m.).

READING CLASS—Interested staff members may enroll in a reading class in accelerated reading similar to the one offered last spring. The first session will be held in UC 264 at 1:30 p.m. Sept. 25. Interested staff should contact Dr. Zetler (UC 252, ext. 277) as soon as possible.

UNIVERSITY FORUM—"The Impact of Science on Society" will be the topic of a University Forum to be held in the Teaching Auditorium, UC 264, at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 19. Participants should contact Mrs. Mozelles Stockwell (AD 208, ext. 111) for more information.

OWNER OF CAP AND HOOD SOUGHT—"The person who lost a cap and hood portion of the academic apparel worn at the Honors Convocation Sept. 10 should contact Mrs. Mozelles Stockwell (AD 208, ext. 111) for more information.

FIRST AID COURSE—A Red Cross approved first aid course will be offered to faculty members this fall by the Physical Education Department and the Student Health Center, provided there is sufficient interest. The course will be given in the evening, 7:00-9:00 p.m. Sessions are held on alternate Mondays. Interested persons should contact Dr. Zetler in the Student Health Center (UC 414, ext. 287).

VACCINE AVAILABLE—The Student Health Center will give polyvalent influenza inoculations Thursday, Sept. 20, between 1 and 4 p.m. to members of the staff who were unable to receive their injections this past week.

METHODIST SOCIAL—A Methodist social hour will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 18, in UC 264-265 to acquaint new faculty with the USF Methodist program. The meeting is open to all interested faculty members.

WORK-STUDY PROGRAM—Advisers of the Work-Study Cooperative Program should inform them of the Work-Study information meeting set for 1:25 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 20, in CH 100. George H. Miller, director of the program, will discuss opportunities, estimated income to students, schedules and locations of possible placement. All students, both men and women, and advisers are invited to attend.

NOTICE TO STUDENTS—The deadline for application for internship in the second trimester for prospective teachers is October 1. Stop in Chemistry 305 for the information needed.

Then there's the marathon walk between buildings. The U.S. Olympic Team has nothing on us, to say the least. More than one Freshman used to "Podunk High" with 15 classrooms, has discarded shoes in an effort to give new blisters breathing space. One poor girl was asked, in the kindest way possible, please not to soak her feet in the pools of the Administration Building.

Aside from these physical tortures, there will be considerable academic adjustment. When a professor lightly announces that he expects two hours of preparation to each class hour, the gasping and groaning sounds like a Shriner's Lodge meeting when a Knight of Columbus is discovered under the Potentate's chair. A language class is another goodie in store for us.

No one told us they would be conducted in French, German, or Lower Slobobian, and frankly, our comprehension of Lower Slobobian is rather nil.

The food here isn't bad, if we could only get to it. Not that the lines are long, or anything like that; but when you wait 30 minutes, turn a corner, and find yourself in the ladies' lounge, embarrassing situations are bound to develop. So you try again, and this time you land on the terrace. Oh well, better luck tomorrow.

But, green as we are, we'll make it. Let's face it, if we didn't, our parents would disown us. Seriously, we think South Florida is the greatest, and we want to help it stay that way.

As for the future, we'll make it. Let's face it, if we didn't, our parents would disown us. Seriously, we think South Florida is the greatest, and we want to help it stay that way.

Interest Groups Set Meets

President Charles Money of the USF Speech Association has called the group's first meeting for Tuesday, Sept. 18 in UC 108 at 1:25 p.m. The Speech Association is the coordinating organization for cocurricular activities in Forensics, Reader's Theater and Choral Speaking, Broadcasting, and Speech Correction. President Money urges all interested students to attend.

Coffee will be served. Student officers and faculty advisers will explain the various speech activities, and plans will be discussed for such projects sponsored by the organization as the annual intramural speech tournament in December, intercollegiate forensics, a proposed staged reading of "The Emperor Jones," production of weekly radio programs to be aired over WALT, and assisting the Speech faculty to make local arrangements for the Florida Speech Association meeting Oct. 19-20.

Other officers of the association are Bob Bickel, vice president; Louise Stewart, secretary; Joe Anelli, publicity chairman. Faculty advisers are: Dr. Alma Saret and Dr. James Popovich, Reader's Theater and Choral Speaking; Dr. Herman Stelzner and Dr. Gerard Wagner, Forensics; Dr. Robert O'Hara, Broadcasting; and Dr. Harris Pomerantz, Speech Therapy.

Business Coffee

All students with an interest in business are invited to attend a coffee, Wednesday, 1:25 p.m., in UC 264, given by the business leaders organization so that these students may meet with the faculty of the business college.

Slides of Paris, including President Kennedy's recent visit, will be presented at the next meeting of the Foreign Language Club, Thursday, 1:25 p.m., in UC 157. All students may attend.

Religious Fellowships

The Jewish Student Union is planning a get-together Sunday. See bulletin board for details. The Lutheran Fellowship will hold a swimming party Saturday evening at Temple Terrace Pool.

PE Group Proposes New Recreation Area

Plans Include $20,000 Pool

By JOHN GULLETT

A new $45,000 residential student recreational facility has been proposed by Dr. Hertz, director of physical education, for construction this year south of Beta Hall. The facility, which will include a $20,000 swimming pool, will be paid for by student activity fees, if approved. The plans have met the approval of Dean Herbert Wunderlich, dean of student affairs, and Robert Dennard, business manager, but still have to pass the physical education committee.

In addition to the swimming pool, there will be six tennis courts, five Tenniflex paddle tennis-badminton courts with four superimposed volleyball courts, a fencing area, a sun-deck area, and horseshoe and shuffleboard courts.

Although intended to "provide an energy release for pent-up emotions" for residents of the dormitory complex, which is only half completed, the pool and facilities will be available to commuting students, according to Hertz, since its construction is being financed by student activity fees.

Hertz said the acquisition of the facility will not affect appropriation of $1.8 million in the 1963 State Legislature next April for the construction of a health and physical education classroom building, to be located near the present football and basketball facilities.

In his official report, Hertz said: "In consideration of the anticipated size of our student body and the projected residence hall program, it is suggested that plans be made for recreational facilities on a decentralized basis... to incorporate specific recreational facilities into each residence hall unit (Clyde Hill, director of the physical plant said current plans call for a total of three residence hall units, or complexes in the next 10 years, with construction of one hall a year.)"

Construction begins this week on a 40' by 80' aluminum field building east of the present tennis courts as part of the physical education division's current facility expansion program.

The area will be used for gymnastics, wrestling, judo, fencing, social and folk dance classes and clubs. "The big problem is getting out of the sun," Hertz said in explaining the structure's use.

A golf putting green has been constructed south of the tennis courts, "enabling us for the first time to be able to instruct all phases of the game," added Hertz.

Hertz and Hill would not speculate on the university's chances of getting the funds for the physical education building, but the $1.8 million is currently high on the appropriations list.

The proposed building would include basketball, handball and squash courts, exercise and combat rooms, a dance studio, an audio-visual auditorium, classrooms, seminar rooms, lounges and study rooms and locker rooms in the first stage of construction.

The second stage will include the pool, a recreation room similar to the present University Center recreation room, and a badminton-volleyball gym floor.

Final construction will include these outdoor facilities: 16 lighted tennis courts, nine handball courts, an asphalt running track, eight touch football-soccer fields, a baseball diamond, an archery range and golf instructional and physical fitness areas.

Richard III Will Open Film Classics

The Film Classics League will open its season Thursday, Sept. 20, with Sir Laurence Olivier's production of Shakespeare's "Richard III."

Nine other outstanding films are scheduled by the league during the academic year. All programs begin at 8:30 p.m. in the University Theater. An informal coffee hour will follow each program to provide an opportunity for discussion.

The contest rules, which were printed last week, run as follows:

1. Since the university is an integral part of the state of Florida, entries may be submitted by any resident of the state.

2. Any member of the Student Association Executive Committee or any member of the Student Association which have worked in the contest are excluded.

3. Submitted suggestions must have an explanation in 40 words or less as to why the name would be appropriate.

4. All names must be mailed to the University Center Program Council c/o the University Center.

5. In the case of two or more submissions of the same mascot the earliest postmark will determine the winner.

The contest opened Sept. 10, 1962, with suggestions accepted until midnight, Sept. 23. On Sept. 25, the SA Executive Council will select 15 semi-finalists to be voted on the next day by the Student Association, the faculty, and the university staff.

Two days after the first voting, Sept. 28, voters will choose the USF mascot from among the five highest ranking finalists.

University Center personnel expect the contest scope to include the entire state. Many entries are expected from persons not connected with the university.

NO MASCOT?

Contest Draws No Student Entrants

Is it dubious whether USF will have a mascot or not, as student interest in the project has not seemed very high. Entries by the faculty and general public have been pouring in, but so far no students have entered the contest. University Center and Student Association personnel are reluctant to continue the contest without adequate student support and ask that all students get their entries in immediately.

Meiners Previews SA Plans

Frank Meiners, president of the USF Student Association, previewed the coming Chairman's Conference as he outlined plans for 1962-63 SA activity.

The conference will be held Oct. 6 and is the first formal SA planning session for the current fiscal year.

Foremost in the proposed activities is the reorganization of the Civic Units, which functioned apathetically last year.

New civic units will revolve around the nucleus of a hall (1/2 floor) in the residence halls. This automatically guarantees 50 members per unit. Commuting students will be assigned to the various units at random.

"However," said Meiners, "the Executive Council and the Legislative have finished their organization, and we are now interested in operating in our fullest capacity."

Dean Wunderlich and the Executive Committee are investigating the possibility of creating a judicial branch of government to be operated entirely by students.

850 Residing in Halls

Beta Hall, a residence for men, is the newest addition to the university's physical facilities and is ready for occupancy. Some 850 students fill this residence hall and Alpha Hall, a girls' dormitory, to capacity.

N.Y. Atomic Power Plant In Operation
BUCHANAN, N.Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Residents of this Westchester County community got their electricity from atomic power today.

The Consolidated Edison Company's Indian Point atomic power plant here produced its first electricity yesterday—15,000 kilowatts for use by its customers in Buchanan.

The power was stepped up to 50,000 kilowatts overnight and eventually will be brought to its full power of 275,000 kilowatts over the next few weeks.

At that time, it will serve the needs of New York City and suburban Westchester County customers.

The Indian Point reactor first achieved a sustained nuclear chain reaction last Aug. 2.

It is the fourth commercial-size atomic power plant in the nation. The others are at Shippingport, Pa.; Dresden, Ill., and Rowe, Mass.

DID SOMETHING GO WRONG?

Sgt. Al Ford, directing his police band, seems to be wincing as if someone hit a sour note, but maybe it's just the extra effort he needs in this new position of leadership. The members of the band are (left to right front row) Winfield Whitehurst, Charles Fisher, Robert Schurr and William Albtho; and, back row, Jim Cooper, Miles Turner, Oliver Bair and Merle Noblett.

EAST OF BRANDON

Stolen Car Flips, Driver Dies

A 35-year-old Lake Wales man, who was driving a stolen car, was killed early yesterday when the car flipped end over end and crashed eight miles east of Brandon on State Road 60.

Dead on arrival at Southwest Baptist Hospital in Plant City was James Rufus Duggins Jr., who came to Lake Wales from Kernersville, N.C.

The owner of the car, James D. Smith of Lake Wales, had retired for the night and was not aware that his car was missing until sheriff's deputies informed him of the crash and Duggins' death.

Deputy Earl Scott discovered the crash at 3:45 a.m. He said that Duggins apparently fell asleep or lost control of the car.

Scott said the 1960 model compact went off the shoulder of the road, whipped back across and flipped end over end.

Smith told deputies he had parked his car off the street near the side of his house and retired about 11 p.m. Saturday. He said the keys were in the car.

Duggins' parents have been notified of the accident. He will be returned to Kernersville for burial.

FULFILLS LONG DESIRE

Police Sergeant Develops Band

By DANA CESSNA
Times Staff Writer
For nine years, Police Sgt. Al Ford has been driven by a burning obsession.

He's wanted to form a police band.

On October 19, this dream will not only become a reality, it will become the first time in the history of any Florida municipal police department that such an organization has been formed.

"I'll have to give Chief Brown (Police Chief Neil Brown) most of the credit for getting this pushed through," Ford smiled. "After talking to the chief, I knew I had finally made some headway."

Ford's job, however, is just starting.

As band director, he must look forward to such problems as gaining the respect and approval of the department.

"We've still got a lot of opposition to the idea within the department," Ford explained. "Some of them can't see any type of advantage in forming a band. I hope we can show them the advantages."

Local orchestra leader Claude Smith apparently deserves most of the credit for helping Ford get his aggregation organized.

"Claude acts more or less as our adviser and chief music critic," Ford said.

At present, 12 police officers and three civilians comprise the band. Ford said he eventually hopes to form a complete aggregation of police musicians.

"Until we do, though, these civilians will be indispensable to us," he continued.

Activities of the band will primarily be devoted to dance functions.

Future plans call for such engagements as performing for the Fraternal Order of Police, the Lowry Park bandshell during the summer,

Business - Education Day, school concerts, Police Athletic League, inter-departmental parties and out-of-town appearances in St. Petersburg, Sarasota and Clearwater.

Ford said he has also planned the possibility of performing for departmental employees in one of the city court rooms during their lunch hours. "Something along the old band mall tradition," he said.

"I want to steer clear of the brass band idea," Ford said. "At least for the present. Possibly in the future we can look forward to a march type outfit to perform for the Gasparilla parade."

Financial support to obtain musical arrangements for the band has been sponsored by the Police Pistol Club.

"They've also helped foot the bill for a rented set of drums," Ford added.

"I lean to the old stock arrangements," Ford said. "Our programs are going to include a lot of Glenn Miller hits. As a teaser, we've also been working on this new hit, 'The Stripper.'"

Rehearsals have been conducted over the past six weeks every Wednesday evening at the police pistol range building.

Following their first concert Oct. 19 at the City Auditorium Ford said he will be in the market for a female vocalist and additional band members. The first concert will be for police officers and their families.

"At the present time, we've got a substantial nucleus for the band," Ford stated. "But, we hope to gain some new members soon. There are a lot of interested prospects on the department now, who for the lack of a musical instrument can't fit into our operation."

Future plans also call for a selection of band uniforms.

"For the present, we'll have to be satisfied with our police attire," Ford said. "Our Ike jackets worn over white shirts and black bow ties should really set us off nicely during the winter months."

Ford said he also hopes to sell police officials on the idea of identifying band members by sewing a figure of a small musical instrument, possibly a lyre, on their shirt or coat sleeves.

As an individual, Ford is no newcomer to musical ranks.

While serving in the Marine Corps during the war, he spent a six months tour at the Navy's school of music in Anacostia, Va. He later served with the First Marine Division Band. He is now serving as drum major of Tampa's American Legion Band. He's also an accomplished trumpet player.

SPECIAL OFFER during the Frigidaire Sales Drive!

ONE WEEK ONLY!

STURDY!

This is the new improved 1963 version of the 1962 Frigidaire Washer that was subjected to the famous Frigidaire 15-Year Lifetime Test.

Typical 1962 Frigidaire Washers had to run day and night—normal loads and detergents, all cycles—in the Frigidaire Lifetime Test. In the results thus far, one of the washers has run for more than 43 years with only minor repairs! Some machines, in fact, went well over 20 years without repair!
