Workers continue to complete the final details at the new University Student Center, which opens Aug. 25 when some 200 students move into the Residential Tower.

This week, colorful banners were hung outside the building and crews began work on a series of video screens in the lobby. Two outdoor basketball courts have been completed. And kitchen equipment is being installed and tested at The Reef, the dining hall on the first floor. Work on the landscaping also continued.

Please join us on Sept. 6 for the official launch of the USC, complete with a lively ribbon cutting and fun surprise at the end. See you there!
