ORIENTAL MOTIF
Alice Wright is using a Japanese feather duster to clean the Japanese proverb printed on metal hanging from her Japanese lantern. She is wearing a Japanese "happy coat" and in the background are curtains and a bedspread made of material from Japan.

JAPANESE DECOR

Incense, Midnight Oil

By WING PREODOR

The latest tip on how to keep morale up during long battles with the books comes from sophomore Alice Wright.

She and her roommate, Linda Miller, have brightened up their room in Alpha Hall with Japanese decor. Alice says, "I can tell the difference already between this year and last. I just love bright colors and I study better in a colorful room."

It all started this summer when Alice met Linda in Washington, D.C., to help her drive her car back to Tampa. They discovered a dockside sale where one can buy imports without paying duty taxes.

Neither girl had been particularly interested in Japan before, but Alice had always been attracted to Oriental decorations. So the idea was born:

Paper Lanterns

They bought bedsheets, Japanese lanterns, fishnets, six or eight small artificial birds (a sophisticated version of the sort children get at Easter), an incense burner, a teapot, and they were in business.

Orange Not Driftwood

Back at Alpha Hall they added the branch of an orange tree sans leaves, placed it on the wall above their desk, draped the net over it and placed the birds artistically on the twigs.

They cut the bedsheets (too large anyway) so the same material stretched to make curtains. A blue Japanese lantern became the shade for their top light with a Japanese mobelier tinkling under it.

Opium Jar?

The incense burner, the teapot, and two delicate Japanese mugs lend oriental flavor to the desk as does the opium jar (empty of course).

Carrying the idea even further, both Linda and Alice now own "Happy Coats." A "Happy Coat" is a smock with a belt. Linda's is silk with Japanese houses, mountains and people printed on it.

Cool Blue Light

In the evening with the blue top light and the incense you might as well be in the Orient. Rugs and throw pillows following the same theme are additions the girls plan to make in the near future.

Just $15.00 and a little imagination was all it took and suddenly burning midnight oil is not quite so unpleasant.

Conventions Beckon

It's convention month for the members of the USF Campus Edition of THE TAMPA TIMES, as four members of the staff return from Auburn in time this week to wave goodbye to the Editor on the way to Detroit.

Dr. Albert T. Scroggins, advisor to Campus Publications, will appear on two panels: "The Responsibilities of the Student Editor," and "The Laws of Libel."

Students representing the university are Sarah Caldwell, managing editor; Charlotte Freese, organization news editor; Richard Oppel, I-M column, and Jack McClintock, free lance reporter.

Leaving for Detroit this Wednesday are Louise Stewart, Editor of the USF Campus Edition, Scroggins, and George H. Miller, director of the Work-Study Co-op program, who is former advisor to Campus Publications. Miller is an officer in the advisors organization meeting concurrently with the College Press Association.

Dr. French On Evaluation Team

Dr. Sidney J. French, dean of academic affairs, visited the University of St. Thomas in Houston, Tex. Sunday, Oct. 21, with a team of evaluators for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Self-Improvement

Miss Joann Toretta will give the fifth lesson in a series for "Self-Improvement" tomorrow in UC 264-65 at 2:30 p.m. The topic of this week's lesson will be—Make-up.

Mrs. Phyllis Marshall will be giving bridge lessons on Wednesday, Oct. 24 at 5 p.m. in UC264. There is a fee of 25 cents to take the lessons.

Today in the UC Ballroom at 3:30 p.m. dance lessons will be given. There are still many openings for girls. Students may sign up for the course at the UC desk. The lessons are taught by Martha Ann Dennis.

This Friday, Oct. 26, there will be a dance to celebrate the return of the Great Pumpkin. The Midnights will play for this Halloween fete. The dress will be costume, and a prize given for the best costume.

The dance is from 9-12 in the evening in the ballroom. Admission is 75 cents stag and $1.00 drag. Norma Gonzalez is chairman of the dance and sub-committee chairman on the University Center Dance Committee.

Personnel Committee is holding second membership drive. Students interested may check at UC desk.

Buccaneer And Brahma Re-enter In Competition

Petition Signers Outnumber Original Contest Voters

By LOUISE STEWART

Here we go again! Run-off voting between the Buccaneer and the Golden Brahma takes place next week with a third choice on the ballot — neither of these.

Recently the Executive Council to the Student Association heard at its session a petition from 440 students proposing a run-off between the top winners of the mascot contest since there was no plurality winner and no box in which the student could mark none of these.

The number of students signing the petition was greater than the 390 students who voted in the contest. This is a graphic example of the interest stirred up over the mascot contest now that it has already been run.

Allen Says Rivalry Not on USF Side

By VIRGINIA MONTES

"There is no rivalry on our part," was the comment made by Dr. John S. Allen, president of USF, in response to questions concerning the UF-USF engineering controversy. Dr. Allen continued by saying that "we completely support the strengthening of the University of Florida engineering graduate and undergraduate programs, but we do feel a need for such an undergraduate program added to USF."

Present Set-up

At the present time there is an arrangement between USF and UF in which any student, seeking a degree in engineering, can complete three years at USF, and two years at Florida.

At the end of this five year program a student is then eligible for two degrees: a Bachelor of Arts from USF, and an engineering degree from UF.

An engineering school at USF, would eliminate the expense of this additional two years away from home; it would further cut the program to eight semesters, instead of the 10 now necessary under the present set-up. The last two semesters of engineering schools are usually devoted to technical aspects of the field, they cannot now be taught at USF, because of insufficient facilities.

USF is, therefore, asking the Board of Control for an additional building, in which a school of engineering could be housed. An expanding program in this area would also include additional faculty members trained in this field. This would present no problem, since USF will be adding about 50 faculty members per year.

Board of Control Decision

Will USF have an engineering school? Only time and the Board of Control can answer that question. Dr. Allen has asked for approval of the additional facilities by the Board of Control at its meeting next Spring. With staff and student support, USF can acquire this most important addition, necessary not only to the university, but to the strengthening Florida future education.

'Silent Voices' Topic Of Talk on Cultures

"Silent Voices," an unusual audio-visual lecture by Philip Welch, will be held Wednesday, Oct. 24, at 8:30 p.m. in TA.

Welch, an architect and college lecturer, will use color slides, tape recorded music and his own narration to give a comparative history of creativity in world cultures. The talk is "live," but a tape with the music of each culture is played to parallel the image on the screen. Welch describes his technique as "visual, musical and verbal so that it can reach all of the communication levels within the audience."

Ballet Marjo, an exciting import from Holland, will give two performances on Tuesday, Oct. 23. There will be a matinee performance at 1:25 p.m. and an evening performance at 8:30 p.m. Both performances will be held in the university's teaching auditorium-theater.

The company, which was founded in November 1953, is one of the youngest and sprightliest in Europe. To show something of the rigorous training and control demanded of ballet dancers, the performances will be preceded by a brief lecture-demonstration. This feature has been highly successful in Europe and Great Britain in heightening audience appreciation and understanding of ballet.

The Ballet Marjo is a non-subsidized group of five dancers, and all of the present company are in their early twenties.

Directress and choreographer of the group, who will direct the lecture-demonstration, is Madame Goekeop-Santaganes. She was educated in ballet by Darja Collin, Alexei d'Ormesson, David Grey and Igor Schwetsov, and in modern dance by Gertrud Leistikow and Hertha Westman of the Mary Wigman Schule in Dresden, Germany. Every year Madame Goekeop goes to Paris as a hospitable to Olga Preobajenska and Madame Nora.

There will be no admission charge for the two performances, but a general admission ticket is required. Tickets may be reserved by calling the theater box office (888-4131, extension 343) between 1 and 5 p.m. daily, or may be picked up at the box office immediately before the performance.

Following the matinee performance there will be an informal reception in the theater lobby for the ballet troupe sponsored by the Division of Fine Arts and the Tampa Philharmonic Association. Special guest for the occasion will be Maestro Alfred Antonini.

Season tickets to the Tampa Philharmonic Orchestra concerts have been reduced to half price for University of South Florida students. The season tickets will go on sale Tuesday, Oct. 23 at the TA box office. Tickets will be on sale through Friday, Oct. 26. The box office will be open daily from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m.

An exhibition of prints entitled "Theater-Ballet-Circus" is now on display in TA, under the auspices of the George Blin Print Collection of Brimfield, Mass.

Many of the leading artists of France, Spain, Italy, Mexico, the United States, England and Belgium are included in the exhibition. More than half of the prints are in color, executed in lithography, etching, aquatint, woodcut and linocut.

The exhibition will continue through Oct. 31 and is open to the public at no charge. The theater is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Forensic Team Enters Debate Tournament

The USF Forensics Association will open the intercollegiate debate season this weekend, Oct. 26-27, at Macon, Ga. University debaters will meet with representatives from colleges and universities throughout the Southeastern United States at the Dixie Debate Tournament, sponsored annually by the Department of Speech and Drama at Mercer University.

Juniors Bob Bickel and Charles Money will defend the national proposition, Resolved: That the non-Communist nations of the world should establish an economic community. Beverly Blackwell, freshman, and Steve Podgurski, junior, will oppose the resolution.

Tryouts for Theater Scheduled Next Week

Tryouts for the next regular production of the university theater, "Theatre of the Absurd," three "way-out" one-act plays, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 29-30 in the UC Ballroom.

The production, slated for presentation Dec. 5-8, includes two products of Edward Albee, "The Sandbox" and "The Zoo Story," and "The Chairs," by Eugene Ionesco.

Reading copies of the plays are available in the reserve room of the library.

Campus Notices

WITHDRAWALS—Emilio Ales, Jr.; Louis Byron Camp, Jr.; Kenneth W. Clark; Mac Herman Holcomb; John Allan Howard; Peter John Kearney; Mrs. Gale Goldman Morgan; Edward C. Thompson; James Edgar Woodall.

GRADUATE STUDY—A University committee has been appointed to consider ways and means of encouraging able students to continue their studies beyond a bachelor's degree. The committee will also coordinate information about graduate studies, advise students concerning opportunities for graduate work and encourage able students to consider the profession of college teaching. Members of the special committee are: S. B. Smith, chairman; T. A. Ashford; H. W. Dean; R. J. Decker; John Hicks; C. W. Houk; L. C. Jurgensen. The committee will serve until January 1963, at which time consideration will be given to the possibility of making it a permanent University committee.

NO SMOKING RULE—Smoking is not permitted in classrooms during regular class sessions or examinations, or in the library reading rooms at any time. As a general policy, smoking may be presumed to be appropriate wherever ashtrays or receptacles are in evidence. This procedure was established in consideration of those persons who do not smoke, and members of the staff are asked to observe this consideration.

WORK-STUDY REQUIREMENTS—Requirements for placement in Work-Study Program are a minimum of 21 credit hours with an average of 2.0 or better at the time of placement. However, students desiring to join the program should make application as soon as possible. Work-Study Office, AD1070, ext. 72. Education Majors—Openings in Work-Study Program beginning Jan. 2 for education majors living in Hillsborough County. Must have 21 credit hours or more and 2.0 or better grade point average, some typing ability helpful.

FINAL X: The following information is for students who must take a final examination at the end of the 1962 fall trimester to remove the X grade or to raise a Basic Studies course grade.

This will be the last trimester that a student will be allowed to retake a

Buy an annuity and live

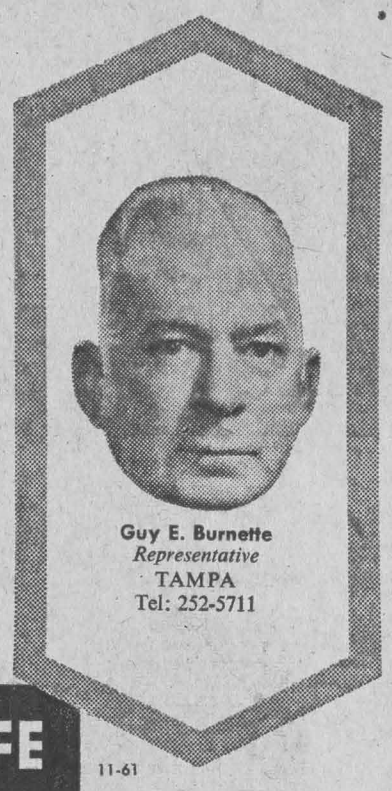

Financial insecurity can lead to a barren and lonely existence for the older person. Those years after 60 can also bring the fear of out-living capital and the worry of managing the savings of a lifetime. The result—often severe stresses that can be dangerous to both physical and mental health.

People who buy annuities buy freedom from worry and fear. Our annuities find that a regular income guaranteed for life brings peace of mind, helps make those sunset years a rich and satisfying experience. And we know that many live to a ripe old age.

Whether you are 30 and buying an annuity in advance or you are 70 and want payments to start now there's an annuity designed to bring you peace of mind. The Man from Manufacturers would be pleased to give you the complete story. Be sure to ask him about the favorable tax picture.

Chaffee Wins First Botega Scholarship

By JIM FELTER
Randolph W. Chaffee has been named recipient of the Botega Art Scholarship for 1962. The scholarship award, a $60 art supply certificate, will be presented by the judges at a reception and coffee in the University Center Gallery Lounge at 4:30 this afternoon. All are invited to attend. The reception will also mark the opening of the Competitive Art Exhibition and honor the artists.

Today's activities climax the year long efforts of the members of Botega to make such a scholarship available to art students. The members donated their materials and ability and held an Art Festival and Auction, April 27, 28 and 29 of 1962. The works of art were auctioned off to the public by Dr. Anthony Zaitz, professor of English and speech. The money raised from this auction was for the specific purpose of awarding it to an art student.

Special Qualifications

Randy was chosen over five other students by a selected juror of the Competitive Art Exhibit. Other students who met the qualifications of the contest were Mrs. Norma Rodriguez, Elizabeth Kershaw, David Dye and Ronald Bouverat. These students are art majors, full time students, have accumulated a grade point average of 2.3 or better, and have accumulated 30 or more credit hours, six or more in art studio courses.

These students submitted two of their works to Botega. There was no limitation on type or medium of art work.

The Competitive Art Exhibition will be open throughout this week in the University Center Gallery Lounge.

Judge 2 Works Each

The judges of the exhibition were asked to choose the artist displaying the best ability based on two of his works. The judges were Dr. Edwin P. Martin, dean of the college of Basic Studies, Dr. Hans Juergensen, professor of humanities, and Wright Christian, professor of art education.

Dean Martin stated: "The judges were impressed with the quality of all the entries in the show. We feel great credit should go to the Art Faculty and the students who submitted their works for judging."

The Botega Art Scholarship is a major function of Botega, a student organization established to promote an interest in and an understanding of the Visual Arts at the University of South Florida and the Communities it serves. Any one interested in the organization is invited to attend the Coffee and Reception this afternoon and attend a meeting held once a week on Thursday in U.C. 205 at 1:25 p.m.

Fine Arts Unit Completion Set For May 1963

A new and interesting building on campus is the Fine Arts and Humanities complex. It is the structure to the west of the main building, the Ad Building, and the U.C.

The completion date has been delayed until May, 1963. It was hoped that the building could be ready by the second trimester but a dispute over the bid delayed construction.

The three distinct sections of the building are assigned to music, art, and general administration of the divisions. An interesting feature is a studio classroom which will cater to for classes in metalwork, etching, and sculpture. The completion of this new complex will provide USF with 11 structures in full use.

I-M ACTIVITIES

Fides on Top; All-Stars Chosen

By RICHARD OPPEL

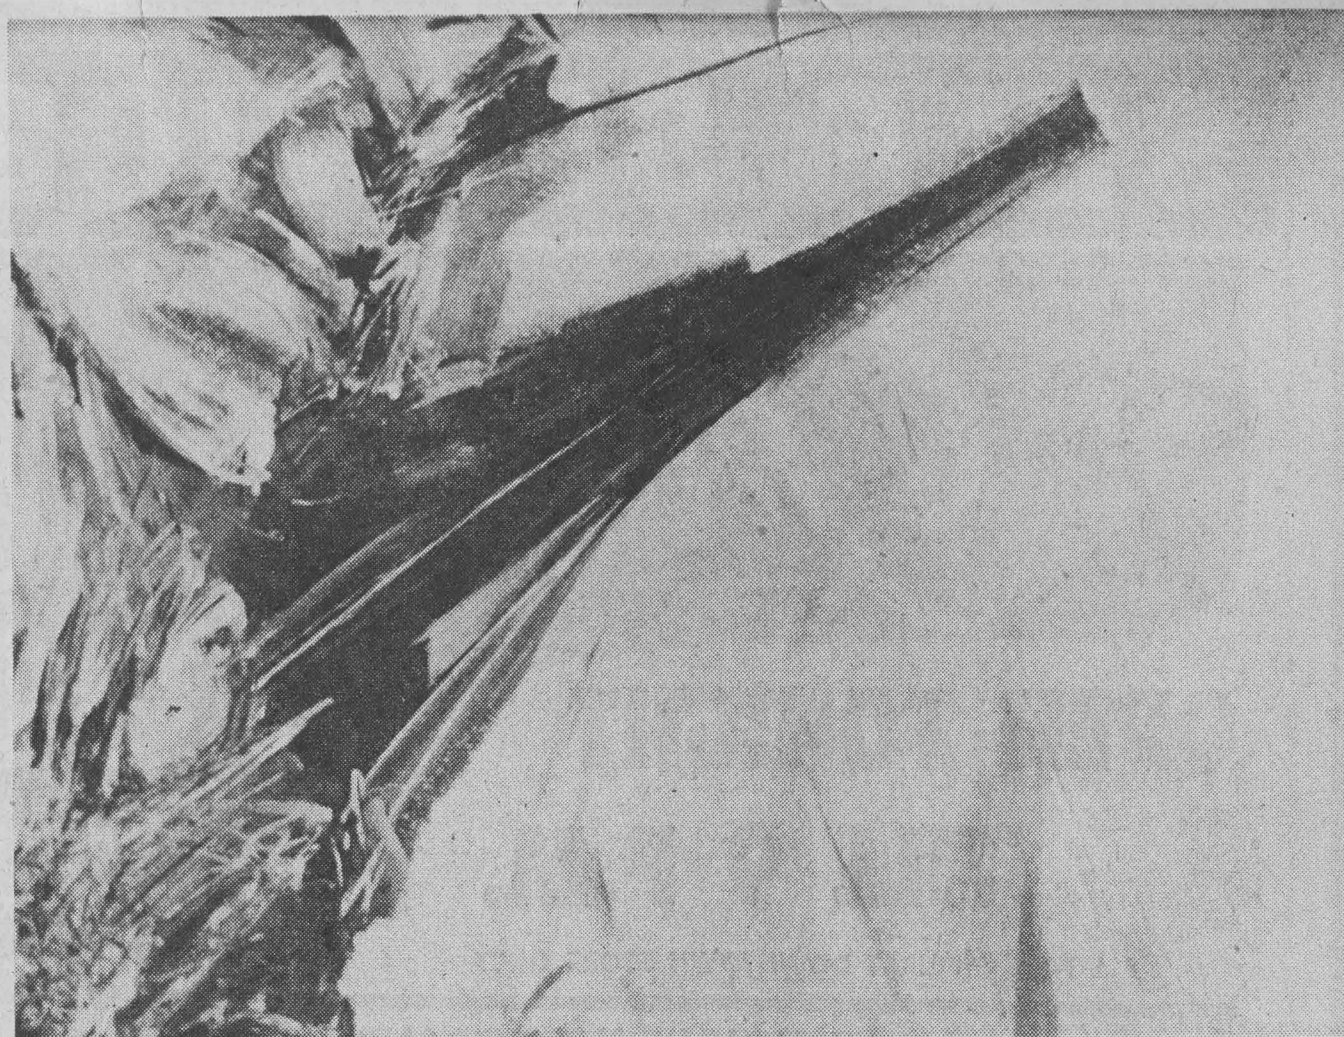

Fides women's fraternal society finished far in front of the other competition in the women's intramural bowling tournament last week. Averaging better than 135 pins for each of the 12 games, Fides would have fared well in any women's league. For complete results of tournament, see below.

Now that the bowling tournaments have ended, the "all-star" have been picked. The top men bowlers making up the team are Mike Shapiro and Bill King, Beta I East; Lee Kenworthy, PE Majors; and Bob Van Hook, Beta I West. Mike took the first-place honors with a 551 series.

Fides All-Stars

The women's all-star team is composed of Alice Evans, Joyce Swenson, Sarah Sansbury, and Sheila Gordon. The women all-stars happen to be the entire Fides team. Alice was top bowler with a 467 series.

Forfeitures have become a major problem in the intramural program, claims I-M Coordinator Murphy Osborne Jr. The forfeitures are not the fault of the team managers, it is believed, but are probably caused by a lack of unity, bad scheduling, and a late afternoon

"Surge" was painted by Randy Chaffee for the Botega Art Scholarship competition. Students who are art majors, full-time, and have a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.3 or better, and 30 or more credit hours, six in an art course, were eligible to compete.

ORGANIZATION NEWS

Water Ski Group Formed

By DANNY VALDEZ and PAUL MEISSNER

Due to USF's rapidly increasing enrollment new clubs are being formed. This week the first meeting of the USF Water Ski Club will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 24 in UC 202 at 1:25 p.m. Those students who are interested in any aspect of water skiing are invited to attend.

The University of South Florida Young Republicans Club will meet during the free hour on Thursday in the U.C. At this meeting there will be a group discussion concerning the philosophy of the Republican Party. Plans will also be made for future club participation in area of political campaigns. All members are urged to attend and the club extends an open invitation to all interested students.

There will be a meeting of the Veterans Club on Tuesday, Oct. 23 in LS 271. All those interested should attend this meeting as it is tentatively scheduled for the election of officers.

There will be a meeting of all pre-dental students Tuesday, October 23 at 1:25 in LS 271. The Business Leaders' Organization will present Doc Webb, who will discuss "Price Fixing and Fair Trade Laws," Wednesday, October 24 during sixth period. All students are invited to attend this discussion in the chemistry auditorium, CH100.

Fraternal Societies

DELPHI recently completed pledge week with a car wash on Saturday, Oct. 6 and a Taco Party that evening for sisters and pledges at the home of Tish Gabel. Sunday was devoted to a picnic at Lowry Park given by the pledges for sisters and dates.

On October 16 Delphi honored FIA sisters and pledges with a jewelry party at the home of Judy Harkness. This is the first in a series of events sponsored by Delphi to create better relations between female fraternal societies.

Big plans are under way for the "Banshu Ball" on October 26 at the Hillsboro Wildlife

Club. Invitations have been sent to all fraternal societies to attend. Music will be provided by the Velvets.

Decorations will follow the Halloween tradition and costumes are in order. A prize will be given to the best costumed couple.

As their civic project, the Delphi's are adopting a foster child abroad. The club plans to sponsor the child's education.

FIA Fraternal Society held an ice skating party for sisters and pledges Saturday afternoon, Oct. 20 at the St. Petersburg Ice Skating Rink. A hayride is being planned now for the evening of November 3 for sisters, pledges and dates.

CIEO brothers, pledges, and dates were guests of Yvonne Bentley at a party at her home on Oct. 13. The first of a series of trips with handicapped boys was made this year when Cio brothers took a group from MacDonald Training Center to the Chamberlain-St. Pete game Friday night.

Brothers and pledges played a rag football game October 21 at Plant City High School. Refreshments were served to brothers and their dates.

Ethelons members will start their annual service project in the University Library today. The sisters will be working in both the cataloging department and on a new special collection recently acquired by the library.

ENOTAS brothers have been making plans for the annual choosing of the Enotas sweetheart.

SIGES fraternal society held formal initiation of pledges recently at the home of Shirley Camp. A banquet was also held at the Kapok Tree Inn.

College Grad Employers Hit Campus Soon

In anticipation of the University's first graduating class, three employers of college graduates have requested the Personnel Division to coordinate their visit to the University's campus.

Two of these, the Peace Corps and the Federal Government Civil Service Program, are scheduled for the month of November, while the third, Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., is scheduled for the second trimester.

The Peace Corps representative, Douglas Kiker, chief of the division of public information, will be on campus Thursday, November 1, and will address interested staff and students at 1:25 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 1, in CH 100. A film about the Peace Corps will also be shown at that meeting.

Kiker will be introduced by Dr. Charles Arnade, Associate Professor of History at University of South Florida, and consultant on Bolivia to the Peace Corps Program. Two informal discussion sessions have been scheduled for that day; one at 2:45 p.m. in AD 2009, and the other at 3:45 p.m. in AD 2009.

The U.S. Civil Service representative will be on campus on Wednesday, November 21, and will talk informally with interested students at 10:10 a.m. in AD 2073, at 1:25 p.m. in AD 2073, and at 3:35 p.m. in AD 2073.

Further details concerning the Northwestern Mutual visit, as well as any other employers visiting the campus, will be announced later. Staff or students desiring further information about the above or related matters should contact the Personnel Services Office at extension 141.

WOMAN?

"Woman" is one of the two pictures responsible for Randy Chaffee's nomination as winner of the Botega Art Scholarship Award recently. The scholarship award amounts to a $60 art supply certificate. The money for the award was raised last spring in the Botega art club's Festival and Auction. Students interested in art are urged by the art club to join the ranks of Botega.

EMOTIONS 'HIT HOME'

Soliloquies Spark Hamlet Production

By LOREN SOUTHWICK

The chapel bell pealed the bewitching hour of twelve as the curtain rose on Hamlet's first scene. Thus opened USF's Peninsula Players' presentation of Hamlet for the fall trimester.

There are two families in Hamlet with the action rebounding between them. Strangely enough, the families mirrored each other in their acting, too. Hamlet, played by Jim Woodall, Claudius, by John Seitz, and Gertrude, by Yvonne Dardenne having the longer and thereby, more involved roles had a solidifying effect on the dramatization. On the other hand, Polonius, portrayed by Albert Sanders; Laertes, by Larry Rucker; and Ophelia, by Anne Phillips, through excellent acting stole scene after scene.

Hamlet was at his best in his soliloquies, particularly "to be or not to be," and "O this too, too solid flesh." His emotions and voice inflection really "hit home" so to speak.

The prayer scene was Claudius' best with respect to his expressions, movement, and sincerity of lines.

Gertrude, owing to Shakespeare's intent, does not come into her own until the boudoir scene. Here, she gives her best performance of the evening.

This brings us to the thieves of the play. Nosy little Polonius keeps the audience practically in stitches in all appearances, except, of course, the last. One ruses his death, he is such an enjoyable character.

Laertes and Ophelia took over where Polonius left off. Together, their devotion for each other flows fiercely. Apart, their separate passions toward Hamlet, love and anger, leaves the audience in tears or brings pity.

Interwoven in these are the many other characters, all lending their talents to the cause. Horatio, by Jim Judy a somewhat colorless character, spoke his most moving lines at Hamlet's knee in the death scene.

The gravedigger, Tom O'Reilly broke up the audience with his glee and mirthfulness preceding a heart-rending scene.

Mention should also be given to Bernardo, played by Ken Daniel; Lucianus, by Mark Hoss, and the others who, having small roles, added greatly to the picture of the play.

There were many grand effects in the play: In the sets, lighting and musical score. The most obvious effect was the ghost; it greatly enhanced the already eerie scenes in which it appeared. The sets, connected with the lighting, were at times like works of the old masters, in the pictures they painted. The musical score was composed and conducted by Theodore Hoffman. The costumes were designed by Mrs. Maryon Moise, and the lighting done by Dave Taylor. One of the best effects of the evening became quite humorous when a cricket which chirped during the night scenes was revealed to be a live performance.

Participating in the program will be Dr. Russell Cooper, dean of the college of liberal arts, Dr. Robert Morgenroth, chairman of the functional foreign language division, and Dr. Robert L. Zetler, director of the language literature division.

BUT THEY LOST ANYWAY

CIEO spikes again as brother Dennis Granda gives the Volley designed to confound the opposing team. The All-Stars won however in this recent I-M competition. Final competitions for championship were played-off Friday.

MLC Opens At USF Thursday

Florida's 1962 Modern Language Conference opens Thursday on the campus of its host USF, with a theme of "What's New About the New Key?"

The conference, scheduled to continue through Saturday, will include workshops in linguistics, talks by special guests, and of course coffee breaks.
