Departmental Overview:

The Public Services department provides reference, research services, library instruction, and outreach services to the students and faculty of the University of South Florida St. Petersburg. The department consists of 4 public service Librarians (Tina Neville, Deb Henry, Gary Austin, and Kaya van Beynen); additionally the librarians Jerry Notaro, Patricia Pettijohn, and Jim Schnur contribute to the department by providing reference support and by teaching library instruction sessions.

Instruction:

While the number of classroom instruction sessions only increased by 3% during the 2011/12 academic year, the number of participants in the instruction sessions increased by 33%. The Public Service librarians initiated a new student and faculty workshop series that showed strong participation and will continue in the 2012/13 Academic year. Additionally, Gary Austin, the Distance Learning Librarian, taught a total of 21 Blackboard workshops for faculty, representing a 50% increase in training sessions from the year before.

Traditionally, the Public Services Department has concentrated on in-person, classroom-based library instruction sessions. As more USFSP classes are taught online, the Public Service librarians recognize the need to provide faculty with online options for library instruction for their students. Accordingly, librarian Kaya van Beynen applied for and was awarded with a USFSP Distance Learning internal grant of $5,281 to work with an Instructional Designer and create a selection of interactive, skills based, online tutorials.

Reference:

A major change in the operation of the Public Services department was the spring 2012 implementation of the combined service desk. No longer occupying a reference desk, the librarians either sat at the combined service desk or were “on call” in their office, depending on how busy the library was at that time. The members of the public services team continue to staff the statewide Ask-a-Librarian service for two hours per week and as many hours as possible on the local desk. After adding the AAL widget to the library home page we are experiencing an increasing use of the local chat/email service. Another change this year, was a new online reference question data collection form used by the librarians, circulation staff, and IT help desk. In addition to the reference question classifications that the Public Service librarians have used, a new category of technology questions has now been included.

Progress on Departmental Goals for 2011-2012

1. Continue campus syllabi review to determine extent of information literacy assignments offered in USFSP courses.
 - In Process: This project is currently underway and will be completed and added to the digital archive in 2012/13.
2. Propose an information literacy plan for USFSP.
 - In Process: Kaya van Beynen will begin work on this as one component of her SLLI project.
3. Update the Poynter Library research assistance web pages.
 - Postponed: This project was put on hold during 2011/12 due to the development of a new Nelson Poynter Memorial Library website.
4. Complete the weeding of the reference collection.
 - Completed: Reference items were assessed as to whether they should be incorporated into the circulating collection, whether a duplicate copy was already available online, or whether the items should remain in the streamlined reference collection. The library reference collection was reduced by 90%. The remaining collection was consolidated and relocated to a shelf range adjacent to the print periodical collection on the 1st floor.
5. Continue to assist with library space planning
 - In Process: Deb Henry and Tina Neville have begun assessing student furniture preferences through focus groups and tracking the location and type of furniture that the students actually used. Additionally, the librarians consulted with their peers at libraries in Florida and made a site visits to the University of Central Florida Library. Kaya van Beynen, in collaboration with the Campus Grind, conducted a survey exploring student perceptions and preferences for a potential coffee and snack service in the library.
6. Continue to assist with nelson web content assessment
 - In Process: Deb Henry and Tina Neville conducted student usability tests and a survey of what terms students would use to categorize library services and resources on the Internet.

Departmental goals for 2012-2013

1. Create a series of Information literacy tutorials. Complete and assess basic modules. As part of this project, the English Composition faculty will be consulted for their design and content.
2. Survey faculty requesting bibliographic instruction sessions during the fall 2012 semester.
3. Offer Canvas training for faculty in group workshops and in one-on-one consultation sessions
4. Hire a special projects librarian
5. Begin entering course syllabi into digital archive.
6. Begin weeding the Circulation Collections on the second and third floors.
