Wild Australasia

Wild Australasia is a fascinating investigation of the natural wonders of Australia and its closest islands. The series takes viewers on an epic journey through tropical jungles and vast coral reefs, across arid deserts and snow-laden mountains, through luxuriant tropical rainforests and around obscure islands, chronicling breathtaking landscapes, exotic wildlife and other natural wonders. We meet wombats and wallabies, kookaburras and koalas, platypuses and feral horses, and a vast range of cultures, peoples and traditions. Australasia emerges as a land of outstanding splendor with a multitude of moods and landscapes. Aired Thursdays at 9 p.m. beginning January 20.

JANUARY TV HIGHLIGHTS

In 13 Wonders of Spain, Stephen Hughes explores the beauty of the 13 Spanish cities selected by UNESCO's World Heritage Program as legacies from the past. The landscapes are magical; the food and music are delightful. Each city is as diverse and colorful as the mosaic of Spanish culture itself. Aired Wednesdays at 8 p.m. beginning January 5.

In Roger Ebert Presents At the Movies, film critic Roger Ebert showcases new and classic films, explores hot-button issues in contemporary cinema, and investigates the growing impact of new media. Guest critics include Elvis Mitchell, Kim Morgan and Omar Moore. Aired Saturdays at 5:30 p.m. beginning January 22.

Circus takes us on the road for a once-in-a-lifetime trip with the legendary Big Apple Circus. From big top to back lot, we explore a distinctive world with its own rules, lingo and no fixed address. Along the way, we get to know the diverse characters who make up the Big Apple family. Aired Sundays 9-11 p.m. beginning January 23.
