Open House, Limelighters In Showcase

Tours, Displays To Lead Special Weekend Events

The first annual University Showcase will get under way here Friday, March 22, at 1 p.m. A campus-wide program of events has been planned for visitors, staff and students.

The special weekend is being held to acquaint parents of USF students and other interested persons with the operation of the University and with the people who operate it. Invitations have been mailed to 7,500 persons, but university officials emphasized that the event is open to everyone, whether or not they received a written invitation. Some 4,000 visitors are expected to visit the campus each day.

Tours, displays and exhibits, visits with faculty members, open classroom sessions and entertainment have been planned for the two-day event, which will begin at 1 p.m. Friday, March 22. Registration and information desks in the Administration Building and the University Center will be open from 1 to 6 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. until noon Saturday.

All of the University's regularly scheduled classes will be open to visitors Friday afternoon. Classrooms are located in the Life Sciences, Chemistry, Administration, Theatre and University Center buildings.

Many of the University's faculty and administrative personnel will be in their offices both Friday afternoon and Saturday morning and will welcome visitors.

A variety of displays and exhibits are planned in various campus buildings. These include research activities in progress, rare books, the University's language laboratory, the Data Processing Center, the Herbarium, art shows, theatre costume and set designs, student recreational activities, physical plant operations, teaching aids and a number of others.

Guides Available

Guides will be on hand the entire weekend to conduct tours of the individual buildings, and refreshment tables will be located in the University Center, Alpha Hall, the Theatre and the Library. Punch and cookies will be served Friday from 1 to 5 p.m. and coffee and doughnuts will be served Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon.

A $1 box dinner will be served on the grounds north of the University Center at 6 p.m. Friday, at which time President John S. Allen will welcome visitors. On Saturday, lunch will be available in the University Center cafeteria.

A variety of entertainment will be scheduled, beginning with a concert by the University Band and Chorus in the Theatre at 4 p.m. At the same time, a jazz and poetry session will be held in the University Center Ballroom. Folk singing, group singing and a program of comedy skits will be presented by the students after the evening meal, and at 7:30 p.m. there will be a square dance in the street in front of the University Center, followed by regular dancing to the music of a dance band.

A series of old-time comedy movie shorts will be shown Friday at 8 p.m. in the University Center and a series of educational films will be shown continuously in Room 100 of the Chemistry Building beginning at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Bike Race

Teams of men and women cyclists will compete in bicycle races in the parking lot east of the Humanities Building Saturday. Four persons will be on each cycling team, and pit stops will be made for changing riders and making repairs during the 12-mile race. The teams will represent fraternal societies, dormitory sections and independent groups.

Final event on campus will be the annual Spring Singing Formal, to be held in the University Center Saturday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

On Sunday, the Student Association at USF will sponsor a performance by the well-known vocal group, the Limelighters, at 8 p.m. in McKay Auditorium, in conjunction with the University Showcase weekend.

Bibliographer Will Discuss Books in UC

On Tuesday, March 12, Dr. Hellmut Lehmann-Haupt, noted author and bibliographer, will talk informally about books in the UC Gallery Lounge at 1:25 p.m.

Dr. Lehmann-Haupt is one of the few scholars of book histories to live in the United States. His most recent books include "Art Under a Dictatorship," "The Book in America," and "Life of the Book." He has recently completed some extensive studies of the engravings in the famous Gutenberg Bible.

Students and faculty members are urged to come and take advantage of this opportunity to learn more about books from an expert who is one of the best in his field. Dr. Lehmann-Haupt's talk should be of special interest to those who are entering the Student Personal Library Contest.

DANCE, CONFABS

CFS Works, Plays Formulates Goals

PAULA PASTER

March 1 through March 8 has been perhaps the most important week in the life of the fraternal system at USF. During this period, CFS members attended dinners, a dance, a recital and a conference, but most important, they worked as a united group accepting challenges and formulating resolutions and goals.

On Friday, March 1, the "Cornerstone Dinner" was held at the Silver Lake Country Club where CFS representatives and guests met to discuss the aims of the coming week. Guests for the evening and Saturday's conference were Mrs. Karl Miller, currently serving on the National Panhellenic Executive Committee as treasurer; Mrs. George Roller, area adviser of NPC College Panhellenic Committee; Mrs. Joseph Shapiro, area adviser to NPC City Panhellenic Committee, and Dean Wunderlick, USF Dean of Student Affairs.

Challenge Posed

The challenge posed for discussion to the panel consisting of Bob Bobier, president of CFS; Alice Evans, CFS vice president; Lee Lombardia, Student Association president; P. Distasio, CFS adviser; and Bob Hess, by "Fraternal Week" chairman Jackie Chaney, was "Can we, as a fraternity system, realize the issues which face our colleges and universities today?"

A steady downpour of rain did not dampen the spirits of approximately 55 members of the USF faculty, staff and student body as they met at Chisegut Hill, in Brooksville, on Saturday, March 2, for the "Society Summit," of CFS members and advisers was the second event and possibly the most important stepping stone of the week's festivities. Dean Bill Baggett, Dean of Men at Stetson University, joined with guests of the previous evening, Mrs. P. Marshall, Mr. Steve McArthur and Miss M. Fernandez, to advise students in five areas of discussion.

Buzz Groups

Buzz groups were held in the morning on: finance and housing; membership; programming for a fraternal society; what is a fraternity or sorority; and rush.

In the afternoon students and advisers returned to their groups and formulated resolutions to be presented at the "group hassle." At this mass meeting, chaired by Bob Bobier, the resolutions were voted on. Upon a resolution's passage, it was entered into the agenda for CFS.

CFS Reception

On Tuesday, March 5, CFS sponsored a reception honoring Bob Burt, Averill Vanderlip, Collier Summers, Mary Ella Pippin and Jack Morgan, students participating in the Fine Arts Concert Student Recital. Midway through the week, new CFS officers were elected. Frank Hancock was elected president; Jackie Chaney, vice president; Rena Antinori, recording secretary; Pam Morales, correspondence secretary, and Fred Atterbury, treasurer.

Friday night, March 8, brought to a close the first "Fraternal Week" on the USF campus. A "Candlelight Conclusion" banquet was held at the Tampa Room of the Hillsborough Hotel. The guest speaker chose as his topic a challenge. This challenge was the application of what had been learned during the past week to the actions of the future.

The remaining events of the evening were the installation of new officers and the "Fraternal Fling," a dance held in the Empire Ballroom of the Hillsborough Hotel for all active members of the 12 fraternal societies on the USF campus.

USF-Community Concert To Be Held Tomorrow

USF will present a chorus and orchestra concert on Tuesday, March 12, at 8:30 p.m. in the TA.

R. Wayne Hugoboom, associate professor of music at the University, will conduct the university choir and the university-community chorus. Assistant conductor will be Richard Winters.

The University-Community Symphony Orchestra will be conducted by Edward Preodor, professor of music at the university. Chorus accompanist will be Robert Gower.

They will perform the Requiem Mass in C Minor by Luigi Cherubini. Although Cherubini was born in Florence, Italy, and is considered an Italian composer, he spent most of his life in Paris. A personal friend of Beethoven's, Cherubini is one of the modern masters of counterpoint. The Requiem in C Minor is considered his greatest, most famous work. The concert is open to the public at no charge. However, all seats will be reserved. Reservations may be made by calling at the theater box office (988-4131, Extension 343) between 1 and 5 p.m. week days. All reservations must be picked up by 8 p.m. the night of the performance. Tickets may also be picked at the box office prior to the concert.

Resigning Professors Give Opinions on Old, New Jobs

Cites Trouble With All-U, Admin. Policy

By RICHARD OPPEL

"In the space of three years, the All-University approach has created more dissension than a traditional approach would have created in a hundred years," Dr. A. Hood Roberts, assistant professor of English, in an interview conducted last week. Dr. Roberts is resigning his position at the end of trimester III-A to assume a faculty position at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. Roberts, an active member of the university faculty for the past two years, is a scholar in linguistics. On the USF campus, he has served as faculty adviser to the Episcopal University Center and Cio Fraternity, as well as serving on the executive committee of AAUP, of which he is state membership chairman.

Further commenting on the All-U approach, Roberts said, "Disregard for faculty opinion on academic matters seems almost to be university policy on this campus." He explained that in the All-U approach, all staff, janitors, janitorial and kitchen help as well as faculty members, are given voice in matters in which they do not have the same professional competence. "The local chapter of AAUP (American Association of University Professors) recently requested a faculty lounge where we might discuss matters relevant to the faculty alone. The university administration refused. The lounge atop the library is a staff lounge."

Grebstein Case

Criticism of the handling of Dr. Sheldon Grebstein's investigation was also voiced by Roberts. "I expected (State Sen.) Charley Johns to act as he did, I expected the Board of Control to act as it did, and I expected Gov. Bryant to act as he did, but I did NOT expect the university's administration to act as it did."

Dr. Roberts added, "Dr. Grebstein is much more charitable than I would be." Roberts initiated a vote of "no confidence" during the Grebstein investigation at a faculty meeting of Basic Studies and Liberal Arts. Roberts said voting was not permitted because it was not a formal faculty meeting. Roberts said that later, a second such motion by another faculty member was withdrawn at the request of Dr. Grebstein.

Administrative Organization

"A democratic process does not exist on this campus; there is no delegation of authority; and the president's apparent distrust of the faculty has had the inevitable and well-deserved result that the faculty (for the most part) no longer trusts the president," said Roberts. He said that he had surveyed the administrative organization and found that not one of the 40-odd functionaries (deans, committees, the senate, etc.) has the power to override a presidential decision.

As further evidence, Dr. Roberts referred to the minutes of the USF Senate meeting of Oct. 24, 1962, in which President Allen answered a request made by faculty members for a meet-

Computer Judgment Bad In Educational Process

By JACK MCCLINTOCK

Dr. Sheldon N. Grebstein is leaving USF at the end of Trimester II for greener and more fertile academic pastures. Grebstein has been offered a position at Harpur College in New York state. His rank and salary there will be similar to what they would have been at USF, but he numbers among the move's advantages the fact that he will have one trimester off each year, with pay, for research and writing.

Asked what prompted his decision to leave USF, Grebstein cited a number of reasons. At Harpur his classes will number twenty students, while at USF they average about thirty-five. He will also teach more upper-level and graduate courses, and his teaching load will be lighter. Other reasons, "More freedom in the intellectual atmosphere," and a more enlightened citizenry.

Grebstein took his B.A., Cum Laude, at the University of Southern California; his M.A., "With Distinction," at Columbia; and his Ph.D. at Michigan State, where he was graduate assistant and a graduate fellow.

"Deeply Impressed"

He came to USF, he said, "because of its high ideals and plans. I was deeply impressed with its charter faculty—amazing quality."

He says, however, "I fear that the university and its ideals will be swamped in numbers; that it will become 'overcrowded and understaffed.' I like the South Florida students very much," he said, and continued, "some have been 'brainwashed,' by whom I don't know, but they're eager and bright." He believes USF students will do as well as others in graduate schools.

Grebstein declined to comment on whether administration policies figured in his decision to leave.

Asked to comment on USF's all-university approach as compared to the "traditional" kind of education common in most other institutions, he said that "Most of the things that go on in other places, go on here, but under other names." In education, he said, "the whole notion of judging things in computer fashion has got to change."

Grebstein's favorite modern author is Hemingway. "Because he writes with absolute clarity and precision. He's a superb craftsman, and his work 'reverberates.'"

Working on Book

Grebstein has written a book, Sinclair Lewis, and is presently working on another. His first is a scholarly, but lucid, critical study of the writer Lewis. He spoke of Lewis' work: "Babbitt, I think, is the best art, Arrow-smith is the most fun, and because I know something of Lewis' life and background, I became more involved in Dodsworth."

Speaking of education in the South and its problems, he said, "The greatest boost that higher education could get in this state would be for the Johns Committee to be put out of business."

Top 15 Per Cent

Harpur College, where Grebstein is going, selects its students from among the top 15 per cent of New York students, actually "Harvard and Yale material." They go to Harpur because they can't afford the larger universities.

Grebstein expressed his regret to leave both the faculty and students, for whom I've developed much affection in a short time."

SA Will Present Top Folk Group

One of the nation's top folk song groups will move into McKay Auditorium March 24 at 8 p.m. to headline the SA Big Name Night.

The Limelighters are currently the biggest drawing power in the nation, according to SA president Lee Lombardia who was instrumental in bringing them here.

'MEET AUTHOR'

Hirshberg, Brosnan Here Wed.

Al Hirshberg, one of the few really successful free lance writers, and Jim Brosnan, a pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds and a writer, will be featured at the next "Meet the Author" program, Wednesday, March 13, 8 p.m. in UC 264-65.

Hirshberg was featured in the first "Meet the Author" program in the winter of 1960-1961.

Two Best Sellers

In collaboration with Piersall and Clinton T. Duffy, Hirshberg wrote the two best-selling books, "Fear Strikes Out" and "88 Men and Two Women." The most recent one, "My Giants," is being published this month. This latest book was written with Russ Hodges.

Hirshberg has also written numerous magazine articles for Saturday Evening Post, Redbook, Cosmopolitan, and Good Housekeeping.

Winter in St. Pete

The Hirshbergs spend their summers at their Cape Cod home or their Brookline apartment in Boston. The winters are spent in St. Petersburg. Hirshberg and his wife have two children.

Appearing with Hirshberg will be Jim Brosnan, star pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds. He has written two best-selling baseball books, "The Longest Season" and "The Pennant Race."

"This event," he said, "marks the birth of big league entertainment here." Lombardia believes that this event "is the beginning of a mature university with its own particular and personal philosophy I am impressed with this project," he said.

The Big Name Night is expected to climax the weekend activities planned for the University Showcase. McKay Auditorium has a seating capacity of 1,800. The SA hopes to see a full house.

"If this entire weekend is successful," Lombardia said, "there is no reason why this cannot become a regular event."

Religious Council Host To Festival

The University Religious Council is presenting a Festival of Arts for the month of March. A seminar was given last week-end. The upcoming event in the festival is an organ recital, the first on campus, to be given by Bill Kietzer, Wednesday, March 13 at 8 p.m. Place will be announced.

The music on the program will consist of a potpourri, says Bill, dating from Bach to contemporary American and French organ music. He will do two movements of a four-movement Bach pastoral which is rarely performed.

Bill has completed a music major at Indiana Central College and Westminster Choir College at Princeton and is now taking classes at USF. He holds the position of organ chairman at the Episcopal University Center, and assists at St. Andrews Church in Tampa.

Bill will meet interested students at the free hour, 1:25 p.m., in AD 1051. He will explain future space agency programs for math, physics, accounting, statistics and engineering majors.

NASA Recruiter Coming Wednesday

Mark Russell, chief of work-study training for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's George C. Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., will be on campus Wednesday to talk to students interested in a career with the space agency.

Russell will meet interested students at the free hour, 1:25 p.m., in AD 1051. He will explain future space agency programs for math, physics, accounting, statistics and engineering majors.

Senate Sets Insurance Probe

WASHINGTON, March 11 (UP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said yesterday his Senate anti-trust subcommittee would investigate certain phases of the insurance industry, administered prices and over-the-counter drugs.

He said the insurance inquiry would deal with foreign companies doing business in this country. The committee also will look into alleged misrepresentation and "lack of proper regulation over health and accident insurance, particularly in mail order insurance," he added.

British Official May Visit Yugoslavia

Typewriter Purchase Plan Set

TALLAHASSEE, March 11 (P) — The state purchasing commission announced today for that type electric typewriter manufacturer for state agencies to buy machines at prices below U.S. government contracts.

Commission executive director Ralph R. Siller, who negotiated the new contract, said the new price schedule for typewriters paved the way for state agencies to effect considerable savings.

The new contract — with Royal McBee Corp. — allows state agencies to buy electric typewriters with 13-inch carriages for $348.50 whether they buy them singly or in group lots.

Before the contract went into effect, the cheapest price for that type electric typewriter was $400.50, Siller said, said, the same price the federal government contracted for with most of the manufacturers.

Announcement of the contract came after the state agencies submitted their budget requests for consideration by the state cabinet. In the requests, 18 state agencies specifically requested funds for typewriters — $130,000 for 355 machines—most of them electric.

Other agencies merely listed their office needs under a general heading.

The prices the agencies listed for typewriters ranged from $300 to $450. They did not explain.

Under state purchasing regulations, agencies did not call for bids on typewriter purchases because the purchasing commission secured contract prices for them.

Despite the new lower contract, state agencies are under no requirement to buy any particular type, model or brand of typewriter.

If the 1963 legislature approves the budget requests, the state agencies may spend its typewriter funds on whatever machines it desires.

Most state agencies have been swinging away from the manual typewriter to the speedier electric typewriter which most female secretaries find less fatiguing.

Many receptionists, whose jobs require little typing, use electric typewriters for such jobs as envelope addressing.

In many cases, the agency head leans heavily upon the preference of the secretary who will use the machine to help make his decision.

A tour of most state agencies indicates most of the secretaries prefer the most expensive electric typewriter the state can buy.

Georgia Senate Ready To Act On Youth Bill

ATLANTA, March 11 (P)—A bill to establish a youth department for Georgia—one of Gov. Carl Sanders' administration proposals—is ready for action in the senate today as the legislature begins its final five days of this session.

There have been no discernible opposition to the bill, but the senate might try to delete an amendment tacked on in the house to give the legislature more control over the new department's operation.

As soon as it gets rid of the youth bill, the senate is expected to turn its attention to Sanders' proposed spending program of $954 million for the next two years. The appropriations bill was given a thorough study by the senate appropriations committee which made some relatively slight changes.

If the senate goes along with the committee, the measure then would go back to the house for consideration of the changes.

The possibility of night sessions to handle the last minute crush of legislation has been raised by Lt. Gov. Peter Zack Geer. However, it seems unlikely that the lawmakers will find this necessary unless they reach an impasse on too many bills and have to dissolve the differences in conference committees.

Three major items—the anti-obscenity bill, the proposal to increase the minimum age on executions and the administration measure to make county service consolidations easier—already have gone to conference committees.

S.C. Negroes Fete High Court Ruling

COLUMBIA, S.C., March 11 (UPI)—About 300 Negroes sang "freedom songs" and heard speeches at a rally here yesterday celebrating a recent Supreme Court decision.

The group commemorated a decision setting aside breach of peace convictions of 187 Negroes arrested during a protest demonstration at the state capitol building in 1961.

Air Force Probing Atlas Missile Blast

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., March 11 (UPI)—The Air Force today studied launch records of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) to determine what caused it to explode Saturday.

Debris fell on land "within the compound," the Air Force said, but no one was injured in the test launch failure.

Travel Trailers Offer Low-Cost Vacations

By ROBERT PETERSON
My quest for high adventure in later years hasn't yet turned up an idea to top trailer caravanning. With a compact, cozy travel trailer in tow, couples with cars can hit the trail when the mood strikes, sleep in their own beds at night and cook their own food and budget $10 a day or less for expenses. And if they join a club they can derive plenty of camaraderie in the bargain.

travel trailer aficionados is the Wally Byam Caravan Club. Its membership is open to those owning a trailer built by the firm Byam founded, and numbers mostly retired homeowners in middle-income brackets who use their trailers only when traveling.

THEIR roster sports some 10,000 members who pay annual dues of $5 and receive a monthly magazine listing national, state and regional rallies organized to provide members with places to go in company with fellow members.

The Caravanners first came to my attention a decade ago when I read that Byam had led a caravan of nearly a thousand travel trailers through Mexico. It was easy to imagine the pleasure these travelers found not only in the rich sights but in the fellowship which ensued nightly as the group parked in a great circle and spent the evening around a bonfire comparing notes.

When I met Wally Byam a bit later I dubbed him the Pied Piper of the Geriatric Set—a title he proceeded to live up to by leading subsequent caravans of travel trailer enthusiasts through Canada, Central America, Europe, and even Africa. Byam has since passed on, but the idea he sparked grows brighter each year. Last month in Miami I visited 2,000 Caravanners gather for a mid-winter rally. The chief topic of conversation was the Club's "Around the World Caravan" next fall when some 250 members in 100 trailers are scheduled to depart from the West Coast on a sensational, 12-month trip around the globe.

HOW MUCH will it cost? The Club is recommending budgets of about $13,000 per couple, about half of which is actual ocean transportation costs for each couple and their trailer. It sounds like a lot of money, but it's not bad considering that this covers two people for an entire year while experiencing the crown jewel of human travels — a trip around the world.

Among those signed up are the George Pannells of Kirkwood, Mo. "We've never been abroad before," said Pannell, 60, a tanned, solidly-built ex-accountant. "When I retired last May we bought a travel trailer and went to Alaska. It was a totally new experience for us, and so rewarding that we've decided this is the way we want to see the world."

Also going are the Ted Baumanns of Churubusco, Ind., a pair of bright-eyed grandparents in their early 60's. Bauman formerly worked as a lathe operator, and his pretty wife taught school 27 years until they both retired last year. "We've never been abroad either," said Bauman. "We've always lived thriftily and now that we're retired look forward to treating ourselves to seeing the world."

The Caravan Club is a crack-jack example of the kinds of programs needed to open new doors of adventure, friendship and satisfaction to our burgeoning numbers of retirees. Some may prefer the joys of books and sedentary hobbies. But more and more retirees want vigorous pleasures which take them out of accustomed orbits and into lively contact with the rest of the world.

IF YOU would like a booklet "Trailer Life in Retirement" write to this column in care of The Tampa Times enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

'sparked with the
Marine Bank
& Trust Company'...

We are deeply touched by the news story which appeared in The Tampa Tribune of Sunday, February 24, 1963... a story which stated:

"Tampa's building boom of the 60's seemed to be sparked with the Marine Bank and Trust Company announcement in 1960 of the $4 million blue, pearl granite paneled structure at Madison and Franklin, which the bank has been in a year now."

We also feel keenly the community responsibility that brings about a statement of this kind. The decision to build the Marine Bank building came at a time when many were abandoning downtown Tampa for new investment. The men who built it had foresight and a firm conviction that a new bank building in the heart of our city would lead to a better life, in a better, bigger community.

The progressive outlook, enthusiasm and judgment which made Marine Bank the first entirely new multi-story building in downtown Tampa in over 30 years can 'spark' your future growth. Why not stop by and talk over your plans with us? ... strict, it is necessary, especially since the old, more lax system has caused some books almost to stop circulating entirely.

Dear Fellow Student:

On the 24th of this month you will be sponsoring a BIG NAME event. This has been the dream of not only students and faculty, but the administration as well, for quite some time. On that Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, the University of South Florida Student Association will be sponsoring "The Limelighters" in a folk concert—the first of many such concerts and dances. Because of the lack of a suitable facility on the campus, the concert will be held at MacKay Auditorium. Tickets are scheduled to be sold at about the same time that you will be reading this. Thus another dream has become a reality.

The Student Association during the last month has been an effective arm for a better USF. We face the future with a philosophy which was recently expressed in a letter to the Honorable Sam M. Gibbons, member of Congress: "... The University of South Florida can and will become one of the leading institutions of higher learning in the nation."

Sincerely,
Lee M. Lombardia,
President

Khrushchev Puts 'Free' Thinkers on Notice — They're Not Free

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON, March 11 —Premier Khrushchev has just straightened the Russians out on what freedom means, if they had any doubts.

And while he was at it he shifted emphasis a bit on Stalin whom he denounced in 1956 as a monster and murderer.

At that time the picture of Stalin Khrushchev developed was that of a man who increased in cruelty. Now he is making the dictator out to be a mental case.

Two years ago the Russian Communist Party promised the people freedom of speech, press and assembly.

Since freedom is a relative term, this would be, if carried out, an improvement of anything the Soviet people had under Stalin.

And there is no doubt they have had a greater sense of freedom under Khrushchev than Stalin permitted.

A YEAR AGO Harrison Salisbury of the New York Times, revisiting Russia after some years, wrote:

"The strongest and deepest tendencies in Soviet society appear today to be firmly oriented toward western liberal ideals.

"With few exceptions the leaders of Soviet thought in all the more advanced areas of human knowledge are more attracted to ideals of a humanistic nature than to the conventional materialism of Marxist thought."

This development apparently went beyond anything Khrushchev had in mind until he began to consider it a menace. Last week he called a halt.

He branded Russia's rebellious intellectuals anti-Communists who threaten to undermine the Soviet regime.

They had challenged the authority—or the good judgment—of the Communist Party in cultural affairs.

Khrushchev aimed straight at Ilya Ehrenburg, 72-year-old leader of the liberal forces.

BUT HIS WORDS were looked upon as a warning to writers, painters, composers and other artists. Ehrenburg had given voice to their feelings:

A plea for peaceful coexistence between the official approved Socialist realism, whatever that is, and art forms imported from the West.

Khrushchev said a liberal victory on this issue would mean "a blow at our beloved revolutionary achievements in the area of Socialist art."

This sounds vague, and it is, but it contains two points:

1. The Russian intellectuals are getting sick of being told they must think in artistic terms the Communist Party considers best for itself.

2. Khrushchev told them to cut it out and do what they're told. Thus he told them any freedoms they thought they had are extremely limited.

THIS DOESN'T solve the problem since this kind of dictation by the party could have been imposed and accepted 46 years ago when the revolution was new and the masses of the Russian people were illiterate—but not today.

As they increase in education and are more exposed to western ideas and achievements, they will make comparisons with their own culture and become increasingly discontented where they see disadvantages for them.

It is in this that the West perhaps has its greatest hope for some eventual peaceful solutions with Russia:

The more the Russians increase in education and material well-being, the less they can be led into war by a Communist Party which has ideological goals that come into conflict with their own human and intelligent ones.

If the intellectuals seek to push their luck at this moment—which is a transition point between early Russian poverty and ignorance and modern knowledge and comparative opulence—the Communist Party may crack down brutally.

NEVERTHELESS, the unrest is there and there is nothing for it to do but grow.

Khrushchev's mention of Stalin was in an attempt to point out the achievements of the revolution Stalin guided so long.

But whereas seven years ago Stalin's atrocities were viewed as the result of a simple increase in cruelty, now Khrushchev emphasizes that the late dictator suffered from a "persecution mania."

In other words, Khrushchev is making allowance for Stalin's misdeeds on the grounds that he wasn't mentally responsible.

This in effect is a whitewash for the Russian Communist Party whose leader Stalin was.

Miami Beach Hotel Robbed Of $15,000

MIAMI BEACH, March 11 (UPI)—Police admitted they had no suspects and few leads to the two bandits who nipped the posh new Doral Beach Hotel for $15,000 last night after handcuffing a cashier and bookkeeper.

Police said the female cashier and bookkeeper, whom they declined to identify, were too frightened during the bold hold-up to give anything more than a "nondescript description" of the gunmen.

The two neatly-dressed men walked into the cashier's office of the three-week-old hotel and ordered the bookkeeper at gunpoint to open the safe, "and open it the first time."

Police said one of the bandits handcuffed the hotel employee and taped their eyes and mouths while the other looted the stuffed safe. Before the employees could free themselves, the bandits walked out through the lobby and vanished.

Hotel officials estimated the loss at $15,000, but police officials speculated the take was higher.

As we say, some cars are more reliable in the long run!

Results of Daytona 500 prove Ford-built cars are better-built to last longer!

Nothing tests a car's endurance and reliability like the Daytona 500. In more than three torturous hours, cars can wear out tires, wear down piston rings, tear out transmissions, blow up engines.

The results of this year's event dramatically prove the superior ruggedness and reliability of today's Ford Motor Company cars.

The fact that Ford-built cars took the first five places is far less important to you than that Ford-built entries had the highest ratio of finishers.

While 50 cars started, only 23 finished. Less than half! And of these 23 finishers, 13 were either Fords or Mercurys.

Of the 23 entries built by Ford's major competitor, only 7 finished. Of the 8 built by another competitor, only 3 finished.

Quite an eye-opener for car buyers—conclusive, convincing proof that Ford-built engines, transmissions and suspensions are better built.

As you might expect, today's Ford Motor Company cars are quality-engineered to last longer in other ways, too. Extra reinforcements make the rigidized bodies stay tighter and ride quieter. Doors are strong double-panel steel. Roofs have rugged, triple-channel steel bracing underneath. Extra rust protection keeps Ford-built cars looking new longer. (Even screws on all exterior surfaces are stainless steel.)

Why not visit your Ford or Lincoln-Mercury dealer soon? See for yourself why Ford-built cars last longer, need less care and keep their value better.

Meet Your Obligation Tomorrow

Tomorrow all eligible Democrats of Hillsborough County have an engagement at the polling places where they are registered to vote.

It will be a day of opportunity. It will be their day to give another strong boost to good government.

Voting precincts will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The ballot will be extremely short. This is not to say, however, the voting will be unimportant.

On the contrary, qualified Democrats have the most important assignment of deciding the runoff contest between Terrell Sessums and Abel H. Rigau for State Representative in Group 6.

The fact that the ballot is so short means it should take each voter only a few seconds to record his or her decision.

Certainly, every citizen who realizes how precious is the privilege of the free and secret ballot ought to be able to spare that much time in order to vote.

There are too few countries in which individuals are at liberty to register their choice secretly and without fear of reprisals. We read about the recent elections in the Soviet Union in which there was only one candidate for each office. Nikita Khrushchev and others may brag about the heavy turnout of voters, but they are careful not to mention that the shadow of the secret police fell darkly across every Russian ballot box.

It is hard for us to imagine such conditions in this country. They will never come to us as long as men and women in this free nation take their citizenship seriously and register their convictions at the polls.

In these columns just prior to the first primary balloting on Feb. 26, we offered our recommendation in the Group 6 legislative contest, selecting Mr. Sessums from the field of 12 candidates for the Democratic nomination. He received the most number of votes in that balloting.

During the campaigning for tomorrow's runoff primary, nothing has occurred or been said that in the least affects our recommendation in this contest. As a matter of fact, we are even more strongly convinced that Mr. Sessums would serve this county and the state well in the Legislature.

We have found him to be a poised and perceptive attorney.

He has impressed us with his knowledge of and interest in the issues of local and state government.

A graduate of the University of Florida, where he was president of the student body and Southern debating champion, Terrell Sessums has been most active here in civic and governmental affairs. He has been president of the Hillsborough County Young Democrats and worked diligently for reapportionment of the Florida Legislature as a member of the Committee for Fair Representation.

During the 1959 and 1961 legislative sessions in Tallahassee, he served as an aide to the Hillsborough County delegation. The experience gained then in digging deeply into local and state legislative questions and in helping to draft bills that were introduced in the State Senate and House is a decided asset of which every eligible voter should be aware.

A man of high principles and devoted to the best interests of all the people, Terrell Sessums fully merits election.

Whether or not you agree with this recommendation, it remains your obligation to go to the polls tomorrow and vote your conviction.

Our system of government is being challenged as never before in our history. The best answer, the best proof of the vitality of our system of representative government, is a whole-hearted outpouring of citizens determined to exercise their rights as free men.

Vote as you choose tomorrow—but VOTE!

Defending the Poor In Federal Courts

Defendants in federal criminal cases cannot get a fair trial if they do not have well-qualified lawyers to defend them, yet a substantial proportion of those haled into court are too poor to pay for legal counsel.

Under the present system, the courts in most districts appoint private lawyers to represent indigents without pay. The quality of that representation is often naive because it comes from young lawyers eager for trial experience or poor because it comes from lawyers who take the cases hoping to get a fee later.

Moreover, judges in some districts have difficulties finding enough lawyers to appoint. One reason is that bar associations in some areas have not responded eagerly to provide attorneys.

President Kennedy has now sent a bill to Congress that would open the way for a "public defender" system to assure proper legal assistance free of charge to those who cannot afford to pay for it. It would also provide for making available trained investigators and technical experts.

The measure's aim, the President pointed out, is to "diminish the role which poverty plays in our federal system of criminal justice."

Certainly, Mr. Kennedy is looking in the right direction. The constitutional rights of American citizens, spelled out in the Bill of Rights, are exceedingly precious. They ought to be rigorously protected in every criminal case, and especially in those instances in which the accused may be poor, ignorant and friendless.

Under the President's proposal, the judges in each federal district would select the kind of system they thought would most effectively aid persons in their area with limited means who would otherwise be deprived of an adequate defense against criminal charges. The judges could choose to establish a paid public defender, to utilize existing bar association or legal-aid society arrangements or to pay private attorneys on a case-by-case basis.

The Kennedy program would require the establishment of a workable plan in each district. The courts would continue to determine which defendants are unable to pay for their own lawyers, but would have an additional option. The judge could, for example, provide funds for psychiatric examinations while ruling that a defendant must pay his lawyer's fee.

This proposal, in our opinion, is fair, flexible and definitely in the public interest. We trust Congress will approve it promptly, thereby taking effective steps to see that the right to competent counsel is assured to every man accused of crime in federal court, regardless of his means.

Honorary Citizenship For Winston Churchill

Members of the House Judiciary Committee are entitled to generous applause for adopting the resolution conferring honorary U.S. citizenship upon Sir Winston Churchill. It is to be hoped that the full House and the Senate will push the measure toward final enactment.

No statesman in our time, few in any age, have lived to savor the resplendence of fame that envelops his glorious career. Winston Churchill, half American and wholly British, not only dominated a whole era of British destiny. He was an era.

There are few, if any, individuals in this country who will disagree that Sir Winston is held in highest esteem and affection by the people of the United States. During his visits to this country, the great British leader who did so much to save the free world was witness to the acts of appreciation and heard the words of praise from citizens in every walk of life.

But such displays and expressions of sentiment are not enough. It is altogether fitting that there should be placed in the public archives of this country an imperishable acknowledgment of one free nation's devotion to a leader of another free country who has rendered immeasurable service to mankind.

The resolution as approved by the House committee does not involve any formal change of citizenship. What would be conferred upon the wise and talented Englishman who fought on battlefield and podium would be all the honors of American citizenship and none of its responsibilities.

Only one other individual to our knowledge has been granted this American distinction—France's Marquis de La Fayette, for his services in the American Revolution. Winston Churchill is fully deserving of the same unique national tribute. Congress should promptly see that he receives it.

Most UNESCO Books Said Valuable

Washington, D.C. — With reference to The Tampa Times editorial of Feb. 15, entitled "U.N. Inviting Disaster," it is indeed deplorable that the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) saw fit to publish last year a book by two Soviet nationals on "Equality of Rights Between Races and Nationalities in the USSR" which is so obviously a vehicle for Soviet propaganda.

Your readers might be interested to note, however, that the Department of State vigorously protested publication of this booklet last April and has since then, with the advice of the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO, submitted comprehensive criteria which, if adopted, would prevent the use of UNESCO publications for Soviet propaganda purposes.

It should be noted that of the 5,400 books and periodicals which UNESCO has published or helped publish in the last 16 years, Readers are invited to send letters for publication to the Voice of the People, The Tampa Times, Tampa, Florida. Each letter must be signed with the writer's name and address. However, signatures will be withheld on request. The Times reserves the right to shorten letters to conform to space requirements. Letters will not be returned.

only a dozen have given rise to protests by either the United States or other countries.

One booklet, however objectionable, should not detract from the scholarly and valuable publications which UNESCO puts out every year in the fields of education, natural sciences, social sciences, and the arts, nor from its overall work which serves the interests of the United States.

The Allen-Scott Report

Kremlin Taps U.S. Gold Reserve

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

Washington — Russia is acquiring large amounts of this country's dwindling gold reserves.

Through a series of complex but profitable international financial manipulations, the Kremlin has siphoned off some $25 million in U.S. gold stocks since last August.

In addition to draining our gold reserve, which is now at the lowest level since 1939, the Russians are netting a profit of more than $5 million on their bold operations.

According to the financial jig-saw puzzle pieced together by intelligence authorities, the Soviet Union is obtaining U.S. gold by converting dollars in the exchange for Indian rupees. These rupees, marketed in Chicago and New York by individuals working for the Russian government, were originally obtained in New Delhi in payment for Soviet gold sold to the Indian government to help stabilize its currency.

This financial wheeling and dealing is paying off handsomely for the Soviets.

By selling its gold to India at the world price, which is considerably above the $35-an-ounce U.S. pays, the Kremlin makes a fat windfall profit by selling rupees for dollars in the U.S. and then exchanging the dollars for gold at the lower U.S. profit.

Significantly, these undercover gold machinations first began to show up last fall following the 15th session of the International Banking School, which was held in Moscow for the first time.

Attending this high-level meeting were 250 bankers from 48 countries, including an 18-member U.S. delegation headed by Paul Gekker of the Federal Reserve and including a number of other U.S. officials.

An intelligence report "for official eyes only" reveals that the Soviet hosts used the meeting to (1) obtain information about U.S. gold problems, and (2) to build up an image of respectability in international banking circles.

As a sidelight on decorum, the report notes that "when the American delegation was excused to attend a reception at Spaso (Russian resort), the delegation received warm applause from other delegations, including the Cubans.

This incident occurred at the same time that Premier Khrushchev and Raul Castro, Cuban defense chief, were meeting in the Kremlin putting the finishing touches on the plot to secretly ship medium-range nuclear-armed missiles to Cuba. The Cuban delegation to the bankers meeting accompanied Raul to Moscow.

Two congressional committees are quietly looking into the Soviet gold purchases, including the Americans who are handling the rupee-to-dollars-to-gold manipulations.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee, which has the names of these individuals, plans to quiz them soon.

The House Foreign Aid Appropriation subcommittee, headed by Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., is scrutinizing these deals as part of an overall inquiry into how the foreign aid program affects the chronic loss of U.S. gold reserves.

Latest Treasury report turned over to the Passman committee shows U.S. gold stocks on March 1 had dropped to $15,877,833,513—the lowest level since 1939.

Representative Passman is also probing the reason behind the recent U.S. action in borrowing $100 million in francs from France.

The Air Age Needs Freedom

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Miami—The international airport here is one of the great wonders and attractions of this hop-off region for Latin America, a huge development that hardly comports with the limitations on movement which communism imposes on any section of the world it takes over. In this sense, Fidel Castro, who had frozen Cuba into an archaic pattern of society a hundred miles to the south, must be a symbol of death for Pan American, Eastern, Delta and other big airlines that move in and out of the Miami region.

The airport is practically a community in itself. Some 25,000 people work for the airport; the payroll amounts to $140 million a year. Altogether, the airport supports a population of some 75,000 persons. This population, according to a local estimate, drives 26,750 cars, sends 12,750 children to schools, needs a thousand retail stores to provide for its wants, and spends $90 million a year on retail trade. You can see what a hole would be made in Miami's economy if the air age were somehow to vanish.

Because of the freedom of movement provided by the air age, Californians now come to Florida by big jet for vacations instead of hopping to Hawaii. They may then move on to the Caribbean, or even jump directly to Lisbon in Portugal, a 4,726-mile leap.

But even as great Pan American jets move from a 10,500-foot runway to take off from Miami for distant parts, the entire world save for English-speaking North America, Western Europe and the islands of the Pacific is threatened with the congealment that Marxism imposes.

When Juan Terry Trippe was starting Pan American Airways back in the 1920s, Cuba was the first piece of territory he had to conquer for free movement. Havana, in the days of the short hop, was the "stopper;" landing rights were needed there if Pan American planes were to go on to Panama and Peru. Once Trippe had reached an agreement with the Cuban government, everything was possible.

Today the Havana "stopper" is no longer crucial. But Latin America as a whole is desperately dependent on movement by air. In many Central and South American countries there are literally no roads. If there were no air routes, only the coastal towns would have free contact with the outer world.

So it is a question whether Latin America can afford quitting the world of free movement to join the congealed world of the Reds. True enough, Soviet Russia can make planes. But Red China, as Senator Barry Goldwater has said, still strives to exist by a rickshaw economy, and Soviet Russia by itself can hardly supply the air transport that is needed to keep Latin America in motion. Only the technological skills that are fostered in an atmosphere of freedom can do that.

GEORGE DIXON SAYS

Just What Is Funny?

Washington—This is a personal gripe. As with many gripes in this world, it is aimed at people who are trying to be helpful.

For a few days we had a silly situation in front of the White House. The Executive Mansion was picketed by solemn-visaged men and women urging that clothes be put on animals, including Mrs. Kennedy's horse and Caroline's pony.

The picketers said they were members of the "Society for Indecency to Naked Animals" (SINA for short). They denied, with preternatural gravity, that there was any element of spoof about the name or their dedication to remedying a "gross indecency."

The picketers said their initial goal was to induce the First Lady to put her favorite mount, Sardar, and Caroline's Macaroni, in Bermuda shorts. They said this would set an example to zookeepers to cover up bare bears and bald eagles. I tried to ignore the members of SINA, who struck me as highly ignorable. But some of my best friends had other ideas. The burden of their hilarity was:

"This is a natural for you. I'm dying to see what you'll do about putting pants on Macaroni!"

I didn't want my friends to die, so I strove to figure out a "humorous" approach to the picketing. Even with the aid of suggestions of pants for panthers and swallows for swallows, it wouldn't come.

The trouble is that the broader the absurdity, the harder it is to make it come out funny on paper.

My idea of fun is the experience that befell one of our leading Washington pundits the other morning.

He had occasion to drop into the Metropolitan Club, "second home" of many top New Frontiersmen. It was not yet 10 a.m. Rather shamefacedly, he asked the bartender:

"I suppose it is much too early to get a beer?"

"Oh, no, sir," said the barman, "a group of members have already been here. They had four martinis apiece."

"My goodness," exclaimed the pundit, "they must be desperate men!"

"I think so, sir," agreed the barkeep solemnly. "They'd been to the White House."

Lausche Hits Retreat Behind Managed News

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Senate Foreign Relations committee man Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) has told President Kennedy—point-blank—that he now questions Mr. Kennedy's entire position with Khrushchev in the October "confrontation."

He said he considers the confrontation outcome "strange," "peculiar" and lacking in "fair treatment to the American people."

He said "merely a part of the task was performed and widely publicized just before the election," placing us "back again where we were last October."

Tearing aside all party labels, the powerful Ohioan accuses both Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara of being up to their ears in managing the news.

He accuses Secretary Rusk of attempting to suppress the recent report of the Organization of American States pointing to the perilous difficulties that nations friendly to the United States are having with Khrushchev's Communist base in the Western Hemisphere.

He indicts Secretary McNamara's two-hour TV exposition as "an attempt to lull the American people into the belief that all is well in Cuba."

Then drawing heavily on both disclosed and undisclosed testimonies before his Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Lausche presented a shocking box score to summarize his contention of an absolutely inexplicable retreat behind the managed news.

The senator's box score:

Our government says Khrushchev took out 42 missiles. We noisily appeared to refuse Khrushchev's swap of these for our missile bases in Turkey. Yet, calling our missiles "obsolete," we did, in fact, dismantle 15 missile bases in Turkey—and 30 in Italy. Were "obsolete" missiles defending us before Oct. 22? Where are the missiles needed elsewhere in order to justify removing them from Russia's border?

Our government says Khrushchev took out all IL-28 bombers, also estimated at 42. Yet Secretary McNamara recently admitted to the Foreign Relations Committee that, compared to last July, Castro's air power has still been "strengthened by at least 102 Soviet planes. These include MIG-15 and MIG-21 fighters, instantly convertible into bombers merely by mounting bomb racks. McNamara also admitted to the committee that each can carry nuclear bombs larger than those launched by Polaris submarines. Nevertheless, our government publicly plays these down as "defensive weapons" and speaks of "the bombers" as removed.

With a sound of victory, our government has given intense publicity of Khrushchev's withdrawal of an assumed 6,000 soldiers and technicians among the 17,000 or more last admitted to be in Cuba. But at the same time we've quietly ordered the withdrawal of many times this number of ours from Western Europe.

Reducing this to layman's language, Senator Lausche sees us as determined to have mere parity with the Russians, not nuclear strike superiority, in order to relieve Kremlin fears—a reduction in American power with no assurance that the Russians would do the same thing.

He sees our Cuba behavior as part of this whole package. And surely many Americans have not yet grasped the full dimensions of the administration thinking inside the actions that are otherwise inexplicable, as queried by this conscientious and courageous Senate stalwart.

Behind the scenes, the whole picture—the whole package—is incredibly larger than we realize. Of that there is no question.
