Ticket prices range from $2.50 to $3.50, with a 50 cents reduction for USF students. Tickets are obtainable at the UC desk. ## THIS WEEKEND

USF Showcase Features Supper, Movies, Exhibits

Many special events will be held this weekend when USF will hold its first campus-wide open house. Here are some of the features which have been planned: Registration—The registration desks in the Administration Building and the University Center will be available not only for registration but also for information and for the purchase of tickets for the Friday night dinner. The desks will open from 1 to 6 p.m. on Friday and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Open Classes—The University's regularly scheduled classes on Friday afternoon will be open for anyone to visit. Classrooms are located in the Life Sciences, Chemistry, Administration, University Center, and Theatre Buildings.

Visits with Faculty—Many of the University's faculty and administrative personnel will be in their offices both Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. They may be visited any time they are free.

Displays and Exhibits—A variety of displays and exhibits have been set up in the Life Sciences, Chemistry, Administration, Library, University Center, and Theatre buildings. These include research activities in progress, rare books, the language laboratory, the Data Processing Center, the Herbarium, art shows, theatre costume and set design, student recreational activities, physical plant operations, teaching aids, and a number of others.

Tours—Guides will be on hand the entire weekend to conduct tours of the buildings. The tours are conducted separately in each building, rather than campus-wide.

Refreshments—Refreshment tables will be located in the Administration Building, University Center, Alpha Hall, the Theatre, and the Library. Punch and cookies will be served Friday from 1 to 5 p.m., and coffee and doughnuts will be served Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

Movies—Friday evening at 8 p.m., a series of old-time comedy movie shorts will be shown at the west service entrance of the University Center. On Saturday, a series of educational films will be shown continuously in room 100 of the Chemistry Building, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Dining—A $1 box dinner, with chicken or tuna as the main course, will be served north of the University Center at 6 p.m. Friday. President John Allen will give a brief welcome to guests at that time. Tickets for the dinner should be purchased at either of the main registration desks in the Administration Building and the University Center. Tickets may be purchased at the time of registration or later in the afternoon. On Saturday, lunch in the University Center cafeteria will be available.

Entertainment—Friday afternoon, the University Band and Chorus will present a concert in the Theatre at 4:30 p.m. At the same time, a jazz and poetry session is scheduled in the University Center Ballroom. After the evening meal, folk singing, group singing, and a program of comedy skits will be presented by students. At 7:30 p.m. there will be a square dance in the street in front of the University Center, followed by regular dancing to the music of a popular dance band. Saturday, teams of men and women cyclists will stage bike races in the parking lot east of the Humanities Building, and Saturday evening the annual student Spring Formal will be held in the University Center from 9 to 1 a.m.

Lit. Magazine On Sale Friday

The target date to begin sales of, i.e., USF's literary magazine, is March 22. Manuscripts were given to central duplicating last Wednesday, and unless difficulties arise sales will begin Friday afternoon in conjunction with the poetry and jazz session.

The price of Volume 2, Number 1 of, i.e., is 35 cents. Included in it are poems, short stories and three critical articles by faculty members.

Paper Controversy Highlights Meeting

A growing controversy between the Student Association Legislature and the "Campus Edition" came to a head Thursday, March 7, during a meeting of the Legislature. President Dick Wheeler read a letter from Louise Stewart, former editor of the student newspaper, in which she attacked the Legislature for "meddling" in the affairs of the newspaper.

Later in the meeting, Richard Oppel, new editor, was introduced. Oppel's purpose in visiting the Legislature was to attempt to improve the relationship between the two organizations. After a brief statement he opened the floor for comment.

Questions Raised—A rash of questions ensued relative to the amount of space allotted the Student Association in the "Campus Edition," the overall space available, and arrangement of published information.

Charles Money asked if the editor was willing to work with an appointed committee which might act in an advisory capacity. Oppel consented.

Steve Nell reported that his committee has met to consider a bill introduced at a previous meeting concerning the construction of one or more permanent billboards on campus. It was the recommendation of his committee that the bill be passed.

Kathy Ladd requested that hereafter the material issuing from the Legislature in the form of bills and resolutions which are posted on the billboard in the lobby of UC be marked according to their status—passed, failed, etc.

Good Friday—Jennings Campbell, president of the Religious Council, appealed to the body for the passage of a bill to discontinue classes on Good Friday of each year. A group was appointed to look into the matter.

Bob Erwin read a resolution calling for the establishment of a committee to consider providing the university with an "effective newspaper." A motion was made, seconded and passed that the resolution be tabled.

STRING QUARTET

Concerts Set This Week

The University String Quartet will present two concerts on Wednesday, March 20, in the Teaching Auditorium-Theatre. The times for the concerts are 1:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Featured on the program will be Beethoven's "Quartet in B Major," Opus 18, No. 6. This Quartet is the last in a set of six quartets composed almost at the same time and grouped under the same opus number. Receiving their first performance in Wednesday's concerts will be "Three Pieces for String Quartet," written for the University String Quartet by the young American composer Theodore Hoffman. USF assistant professor of Humanities, Dr. Hoffman, a native of California and composition student of Darius Milhaud, has written music for all mediums. Tampa audiences will remember his recent theatre score written for the USF production of HAMLET.

The Quartet will also present "Introduction and Allegro for Harp, Accompanied by String Quartet, Flute, and Clarinet." Although the title of this work by Maurice Ravel is a bit cumbersome, it reveals something of the true structure of the work, for it is really a virtuoso concert piece in the form of a miniature Concerto for harp and a small chamber ensemble. The form is based on the Rhapsodies of Liszt. Jane Lenoir, a student at Brandon High School, will play the flute, and Arthur Hevrik, Instructor of Music at USF, will play the clarinet.

Shirley Tripp of Winter Haven will play the harp. She is a graduate of Michigan State University and a student of Grace Lausten Field.

Pres. Allen Says That Minor Sports Approved

By RICHARD OPPEL

President John S. Allen announced last week that planning for minor intercollegiate sports has been approved, but the implementation of these plans will not be possible until certain conditions are met.

The actual timetable for starting intercollegiate sports will not begin until after the university has been accredited. Accreditation is expected with the graduation of its first class, probably in December of this year.

Policy Supplement

Information was released as a supplement to an earlier policy on athletics and specifically mentioned baseball, crew, cross-country, golf, gymnastics, judo, soccer, swimming, tennis, track and wrestling as possibilities. Noticeably missing were football and basketball, and the previous policy statement said it was not anticipated that those two sports will be initiated in the near future.

Plans would require a three-stage progression into intercollegiate competition, beginning with the development of recreational clubs. Next would be the development of athletic clubs and finally intercollegiate.

Athletic Clubs

Commenting on the organization of athletic clubs, Dr. Gil Hertz, director of physical education, said they "would primarily deal with those sports which are usually termed intercollegiate. Through them we would give instructive training and possibly if the participants showed ability or proficiency in the sport we might enter the Florida State League (as an athletic club) with such teams as Stetson and Rollins. But it may be for years just an exhibition club."

Recreational clubs differ from athletic clubs in that their primary purpose is to promote interest and provide leisurely competition in a sport, while athletic clubs are organized to furnish rigorous and competitive training.

On-Campus Activity

Recreational clubs offer only on-campus activity as opposed to athletic clubs which may compete off campus. A number of recreational clubs are now active on campus and several more are planned to begin during this year.

Dr. Allen's statement called for the organization of teams under either NCAA or AAU rules, and that scheduling would be on an independent basis, unattached to conferences or leagues.

Athletic Scholarships

Under the policy, student activity money may be allocated to athletic scholarships, equipment and operating expenses of the intercollegiate athletic program. Athletic scholarships will be held to the same level and will be processed in the same manner as other scholarship awards.

Under the university's previous policy statement on athletics, intercollegiate sports are listed as third in priority, coming after establishment of well-rounded physical education and intramural programs.

concert; however, a general admission ticket is required. Tickets may be reserved by calling the Theatre Box Office (988-4131, Ext. 343) between 1 and 5 p.m. week days, or tickets may be picked up at the Box Office immediately before the concert.

SENIOR HISTORIAN

Habberton Retires For Second Time

By ED CARLSON

Dr. William Habberton, senior historian on campus, is retiring from the teaching profession for a second time at the end of the trimester. Habberton is a genuinely modest person, a quality not usually found in professional people. He has a great reluctance to reveal the many interesting events of his long career in teaching.

Habberton

Habberton has been throughout the South Pacific and the United States. It was on a tour of the United States in 1959-60 that he bought a summer home in St. Petersburg.

After his second retirement in April, Habberton and his wife will go on a trip around the world. This trip will be by water, land and air.

Dr. Habberton is the author of a monograph, "Anglo-Russian Relations Concerning Afghanistan," and the co-author of two other books, "Open Door to Education" and "World History—The Story of Man's Achievements," a high school text. Dr. Habberton was a reader in the British Museum in London and was given the privilege of using their resources to do historical research.

Praises Students

The retiring history professor says of USF that in all his teaching experience he has "never known a finer group of young people—in no other university have I had such pleasant student contacts." Dr. Habberton has scored some of the firsts in the USF such as teaching the historiography course and the first history seminar. He is also first advisor of the new social club Verdandi.

Little Man on Campus

"OF COURSE SHE HAS PRETTY TEETH, WORTH—DID YOU EVER KNOW OF A FRESHMAN GIRL THAT WASN'T A LITTLE BASHFUL ON HER FIRST BLIND DATE?"

OFF-CAMPUS ACTIVITY

College Activity High in State

Other colleges in the state of Florida have had SA elections and are now planning different events. Below is a summary of campus news.

University of Florida

Three stars of the record and entertainment field will be on the UF campus March 29 for the Inter-Fraternity Council's annual Spring Frolics.

Vaughn Meader, comedian who received nationwide fame for his impersonation of President Kennedy in the record album "The First Family" will be on hand together with Anita Bryant and Steve Alaimo.

Miss Bryant is the famed television Coca-Cola girl and was voted the outstanding female vocalist in 1960. She has performed in hotels, supper clubs and on many television shows.

Steve Alaimo is the third performer on the Frolics billing. Alaimo, who went to University of Miami to major in medicine, formed a band of his own to back his singing. While singing for high school and college crowds he became very popular and has now recorded such records as "Unchained Melody," "Mashed Potatoes," and a Twist album.

All profits will go to the Inter-Fraternity Council Loan Fund.

The controversial off-campus publication, "The Old Orange Peel," went on sale at the Florida Book Store last Thursday. Seven thousand copies were sold on the first day.

The magazine was edited by Jack Horan, who edited the first "Peel" before its demise last spring.

According to Bob Dixon, business manager of the magazine, "It's (The Peel) rollicking humor and pointed satire often struck very close to home, which is probably part of the reason it was banned."

Florida State University

Miss Mary Ellen Yaggy has been selected Miss Tally Ho of 1963. The Tally Ho is FSU's yearbook. Miss Yaggy was sponsored by Theta Chi. She is an Alpha Gam from Sarasota and is a psychology major.

The judges chose her because she represented the most typical All-American girl. The University Party won the top three student government offices with Johnny Smith, president; Julian Proctor, vice president; and Frank Ryll, men's vice president.

Smith defeated his female opponent, Jackie Mathis, 2,356 to 1,323 votes.

Spanish Play To Be Given

Members of the Foreign Language Club will present the Spanish comedy, "El Si de las Ninas" (When a Girl Says Yes), written in 1808 by Leandro Fernandez de Moratin. The performance will be given Wednesday, March 20, in CH 100 at 8:00 p.m.

Moratin is representative of the neo-classic or "Frenchified" trend popular between the end of the 18th century and beginning of the 19th century.

The play concerns a mother wanting her daughter, who is sixteen, to marry a sixty-year-old gentleman of good position. George Ellsworth will narrate the play in English. Participating in the reading will be Martin Favata, Gloria Menendez, Carlos Cano, Cynthia Carreno, Robert Gonzalez, and Vilma Riego.

NEW PHYSICS BUILDING

Rapidly rising from the floor of the campus is the $2.8 million Physical Science building. This basement view will soon house classrooms and labs. Above it in three stories will be nuclear and electronic laboratories, a lobby, offices, and an observation gallery. Topping the building will be space for astronomy purposes. Target date for completion is fall, 1964.

GOP Group Strives To Keep Party Unity

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — A Republican unity group seeking to head off a politically damaging liberal-conservative party split in 1964 claimed support today from both Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Rockefeller, considered an adherent of the liberal wing of the party, and the conservative Goldwater endorsed the movement in letters made public today by Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, R-Wash.

Both Rockefeller and Goldwater are mentioned prominently in speculation about the GOP presidential nomination in 1964.

Pelly is chairman of a Washington state "Committee for GOP Victory in 1964 Through Party Unity."

Rockefeller's letter said unified

Republicans could defeat the Democrats in 1964.

GOLDWATER SAID GOP differences had been puffed out of proportion.

Pelly's committee was formed to prevent a repetition of the 1952 Taft-Eisenhower battle, from which Republicans still bear political scars.

Starting early on his program of preventive political medicine, Pelly asked the two national Republican leaders to comment on the state move he hopes will inspire similar efforts around the country.

"If we Republicans can but stand united there is no question in my mind that we can prevail both in the states and in the nation in 1964," Rockefeller replied.

As for a party split, Goldwater told Pelly:

"ACTUALLY, the division in the Republican Party is of such a small nature that, if it were not magnified by a too-absolute position on both sides of our party fence, it would not be a gap at all."

Rockefeller said it is good for the party to have differing points of view, but added:

"It is also important to constantly remind ourselves that our agreements are much more numerous than our differences and that on the basic issues the things that unite us are much more important than the things that divide."

Goldwater said "Surely, a Republican like (Sen.) Clifford Case, R-N.J., is closer to me philosophically, than a Democrat like (Sen.) Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., is to (Sen.) Harry Byrd, D-Va."

DANGEROUS DUCK

This fuzzy toy duck and all others like it in a shipment imported from Japan have been designated health hazards by the Pennsylvania Department of Health. Health Secretary Charles L. Wilbar said tests showed enough arsenic and lead on the surfaces of the ducks to cause a reaction in a child who places the toy in his mouth. Dr. Wilbar recommended the toys be immediately destroyed and asked dealers having them in stock to remove them from sale.

COMPLAINT FILED

NLRB Hits Union Race Discrimination

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — Stuart Rothman, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, announced today he is filing an unfair labor practices complaint against Local No. 12 of the AFL-CIO Rubber Workers at Gadsden, Ala., alleging racial discrimination.

The local failed to provide fair representation for workers employed by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and refused to process grievances of Negro employees against segregated employment conditions Rothman said.

The local also is being charged with violating the labor laws for agreeing in effect to continue segregated conditions at the Goodyear plant, despite urging by the National Rubber Workers Union that the local seek to get the company to end such conditions, Rothman said.

This is only the second time in the NLRB's 27-year history that a complaint has been issued based on racial discrimination, the NLRB general counsel said. He issued the first last August against an independent union representing employees of the Hughes Tool Co., Houston. That union faces loss of bargaining rights.

Rothman noted that President Kennedy said in his civil rights message to Congress that he was directing the Department of Justice to "urge the National Relations Board to take appropriate action against racial discrimination in unions." Kennedy expressed hope this would make special legislation unnecessary.

Rothman expressed the view the labor laws can be enforced both against employers and unions to end racial discrimination practices.

Ohio Town Celebrates 'Buzzard' Day

HINCKLEY, Ohio, March 18 (UPI) — An estimated 27,000 persons turned out to take a look at the town's famed buzzards and stoke away pancakes and sausages yesterday.

Officials called the day the most successful "Buzzard Sunday" since the event was inaugurated by the chamber of commerce in 1957.

The crowd included visitors from as far away as Florida, Texas, Massachusetts and others from Tennessee, Wisconsin, Minnesota and states adjacent to Ohio.

And this year the visitors saw the turkey buzzards, wheeling about in pairs and in patterns containing dozens of them. The past two years the weather had been poor and the birds scarcely were to be seen.

About 75 buzzards returned to Whipp's Ledges last Friday, right on schedule. Legend says the buzzards have returned to the ledges on March 15 every year for at least the past 150 years.

LANDMARK IN MEDICINE

U.S. to License Two Measles Vaccines

WASHINGTON, March 18 (AP) — The way will be cleared tomorrow for immediate licensing of two types of measles vaccines — a landmark achievement in preventing medicine.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze announced today that additional standards to govern the manufacture of both "live" and "killed" virus measles vaccines will be published tomorrow and will be effective immediately.

This is the final step before eligible drug manufacturers may be licensed to market the vaccines in interstate commerce for general use by physicians.

The qualified manufacturers may file for licenses as soon as the final standards are published in the federal register. Health service spokesmen said they expect licenses to be issued this week, perhaps on Thursday or Friday.

DEPUTY SURGEON General David E. Price of the Public Health Service told a reporter: "Up to the present time we have had no effective means of dealing with this very common childhood disease which causes a considerable amount of disability and is also a killer, though the death toll is much greater in other parts of the world than here in the United States."

"To have this effective means of prevention — and we believe the vaccines will have a very high degree of effectiveness — is wonderful," Price said that so far as he knows this is the first effective measles vaccine in the world to be approved for general commercial distribution.

Both the "live" virus vaccine — known technically as live attenuated — and the "killed" virus vaccine — known technically as inactivated — have been under test in human beings for several years, both in this country and in foreign nations.

THEY STEM from the work of Dr. John Enders of Harvard University, a Nobel Prize winner, and an associate, Dr. Thomas Peebles, who isolated a strain of the measles virus in 1954.

There have been published reports that at least three manufacturers (Merck & Co., Charles Pfizer & Co., and Eli Lilly & Co.) are ready to start marketing measles vaccines as soon as they can obtain federal licenses. One requirement for licensing is that five consecutive lots of vaccine must have been used in satisfactory tests in about 1,000 individuals to demonstrate clinical safety and potency.

Other manufacturers have indicated they expect to apply for licenses later in the year.

Vaccination tests with the "live" virus have resulted in some instances in as many as 50 per cent showing side effects of slight fever or rash.

THROUGH USE of a simultaneously administered injection of human gamma globulin, investigators reduced the number of those showing side effects to about 15 per cent.

Proposed regulations to govern the use of gamma globulin for this purpose were published early this month and won't become effective until consideration of comments filed by interested parties.

However, a health service spokesman said this would not of itself delay use of the vaccine.

There were 420,919 reported cases of measles in this country in 1961, the last year for which complete figures are available, and the health service believes many other cases were not reported. The measles death toll in this country in 1960, the last year for which mortality data is available, 380.

MIAMI, March 18 (AP) — A monkey calls at the home of Mrs. Alfred Verhunce every morning for breakfast.

The visitor eats a banana, then scurries up a tree with a cup of milk without spilling a drop.

The capuchin monkey, the kind organ grinders use, has adopted a neighborhood dog. The monkey wraps its tail around the canine's midsection and rides it about the neighborhood.

Mrs. Verhunce said the monkey has a habit of removing light bulbs from outside sockets in the area and using them as mirrors.

"We don't know where it came from," she said.

Representative From Alachua Asks New Taxes

TALLAHASSEE, March 18 (UPI) — Alachua Rep. Ralph Turlington said this weekend he favors new taxes for the upcoming biennium rather than financing state operations through Gov. Farris Bryant's proposed pay-as-you use program.

Turlington told the Florida Society of Editors that the 1963 session will be a failure unless it comes up with a "substantial tax increase."

Increases, he said, were essential to Florida's development because of the needs of institutions of higher learning, aid to cities, health and welfare and retirement costs.

FEAR OF 'CATCHING' CANCER

Some Health Worries Just Silly

By W. C. ALVAREZ, M.D.

I marvel at the things that many people worry about — things that it would never occur to me to be afraid of. Some day, I would like to write a book full of the marvelous stories of worry such as are told to me every week.

HERE IS a letter from a woman who says that one day her cat brushed up against the baby's face, as many an affectionate cat will do. Later, the "vet" found that the cat had a cancer, and now the mother is in a constant state of worry, fearing that the baby will catch the cat's cancer. I sympathize, but actually, I would never worry about such a possibility, because cancer is not "catching."

Many still write, much frightened because someone has assured them that cooking in aluminum pots will cause cancer. I have been hearing this for perhaps 50 years, although government health authorities have for years fought this fear, it still survives. It is so silly. Anyone who doubts this should step into a drug store and ask the man to show him some of the medicines that are now being prescribed to help people with stomach ulcers. What are they made of? Most of them are made of a powdered preparation of aluminum. Men with an ulcer swallow this aluminum by the pound, and no harm comes to them because of it.

Many people are frantic when a child scratches his skin on a rusty nail. When I was a small child, my mother thought that a rusty nail was terribly dangerous. It isn't, because iron rust will not hurt anyone. It is only a deep wound, made by any kind of nail—even a shiny new one—which is dangerous.

ONLY IN DEEP wounds can the germ of lock-jaw (tetanus) grow — because this germ can grow only where there is no oxygen (in the air), and there is no air in the bottom of a narrow, deep wound. Hence it is that a person who has a deep wound of any kind should have an injection such as will guard him against getting lock-jaw.

A woman writes today, much frightened because her parakeet scratched her with his beak. She worries because she read that birds cause histoplasmosis (a disease of the lungs something like tuberculosis). If I were she, I would not worry about the scratch. The histoplasma grows and multiplies in the dung of certain birds. It is only when a person breathes in much dust — perhaps containing dung — that he need be concerned about histoplasmosis. Here is an interesting worry: A woman's aunt has bequeathed her a lovely fur coat which, naturally, she would love to wear. But the aunt died of cancer, so my correspondent is afraid even to touch the coat. She should go ahead and wear it happily.

Muslim Rules Prove Difficult for Two Wives

SINGAPORE—The Singapore Muslim Advisory Board, advisor to the Singapore Government on Islamic affairs, has ruled that the marriageable age for Muslims in the state should be 18 years for males and 16 years for females. It also has decided that a Muslim should not be allowed to marry more than one wife if his income is insufficient to maintain a plural family or if he is sterile. Under existing Muslim laws in Singapore if a Muslim wants to take a second wife he should first obtain the permission of the Chief Kathi (religious head.)

Public Is Invited To USF Open House

A view of higher education in action will be available to the public Friday and Saturday when the University of South Florida holds its first annual open house.

The event, which is open to everyone, will be known as the University Showcase. The opening day coincides with a county school holiday, giving Hillsborough County's future college students a chance to visit the campus while classes are in session. All regularly scheduled Friday classes will be open to visitors, and on Saturday many university faculty members will be in their offices to talk to visitors.

PLANNING for the Showcase was done by student civic and social groups, faculty and staff members of the USF Women's Club and community volunteers, and a wide range of exhibits and activities are planned.

Registration desks in the Administration Building and the University Center will be open from 1 to 6 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. Here visitors may register, obtain information and purchase tickets for a Friday night box dinner which will be held at 6 p.m. on the grounds north of the University Center.

Student guides will be on hand to provide tours of each building, and the following are exhibits and activities to be found in the various buildings:

A SERIES of old-time comedy movie shorts will be shown Friday at 8 p.m. at the west service entrance of the University Center. A series of educational films will be shown continuously in the Chemistry Auditorium 100 beginning at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Entertainment will include a concert by the University Band and Chorus Friday at 4:30 p.m. in the theatre; a jazz and poetry session at the same time in the University Center Ballroom; a program of group singing, folk singing and comedy skits by students Friday night after the box dinner; and a square dance at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the street in front of the University Center, followed by regular dancing to popular music.

Teams of men and women students will take part in bicycle races Saturday in the parking lot east of the Humanities Building. Saturday night from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. the annual Spring Formal will be held in the University Center.

The weekend events will close Sunday night with a concert by the popular vocal group, the Limelites, at 8 p.m. at McKay Auditorium in downtown Tampa. The concert is sponsored by the Student Association.

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New laxative acts on colonic muscles...de-constipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body. But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition. The most effective relief, many doctors say, comes from a bulking action combined with a colonic nerve stimulating action. Of all leading laxatives only a new tablet called COLONAD gives you this special combination for 3-way overnight relief: (1) COLONAD stimulates colonic nerve network, to further activate and regularize its muscular "movement". (2) COLONAD's unique re-bulking action helps re-tone tense colon muscles. (3) COLONAD moisturizes for easy passage without pain or strain. COLONAD even relieves chronic constipation overnight; yet it is clinically-proved gentle even for expectant mothers. Get COLONAD today. INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢.

Look Who Likes Barnett Now

By TOM INGLIS

Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett was recommended for a service award by the NAACP at the organization's convention here the other day. The delegate from South Carolina, I. DeQuincey

Newman, made the suggestion in a committee meeting.

According to Newman, no relation to the Brandon Newmans, Gov. Barnett has done singular service for civil rights in the past year. Of particular interest to the South Carolina delegation was the fact that the violence at Ole Miss paved the way for Harvy Gantt's peaceful entry into Clemson.

A COMPLAINT was received by the Hillsborough Sheriff's office the other day that someone had thrown women's underwear all over the caller's yard. According to the caller this not only is the third time this has happened—but none of the underwear fits.

TAMPA PIONEERS are thinning out. You'll walk a lot of miles along the city's streets without running into anyone who was here before 1920. But if you find him he'll be smirking.

The smug amusement stems from a suggestion that one of the rooms at the new Tampa convention hall be named "The Fort Brooke Room." Those who were here in 1912-1916 recall when the area known as Fort Brooke was the community's leading red light district.

THE UNIVERSITY of Tampa has rejected a Harvard debating challenge, I'm told. They turned it down after considerable thought, decided the Ivy League just wasn't ready to take on the Hibiscus League.

THE UNIVERSITY of Tampa is getting ready to announce a new move in the interests of inter-Americanism. The project involves terms like "Inter-American Clearing House" and "Ethnic Rooms." It boils down to a plan for creating special rooms dedicated to the decor of the Latin American republics.

St. Patrick's Day Parade Tonight

The St. Patrick's Day Association paraded is slated to start at 7 p.m. tonight at Franklin and Henderson streets.

The 50-unit parade will mark the end of the association's week-long St. Patrick's Day celebrations.

The parade will wind along Franklin Street to Whiting St., said Joe Yglesias, grand parade marshal. He will be aided by Louis Swed and Carl Gabbert.

Aim of the association's St. Patrick's events is to promote brotherhood through fellowship, said Dr. Anthony Martino, association board chairman.

The association Saturday crowned Miss Wilanne Starling, a University of Tampa student, the new Miss Shamrock.

Last week well-known ex-

Alcalde of Ybor City, Mrs. Molly Ferrara, received the association's Dr. Tom Dooley Award for her community activities.

Slain Family Grave May Be Relocated

MANCHESTER, N.H., March 18 (UPI)—The bodies of a Japanese-born mother and her four children who were fatally bludgeoned by her husband may be shifted from unmarked paupers' graves to a private cemetery lot.

William Mc Donough, president of the Manchester Municipal Employees Union, urged the members.

Air Force veteran Joseph Simichak, 39, who allegedly admitted slaying his entire family with a hammer because he could not support them, is undergoing mental tests.

moment is the most painful reminder that communism is a threat to Latin America, it was threat before he muscled his way into Cuba.

It will remain one so long as the Communists have any grounds for promising the millions of ignorant and poverty-stricken people of Latin America they can provide a better life than the one they've had to endure.

The men meeting with Kennedy are the presidents of five Central American republics—Costa Rica, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Honduras, El Salvador and Panama, which considers itself part of South America.

Kennedy has been under pressure at home to extinguish Castro in a hurry since it is an American embarrassment to have him in business at all in this hemisphere although he is no immediate military threat.

Yesterday here in Washington the Costa Rican ambassador, Gonzalo J. Facio, who is also chairman of the Organization of American States, predicted the seven presidents would agree on exterminating Castroism.

Fog Reduces Plane Traffic

A light ground fog cut visibility to about a quarter mile at Tampa International Airport early this morning, delaying a number of airline flights. The fog burned off rapidly as the sun came up.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reported today is the ninth consecutive day without rain—the longest rainless period since last fall.

Fair weather with temperatures in the mid-80s is forecast to continue through the week.

News Analysis

Slow throttling will take some doing so long as Castro gets Russian help, even if the six Latin American presidents agree on a method of doing it.

If the danger from Castro as a buccaneer can be ruled out for the time being, he is a menace in other directions, symbolically and actually:

1. So long as he survives he is a symbol of Communist success in at least one Latin American country, and therefore an encouragement to Communists among his neighbors.

2. He is a kind of president of a Communist college in the western world, turning out ambitious students all the time.

Under Castro, Cuba is a training ground for men from other Latin American countries in Communist ideology, agitation, revolutionary leadership, and guerrilla fighting, all of which can be put to use when they return home.

Over the weekend Castro said the guerrillas fighting the government of President Romulo Betancourt in Venezuela are unstoppable. He sounded like the dean of men giving his bright students a straight-A average.

Whether he had anything to do with training them is not publicly known.

At the root of all the anti-Castroism in the Costa Rican conference will be the problem far more basic than Castro: How the six countries can have better economic progress.

Together, the six are about

NEW ORLEANS, March 18 (P)—Funeral services will be held here Thursday for Lizzie Miles, 67, Negro blues singer.

She died yesterday apparently of a heart attack.

Once the toast of the blues world in Paris, Harlem and New Orleans, Lizzie Miles in recent years had restricted her singing mostly to Catholic charities.

Her 1923 record, "You're Always Messin' Around With My Man," was the first blues recording by a Negro artist to appear in England.

Over the years she recorded with a variety of jazz talent, including Jelly Roll Morton and King Oliver. She once sang with clarinetist George Lewis' band.

She was a step-sister of jazz trumpeter Herb Morand, who was born in 1905 and died in 1952.

She was a native of New Orleans. Friends said she was married twice, but there were no children.

CONDITIONS IN CUBA DEFENDED

Castro Speech Blasts U.S.

HAVANA, March 18 (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro defended conditions in Cuba yesterday and said the U.S.-sponsored Alliance for Progress means "frightful misery" for Latin America.

"Imperialism is sitting on a volcano and the Alliance for Progress is hell for the people," Castro said. "It represents the most frightful misery. That is the reason they don't let people come here... we have many things to show them... and very impressive ones."

Castro made an unannounced radio-television appearance just a day before President Kennedy's arrival in San Jose, Costa Rica, for a meeting with Central American presidents on problems of the area, including threats from Cuba, and implementation of the Alliance economic development program.

HE SPOKE in favor of a meeting of Communist parties of the Soviet Union and China to preserve the "unity of the socialist bloc against imperialist attacks."

Castro attacked Cuban refugees who have gone to the United States, the regime of President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela and former Cuban president Fulgencio Batista.

The 'Big' Day

Impressions from The Day the Reds Beat the Yanks—

Fans began to dot the Al Lopez Field parking lot virtually at dawn yesterday morning. After all, it was "The Big Day"—the day Cincinnati was to host the New York Yankees in a Grapefruit League contest.

As game time approached, Cincinnati officials became more than just casually concerned. The power failure that blanketed Tampa at 10:15 a.m., if continued, would throw a giant-size monkey wrench into the works. There was the telecasts back to Cincinnati and New York; all Western Union equipment was out; the public address system; the electric scoreboard; even the hot dog cooker.

Then, as if by magic—the same magic the name "Yankees" seem to imply—organist Jimmy Brown struck the chords to "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" promptly at 1:29 p.m.—one minute prior to the scheduled first pitch of the game. P.A. announcer Bobby Hicks began to give the starting lineups, as electricity seeped into his "mike."

With the playing of the National Anthem, the Reds took the field and the record crowd of 8,359 spectators roared "play ball" from every nook and cranny in the park.

Ol' Yogi

A short, squat figure emerged from the Yankee dugout, and took his place in the first base coaching box. It was Ol' Yogi Berra. He had been a catcher Saturday. A comical side-show to the main event was the verbal sortie's exchanged by Berra—5-foot, 8-inches tall—and Reds coach Dick Sisler—6-foot, 4-inches tall.

Another feature side-attraction was the "Augie Donatelli Show."

Augie is a highly respectable umpire. But, he is also a ham.

He drew a lusty round of applause from the fans when he called a balk on Yankee starter Jack Cullen. Yankee pilot Ralph Houk didn't share the enthusiasm, and charged from the dug-out.

After a brief word exchange, Houk sat down. But no sooner had he placed his flannelled posterior in position on the bench, than did Mr. Augie call the next pitch a balk. Again, Houk traveled to home plate for a tete-a-tete. This time, Augie didn't like the tone, and send Houk back to the bench with a little more gusto.

Two innings later, another balk on Cullen—but the Major didn't appear this time. This seemed to put a crimp in Augie's show, so he did what any good trooper would do, switch to the other side. He called one on "The Professor," Jim Brosnan.

But Hutch didn't move from the Reds dug-out, and Augie's act got the hook.

Observations!

A foul was snagged by a distaff fan, who promptly handed the priceless sphere to a little leaguer sitting next to her; Mickey Mantle teed off with a tape-measure shot over the right field wall, sending the crowd into wild exuberance... like the price of admission had been justified; the pulchritude was there too—ranging from those who had just come from church—starched dresses, et al—to those who came equipped for the warm Floridas sun—shorts, sunback blouses, ad infinitum.

There was the 100-yard dash of Freddie Hutchinson after his young star Tommy Harper had crashed headlong into the centerfield wall. Never saw Hutch move so fast. Completely out of style for the slow-talking, slow-walking pilot.

More visitors to the press box—Tampa University athletes, wearing white T-shirts with the block-letter "T" emblazoned on the chest assumed seats adjacent to the press box. One late-comer to the game chuckled as he recalled an early morning incident:

"The guy next door—boy, was he catching it from his wife about not mowing the lawn. So he got out there with his electric mower—and the power went off. Man, was he glad..."

Other faces in the crowd—Joe Halgerstein, sports scribe from the Gainesville Sun was one hand as a paying spectator. Says this is an annual junket to Tampa.

Back to the field and Wally Post had just collected his second hit in as many at-bats. It was a booming homer over the left field light tower. The first had been a scorching double down the line.

It was a far cry from a year ago at this time, when Post couldn't hit his hat size.

The End Came

Then the end came—but there was no thunderous ovation. That had come throughout the game. Rather, it was just a small segment of the record crowd, filtering across the diamond, interrupting perhaps a game even more important than the one just completed. Several youngsters were re-enacting the game; the game where Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris Gene Freese had played. They were using a wadded paper cup for a ball.

And in the clubhouse, Fred Hutchinson drawled—"Y-e-e-s-s-s... I think we did a little better today..."

'... Have To Win Biggest Fight Ever ...'

ATHENS, Ga. (P)—"For a man who has been working with young athletes and for a university practically all his life, this is about the worst thing that could happen to him—to be accused of betraying them."

A SOLEMN, WEARY Wallace Butts, former athletic director and head football coach at the University of Georgia, made that statement today during an interview with The Associated Press at his home in this northeast Georgia college town.

"I've been a fighter all my life," said

Butts, a stocky, bulldog of a man whose 57 years show only in the wrinkles around his eyes and his thinning gray hair.

"BUT THIS IS THE BIGGEST fight ever. It is certainly one I have to win, not just for myself but for my family and friends and the university—it hurts them all."

Butts referred to the forthcoming issue of Saturday Evening Post which says he gave inside information on the Georgia football team to Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama prior to last fall's Alabama-Georgia game.

Butts repeated his earlier denials of the statements in the article. Bryant also has issued a denial.

BUTTS, WHO PLAYED END and halfback at Mercer University at Macon, came to Georgia as an assistant coach 25 years ago. After one year he was promoted to top football coach and later also became athletic director.

In 1961, he was replaced by Johnny Griffith as coach and last month resigned his athletic directorship.

"Although I'm out of the university now, I can't imagine ever being able to pull for any other team but Georgia—I've been pulling for the Bulldogs too long," Butts said. "It just goes against the grain."

THE POST ARTICLE said an Atlanta insurance salesman, George Burnett, accidentally was tied into a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant and that Burnett heard Butts giving Bryant detailed information on Georgia plays and personnel.

The Post—and an attorney for the university, M. Cook Barwick—said Burnett took a lie detector test and that the result indicated he was telling the truth.

Butts refused at first to take a lie detector test.

LATER HE SAID he was willing to take such a test but that his attorney, William H. Schroder, advised against it. "He said they are only 70 to 80 per cent correct and at that time I had just been through a long checkup at University Hospital in Augusta and was in something of a weak physical condition."

The Post said the alleged call was made by Butts from a public relations firm in Atlanta. Butts said he had talked football with Bryant and other coaches and athletic directors on numerous occasions, but added:

"I DON'T RECALL that specific call or that specific date. I have made a lot of calls from that public relations office. I was involved and it was a convenient place, right downtown."

The Post said the betting line for the Alabama-Georgia game favored Alabama by a 17 points. Alabama won 35-0. In a Southeastern Conference 1962 opener for both teams.

"I DON'T KNOW anything about betting at all," Butts said. "There's certainly no question about me betting. I didn't even know what the spread was on the game. And in all by life, I never heard Coach Bryant discuss anything about betting."

"When I was a kid, I bet about 30 cents on a baseball game one time. That was a lot of money to me then. I lost—and that broke me of gambling."

Bryant
'Passes' Lie Test

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (P)—Alabama Coach Paul Bryant and Wallace Butts, former athletic director at the University of Georgia, have issued new denials that they were involved in an alleged football fix.

BRYANT SAID Sunday that he has taken a lie detector test and that the results support his denial. Butts at first refused to take such a test, and later he said he was willing but his attorney, William H. Schroder of Atlanta, advised against it.

He said they are only 70 to 80 per cent correct and at that time I had just been through a checkup... and was in something of a weak physical condition," Butts said.

The Saturday Evening Post in an article appearing this week accused Bryant and Butts of collusion to fix the Alabama-Georgia football game last fall which Alabama won 35-0.

BRYANT APPEARED on a statewide telecast originating at Birmingham Sunday. He said he volunteered to take a lie detector test before a professionally recognized expert.

"The expert said the report completely supports me," Bryant said. He said the lie detector expert, who was not named, has given his report to Dr. Frank Rose, president of the University of Alabama and Southeastern Conference Commissioner Bernie Moore.

Rose said he has found no evidence implicating Bryant with rigging or betting on football games.

An Alabama player, Jimmy Sharpe, said there was nothing unusual about Alabama's preparations for the Georgia game.

Namath's Passing, Not Collusion Beat Georgia

LEE ROY JORDAN

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (P)—All-America center Lee Roy Jordan said today Alabama's football team won over Georgia last fall because of quarterback Joe Namath's passing—and not because of any alleged collusion between coaching officials.

Joe just ate them up with his passes," said Jordan.

Georgia tried to move against us on the ground. That was their mistake—that and not trying anything different."

Jordan summed up feeling on the Alabama campus about a Saturday Evening Post article accusing Georgia Athletic director Wallace Butts of giving his team's secrets to coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama prior to the schools' game last fall.

"We don't believe coach Bryant would do such a thing," said Jordan, center-linebacker who finished his college football career last season. Student leaders agreed. Opinions ranged from stark disbelief to cries of "hogwash."

Jordan, one of the players in the Sept. 22 game which ended 35-0 in Alabama's favor, said in an interview:

"There is no foundation of facts either in the article or in its charges. If Alabama was supposed to have an advantage over Georgia, it stands to reason the players would have had to know something about it."

"None of the coaches told me anything that I didn't already know about Georgia. And any of the other men will tell you the same thing."

Jordan was asked about the magazine's statement that

Hanging From The Rafters; Oops, Light Pole, That Is

Baseballers Bowl Tonight

A contingent of some one hundred major leaguers, including players, managers, scouts and umpires have accepted invitations for the second annual Major League Baseball Bowling Championship which gets under way this evening at East Gate Lanes. City of Tampa and AMP Pinshooters are co-sponsoring the event.

The largest representation, of course, belongs to the Cincinnati Reds, currently training here since they will have a squad of 35 men on the alleys.

By WAYNE SHUFELT
Times Sports Writer

The setting was the same—almost.

MANTLE AND Maris were there... a record crowd was on hand... television cameras dotted the ball park... most of the lineup for both the Reds and Yankees was the same... but the end result was different.

The stakes weren't nearly as high but the Reds of manager Fred Hutchinson clouted the World Champion New York Yankees at Al Lopez Field yesterday, 6-3, and partly avenged a four games to one lacing at the hands of the Bronx Bombers in the 1961 World Series.

It was a game of cheers and boos, home runs—tape measure variety, lusty hitting—finally—by the Reds and the setting of what was perhaps a Grapefruit League record.

THERE ARE no record books available but plate umpire Augie Donatelli called four balks—three on Yankee starter Jack Cullen and one on Cincinnati reliever Jim Brosnan.

The weather was hot and Yankee skipper Ralph Houk was even warmer after Donatelli's second straight balk call on Cullen.

The battle of the services enlivened the 8,359 fans as Houk, an ex-Army major in the Rangers, and Donatelli, an ex-Marine, "battled" it out just in front of the home plate. The Marines got another ribbon as Houk played the role of benchwarmer the rest of the afternoon.

IN BETWEEN the balk calls, the two teams played some baseball which closely resembled regular season brand.

Mickey Mantle, after whiffing on a bad pitch in the first inning, wasn't fooled by Reds starter Jim Maloney in the fourth and blasted a Cape Canaveral measure homer over the right-centerfield fence leading off the Yankee fourth.

His put the Yanks on top 2-1 but not for long. Gordie Coleman hit to the same spot as Mantle in the bottom of the fourth. Although Coleman's belt-his third—didn't travel as far it was worth more because Gene Freese trotted home in front of the fifth, laced a two-run single to right after Yankee left-fielder Tom Tresh, who had a miserable time in the outer gardens, dropped Freese's high fly to keep the Reds alive.

Batting in the same leadoff and second spots they occupied last year for champion

Jacksonville of the International League, Davalillo and Martinez rapped seven hits and scored all Cleveland's runs in a 6-5 victory exhibition victory over the Chicago Cubs at Tucson, Ariz.

Elsewhere on the spring training circuit—Baltimore kept its perfect record going in a 4-3 decision over the Los Angeles Dodgers at Miami; Washington had another homer spree, downing Minnesota 8-5 at Pompano Beach; Cincinnati bombed the New York Yankees 6-3 at Tampa; St. Louis clipped Kansas City 12-11 at Bradenton; Boston beat San Francisco 9-6 at El Paso, Tex.; Pittsburgh clouted Milwaukee 7-1 at West Palm Beach; the New York Mets edged the Chicago White Sox 2-1 at St. Petersburg, and Detroit whipped Philadelphia 9-3 at Lakeland. The Houston Colts and the Los Angeles Angels were rained out at Apache Junction, Ariz.

DAVALILLO, International League batting champion last season with a .346 average, ripped a triple, double and single against the Cubs. Martinez, tabbed by Cleveland manager Birdie Tebbets as "the Indians' shortstop, period," collected four singles in four trips.

Jackie Brandt's two-run 400-foot homer off Ed Roebuck with none out in the bottom of the ninth inning gave the Orioles an 8-0 exhibition record.

The Senators banged out three homers for the third game in a row in beating the Twins. Chuck Hinton, Don Leppert and Tom Brown, the bonus rookie signed off the Maryland campus less than three weeks ago, connected for Washington.

THE CARDS overcame the Athletics after trailing 10-0. St. Louis poured across eight runs in the seventh, then won it in the ninth on Carl Sawatski's pinch homer and
