Instructional Design & Video

I have extensive experience with instructional technologies such as Articulate Storyline and Camtasia, and virtual learning environments such as Canvas & Blackboard Learn. I create instructional video with an eye toward bite-size learning and fast mastery of concepts relating to library and information literacy, and the research process. Videos I uploaded in 2019 reached over a thousand views, with the top viewed video being: Quick & Easy: USF Tampa Libraries' Front Page Search https://youtu.be/wi2pot-fa_Y

A quick guide to the search options right on the main page of the USF library, this video was pushed out to Academic Foundations and First Year Composition students in particular. Inclusion of instructional videos in canvas courses has a direct impact on their viewing numbers.

The video with the next highest viewership was “Citation: What is it & Why Does it Matter,” viewed nearly 700 times in 2019, an increase from 2018 of more than 50%.

Experience

The University of South Florida

Blended Instructional Design Librarian, Assistant Librarian In cooperation with other instructional designers, librarians, and teaching faculty, I create and implement learning objects that provide support for curriculum and library education, as well as participate in research, publication, & service. 2015 – present

East Mississippi Community College Library

Assistant Librarian, Information Instructor Working alongside the head librarian, I perform duties including individual user instruction and reference services, cataloging, collection development and weeding, and other day-to-day library function. Additionally, I participated in the planning of a for-credit library skills class, and taught three sections of the class. 2013 – 2015

The University of Alabama Center for Instructional Technology

Emerging Instructional Technology Graduate Assistant Assisted the staff of the Center for Instructional Technology in researching emerging technology tools, administering pilot programs, communicating with pilot participants and stakeholders, and offering faculty support for instructional technology. Performed course migrations from Vista to Blackboard Learn, and answered faculty questions about instructional technologies. Conducted testing of updates to instructional technology tools, and participated in faculty development activities. 2011 – 2013

Clarence B. Hanson Library, Birmingham Museum of Art

Library Intern Under the supervision of head librarian Tatum Preston, examined and cataloged rare and damaged manuscripts, gauged urgency of repair, and wrote condition reports. Built cases & housings for severely damaged volumes. Catalogued, moved, and organized parts of the Hanson collection. 2012
