ON HEALTH

Teachers Enroll In Program

Thirty-three teachers from seven counties are enrolled for the Florida Health Project in Teacher Education to be conducted jointly by the University of South Florida and the various county health departments beginning June 19.

The program is sponsored by the State Board of Health and the State Department of Education, with Bethune-Cookman College, University of Miami, Florida State University, University of Florida, Florida A. & M. and USF participating. This summer marks the first time USF has taken part in the project, which is designed to give teachers information on community resources to improve their school health programs.

Orientation June 19

The teachers registered at USF June 18 and began a two-day orientation June 19. From June 24 through July 12 they will return to their home counties for field work with their local health departments. They will work the same days and hours that county health department personnel work, enabling them to become better acquainted with the personnel, activities and resources of the county health departments and other official and voluntary health agencies.

From July 15 through July 17 the teachers will return to the campus for an evaluation period. They will be required to report verbally, turn in logs and papers and discuss with other teachers and course directors their experiences and their application to the school health program. They will receive three hours credit for successful completion of the program.

Teachers in USF Program

Teachers enrolled in the program at USF are: Broward County—Doris Day and Mrs. Grace Norton, Fort Lauderdale; DeSoto County—Alfred S. Poddell, Myrtle J. Rigby, Arcadia; Hillsborough County—Eloise DuBois Bailey, Emma Bailey, Mary E. Blevins, Marion Charles Cabrera, Mary Confoy, June Duncan, Frank Fernandez, Nancy Scrivner, Arlene Shurtliff, Jo Anne Smith, Elizabeth Wheatley and Vernelle Alldrich.

Lee County—Rosalie Thompson, Fort Myers; Orlando County—Dorothy Orr, Orlando; Pinellas County—Laurel Cunningham, Inez Haywood, Moses Holmes Jr., Marguerite Landrum, Florence Mancuso, Frances Summerall and Thelma Van Meter.

More Instructors

Polk County—James Bradley, Lake Wales; Ida Hazel Goodrum, Florence Villa Station; Donnie Jones, Fort Meade; Lorene Lawton, Fort Meade; Edna Lee, Lakeland; Jeanette Martin, Lakeland; Olga Neal, Florence Villa Station; and Ruby Sims, Winter Haven.

Peggy Wood Will Replace Hardwick

Peggy Wood is the guest lecturer Sunday evening, June 23 at 8:30 p.m. in the TA, highlighting the facts behind the Shavian drama being presented by the USF Theatre students in the Shaw Festival. She replaces Sir Cedric Hardwick.

Actress Peggy Wood is president of the American National Theatre Academy, a member of the American Shaw Society, and knew Shaw personally. She has also acted in many Shaw plays. Students may remember her for her performance as Mama in the TV series, "I Remember Mama."

Tentative plans for the $180,000 Baptist Building call for an October completion. The 10,000 sq. ft. structure will house a television lounge, reading, conference and prayer rooms, plus a recreational area. It will be completely air-conditioned.

PROFILES ON PROFESSORS

T. F. Stovall Devotes Time To Research, Civic Tasks

By BOB DUBAY
& DENNIS SILVER

Associate Professor Thomas E. Stovall came to USF in 1961 to accept a joint appointment to the College of Education and the College of Basic Studies. In spite of his life-long ambition to become an attorney, Stovall entered teaching because he feels that "each man has a responsibility to leave the world a little better than he found it and I can't think of anything better than teaching and the social sciences to accomplish just that."

While in the Army, where he attained the rank of first lieutenant after working his way up from private, he traveled throughout Western Europe including France, Austria and the British Isles. After leaving the Army in 1947 Stovall entered Maryville College in Tennessee. He then transferred to the University of Tennessee where he was elected to the Phi Kappa Phi scholastic fraternity and received his BA degree in history.

Stovall then went to George Peabody College for Teachers where he earned a Masters and a Ph.D. in history. Before coming to USF, Stovall taught at Central High School in Columbia, Tenn. and spent six years at the University of Minnesota. Stovall has done considerable writing dealing with his research in the fields of education and social studies. Several of his articles have appeared in the Peabody Journal of Education, Junior College Journal, Social Education Journal and the Phi Delta Kappan Journal. He is currently preparing a series of articles pertaining to his experiences here at USF.

Besides keeping up with his three young boys, Stovall is quite active in many community and professional organizations. In addition to being a ruling elder of Temple Terrace Presbyterian Church he is on the board of directors of the Tampa Urban League. Though serving on half a dozen councils on the updating of education and the social sciences, Stovall is an active member of almost a dozen professional organizations including serving as a board member of the National and Florida Councils for the Social Studies.

Directors Request Help in Locating Unusual Props

The scenic directors of the USF Shaw Festival are putting out requests for help in locating some unusual prop items.

Topping their list of necessities is a request for a large animal rug either of lion, tiger, bear, or similar ferocious animal. This item is to be used in "Misalliance."

Other things needed include an elaborate hanging birdcage in a rococo or baroque style, and an old gramophone of the variety having a morning-glory mouthpiece.

When asked if he felt university professors—especially the ones with an advanced degree in some certain area—should have taken some courses in education as is required of teachers in the public schools he replied, "In my judgment, to be a high quality teacher one needs something else besides a degree to assure one of maximum success. . . . One should know the needs and characteristics of the people (students) he is working with."

Stovall would also like to see more elements of the educational division incorporated within the basic studies courses.

Stovall favors the trimester system over the semester and quarter systems because "it gets the maximum from the students and staff." However, he feels that "the main criticism revolves around the third trimester period. . . . The state needs to put more money into the third trimester and must increase the offerings."

Fraternity Develops Potentials

When questioned about the forthcoming national fraternities he replied "Fraternities can and do provide an opportunity for young people to develop potentials that can't be developed in the classroom. . . . but when such organizations become exclusive and highly selective they can create undesirable conditions."

Stovall feels that the College of Education at USF ranks among the best in the nation. He believes its greatness is in part due to "the constant re-examination of the personnel and courses, thus doing away with needless repetition."

Crescent Hill Location of Sandburg Program

Too Many Requests Put Event Outside

Weeks of excitement, anticipation and planning will culminate tomorrow night when Carl Sandburg, America's most honored living poet, will appear at Crescent Hill at 8:30 p.m.

The appearance of the 85-year-old "prairie poet" was originally scheduled for the theater, but the 800 available tickets were all reserved within hours after the university began accepting reservations, and hundreds of calls continued to come in. A. A. Beecher, director of the Division of Fine Arts, then moved the program outside to the north side of the University Center building, (Crescent Hill).

Program May Be Changed

In the event of rain, the program will be moved back into the theater. If this is necessary, the ticket reservations already made will be honored. There is no admission charge for the program in either case.

Sandburg was 36 years old before he gained recognition for his writing. In 1914, a group of his poems was published by "Poetry," a magazine that has been a stepping stone to success for many. One of the poems, "Chicago," caught the mood of that bustling metropo-

"The Education of the Cheyenne" or "The Wakan Dogs Come to the Wakan People" will be the topic for a lecture given by Dr. Harold Benjamin at the University of South Florida Teaching Auditorium - Theatre on Thursday, June 27, at 1:25 p.m.

Dr. Benjamin received degrees from Stanford University, Drake University and Pacific University. He is emeritus professor of education at George Peabody College for Teachers and former dean of the Colleges of Education at the Universities of Colorado and Maryland. During the current academic year, he is serving on the faculty of Glassboro State College in Glassboro, N.J., as distinguished service professor of education.

Harold Benjamin has written 12 books, of which the best known are The Saber-Tooth Curriculum, The Cultivation of Idiosyncrasy, and Under Their Own Command. He has edited about 100 books in education and related fields. His most recent book, A Comparative Study of Higher Education in the American Republics, is now with the publisher and his novel, Here's Looking at You, will be completed this month.

As a specialist in comparative education, Benjamin has made various studies of national systems of education in Europe, Asia, and Latin America. There is no charge for the lecture and no tickets are required. The public is invited to attend.

Reception Planned For New Chaplain

A formal reception will soon be held in honor of the Rev. Allen Burry, who is to be the Wesley Foundation's full time chaplain. He comes to USF from the University of Miami.

Director Eyes SPS Expansion

Jack Chambers, director of personnel services, announces in follow-up to the article on placement service for graduating seniors (see Southern Accent, June 17) the expansion of the present program.

Chambers said that he currently has letters out to the school systems in the State of Florida requesting that they list their teaching positions with his office in conjunction with the Placement Service. He is also sending out letters of the same sort to the major industries located in the Tampa area.

Along with this letter Chambers is sending a brochure explaining the placement program to the prospective employers. Student art major Bob Stackhouse was commissioned to do the cover for the book, which is a representative color sketch of the campus designed mainly to catch the spirit of the campus scene.

Material in the brochure contains references to the USF Work-Study program, to the Foundation (development) as well as to the Placement Service in particular.

The next step in the mailing procedure is the mailing of these letters and brochures inviting the major industries of the United States to list their job opportunities with the USF Personnel Services.

At the same time as letters to industries, letters will go to major school systems in the United States. Chambers says that he has already been in touch with the superintendent in Chicago, and has contacted Maryland and Ohio.

The Work-Study Cooperative Program of Education will be combined physically with the Personnel Services around September, 1963, when both offices move from their opposite first floor corners of the administration building upstairs to AD 2079, present location of the College of Basic Studies offices.

This combination creates an opening for a coordinator who will work for both offices.

Conflict Forces 'Meet Author' Cancellation

By JACKIE MONTES
Carl Sandburg has but one formally scheduled appearance to make on campus; that will be his appearance Tuesday evening, June 25.

For the benefit of those who enjoy listening to his poetical works, two taped and recorded listening hours have been arranged. The first hour will be at 1:25 p.m. on June 25 in UC 248. The second will be the following day at the same time and place.

Sandburg's anticipated appearance at a Meet the Author Program has been cancelled due to a conflict in scheduled engagements.

To set off the beginning of Trimester III-B, a special "Get Acquainted Again" dance will be presented on Saturday, June 19 from 9-12 p.m. in the ballroom. The "Upsetters" will provide music for the occasion. School clothes will be in order with an admission price of 50 cents stag or drag.

Herlong's Father Dies at 77

GAINESVILLE, June 24 (UPI)—Albert Sydney Herlong, father of Florida Congressman A. S. Herlong Jr., died at J. Hillis Miller Medical Center here yesterday after a long illness.

Herlong, a prominent citrus grower who made his home in Leesburg, was 77 years old. He had been confined to the hospital for three weeks.

HERLONG was born in Ward, S.C., in 1886 and moved to Florida with his family a year later. He established A. S. Herlong, Inc., citrus packers, brokers and shippers in Leesburg in 1922.

A former member of the Florida Citrus Commission, Herlong was also chairman of the board of the Citizens National Bank of Leesburg and head of the Oklawaha River Citrus Processing Cooperative.

Although Herlong's interests were aimed mainly at the field of citrus, he was well known for his hobby, miniature railroads. He personally built an exact replica of an old railroad and it ran on the grounds of his estate on a 12-gauge track.

In 1961, Herlong bought an ancient locomotive and presented it to the city of Leesburg as a historical piece.

IN ADDITION to Congressman Herlong Jr., who lives in Washington, Herlong is survived by his widow, Ida Herlong, Leesburg; three other sons, the Rev. Fred W. Herlong, Apopka; Byron E. Herlong and James H. Herlong, both of Leesburg; two daughters, Mrs. Daniel B. Emery of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Robert F. Towson of Tampa; one brother, Caldwell B. Harrison of Milan, Tenn.; one sister, Mrs. Julia Oliver of Miami; one cousin, Mrs. Robert F. Nunez of Tampa and 10 grandchildren. Mrs. Daimwood was a member of the Seminole Heights Baptist Church.

L. J. Elsberry, Ruskin Area Grower, Dies

Lawrence J. Elsberry, 52, prominent Ruskin and Immokalee vegetable grower-shopper and Tampa businessman, died in a Tampa hospital late Saturday night.

Mr. Elsberry, born at Saunders in West Florida, came to the Wimauma section as a young man with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Elsberry. In 1932 he entered into the production of vegetable in the Ruskin area; and in 1942 he and two brothers, Paul S. Elsberry and Lester L. Elsberry, joined in the incorporation of Elsberry Farms for the production and marketing of vegetables.

In 1952 Mr. Elsberry expanded his vegetable and watermelon operations by entering the Immokalee area as a partner with his brothers in Elsberry and Elsberry Inc.

Bank Director

He was one of the early members of Ruskin Tomato Growers Inc., vegetable packing and marketing corporation founded in 1949. He was a director of Marine Bank and Trust Co. in Tampa, a director of Ruskin Tomato Growers and a director of Tip Top Growers Inc. at Immokalee. He was a member of Palma Celia Golf and Country Club.

Mr. Elsberry is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Cralle Elsberry, Tampa; a son, Donald Elsberry, Ruskin; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Elsberry, Wimauma; three brothers, Lester L. Elsberry and Paul S. Elsberry, Immokalee, and two grandchildren.

Negroes Plan Move In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, June 24 (UPI)—Today is the day Negroes are scheduled to begin their drive to achieve the "total integration" they seek in Los Angeles.

Their first target for demonstrations is the Los Angeles Board of Education.

Negro leaders yesterday appealed for a march on the board today.

EARL WALTER, chairman of the Los Angeles chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, said marchers will start moving toward the board of education building at 12:30 p.m. and will picket the headquarters during the board's afternoon session.

Dr. Christopher L. Taylor, chairman of the Negro leaders committee, said: "We have picked the board of education as our first target because we have had no cooperation from them in discussion or negotiation for our immediate requirements."

Taylor said Friday that response to a 10-day total integration deadline for Los Angeles has been inadequate.

Education officials and spokesmen for unions and housing groups replied that Negro leaders haven't given them enough time to comply with integration demands.

FRANK F. Chuman, chairman of the human relations committee, said: "for them to demonstrate is a clear sign... of an attempt to blackmail us into something."

The Los Angeles Negro community presented specific demands and set the 10-working-day deadline at a meeting June 6 with business, education, labor and police officials.

Meanwhile, in suburban Torrance, demonstrations are already under way. Twenty-three members of the Congress of Racial Equality were arrested Sunday after they staged a 12-hour sit-in at a housing tract sales office.

Police action followed a citizen's complaint by Don Wilson, developer of the tract. The sit-ins, including nine women, forced officers to carry them to patrol wagons.

THE DEMONSTRATORS were booked for trespassing and disturbing the peace. All were later freed on $262.50 bail, provided by CORE.

After the arrests, about 20

FEDDERS CERTIFIED QUIETEST in independent laboratory tests

NATIONWIDE CONSUMER TESTING INSTITUTE

Rated first in quietness... up to 49.9% better

Among all the conflicting, unsubstantiated claims about "quiet" air conditioner performance, here is the first independently verified statement of fact: In laboratory sound tests of six leading brands, Fedders was found to be the quietest by far.

Tests, certified by Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute, a leading independent product rating organization were conducted on air conditioners of equivalent cooling power under identical operating conditions. The other brands tested were found to be up to 49.9% louder than Fedders... on the average, 37.6% louder.

Here's how Nationwide summarized the outcome of these sound tests: "The results indicate that the Fedders unit had a definite and clear cut superiority over the other five makes of air conditioners tested."

The remarkable quiet operation on the Fedders Air Conditioner is due to its exclusive Sound Barrier design. By completely re-engineering conventional air conditioner circulation patterns to provide large intake ports... in-line air passages... and an air cushion extending across the entire front to absorb annoying high-frequency sounds, Fedders has reduced air conditioner sound levels to a new low.

Campus Forum

Editor Says 'No' To National Fraternities

Lately there has been noticed an increasing rumble on college campuses across the nation concerning a heretofore accepted tradition—fraternities. It's not just a seasonal gripe voiced by bearded intellectuals or social agnostics, but a serious and rational approach bearing much validity coming from students with variant views. The rumble has gained such dimension that it has been recorded in national magazines under such titles as "Showdown On Fraternity Row" and "Alpha Beta Kaput."

Examples of the attacks are plentiful. Williams College in Massachusetts, knee-deep in tradition, decided to take over the functions previously discharged by fraternities—room, board and social events. Fraternities will be allowed to remain on campus in name only and most observers think they will go the way of the old hitching post.

The Williams College decision came down from the administration, but this is certainly not the rule.

At Stanford University in California, a chapter of ATO defied the national organization by pledging a Jewish student despite a long-standing "bias clause" in the national by-laws. The chapter is now under suspension.

Several Midwestern colleges started a new movement when they replaced the traditional "Hell Week" which greets new pledges with a "Help Week" intended to be a service project to their college and community.

These occurrences are not always so far from home, however. Across the bay in St. Petersburg, three-year old Florida Presbyterian College has recently moved to their new campus which will be forever devoid of fraternity houses. During their first year, the charter class voted to bar such organizations.

Call it spreading sophistication, increasing intellectual seriousness, if you will. Like it or dislike it, but the facts remain—fraternity prestige is on the wane.

Amid this slow and inevitable progression away from fraternities across the nation, where is the University of South Florida?

We are on a slow and inevitable journey in the other direction—toward—fraternities!

At the present, the Fraternal Policies Committee and the Council of Fraternal Societies, administering functions of the "nationalization" plan, have progressed to second stage of implementation. The third stage specifies that "During Trimester I, 1963-64, a letter shall be sent to the National Inter-Fraternal Conference and the National Panhellenic Association stating formally that the University of South Florida's fraternal societies would like to seek national affiliation..."

So, here we are on the verge of jumping into an anachronistic pit. Has there been any discussion of the pro's versus the con's? No. Then this action represents the views of our student body of some 3500? It's doubtful, since it does not even represent the views of the 10 per cent of the students who are members of fraternal societies.

Yet, the progression is inevitable because these persons within the fraternal societies who should at least be dragging the anchor are not doing so. Any thought of the many bad points involved, particularly at our university, has been drowned out by a near-frenzied call to "go national!" because it's the thing to do.

Let's look at this other side of the coin. Idealistic fraternities and sororities are not in keeping with our concept of education. The All-University Approach, despite its critics, is producing results. When one large segment of the student body "goes national" it opens a large schism on the all-university campus. Living, thinking individuals are classified under one of two divisions: "independents" or "attached." Gaudy breast pins indicate social class and group placement like brands on the rumps of cattle. Friendships are made, or attempted, with little regard for mutual interests, preferences or viewpoints.

Even if fraternal society members reach a consensus on this national adoption, why can't other students have a voice in the situation? It is their campus, too, that will be the site of a fraternity row. Why can't they have the privilege granted to Florida Presbyterian students?

Practically speaking, the idea of fraternities and the houses which normally accompany them seems foreign to this campus. USF is located in an urban area and its student population will almost certainly be commuting for a long time to come. Fraternity houses are expensive to build and expensive to maintain.

Any added social benefits are negligible. They would duplicate services already provided by fraternal societies, the University Center and even the community.

Fraternities are expensive and time-consuming. The added responsibility of house duties required of brothers and sisters may well be the proverbial straw on the camel's back to many a C-level student. This list is by no means complete. Probably many a Greek letter advocate has already composed a list of pros in answer to this. However, I challenge anyone to compose a list of pros longer than my list of cons.

Change is not synonymous with progress. Why must we dump the fraternal society system? It has served its purpose well. Why can't it be allowed to expand according to need without succumbing to the idolatry of meaningless Greek letters?

—R. O.

Hardaway Defends All-U Approach

In an interview published in the Southern Accent of June 3, 1963, Mr. Stanley Hardaway, a resident instructor, is quoted as saying in regard to the all-university approach, "I don't think much of it and it serves no constructive purpose." Mr. Hardaway is certainly in the majority on this point as indicated by an almost complete lack of this approach on our campus. I would be much interested in knowing specifically what he thinks of as being the "all-university approach."

To me the all-university approach has much significance in the development of a university community where all members tend to keep in mind the good of their fellow students and workers, as well as the good of the university as an institution. If a student, desiring to cut across the lawn, were to follow the sidewalk instead because this would preserve the grass and make for a more beautiful campus for all, this student would be using the all-university approach. If a student, wishing to take home an article in some magazine in the Library, had the article Xeroxed rather than tearing the pages from the journal, he would be motivated by the all-university approach. In both instances the students placed the common good above personal convenience.

If a science professor corrects the grammar on a student's paper rather than saying, "I am interested only in the science content of the answers. Let the English Department look to grammar," this professor is following the all-university approach. The all-university approach is a social approach as contrasted with an anti-social or selfish approach. I believe an all-university approach would mean a better university for all—students, faculty, staff, administration. I would like to see the all-university approach tried on this campus.

ELLIOTT HARDWAY
Director of the Library

Lombardia Welcomes Students to Campus

Dear New Fellow Students:
Welcome to the University of South Florida. We hope you will find USF an intellectually challenging institution to start and continue your university studies.

The university in which you have recently enrolled is a most unique institution, because of its newness and because of the intellectual, social and physical challenges that it brings with it. Here you have some of the finest academic facilities in the nation; you have the newest facilities, which are synonymous with setting the new frontiers of the academic "West."

You will find people who will be able to share every conceivable interest you might have, from radio and television to bridge, from billiards to dancing, etc.

The Student Association welcomes and urges each one of you to know your university and its functions. We extend a personal invitation to come by and see your student government office and the functions that it performs for you. The first of these functions will be Mr. Carl Sandburg's guest appearance on campus. We invite you to work with your student government to make such appearances worthwhile and frequent, and to make your Student Association in reality your student government.

Sincerely yours,
LEE M. LOMBARDIA
President
Student Association

Gold Key President Addresses Enrollees

Dear Trimester III-B Freshmen,
On behalf of the Gold Key Honor Society, I wish to extend a sincere welcome to all newly enrolled students. The contributions you will make to this relatively young university will be of great importance since many of the programs and organizations are still in the developmental stage. Commensurate with the unparalleled opportunities available to you is the responsibility of providing adequate leadership. And after graduation the competence which has been developed by leadership will play an equally vital role in your chosen occupation.

It is easy to recognize the integral role academic performance will play in shaping your leadership qualities, your professional competence, and your position in society after donning the traditional graduation regalia. Perhaps the phrase "Accent on Learning" has failed to impress you with its deeper meaning. If you will accept the implicit challenge of education, I believe that you will soon discover that meaning. The Gold Key stands ready to aid you and the succeeding generations of students.

If Gold Key can successfully impress upon you the importance of beginning your academic career with the awareness of its importance, it will undoubtedly add to your personal achievement and realization, the academic tone of this university, and society. Since they are all interrelated, nothing can be added to one without adding to all.

Welcome aboard and feel free to contact Gold Key at any time.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES P. KLAPPS
President

Writer Separates Greeks and Beatniks

Dear Fellow Student,
I am writing this letter in hopes of clearing up the fuzzy thinking of many students around the campus. Many students seem to think that there is very little difference between the fraternities and the Avant Garde (beatnik) society. I would like to clear up thought on this subject by pointing out a few of the many glaring differences between the two societies.

The first, and most obvious difference is the mode of dress. The fraternities dress according to the fashion leaders, whereas the Avant Garde dresses according to beatnik fashion leaders.

Second, the fraternities have an elaborate system of controls and pressures that keep their members "conforming to the standards of the society" (if this is a quote from any societies' constitutions, I really did mean it). The beatnik society has none of these controls. They simply don't talk to members who don't conform to their non-conformist pattern.

Third, the fraternity people like to go to college to get a degree and be educated whereas the beatniks go to college to be educated and get a degree.

Fourth, the fraternities have parties and the beatniks have get-togethers.

Fifth, the fraternity people like to dance to music, whereas the Avant Garde like to listen to music.

Sixth, the fraternities worship God whereas the Avant Garde worship the English Professor of the week.

Seven, the fraternities are Boston in public and French in private (well, most of them) whereas the Avant Garde are French in public and Boston in private (or so I'm told). Don't get me wrong, neither puts up any kind of a front.

In closing, I would like to once again stress that I hope the above examples clear up the thinking of many students and point out that Fraternities and the Avant Garde are really not the same thing.

Unsincerely,
DON MUSE

I-M Will Continue In III-B

By RAY TOWLER

Dr. Gil Hertz and Richard Hunter have announced that the intramural program of Trimester III-A will be continued in Trimester III-B. Team roster blanks may be obtained at Hunter's office in UC-257.

Hunter, who is coordinator of recreational activities for III-B, has tentatively set the deadline for having the rosters returned to be no later than noon this Friday.

A schedule of games to be played will be posted on the intramurals bulletin board the following Monday. Anyone interested in starting a softball team is asked to fill out a roster blank and return it as soon as possible. Hunter also announced that he would like to have intramural tournaments in tennis and golf, and perhaps a one-day tournament in archery if there is sufficient participation. Prospective competitors in any of the above fields are urged to contact him in UC-257.

In a recent interview with Dr. Hertz it was learned that there is still a good chance of the University receiving funds for the construction of a gymnasium.

However, everything depends on the passage of a bond issue which is now in the legislature. If funds are allocated, the gym will be constructed one block west of the basketball courts.

Hertz further stated that he hopes USF will have a swimming pool by the Spring of 1964. The pool will be located near the Locker-Shower building for easy access to dressing areas.

When questioned concerning a golf course, Hertz replied that he had no knowledge of any further progress in this matter.

Cast for Shaw Festival Chosen

The casts for the Shaw Festival have been chosen and rehearsals have been under way for some time. Since many of the people are taking several parts in sometimes more than one of the plays, the following is a list of the company without the specific parts being designated.

Women's parts are being played by Diana Bellamy, Jeanne Briggs, Helen Davis, Anne Foster, Holly Gwinn, Claudia Juergensen, Mary Ann Kirschner, Nancy Jane Russell, Jeanne Stevens, Denise Strenglein.

Outnumbering the female performers are Bruce Atkins, Jack Belt, Gerald Buckingham, James Coplon, Kenneth Daniel, Peter Deliz, Bill Dreyer, David Dye, Robert Goodbread, Joseph Hirsch, James Judy, Michael Kelly, William Kietzer, Frank House, Phillip Morron, Curtis Morse, Wayne Otto, Ned Ricks, Albert Sanders, Loren Southwick, David Wilson and Robert Woolf.

Emmett Peter Guest Speaker at Open Meeting of AAUP

Emmett Peter Jr., editor of the Leesburg Daily Commercial, will be guest speaker at an open meeting of the American Association of University Professors at the University of South Florida today at 8 p.m.

His topic will be "The Last Stand of Puritanism, USA." The 43-year-old newsmen is an associate editor of the national journalism monthly "Quill" and a contributor to "The New Republic" and other magazines. He has been an active and outspoken critic of the tactics of the Johns Committee.

The meeting, open to faculty, students and any other interested persons, will be held in Rooms 264 and 265 of the University Center.

Info Desk Handles All Comers, Even Sheriff

By LOUISE STEWART

Quite some time ago, this reporter requested of Mrs. Beth Evans in the administration information office an idea of what types of things were being asked her and how many questions.

She would at times forget to keep the record so that her list of questions spread over a period of time. She said that the questions she listed are the representative plus few of the more unusual.

At first the list seemed normal enough—whom to see about dropping a course, where is employment office, where are the language offices, where is Dr. Morgenroth (?), where is Dr. Allen's office (sociology survey), where is Mr. Egerton (?), where is Dr. Fisher (?), and where may one get a grade transcript?

Things began to look interesting with the next question from the sheriff's office concerning the whereabouts of an employee.

Little Man on Campus

"WELL, DIDJA EVER STOP TO THINK THAT THIS 'F' JUS' MIGHT REFLECT A PRETTY POOR JOB OF TEACHING?"

Plans for Orientation Nearing Final Stage

Plans for orientation of incoming freshman in Trimester I at USF are now nearing completion. Sponsored by the Gold Key Honor Society, orientation will be a combination of exhibits, tours, examinations and social activities consuming two days of each of the three orientation periods.

Registration will begin Sept. 3 for all students, contrasting with previous registration periods in which students registered during the orientation period itself. This will provide equal availability of courses to students, rather than depending upon the orientation period attended.

Orientation Dates
Orientation periods extend from July 15-19 for the first two groups of approximately 200 students each, followed by a second period beginning July 20-August 1. Approximately 1,700 students will receive the official welcome during these two periods and the final period for late registrants. The program begins with briefing in the TA, examinations, and a tour of the campus. Following lunch in the cafeteria, students will be encouraged to view the exhibits on display in the Gallery Lounge presented by the major student organizations on campus. Following dinner with an upper classman at each table, the recreation facilities will be available and a complimentary dance for the new students will highlight the evening.

Packets Distributed
At 9 p.m. registration packets will be distributed in the ballroom during the Social Hour. Concluding the evening will be an opportunity for all students to spend a night in the dormitory for one dollar each.

Activities on the second day will be restricted to Speech and Hearing tests and a trip to Temple Terrace for the required testing of swimming proficiency.

PIERSALL RUNS OUT HOMER EKIL SIHT

Outfielder Jimmy Piersall of the New York Mets runs backwards to score after hitting the 100th home run of his career in Polo Grounds yesterday against the Philadelphia Phillies. In these photos, he sprints second base. Sakahs snah with coach Cookie Lavagetto at third, stoops for the plate and serocs as Tim Harkness waits to greet him.

Yankees Cincy One Game Out

The first against towering rookie Dave DeBusschere, combining singles by Willie Kirkland and Tito Francona, a hit batsman and an error.

Smith homered, doubled and singled for Baltimore, driving in two runs, scoring one and setting up another. Miller turned back the Twins without a hit after replacing Steve Barber with the bases full and one out in the seventh.

Barber won his 11th against five defeats, with Dick Stigman the loser.

THE TIGERS managed only four singles in its eight-run eighth against the Athletics, but also had the aid of Kansas City's wild pitching and inept fielding.

Bubba Phillips had a triple and three singles in Detroit's 10-hit offense. The A's clipped Mickey Lolich for 11 hits, but the rookie southpaw went the distance as the Tigers beat Kansas City for the third time in a row. Detroit had lost 10 straight before taking on the A's who've dropped seven of their last eight.

Cheney, notching his fourth shutout for the last-place Senators, permitted only one Angel beyond second base. Larry Osborne, with three hits, and Ed Brinkman, with a two-run double and single, paced Washington's attack. Dan Osinski was the Los Angeles starter and loser.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Carl Willey, Mets, recorded two-hitter for his third shutout of the season in opening game as Mets swept doubleheader from Philadelphia, 5-0 and 4-1, and climbed out of National League cellar.

BATTING—Roberto Clemente, Pirates, hit game-winning three-run homer in seventh inning and two singles in 74 victory over Chicago Cubs.

league mark, and the sixth straight victory for the Reds. They made it seven in the second game behind Joe Nuxhall and Don Zanni, who pitched the last two innings. Houston finally scored in the second inning, after 40 scoreless innings.

JOHNNY EDWARDS hit a three-run homer for the Reds in the opener and Bob Skinner, Vada Pinson and Jesse Gonder homered in the second game.

Jim Gilliam's three-run homer off Ernie Broglio carried the Dodgers to victory and to within 1 1/2 games of the lead. Gilliam hit it is the fifth after a walk and Maury Wills' single.

The winning pitcher was Bob Miller, who took over for starter Johnny Podres in the first after Dick Groat had hit a two-run homer. Miller went six and allowed the other run, and Ron Peranowski finished up.

ROBERTO CLEMENTE struck the major blow for the Pirates, a three-run homer in the seventh inning. The Cubs knocked out starter Vernon Law in a four-run first but frittered away the lead on some shabby fielding. Ron Santo homered for a 6-4 Cub lead but Glen Hobbie couldn't hold it.

Tarpons Gain Split

After defeating Orlando in the opener 7-2, Twin pitcher Curt Sauer tossed a four-hit blank in Tampa's direction in the nitecap for a 6-0 setback and a split. Sauer only walked three and struck out seven.

Orlando's heavy stick in the second game was welded by rightfielder Tom Quick who blasted a homer and a single. Ron Robinson and Tommy Kidd had two hits apiece for Tampa.

Robinson was the Tampa big hitter in the opener with three hits, two singles and a double. Teammate Steve Reeves belted a two-run homer in the fifth.

Andy Dustal was the Tampa winner in the opener and Hite was the second game loser.

... JUNIOR'S FUTURE FOUNDATION?

Dad Constructs Chicken-Wire Castle

By EHNEST VILLANUEVA
Times Sports Writer

It's only natural that when one asks West Tampa Little League star Arnaldi Contreras Jr. who his baseball hero is he shoots back "Mickey Mantle!" without a moment's hesitation.

FOR IF THE 11-year-old pitcher outfielder one day realizes the dream of a professional big league baseball career, a dream shared by millions of other youngsters his age throughout the nation, it will be for the same reasons the Yankee centerfielder has achieved greatness: A lot of natural ability, a burning enthusiasm for the sport and, perhaps most important of all, the singleness of purpose, un-

Spotlighting . . . Our Tampa Youth

faltering dedication, and long hours devoted by his father toward this end.

If anything, little Naldi, who's not so little by the way, has an early advantage over his idol—his mother, Margaret, is a pretty darn good batting practice catcher and even owns her own catching gear for this labor of love.

NALDI, WHO plays for the West Tampa Optimists, is currently batting .525 and is second to Vince Saladino in homers with five. His pitching record is 6-2.

But the hefty batting average doesn't tell the story of a outstanding natural athlete as it is an indication of the long hours spent with his parents in a batting cage constructed of chicken wire and old pipes by Mr. Contreras adjacent to their home at 2513 Cherry St. Actually, this is the second batch of chicken wire used in the last 1 1/2 years.

"There were too many breaks in the other wire," Contreras pointed out "so we built another one" he added and discussed some further improvements he hopes to make in the completely regulation size batting area. Presently he's working on a wire set up from the pitcher's mound to the plate on which he can hook up a free-wheeling baseball and by moving the angle of the wire get the ball over exact areas of the plate.

"THAT WAY I can give him a good idea of just what his strike zone is and I can also teach him how to hit outside pitches to the opposite field."

Naldi received his first bat and hitting instruction at the age of 5 and it was at this time the first plans were made by Contreras to try to develop his son's ability.

"He's always been a big boy for his age," Contreras explained and I felt his size was in his favor as far as baseball is concerned. "If he had been of small stature, I would have thought about him being anything, a carpenter, doctor, lawyer, anything."

CONTRERAS, himself, was a player in the fast Cuban amateur leagues that would draw as many as 12-15,000 people for games.

"The newspapers used to call me the Cuban DiMaggio" he said jokingly, "not because I was that good, I wasn't, but because we bear a slight resemblance."

The mother was also an athlete and quite a softball player in a local league. In fact, recently she played in a little league mothers game and was forced to bat one handed.

NALDI BEGAN getting his batting instruction at age 5 and as Contreras notes, "he would miss the ball and begin to cry so I had to go real slow. Once he started hitting it regularly, though, that's all he wanted to do was hit."

Young Naldi is one of the few Little

YEP . . . THAT'S MAMA BEHIND THE PLATE

Mama Contreras (Margaret) gets set to take a pitch from husband Arnaldi, as little Naldi takes a healthy cut at the ball . . . all action taking place within the confines of papa's chicken-wire castle.

League switch hitters who accomplish the feat successfully as his .500 plus average demonstrates. He is also an ambidextrous pitcher, although "he can throw much faster right handed and really isn't ready to pitch left handed in competition yet." The "yet" was emphasized.

FOR ALL HIS enthusiasm for the sport of baseball, Naldi's parents have stressed the importance of education to their son. Naldi has made straight "A's" throughout his six years at Cuesta Elementary. And when his scholastic effort slacks off they handle the problem quite easily.

"This past year," Mrs. Contreras said, "he came home during the first six weeks of school and said he thought he was going to fail because the teacher was too strict. Then his first report card wasn't as good as it usually is. We told him flatly that unless he stopped making excuses for himself and worked harder he not only would lose his privileges, but wouldn't be allowed to play baseball. He knew we meant it and brought his grades up to A's again."

ONE OF THE HARDEST things for a Little League parent, without a doubt, is watching their son play and maintain their composure.

"You're not kidding," Contreras agreed. "I was never a great ballplayer myself, but I do know the game. What hurts more than anything else are the mental errors but you have to remember that they are children. Anyone, if a professional will strike out or drop a ball so that doesn't bother me, but when he's just not thinking I find it hard sitting still because if anything besides talent will hold him back it's if he doesn't know how to think out there."

CONTRERAS, who works as a waiter at the Columbia Restaurant, would like to manage a Little League team, but the split shift he works prevents it.

But one way or another, he's always at the plate.

Veck

As in all moments of stress and passion, rumor ran riot. Some insisted the committee would move the service line back to overcome the deadly effect of the Big Serve. Others were sure the server would be forced to lay back and play the return on the bounce. There were those extremists who even believed that Open Tennis was about to burst upon the world, although calmer and wiser heads pointed out that this was ridiculous on two counts:

1. It had been suggested by Jack Kramer, a card-carrying professional.

2. It is inevitable and therefore out of the question. The tennis fathers have nothing against progress as long as it doesn't get in the way of age and tradition.

TENSION MOUNTED. In spas throughout the world, Bikini-clad crowds gathered around the radio. A few sentimentalists, almost cracking under the strain, even played a set of "The Old Game," while a string quartet played "Auld Lang Syne" softly in the background.

Just as nerves were reaching the breaking point, the doors were flung open and the press was summoned. Some of them even came.

A prepared statement was passed out. There was to be no chance, obviously, for any misinterpretation of the rule changes:

"HENCEFORTH AND forever, no female contestant shall appear on the center court at Wimbledon in pink panties. No colored drawers of any hue or design will be tolerated."

Gussie Moran had finally been dealt with. Gone from the tournament was the only thing worth watching. "Disturbing, those pants," harrumphed the committee (estimated age: 69) "Bragging just a little," I harrumphed right back.

How is it possible to disturb the dead?

Thesz Defends Mat Title Tuesday

World heavyweight wrestling champion Lou Thesz of St. Louis, who has probably won more wrestling matches than any other heavyweight in history, will defend his title against Southern champion Miro Matsuda of Japan at the Fort Nomer Mesterly Armory tomorrow night.

THESE FIRST vaulted into wrestling fame back in 1937 when he won the title from Everett Marshall. Since then he has traveled millions of miles and held the title six different times.

Thesz first lost the title to Steve (Crusher) Casey in 1938; regained the title from Marshall in 1939; lost to Bronko Nagurski in 1939; defeated Whipper Billy Watson in 1947; lost to Watson in 1947 and defeated Watson in 1948; lost to Watson in 1956 and defeated Watson in 1956; lost to Dick Nutton in 1957, and again regained the title by defeating Buddy Rogers in January this year in Toronto.

Promoter Cow boy Luttrall rates Matsuda as a rugged opponent for Thesz. "Lou doesn't face many Japanese wrestlers and may find Matsuda's style puzzling," Luttrall commented. The match will be two out of three falls, one hour time limit.

OF ALMOST equal interest is a match between Eddie Graham and the Great Malehke. It was the Russian who sidelined Graham several months last year with a back injury and Malenko returned to Florida with one idea in mind, to resume his feud with the popular Tampan.

The Californians, Al and Ramon Torres, will meet Miguel Rodriguez and Indio Joe and Tampan Ray Villmer is matched against Duke Keomuka of Japan. Action in the Armory ring will start at 8:30 o'clock.

The Tackle Box

By EDMOND GEORGE
Times Fishing Analyst

BEST BET—For the heavy tackle fishermen, tarpon are in abundance in most of your popular areas. In addition, snook and bull redfish are also around to supply a lot of action.

WHERE TO CATCH THEM—Tarpon are concentrated in Gadsden Point, in the Tampa estuary and for you anglers who like to fish further south, the immediate shoreline of Anna Maria Island, the bulkhead and also the southeast end of Mullet Key are very active.

HOW TO CATCH THEM—In the Tampa estuary, according to the experts, the best time to seek this silver giant out is during the incoming tide; the very same for the immediate shoreline of Mullet Key but as far as the bulkhead is concerned and the shores of Anna Maria Island, it's a strong indication that the best action is centered around the outgoing tide.

A lot of tarpon anglers make the big mistake of fishing for tarpon only when they see them break the water. Believe me, this is one of the biggest mistakes fishermen can make. Have you ever noticed mud areas in clear water and passed it by? Well, if you did, you most likely had passed over some of the best tarpon fishing grounds. In most of the tarpon areas when you come across these mud spots, tarpon are feeding. Take the time and throw a piece of bait in that vicinity. You may be surprised at the results.

Ever since the Tampa and St. Petersburg tarpon tournaments have started, there have been a number of tarpon registered in both events that should never have been brought in because of their size. Tarpon are definitely a game fish. They've been designed for speed and regardless of what type of fisherman you are, even the smallest tarpon will give you enough action to keep you talking about it for the rest of your life. I'm a firm believer that all small fish should be returned to the waters. When a fisherman can return even a small tarpon to the water, this without question separates the men from the boys. There are a number of fishermen in existence: You have the meat fisherman, who'll catch more than he'll ever use; you have the show-off fisherman that'll bring in a fish just to brag about it; then you have the sport fisherman who fishes for the sheer pleasure of pitting his skill against whatever may be below the surface of the water. This fisherman will bring home just what he and his family and friends are going to eat. And if he should bring in a prize trophy, for the purpose of mounting. Now the big question is: What class are you in?

TIP FOR THE DAY—From here on in, thunder-showers and strong gusts of wind will be attacking the area. Your biggest defense is safety afloat.

Atom Blasts Seen Oil Output Booster

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 24 (AP)—A French official suggested today the use of underground atomic explosions to boost world oil production.

A. Giraud, deputy general director of the French Petroleum Institute, said the oil industry should not be afraid to use revolutionary processes while trying to improve the percentage of oil that can be produced from a reservoir.

Giraud submitted a general paper on scientific progress and industrial development to the third general session of the 6th World Petroleum Congress.

THE 6,000 OIL scientists and technologists received a report Saturday that an estimated 1.5 trillion barrels of oil have been discovered in the world but current production methods will permit recovery of only 35 percent or about 431 billion barrels.

Giraud suggested the industry's scientists place renewed emphasis on secondary recovery practices. He said they would increase output from sluggish fields which do not respond efficiently to conventional production methods.

"The prospect of revolutionary processes cannot be excluded," he added. "For example, underground atomic explosions might let tightly held hydrocarbons ooze out."

GIRAUD SAID nothing should be left untapped in order to make the search for new petroleum reserves more promising.

An ideal contribution by science, he said, would be the discovery of how to detect specific physical properties of hydrocarbons to pinpoint the presence of oil.

"This would make possible an immediate determination of petroleum deposits," he said.

Another paper reviewed processing developments since the last session of the quadrennial congress and said petrochemicals are bringing the oil and chemical industries ever closer together.

"THE ACTION of the petroleum industry in chemical production is increasing and calls for a revolutionary reappraisal by the chemical industry," said W. Thies of Frankfurt.

Thies said many oil firms now consider parts of their refineries as chemical plants.

"This is being viewed with concern by chemical companies and many are trying to secure raw material sources independent of the large oil companies by acquiring refineries and beginning their own drilling activity."

"Other large chemical firms, have joined with petroleum companies in processing and finishing the chemical products obtained from refineries."

THE CRANKED ONE IS REAL

E. L. Fisher, retired newspaper editor, wants better service—preferably dial phones—in Lathrop, Mo. But Pross T. Cross, owner of the 500-customer firm, hasn't put in dial service because he thinks it isn't here to stay. His four operators at central relay messages—and some customers pay only $1.35 a month. The only dial phones in town are toy ones, such as held here by Melanie Boulton, 4, of Pocahontas, Iowa, who is Fisher's granddaughter.

AMERICAN ACCUSES EMBASSY

U.S. Sent Him Back to Castro Jail

TALLAHASSEE, June 24 (UPI)—An American held for 39 months in Castro's worst prisons today accused the U.S. Embassy in Havana of ordering him back to jail when he sought sanctuary there in a 1959 escape attempt.

John V. Martino, an electronics technician at Miami Beach, made the charge in a book, "I Was Castro's Prisoner," published by the Devon-Adair Co. of New York.

By reaching the embassy, Martino said that "under international law, I was a free man."

BUT HE SAID he was told by James E. Brown, the American consul general, that if he stayed, it would "disrupt" Ambassador Philip Bonsal's efforts to deal with Castro. He quoted Brown as saying:

"I beg you to do this (go back to jail) because we don't want any trouble with Castro... you must do the right thing for your country."

According to Martino, Brown gave him an "absolutely worthless" promise the embassy would secure his release within 24 hours.

The date of his flight to the embassy, escorted by a sympathetic Cuban jail chief, was Oct. 5, 1959, Martino said. This was about 2½ months after his arrest on false charges of being "a Yankee pilot and gun-runner" for anti-Castro forces only a few hours after arriving in Havana July 23, 1959 on a business trip, he said.

MARTINO SAID that, acting on Brown's plea, he was delivered to the custody of El Principe Prison. He was subsequently given a 13-year sentence by a military court.

The American, whose book was ghost-written by Nathaniel Weyl, was in the dreaded La Cabana Prison, facing probable transfer to the Isle of Pines, when Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos—acting on a petition from Martino's wife, Florence—ordered him released on Oct. 6, 1962, he said.

Martino also accused an embassy vice consul of failing to pass on information which he said he gave them in September, 1959, that there was a "secret radio installation manned by Russians" at the Castillo de Ateares Prison in Havana.

WILLIAM MORGAN, the renegade American who broke with the Castro government after helping it into power, was executed at La Cabana in an exceptionally cruel manner as both Fidel and Raul Castro looked on, Martino said. Quoting a prison "eventing," he gave this account:

"One of the riflemen shot and hit Morgan in the right knee. He fired again and put a bullet into Morgan's left kneecap... the next step was to put a bullet in his right shoulder and then another in his left. With Morgan writhing on the ground, the captain of the firing squad... emptied a clip from his Tommy gun in his chest. When he was finally dead, they smashed his face with five .45 slugs."

The brutality of the killing and Morgan's popularity with the prisoners almost set off a riot, he said.

MARTINO ALSO became acquainted with three other Americans at La Cabana before they were sent to the Isle of Pines—Daniel Carswell, Edmund Tansky and Eustace Danbrunt. They had been captured in 1960 while wire-tapping the Communist Chinese news agency office in Havana.

He said he was "dumfounded" when he learned of the "Rube Goldberg equipment" they had used. He suggested they were dupes of someone in the embassy.

"They might possibly have been tricked into believing they were working for the CIA," Martino wrote, "whereas in reality the plan was to see them get caught so that Castro could exploit the scandal to the discredit of the United States."

He quoted Danbrunt as saying they were "invited" to do "a little job" by "a member of the American embassy (who) had come to the states (who) had been a man was not identified. The trio was released by Castro earlier this year.

COMMANDO BALLYHOO

Cuba Refugee Group Ponders Revolution

MIAMI, June 24 (AP)—The Cuban Revolutionary Council, beset with criticism from many exiles over its ballyhooed reports of commando landings in Cuba, called a meeting for today to consider the resignation of its president, Dr. Antonio Maceo.

Maceo's resignation letter said such publicity "has caused trouble for Cubans fighting in the underground." He said he has stressed "the need for discretion."

The resignation followed an announcement by the council that its commandos had "landed in different parts of Cuba" and that this was the start of the war of liberation. After four days, confirmation of any large-scale landings was lacking.

DR. MANUEL ANTONIO DE VARONA, former Cuban prime minister, who has been running the council without a title since resignation of its first president, Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, two months ago declined comment until after the council session. There were insistent reports that others planned to pull out of the council, a coalition of anti-Castro groups, in sympathy with Maceo's stand. There were ardent quit in protest against U.S. Cuban policy.

Ernesto Freyre, secretary of the Cuban families committee, which with the help of New York negotiator James Donovan engineered release of Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners, said any resignation plans of his own would not be announced until the meeting.

FREYRE RECENTLY became secretary of another anti-Castro movement, organized by Jose Bosch, exiled head of the Bacardi Rum Co.

Bosch called a meeting tonight of his organization committee of 21 to discuss plans for a plebiscite among exiles. Under the plan, fugitives from Castro in the United States, Mexico, Venezuela, Costa Rica, Spain and Puerto Rico will vote whether to accept a three-man junta to be designated to carry war to Cuba.

Bosch, a millionaire, said the junta, if accepted, plans to raise a war chest and make it available to qualified revolutionary groups.

ANOTHER REFUGEE organization, the newly formed Cuban Liberation Committee, awaited return of Cuban ex-President Carlos Prío Socarrás from Europe, probably tomorrow, to organize its executive board. Prío may become its president.

Leaders of recognized activist groups not belonging to the council were unanimous in criticizing ballooning reports of the commando achievements. They said they carried false security and false hopes to the people in Cuba and would tend to discredit future commando action, these appear to have been are not unusual," said one commando leader.

Maceo, a highly regarded exile surgeon, had been a council member since its organization in 1961 to sponsor the disastrous Bay of Pigs invasion with U.S. support. The council received U.S. financial support until Miro Cardona's resignation.

THIRD IN 3 MONTHS

Cuban Council Meets To Name New Chief

MIAMI, June 24 (UPI)—The dissension-ridden Cuban Revolutionary Council (CRC), which uses here in dealings with the U.S. government, meets today to choose its third president in three months.

Antonio Maceo resigned the council presidency yesterday as a protest against "security breaches" in connection with the reported infiltration of refugee "commandos" into Cuba.

Maceo, grandson and namesake of a Dominican-born hero of Cuban independence, took over the council reins in April, when Jose Miro Cardona resigned the presidency in anger over the Kennedy administration's failure to take effective action against Premier Fidel Castro.

THE STATE Department and other U.S. agencies cut off subsidies to the council at the time of Miro's resignation. The organization was the ostensible sponsor of the disastrous invasion attempt in April, 1961.

Maceo himself announced the "commando landings" Wednesday, but refused to say how many men were involved for security reasons.

The U.S. State Department has reported that 50 commandos at most may have infiltrated Cuba in recent days.

Congressional sources in Washington and refugee spokesmen in Central America—said to be the point of origin of the commando attacks—placed the number of infiltrators as high as 3,000.

THE MIAMI News said yesterday reports of large-scale infiltration were a hoax inspired by the landing of five to 10 refugees in Cuba two weeks ago. "The reports grew and grew, assuming fraudulent proportions...," wrote Pulitzer Prize newsman Hal Hendrix. "The fraud was compounded when an announcement was made by the CRC saying its commando force would broadcast... at 1 p.m. Friday."

Hendrix said "official monitors" say three broadcasts heard about that time appeared to originate in the Florida Keys, or possibly on a boat in the Florida Strait, separating Cuba from the U.S. mainland.

Old-Time 'Sidewalk Sale' Set in Ohio

HAMILTON, Ohio, June 24 (AP)—It will be like old times today in the downtown business district as merchants put on an old-fashioned sidewalk sale.

Miles Mirka, chairman of the merchants' downtown trade promotion committee, said participating merchants will sell at bargain prices from tables in front of their stores. Singing barbershop quartets will parade through the area, and many of the sales people will dress in the costumes of years ago, he added.

LIFE BEGINS AT 40

Champ Sailor Had Late Career Start

By ROBERT PETERSON

One of the most brilliant sports stories of success after 40 concerns Richard S. Nye of Greenwich, Conn. He had never set foot on a sailboat until he was past that milestone. Yet in the ensuing decade and a half he has emerged as one of the nation's greatest sailors.

"IT ALL started when I was 42," said Nye, a stocky native of New York in his late 50's with blue eyes and steel gray hair and mustache. "I lost my partner in the proxy business and bought his interest from the estate. The executor asked if I wanted to buy his 42-foot sailing sloop and something prompted me to say yes. I didn't have the slightest idea how to sail the boat, but I had a young son and thought we might have some fun with it."

That summer Nye learned the rudiments of sailing from a chap who had sailed the boat for its late owner. By the following summer Nye needed no further instruction, but still hesitated taking the boat out unless accompanied by an experienced sailor. After observing several sailboat races Nye decided this was for him.

He spent much of his leisure time thereafter studying racing tactics and techniques. Then he bought a 46-foot yawl which had won the Detroit-Mackinac race the previous year and entered his first race — the Newport, R.I., to Annapolis, Md., Race — winning seventh in his class.

THAT SAME summer he won the Riverside, Conn., to Nantucket Mass., Race — his initial blue ribbon in an awesome winning streak to come. In 1951, he won first overall in the Marblehead, Mass., to Halifax, Nova Scotia, Race. In 1952 he won first overall in the Newport, R.I., to Bermuda Race. Then in 1953 he had his first taste of trans-oceanic sailing when he cruised with a crew of four to Cowes, England, and proceeded to win second place in the famed Fastnet Race.

IN 1957 he won the race from Newport, R.I., to Santander, Spain. Then he sailed from Spain to England and again won the Britannia Cup and Fastnet Race. And in 1959 he cruised to England and entered the Fastnet Race again. He failed to win this time, but finished first in his class with a respectable third place in fleet.

Nye's story should give inspiration to those past 40 who fear they're too old for new tricks. If you forget about age and face the challenge of new experiences, you may tap interests and talents you never knew existed.

Tormenting Rectal Itch Stopped In Minutes

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results — here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids — without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H®. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

My columns of the Blackwood convention have resulted in a trump after his partner bid two. where they want to use four no-trump as a normal bid—not an artificial one.

For instance, here is a hand from the recent tournament at Columbia, S.C. South can make four no-trump and East will go down one at four spades.

The bidding at all tables started with one heart by South, two clubs by North and some number of spades by East.

When East chose to bid four spades South would double and North would have no choice, but to leave it in and the North-South score of plus 100 would turn out to be a poor one.

At a few tables the bidding went as shown in the box. On this sequence North could afford to bid four no-trump after his partner's double of four spades. There would be no way for South to read the four no-trump bid as anything but a desire to play that contract since North had previously been satisfied to bid only three no-trump after his partner bid two. Learn to be an expert at Blackwood convention with tips found in Jacoby's new 64-page book "Win at Bridge." great many requests to discuss it again.

In case anyone does not know, the Blackwood convention provides, in its simplest form, that a bid of four no-trump is a demand to partner to tell how many aces he holds. He responds five clubs with no ace; five diamonds with one; five hearts with two; five spades with three and five no trump with all four.

Most players who use Blackwood play that any four no-trump bid is a request for aces. This is simple indeed, but the
