Engineering Building Is Set; Bus Ad Next

Big USF Expansion On the Go

USF will push ahead on the current $7 million expansion program Wednesday with opening of bids for the $1.3 million Business Administration Building.

Meanwhile, the Board of Regents gave a green light to construction of a $2.6 million College of Engineering facility by accepting the low bid for three buildings.

Bids were rejected on the Bus Ad building in January as too high. Plans have been revised and bids will be received at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Physics Building.

The building would contain 80,926 square feet of space and would provide 24 regular classrooms, a dozen special classrooms, about 70 offices and a 300-seat auditorium.

In Tallahassee the Board of Regents accepted the bid of James Knowles, St. Petersburg, of $1,577,000 for the main engineering buildings. The contract probably will be awarded and work will begin on the separate research building within two months.

ENGINEERING Dean Edgar Kopp, expressing pleasure that the bid had been accepted, said the research building will be located near physical plant because in it "we will fire up rocket nozzles, and do things which make sounds and smells" not acceptable in the regular classroom.

Initially it will serve as office space for some of the engineering faculty.

Funds for the engineering facility include a tentative grant of $682,737 from the U.S. Office of Education.

Plans are moving along to open bids on the $1.8 million physical education building and recreation mall possibly by the end of this month, and early next month on the $3.7 million Andros dormitories and service core unit.

TA Closed As 'Grid System' Is Installed

A vertical counterweight system for flying scenery, known as a "grid system," will be installed in the Teaching Auditorium during trimester III-A.

Russell Whaley, chairman of theater arts, says that this is a much needed piece of staging equipment. Since there has been no economical way to raise an old scene and lower a new one, all the productions have had to keep the same background throughout the play.

The TA was built as a shell. Much of the equipment was planned but is awaiting appropriations.

Other work on the theater during this time will include painting, rug repair, and general maintenance.

An Effective Measure, Dean Says . . .

Student Carelessness Hiked Library Fines

Why is the library fine rate so high? Is it really necessary?

"Yes," said Dean Elliott Hardaway, director of the library. When the University of South Florida opened in September, 1960, there were no library fines imposed. All students were expected to be "socially conscious".

For two years this plan was tested. It did not work said Hardaway. Students would check out books, and hand them for the entire trimester. Still not wanting to embark on a money changing operation, Dean Hardaway instituted a new plan. Students could check books out for two weeks. A two-week grace period then followed in which the student could return the books or pay for them.

With this plan, Dean Hardaway commented, the library became a purchasing agent where used books and out of print editions could be attained at a minimal fee.

"The traditional five cent or two cent fine means nothing to them," said Hardaway. "We just want the books."

Compared to other universities, Dean Hardaway added, this fine is not exorbitant and it is the most effective measure tried to date. But " . . . we'd rather not have the fines," he said. "We just want the books."

Essentially the fifty-cent fine is only twenty-five cents a day when the student pays cash. The fifty-cent fine is enforced when the student pays by check or has to be billed through finance and accounting.

Compared to other universities, Dean Hardaway added, this fine is not exorbitant and it is the most effective measure tried to date. But " . . . we'd rather not have the fines," he said. "We just want the books."

Medical School Hindered

A squabble between two legislators may hinder efforts to establish a medical college at USF, according to The Tampa Tribune.

The Tribune said Senate President James Connor of Brooksville rapped Hillsborough Rep. Woodie Liles for opposing a mental hospital branch in Connor's home county of Hernando.

Sen. Connor was quoted as saying, "If they put the blow torch to me on this (the mental hospital) they put me in a heck of a position on support of the University of South Florida hospital."

He further elaborated, "From a practical politics angle, they need the votes to establish that school. Also they are going to have to have appropriations. And, they are going to have to have strong help to get those things."

The senate Wednesday passed the bill to establish the mental hospital in Hernando County and the house is expected to follow suit.

This step possibly will lessen Connor's opposition to the USF medical school bill introduced by Sen. Tom Whitaker of Tampa. The bill was referred to the senate's "killer" committee.

Connor said he has been a strong supporter of USF and that he had favored a medical school at the University.

He indicated that he now will try to get the medical school bill out of the committee.

Colleges Elect Representatives On Thursday

An election to fill vacancies in the student legislature will be Thursday. Balloting for all colleges will take place all day in the UC lobby.

Forms for submitting an intention to run and rules of procedure are available now in the Student Association office, UC 218. Candidates must register by 5 p.m. Wednesday. A sample ballot will be posted Thursday morning for review before students go to the polls.

The election will fill the following vacancies: Basic Studies, nine; Liberal Arts, seven; Education, four; Business Administration, six and Engineering, one.

By Board of Regents

Off-Campus Study Guides Proposed

Dr. J. Broward Culpeper, executive director of the University Board of Regents, has announced the proposed legislation on a set of guidelines for the continuation and expansion of continuing off-campus graduate education appears to be headed for approval.

These guidelines call for the Regents to hire a state-wide coordinator who will be directly responsible to the chief executive officer of the Regents.

THE OUTLINE also calls for a full-time campus director of continuing education at each state university and a state council for continuing education. The state council will consist of the state-wide director and campus directors.

The job of the campus director will be to determine what off-campus education services his university can render and to coordinate these programs through the state-wide coordinator.

THE STATE-WIDE coordinator's job would be to determine whether:

1. The universities are conducting programs of continuing education within the framework of the established policies.
2. Off-campus and on-campus programs are consistent in quality.
3. The universities are making maximum use of their resources available for continuing education programs.
4. There is effective coordination and a minimum of duplication of effort on the part of the universities.

THE GUIDELINES also call for the establishment of policies governing the geographic areas to be served and the subject matters to be offered by each state university.

Regents Chairman Chester Ferguson explained that these guidelines may be abandoned or modified by the Regents as exact details of administering the continuing education program are developed.

SA Sends Delegates To Meet

USF made its debut into regional student government activities by sending nine delegates to the Southern University Student Government Association (SUSGA) Convention in Gatlinburg, Tenn. April 29-May 1.

According to John Reber, Student Association president, the cost of sending the delegation was approximately $235. The funds came from the SA budget. "This was the first convention which we have attended and I feel that USF did much to gain the respect of the other universities in the state by our activities at the convention."

Those attending included Reber; Ed Coris, SA vice president; Karen O'Grady, USF representative to SUSGA and one of the recording clerks of the SA legislature; Judy Peterson and Claude Scales, members of the SA legislature; Don Wright, chairman of the Election Rules Committee; John Harper, recording clerk of the legislature; Steve Nall, a former member of the legislature and Robin Kirk, student senator in the University Senate.

Earnest Named Justice

Ben Earnest has been appointed chief justice of the Student Court of Review and the University Board of Discipline and Appeals.

John Reber, student association president, made the appointment, which is subject to the approval of the student legislature. Dean of Student Affairs Herbert J. Wundt and President John S. Allen.

The appointment was made after John Botcher resigned April 26. Botcher received three X grades in Trimester II and considered himself ineligible to continue as chief justice. The constitution has no specifications regarding X grades.

Earnest, a senior majoring in English and political science, has been a judge since the inception of the judicial branch of the Student Association in trimester II. The two courts replaced the Student Affairs Committee of the university whose membership consisted of more faculty and administration than students.

Selected Seniors Display Paintings

The art department has deemed two art students so promising that the students have been asked to display their works this month in the first USF Senior Honors show at the campus Theatre Gallery.

They are Susan Tessem and David Haxton.

Miss Tessem has, during her four years at USF, developed a very distinctive painting style. She combines hard-edged geometric shapes with soft-edged shapes and sometimes superimposes pencil drawings on paper over sections of the canvas.

Among other shows, her works were displayed in the November, 1964, Clearwater show. From this show, the Honeywell Corp. of Philadelphia bought two of her paintings.

She has been accepted for graduate school, but as yet has not decided which one to enter. Haxton also has attended USF for four years. His works have been exhibited in the Southeastern Annual Exhibition of Painting in which he received an honorable mention; the State Fair of 1963, 1964, and 1965; and the Second All Florida Undergraduate show in which he received first award.

They are the first students to participate in the Senior Honors Show. James R. Camp, university art show curator, said that he plans to make this show a USF tradition.

Most works on display will be for sale.

Ocean Study Site Plans Advancing

Plans for converting of the former St. Petersburg Maritime Base into an oceanographic research center and University of South Florida branch for upper level and graduate courses moved one step closer to reality last Monday when the Board of Regents agreed to try to acquire the facility.

Although the base would be primarily under the control of USF, its facilities would be available to the entire state university system.

According to the St. Petersburg Times, Chester Ferguson, chairman of the Board of Regents, suggested that the base should be under the primary control of the Board of Regents with the University of South Florida acting as "landlords."

Specific plans for the change-over will be discussed when the executive director of the Board of Regents, Dr. J. Broward Culpeper and university officials meet with Health, Education and Welfare Dept. representatives from Washington this week.

He will continue to work with the campus staff on matters concerning SA activities and special features.

Replacing Alston will be Laurence A. Bennett, who became managing editor under Alston.

Bennett, 22, spent three years on the staff of the Daytona Beach News-Journal papers as copy boy and reporter before coming to USF last April.

Cooperation Gets Class Ring Back

By PEGGY FULLERTON Of the Campus Staff

Cooperation was the catalyst that recovered Miss Emilee M. McEver's class ring last month.

J. Wilburn Allen, Atlanta, was the conscientious gentleman who found the ring and notified Dr. F. H. Spain, USF registrar. The only information he could offer Dr. Spain was that it was a woman's 1964 class ring with the initials E.M.M. engraved on the inside. The ring, he said, had been found in the southwest section of Atlanta.

With these skimpy leads Mrs. Rosa Elarbee, supervisor of the records area of the office of the registrar, combed a list of graduates and found the initials E.M.M.—but the address read "Plant City, Florida."

Mrs. Elarbee then turned to June Millar, who is in charge of alumnae affairs. If Miss McEver had been responsive to her alumnae's recommendations she could have continued to inform her alumnae association of her changes of address after graduation. She had, it turned out, and the mystery was solved. Miss McEver had moved from Plant City, to Tallahassee, and finally to Atlanta.

Allen had requested the address of Miss McEver but as it is not the policy of the registrar to divulge the confidence of the student, the registrar sent instead a photo-copy of Allen's letter to Miss McEver, who promptly contacted Allen and received her ring.

"Everyone had to do their part and everyone did," said Merle Slater, assistant registrar and director of records.

Kay McKay, recent recipient of the Woodrow Wilson Award, has become the first USF student to be awarded a Fulbright Scholarship.

Kay, a Tampa resident and a 1963 Plant High graduate, will receive her degree from USF in June, with a major in French. In September she will sail from New York for Normandy.

Under the Fulbright she will remain at the University of Caen for one year, doing class-work and research.

While in France she will work toward her MA. On her return, she plans to enroll at Harvard to complete her graduate work in 17th Century French literature.

Kay, 19, is probably one of the youngest recipients of a Fulbright grant. She enrolled at USF prior to completing her senior year at Plant High, graduating from high school while in her freshman year at college.

In addition to taking active part in various student affairs, Kay has maintained a 3.95 average while at USF.

She is the daughter of Dr. Maxine McKay, assistant professor in humanities at USF.

Long ago, in the eons of USF history, the students voted the Golden Brahman the official mascot of our institution. Then this majestic beast disappeared into oblivion.

The few attempts made to connect the Brahman with the name of the school have failed.

In 1963, the Florida Brahman Association purchased a felt-covered, china statuette of a Brahman Bull. They thought it would be a nice gesture to give it to USF. It now rests atop the jewelry case in the UC Bookstore.

Earlier that same year Clyde Keys of St. Petersburg, thought it would be appropriate if USF had a live mascot. He selected a bull from his herd and gave it to USF. The bull now resides at Boot Ranch, near Oldsmar.

Kelly Lyons, secretary of the FBA, said that A. D. Boyd, owner of Boot Ranch and president of FBA, is not sure what to do with the USF neglected and forgotten mascot.

About a year ago, a student committee contacted Lyons and the FBA. They were investigating the purchase of a life size statue of a Brahman for the mall between the UC and the AD. The committee had a bronze statue in mind when they talked to Lyons.

Lyons and other FBA officers spearheaded an action by the FBA to help in this project. They suggested a less expensive fiberglass statue. The FBA offered to buy the mold if USF would pay for the statue, approximately $600. The bronze statue would have run in the thousands.

At about the time the FBA was ready to commit itself to this action, the student committee vanished, never to be heard from again.

There is one group on campus now showing interest in our mascot. The Circle K is working on a project to get a live bull on campus. This summer they plan to have a place to keep the bull.

Federal TV Isn't Wanted

By HAROLD STERN and JACK BOYLE

NEW YORK — Whatever the objections most viewers have to commercial network television, the vote is almost three to one against encouraging the government to enter broadcasting via UHF or any other way.

Fear was probably the most important single factor contributing to the lopsided totals.

Most of the votes against government entry into TV included such comments as "A very bad idea," "Terrible" or "One of the worst ideas I ever heard of."

Most also included some reference indicating a general distrust of the federal government's potential use of the medium. Most felt that the government has already invaded too many areas of American life.

THERE WERE non-specific statements that the entertainment field would suffer at the hands of bureaucracy. There was fear that once in television, the government would use the medium for propaganda purposes. There were statements that the government was already too deeply involved via the FCC.

There was fear that government entry into TV would lead to increased taxation to support this venture.

AMONG THE comments from those who did not share in this clear-cut victory for private enterprise was a recurrent theme. It was felt that government participation would mean better programming, no commercials and an increase in educational broadcasts. It was also felt that government competition would stimulate commercial television into providing better programs.

A surprisingly large number of viewers indicated familiarity with government participation in broadcasting in other countries, notably England, and approved of the results. They also noted that the taxes levied for this sort of government activity were infinitesimal.

AMONG THE viewers who weren't sure whether or not they wanted the government to get into television was the theme that it would be a good idea if the medium were not used for political purposes. On the other hand, a number of people suggested that it would be a fine idea to give the government its own channel if it were confined to political broadcasting to keep these from interfering with regularly scheduled programs.

Over 8,000 ballots were received, most of which carried comments over and above the mere vote.

THE TOTALS
"Do you think it would be a good or a bad idea for the federal government to enter TV broadcasting via UHF as a supplement to private broadcasting?"

ARE "SPECIALS" SPECIAL?

Today's questionnaire takes a look at "Specials." Despite the fact that specials have come in for much verbal abuse, many specials have lapped the field when it came to ratings. But, though vast numbers of people watch them, do they enjoy what they're watching? For today's ballot, each of the three networks was asked to submit its top five rated specials of the past season. We'd like to find out whether you saw them and, if you did, whether you enjoyed them.

It should be noted that NBC submitted its Election Night Coverage (which outrated both other networks) as one of its top specials, but it was decided not to include this since this fell into the area of news coverage.

Actress Robbed Of $51,000 In Jewelry

NEW YORK, May 10 (AP) — Actress Jayne Mansfield's East Side town house was robbed yesterday of $51,000 in jewelry, including an 18-carat diamond ring, police said.

The actress told police that the $22,000 ring and 13 other pieces of jewelry were taken from the first floor of her house at 52 E. 69th St. An open window was found on the ground floor, but the house had not been ransacked, police said.

Miss Mansfield noticed the loss when she returned with her husband, director Matt Cimber, at 7 p.m. The couple had been in Central Park with her children for two hours.

EAST HILLSBOROUGH

ALL URGED TO GET FACTS

Statement Issued On Phosphate Plant

By GARY BRADDOCK
Times Staff Writer

PLANT CITY — The East Hillsborough Chamber of Commerce and the Plant City Industrial Committee have urged all parties interested in the construction and location of a $15 million phosphoric complex southeast of Plant City to avail themselves of all the pertinent facts.

Some property owners and residents of the Hopewell community have mounted an opposition movement to the proposed Borden Chemical Co. development.

THOSE OBJECTING to the selected plant site 1½ miles from the State Road 60-39 intersection have charged the operation will cause excessive air pollution and have a detrimental effect on property values.

After a meeting with R. M. Wilbur, manager of Borden's Smith-Douglass division at Coronet, the statement quotes Wilbur as saying the latest and most efficient air pollution devices will be used in the new complex.

"I have no apprehension concerning the absolute effectiveness of the pollution controls designed to be used in this new plant," Wilbur said.

"WE HAVE LEARNED much concerning pollution control over the years, and would never condone any harmful activities to anyone or anything," he added.

Wilbur said every possible safety device to protect the plant's neighbors and their properties will be used.

During the meeting, Wilbur pointed out that new regulations of the Florida State Board of Health make it mandatory that no industry be allowed to release air contaminants which would be harmful or damaging.

THE INDUSTRIAL Committee and Chamber presidents, Robert Trinkle and Bill McClelland, reported they received further air control assurance from Walter Starnes, assistant director of the Polk-Hillsborough Air Pollution District.

Starnes said the district is responsible for examining and approving air pollution controls to determine and enforce the use of the latest scientific means of air control.

Preliminary plans submitted by Borden for the new plant meet requirements of the district at this stage, he said. Final approval will hinge on inspection of final plans he added.

Starnes said the district would continue inspection of air pollution control devices after the plant is completed.

City Fire Loss Surges Ahead Of 1964 Pace

PLANT CITY—The city's fire loss record this year surged ahead of the 1964 pace when $4,250 in damages were reported last month.

Fire Chief Bob Brown said this makes the 1965 loss stand at $14,600. During the first four months last year, $10,935 in fire loss was reported.

Through March, the comparable yearly records were running about even. Fire damage in April, 1964 amounted to $1,185.

Three house fires accounted for $4,250 of last month's total, with the remainder attributed to two car fires. The department answered 16 alarms during the month.
