a collection by standard or straight DDC. We have been using a modified Dewey for years (I believe we came up with this scheme in collaboration with the Indiana State Library back in the 1960s). While nothing is perfect, this scheme has been easily understood by our patrons, and can live-on long after any individual person has "moved on" from the collection.

I would be happy to send explanatory materials off-list to anyone who is interested. The scheme may or may not work for you and your collection, but again, it has worked relatively well for us.

Charlotte,
I am glad someone else has fought/is fighting this battle. My previous boss was insistent we use DDC but I was able to get permission (after the fact) for placing them by state/county numbers. Now that we are much larger I am attempting to find a way to move them to state/county alphabetical order with a very small staff. At this point I am almost ready to first label the tops of the books by state/county, and then see about getting local genealogy groups in to do a wholesale move. We will have to close for a few days and getting permission to do that will be a task indeed!*

This is a question for any of you who have worked with 'weeding' books and determining what is core library material.

Since I am the "history expert" in our library, one of my newer responsibilities, aside from the genealogical research and assistance, is determining what old book in the 900's are core collection and what is expendable.

I am trying to bring together a balanced outlook to history. Does anyone have any thoughts on whether the W.H. Wilson website (a tool) is fairly objective in its recommendations?

I know this is not specifically genealogical in nature, but I have used it for that as well.

Message-ID: <E8.CB.15653.FB41C2F4@pacmmta51>

Since I know many on this list still deal with microfilm--can anyone recommend an archival product and source for repairing torn microfilm? I've looked at Gaylord, Brodart, etc. at the various archival tapes and adhesives, but they all seem to be meant for books and paper. It would probably help if I knew exactly what I was looking for, but I'm having to be a self-taught archivist. :-)

I was able to get splicing tabs from a company that produces microfilm, they are very nice, just the width of a 35mm film with tabs for easy placement. I just called the company and asked. They also provided me with a roll of blank microfilm to use in replacing the leader film that easily gets worn out or damaged and can be replaced using blank film and the splicer tabs.

One note, I have seen regular tape used for repairs but I don't recommend it. I have never seen these tabs sold in library suppliers catalogs.

Our library does this in house. I have not seen our equipment but I know I send torn microfilm to that dept and they make any repair needed, on the spot and send right back to me. Perhaps other libraries do this as well?

Our library received a large donation from a man who worked in the Republican Party from the 1970s-2000s. He lived in Collin County. His donation includes signed photographs of Ronald Reagan, George Bush, Bill Clements, several movie stars, and other famous people. It also includes many political documents, invitations to fundraisers, etc. It includes posters, letters, autographed baseballs, medals won by the man when he was in college and high school, and more 4D items.

This collection goes beyond my knowledge of archives and what to do with them. I would like some help from someone who has worked with a donation like this. I have several questions for the person or persons. I would like to look at a collection development policy for a library or museum that would collect these kinds of things especially political items.

Please contact me at cheryls at plano.gov.

Hi Cheryl -

Our state library archives definitely deals with these kind of items - we were just talking today about a baseball from George W. Bush's records that had just been archived, along with a novelty pencil and a "Sorry I Missed Your Birthday" card from Harriet Miers!

Hi,

We are looking at handheld scanners with OCR software and were wondering if any of you out there might have some experience with what kind of scanner works best for scanning books? Some of the ones we have found are the LG Scanner Mouse LSM-100, the Ion Audio ISC12 Copy Cat Handheld Document Scanner, and the PS410 600 DPI Colour & Mono HandyScan Handheld scanner.

But if you have a handheld scanner that works well at copying the whole page of the book we would love to hear about it.

WHAT'S NEW IN RELIC

February 2012

The Ruth E. Lloyd Information Center for Genealogy and Local History (RELIC), Prince William Public Library System, Bull Run Regional Library, 8051 Ashton Avenue, Manassas, VA 20109. 703-792-4540 Email: relic2 at pwcgov.org.

To read the latest lists of new materials available in RELIC click on www.pwcgov.org/government/dept/library/RELIC/Pages/What%27s-New-in-RELIC.aspx.

Please note: Our County website has recently been redesigned, and all pages have new links.

New on our homepage (at the bottom of the page) is a nine-minute promotional video that was made about our department a few years ago. On it you'll meet our staff and some of our customers. You can get to RELIC at www.pwcgov.org/government/dept/library/RELIC.

Our magazine, Prince William Reliquary, is now at www.pwcgov.org/government/dept/library/RELIC/Pages/Prince-William-Reliquary.aspx.

RELIC PROGRAMS

Here are our latest offerings. Funding for RELIC programs is provided by the Friends of Central and Bull Run Libraries. Sign language interpretation is available for Prince William Public Library programs if requested at least three weeks in advance. To be notified of upcoming programs and new resources in RELIC, visit http://eservice.pwcgov.org/eServices/eNotifications/subscribe.asp and select Library - What's New in RELIC. All these programs will take place at the community room at Bull Run Regional Library, 8051 Ashton Avenue, Manassas, VA. Most programs last about one hour. You may register for any of these programs at 703-792-4540 or relic2 at pwcgov.org.
February 9, 11 am - Researching in the 1940 U.S. Federal Census, with Tish Como; repeated February 28, 7 pm.

April 19, 11 am - Resources of the Library of Virginia, presented by the Library's staff.

April 21, 10 am-5 pm - Civil War 150 Legacy Project. See www.virginiacivilwar.org/legacy/index.php for details.

"Genealogy Doctor": free counseling (contact us for an appointment).

RESEARCHING IN THE 1940
U.S. FEDERAL CENSUS

Presented by Tish Como

The 1940 U.S. Federal Census will be released to the public on April 2, 2012 on the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) website. Both Ancestry.com and FamilySearch.org will then begin to prepare an every name index to the Population Schedules, but this will take many months.

RELIC's Tish Como will suggest steps you can take to search this essential genealogical resource as soon as it becomes available. This program will be presented at Bull Run Regional Library, Thursday February 9, at 11 a.m. and will be repeated on Tuesday, February 28, at 7 p.m.

To reserve a seat for this free program, contact RELIC at (703) 792-4540 or at relic2 at pwcgov.org.

Understanding and Using Colonial Court Records

Presented by Don Wilson

For the Colonial period of American history, between 1607 and 1776, many of the popular tools for ancestor hunters do not exist: U.S. census records do not begin until 1790. Official birth, marriage and death records are virtually unknown. Tombstones and newspaper personal notices are very rare. In this setting court records take on an especially important role. Courts and their records were here from the beginnings of local government, recording the daily lives of our citizens, including land ownership, lawsuits, and probate of estates. An understanding of the format, language and content of these records is essential for successful research in early American genealogy.

RELIC's Don Wilson will present a workshop on Understanding and Using Colonial Court Records at Bull Run Regional Library on Thursday, March 8, at 11 a.m. The program will last about 1.5 hours, and will be repeated on Tuesday, March 27, at 7 p.m.

To reserve a seat for this free program, contact RELIC at (703) 792-4540 or at relic2 at pwcgov.org.

"Genealogy Doctor" Accepting Appointments for Research Help

Don Wilson, head of RELIC (the Ruth E. Lloyd Information Center for genealogy and local history at Bull Run Regional Library), sets aside time each month for free private sessions to mentor persons researching their family history. A thirty-minute session can be used to discuss and analyze an historical or genealogical problem that has stumped you.

Daytime and evening hours are possible. To set up an appointment, please call RELIC at 703-792-4540 or email relic2 at pwcgov.org. Bull Run Regional Library is located at 8051 Ashton Avenue, Manassas, VA 20109.

Have a question about Prince William County history, places or families? Need guidance with your genealogical research? You may contact RELIC staff for help and advice at Ask RELIC <http://www.pwcgov.org/default.aspx?topic=040034001840001757> or by calling us at 703-792-4540. Hours, September-June (ET): Monday-Thursday 10am-9pm, Friday-Saturday 10am-5pm, Sunday noon-5pm. Closed Federal holidays (including Mon. Jan. 16).

FYI:

March 2, 2012, Genealogy, Local History, Texana, and Archives of the Plano Public Library System will sponsor a Lock-in from 6-11pm. Genealogists will have the library to themselves for the evening. We will begin the evening with a Welcome at 6pm. Then you can head off to 4 different classes, meet different heritage groups or the librarian from McKinney Public Library, have one-on-one assistance, use the computers, use the microfilm, or wonder around in the genealogy books from 6:30-8 pm.

At 8 pm, we will provide snacks at a break or you can continue to research or meet with the different groups. Then at 9 pm, we will provide 3 more classes. You can choose to attend them or continue with your research.
The classes will include FamilySearch.org, Legacy software, Immigration Research, Collin County Genealogy Corner, DNA and genealogy, Newspaper Research, and National Archives. We will also have demonstrations of the Civil War Database. The heritage groups that will be represented include DAR-Daughters of American Revolution, SAR-Sons of American Revolution, DRT-Daughters of Republic of Texas, War of 1812 Society, Mayflower Society, Scots of America, SUVCW-Sons of Union Veterans of Civil War, Collin County Genealogical Society, and Genealogy Friends of Plano Libraries Inc. The genealogy librarian from McKinney Public Library will also be here to tell you what her library offers.

We will also have a few door prizes. Registration will be required. We only have room for 50 people. Registration will begin February 2nd on the library webpage, www.planolibrary.gov. Watch for the banner advertising the program. It will send you to the link.

Hi Cheryl and any other librarians hosting Lock-ins,

I'll contact you off-list, but wanted to mention to everyone that I am willing to offer giveaway annual subscriptions to my database service for these types of events, and would even be willing to provide free access from your library during the Lock-in.

March 2, 2012, Genealogy, Local History, Texana, and Archives of the Plano Public Library System will sponsor a Lock-in from 6-11pm. Genealogists will have the library to themselves for the evening. We will begin the evening with a Welcome at 6pm. Then you can head off to 4 different classes, meet different heritage groups or the librarian from McKinney Public Library, have one-on-one assistance, use the computers, use the microfilm, or wonder around in the genealogy books from 6:30-8 pm.

We just completed a month of Genealogy classes at the Cedar Falls (IA) Public Library and we will be planning the 2013 sessions in a few months. We scheduled one afternoon (Monday, 1 - 3 p.m.) of each week. This is the third year for us and the number of attendees keeps increasing.

The computer classes offered at the library during the month of January featured online access to Ancestry.com, Heritage, Quest, Newspaper Archives, etc.

We had great attendance this year as the weather cooperated. The Beginning Genealogy class had 61 members. Many of them repeated during the following 4 weeks. We had an Independent work session the last week so people could practice what they had learned with their own family research.

It is great to hear of what other libraries are offering.

Good Afternoon Everyone,

Our library would like to review the costs and functionality of scanners suitable for digitizing some of our records. For example, we have several tax ledgers with 14 x 17 dimensions. Do any of you recommend a specific type of scanner with scanning dimensions larger than the typical "at home" scanner? Thank you very much for your time.

Not sure about 14 x 17, but the Epson Expression 10000XL will do 12 x 17:

<http://www.epson.com/cgi-bin/Store/jsp/Product.do?BV_UseBVCookie=yes&sku=E10000XL-PM>

Having used its ancestor the 1640XL for the last 10 years, I recommended the newer model to our historical society last year - they ended up buying two.

Erica,

We have a Conflex flex 50i scanner.

I can share some information with you re: this large (18x24) flatbed scanner our library purchased for Local History a couple of years ago.
If you want to contact me, then I can share pros and cons about it and try to answer any questions you might have. Since I am not the main person who operates this I may have to defer to my assistant on some things. She has worked with it quite a bit.

A book-edge scanner would be nice too. Plustek makes one that will scan to A4 (210 \ by 297 mm) and Avision has one which will do A3 (11.8 x 17). No experience with these, just went fishing for a book-friendly scanner to request.

Good Afternoon Everyone,

Our library would like to review the costs and functionality of scanners suitable for digitizing some of our records. For example, we have several tax ledgers with 14 x 17 dimensions. Do any of you recommend a specific type of scanner with scanning dimensions larger than the typical "at home" scanner? Thank you very much for your time.

Jill:

We have been a Family History Center since 1997. It is huge benefit to my patrons and as I always tell them "You can access the world!"

The new setup is so easy and we have none of the paperwork or money issues we had before. We check in, check out and return the film in a postage free box. The patron does all the ordering and paying up front.

You keep track of when it should be returned and there is an online management system for you to see what orders are in process.

The time spent is less than the time I spend on interlibrary loan.

I just went to the website and discovered the prices have increased significantly. It is still a bargain.

Due to the increase in the price of raw microfilm stock and the decreasing availability of this product on the market, it has become necessary for FamilySearch to increase the price of film loans in family history centers. As of 15 February 2012 the following prices will be in effect for film loans in the United States and Canada:

Short-term Film Loan                  $7.50
Short-term Film Loan Extension   $7.50
Extended Film Loan                     $18.75
Microfiche Loan                           $4.75

It's much easier now that our library does not have to get involved with either money transactions or ordering. We do stress to patrons that determining the time to return microfilm is strictly up to them. We spend very little time processing films and have had much more patron response than we did before. Our patrons are quite pleased with this service.

I echo what the others have said. With the new management software called Magento and the customers ordering their own film, we spend less time helping customers with the LDS microfilm loans than before these changes.

Hello Everyone,

I've made some significant improvements to the genealogy service that I offer to libraries and genealogical societies. You can read an introduction to the service, which I've named OPA (for On-Premise Access), at http://goo.gl/vhIIx (or http://data.genealogytoday.com/opa/OPA-from-Genealogy-Today.pdf ).

In the past two months, I've released some major enhancements to GenealogyToday.com, including a new home page and improved (totally re-written) surname search engine. I'm getting terrific feedback, especially from genealogists who are having better success with the improved search. And, of course, I continue to publish new transcribed information just about every week!

If you haven't visited GenealogyToday.com recently, please stop by, take a look around and consider introducing your patrons to my service by taking advantage of the free trial mentioned in the introduction letter.
If you have questions or comments, please contact me off-list at editor at genealogytoday.com

Regards,
- illya

We have been a Family History Affiliate for only a few months, but I agree. Especially now that they've gone to online ordering, there is basically no paperwork, and I spend very little time on it. Most of the time that I do spend is because I keep track of a few things in a spreadsheet just for our statistics (how many films ordered per month, etc.), and I keep an updated list of the films we have currently available for patrons to browse. We don't have as many patrons using it as I'd like (and I hope the rise in prices doesn't discourage them), but those who do love it. I'm also an interlibrary loan librarian, and I love being able to suggest FamilySearch films as a solution for getting some of those genealogy books that no library will loan.

The new setup is so easy and we have none of the paperwork or money issues we had before. We check in, check out and return the film in a postage free box. The patron does all the ordering and paying up front.

You keep track of when it should be returned and there is an online management system for you to see what orders are in process.

The time spent is less than the time I spend on interlibrary loan.

I discovered this a few days ago by chance, from another mailing list--it wasn't on the website yet. When I investigated, it seems that LDS church-affiliated Family History Center directors were sent an e-mail notice about the projected increase, but we have not received any notice so far (we are an Affiliate Library). I am curious as to whether any other Affiliate Library has been sent a notice? It's certainly nice to have a little warning so that we can let patrons know.

A colleague, Amy Barr, at the Graham NC public library has received a family Bible with genealogical information concerning, primarily, the Piper family. The family was apparently from New England/Massachusetts. We can find no connections for this family in North Carolina and she wants to get the Bible and its information to a repository that offers information free to the public.

Before I retired from Rochester last summer, I dealt with Rod Schultz (as noted elsewhere), and the process was very easy. By the time I left the online ordering and payment was in place. I am copied in on the orders and it seems very popular and very helpful to those who cannot get to the church centers especially because of transportation issues. As well, there is more and more online there at Familysearch, and the patrons seem to like that a lot too. It's definitely worth it for a library to get involved.

The $7.50 film loan extension gets you an additional 60 days. The $18.75 means the film never has to go back. You can either order a film for that to begin with, or after you have ordered it as a short-term loan, you can pay the $18.50 to keep it.
Before online ordering, you paid $5.50 initially, another $5.50 to keep it another month and a half, and then if you renewed a third time for $5.50 again, it was permanent (making a total price of $16.50). When they went to online ordering they changed it to the arrangement I mentioned above, except that the price was (or is, until Feb. 15---order now!) $5.50 and $13.75 for permanent loans.

If it becomes a "permanent loan" does the library keep it? Or the patron?

What does the borrower get for the "extended film loan" price? And the $7.50 "film loan extension" would be another month's renewal??

Martha, we are Directors of a Family History Center here in Colorado and we received notice last week of the increase. As an affiliate, do you get direct notices from Salt Lake. There has been one on the 1940 census that we received that would be good to get.

I discovered this a few days ago by chance, from another mailing list--it wasn't on the website yet. When I investigated, it seems that LDS church-affiliated Family History Center directors were sent an e-mail notice about the projected increase, but we have not received any notice so far (we are an Affiliate Library). I am curious as to whether any other Affiliate Library has been sent a notice? It's certainly nice to have a little warning so that we can let patrons know.

I just went to the website and discovered the prices have increased significantly. It is still a bargain.

Due to the increase in the price of raw microfilm stock and the decreasing availability of this product on the market, it has become necessary for FamilySearch to increase the price of film loans in family history centers. As of 15 February 2012 the following prices will be in effect for film loans in the United States and Canada:

- Short-term Film Loan: $7.50
- Short-term Film Loan Extension: $7.50
- Extended Film Loan: $18.75
- Microfiche Loan: $4.75

I am interested in hearing from public libraries who are LDS Family History Affiliate libraries. We are considering but I’m wondering how much use you get and how much staff time this takes up. Any other comments would be welcome as well.

Hello,

Back in December there was a flurry of discussion about the removal of the SSDI from Rootsweb, and some background from various blog posts. Genealogical sites were strong armed even though such sites are only 1% of the purchasers of the SSDI.

Four bills pending in the US Congress would remove the SSDI (Death Master File) from public access on the premise that it facilitates Identity Fraud on tax returns. However, the public access to the SSDI stems from a 1980 court ruling that it prevents Identity Fraud.

The core problem with the IRS is that they do not use this resource to screen fraudulent claims, as well as other processing errors within the SSA.

Two states are particularly critical in the process of correcting the misguided legislation, Texas and Florida.

Three Texas Congressmen were on a Feb 2 Ways and Means Subcommittee.

Three of the pending bills to close the SSDI originated in Florida.

The Records Preservation and Access Committee has created a Call to Action kit.

http://www.fgs.org/rpac/ssdi-call-to-action-kit/

Please consider ways that may be available to provide this information to your patrons.

This affects everyone not just genealogists.

Hi

I have been following the thread about public libraries being an affiliate of a Family History Center. My question is we have a FHC within 15 minutes of our branch library where I work. Would LDS permit us to be an affiliate library with a FHC so close?

We are within 15 minutes and close to Dallas Public (affiliate library) and they would not let us. We have asked them 3 different times over the years and still are denied. I think it will depend on the area your library is in. Dallas/Fort Worth metroplex has many Family History Centers and a few affiliate libraries. That is their reasoning why we have been denied.

I just wanted to let everyone know that Kenneth Weant, who has published so many newspaper indices for counties in Missouri, has graciously made his books available at www.gonewestpub.com. It's quite an extensive collection covering counties from every corner of the State. And more have yet to be added! If you're looking to expand your collection, I think you'll find that it's a great resource!

We are about 10 minutes from one Family History Center (a small one) and about 3-4 miles from another one. We have been an affiliate for several years. The advantage for users is that we are open more hours.

On that page it appears that "wf" stands for wife and "ot" stands for some Other relationship to the head of household.

I looked over a few pages. Looks to me like someone possibly was gathering statistics on married people or household makeup. The Head and Wife were identified, then other married couples within the household were identified as "NH" for the man ("nominal head" maybe?) and that man's wife indicated. Widows, widowers and married persons without spouses in the same household were marked "X-ot," with maybe the "ot" indicating "other relationship." The first daughter listed in the household of a widowed man was marked also, perhaps with something that meant functioning as female head of household in place of the wife.

In West Virginia we have a couple of census years where studies of different types were done in the coal mining counties, and the original census pages are quite marked up. One, for instance, counted all the men and boys (14 or 16? or older) who did and did not work in the mines for a major federal study. We know what the study was and have copies of the federal report.
You could investigate state and federal studies done for Pennsylvania for 1910+ and see if any correlate with the categories marked on the census pages.

Each library has to make their case with Family Search. We have a small Family History Center in the LDS Church in our city (only a few minutes away), but they have very few volunteers and extremely limited hours. We applied and demonstrated that we could provide service many more hours and have qualified reference librarians on staff all hours we are open, plus two reader/printers in our genealogy department and locked storage for the films. We were granted Affiliate status, and we get extensive use of the films.

Librarians Day for the 2012 Federation of Genealogical Societies Conference in Birmingham, Alabama is Wednesday, August 29, 2012. It will be held at the Sheraton Birmingham hotel (2101 Richard Arrington Jr. Boulevard North, Birmingham, AL 35203). It is designed for librarians, archivists, and other information professionals working with genealogists. Registration for the event is $10 and includes lunch provided by ProQuest, the event's sponsor. The keynote speaker is Dr. Edwin C. Bridges, director of the Alabama Department of Archives and History.

Presenters include Amy Johnson Crow, CG, MLS, Genealogical Content Manager for Archives.com, who will be addressing the importance of your genealogical collection's website and Curt Witcher, MLS, Director of the Genealogy Center at Allen County Public Library, Ft. Wayne, Indiana, who will be presenting "Sources and Resources: Mining the Gold from Genealogical & Historical Serials." There will also be a panel discussion featuring Laura Caldwell Anderson, Archivist for the Birmingham Civil Rights Institute, Jim Baggett, Head of the Department of Archives and Manuscripts for Birmingham Public Library, and Elizabeth Crabtree Wells, Special Collections Librarian and Archivist at Samford University. To register for Librarians Day, visit http://www.fgs.org/2012conference. Click on "Registration" and "register for Librarian's Day." Librarians are also invited to register for the entire conference. This will work only with those cities with city directories or the researcher already has the address from another source. I am going to experiment with Steve Morse's Unified 1940 Census ED Finder on his How to Access the 1940 Census in One Step page at http://stevemorse.org/census/quiz.php. This will give me the Enumeration District (ED) in which they lived. From there I will have to search the pages within that ED to find my ancestors.

Full, Free Access Is Coming!

1940 United States Federal Census

On April 2, 2012, NARA will provide access to the images of the 1940 United States Federal Census for the first time. Unlike previous census years, images of the 1940 U.S. Federal Census will be made available as free digital images. BUT NOT indexed.

Upon its release, FamilySearch.org and its partners will coordinate efforts to provide quick access to these digital images and immediately start indexing these records to make them searchable online for free and open access.

I have already done what Sharen says she is going to do. I went on Steve Morse 1940 census site and was able to print a map of our entire county that shows enumeration districts. Most of the twps in our county did not and still do not have cities. In 1940 we had 3 cities. I also printed on ledger paper the maps for those cities. I was able to supply street names and ED's for the two smaller cities and emailed these to Joel Weintraub who is working with Steve Morse to make abstracting the 1940 census as easy as possible.

For Jefferson County Ohio, I have finding aids for all 3 of the cities for 1940. Plus I have the county map on ledger paper as well. For any patrons seeking people in Steubenville but don't know what street they lived on, I have access to the 1940 Steubenville City Directory. We can search for the name of the person, find the street they lived on, then go to the finding aid I have and discover the ED. THEN we can go to the census and should be able to locate the person. These aids will be invaluable, at least until the census is completely indexed. I have emailed my list of finding aids to Joel and he has added them to Steve's site. They need as much assistance as possible from anyone who wants to help. Joel and Steve are very easy to contact and work with. Please consider either helping them to index the census after April 2 or in other ways such as making finding aids for your area.

Has anyone developed a procedure for searching the 1940 Census that can be used by the novice researcher on-line?

If so, would you share it?
The Dec 2011 edition of the APG Quarterly has an excellent write-up of Steve Morse's finder and the 1940 census in general (pages 238-246).

The article is by Steve. I'm not sure who holds the copyright - APG or Steve. If there is enough interest among the genealogy librarian community, I can find out the copyright issue and see about obtaining permission for reproduction for in-library use (and/or get Steve to post it on his website).

Full, Free Access Is Coming!

1940 United States Federal Census

On April 2, 2012, NARA will provide access to the images of the 1940 United States Federal Census for the first time. Unlike previous census years, images of the 1940 U.S. Federal Census will be made available as free digital images. BUT NOT indexed.

Upon its release, FamilySearch.org and its partners will coordinate efforts to provide quick access to these digital images and immediately start indexing these records to make them searchable online for free and open access.

We Want You!

http://the1940census.com/

Help Index the 1940 U.S. Federal Census.
https://familysearch.org/1940Census
This will work only with those cities with city directories or the researcher already has the address from another source. I am going to experiment with Steve Morse's Unified 1940 Census ED Finder on his How to Access the 1940 Census in One Step page at http://stevemorse.org/census/quiz.php. This will give me the Enumeration District (ED) in which they lived. From there I will have to search the pages within that ED to find my ancestors.

The best site I've come across for preparing for the 1940 census is from the National Archives:
http://www.archives.gov/research/census/1940/
The "how to prepare" page is probably the best to start:

I have already done what Sharen says she is going to do. I went on Steve Morse 1940 census site and was able to print a map of our entire county that shows enumeration districts. Most of the twps in our county did not and still do not have cities. In 1940 we had 3 cities. I also printed on ledger paper the maps for those cities. I was able to supply street names and ED's for the two smaller cities and emailed these to Joel Weintraub who is working with Steve Morse to make abstracting the 1940 census as easy as possible.

For Jefferson County Ohio, I have finding aids for all 3 of the cities for 1940. Plus I have the county map on ledger paper as well. We don't. Our online images are lower-resolution jpg images; we sell high-resolution images at various prices depending what the use will be: educational or non-profit is usually free or nominal; use in documentaries, published books, and hotel decoration (yes, we have had that kind of request!) costs more. We also ask to be credited. Here is our copyright statement:

Please excuse the extreme retro feel of most of our digital collection site. I'm dying to get it redone (most of it dates back to the late 1990s), but we don't really have the budget/staff.
