Hello,

A patron came in tonight in search of a book he heard about in a history class 10 years ago.? I understand that much of what he knows about the book may be unreliable but I thought I would take advantage of the collected wisdom of genealogy librarians and ask you about it.? The patron said the book was written by a French woman who researched her family's history in a village?during World War II.? The book focuses on the facts she found but especially?on the impact these facts had on her family.? What she found is that some family members were part of the Resistance while others were collaborators.? Many people in her family were upset about what she found.? The book may have been published in the 1990s.? Any help you can offer would be most appreciated.

Thank you.

My first thought was that it was probably fiction but based on her family history. On that assumption I started doing some looking. I don't think I was successful because all of these ideas require that your patron remembered several details wrong. But even if none of these are the right book your patron or genealib readers may be interested in these books because they are all great :):

Sarah's Key by Tatiana de Rosnay (not the author's actual family depicted but that is the premise of the book, that it is the main characters family - also published in 2008 not 10 years ago)

De Rosnay's U.S. debut fictionalizes the 1942 Paris roundups and deportations, in which thousands of Jewish families were arrested, held at the Vélodrome d'Hiver outside the city, then transported to Auschwitz. Forty-five-year-old Julia Jarmond, American by birth, moved to Paris when she was 20 and is married to the arrogant, unfaithful Bertrand Tzac, with whom she has an 11-year-old daughter. Julia writes for an American magazine and her editor assigns her to cover the 60th anniversary of the Vélodrome d'Hiver roundups. Julia soon learns that the apartment she and Bertrand plan to move into was acquired by Bertrand's family when its Jewish occupants were dispossessed and deported 60 years before. She resolves to find out what happened to the former occupants: Wladyslaw and Rywka Starzynski, parents of 10-year-old Sarah and four-year-old Michel. The more Julia discovers-especially about Sarah, the only member of the Starzynski family to survive-the more she uncovers about Bertrand's family, about France and, finally, herself. Already translated into 15 languages, the novel is De Rosnay's 10th (but her first written in English, her first language). It beautifully conveys Julia's conflicting loyalties, and makes Sarah's trials so riveting, her innocence so absorbing, that the book is hard to put down.

Invisible Bridge by Julie Orringer (this is based on the authors actual family who were Jews from Hungary living in France before and during WWII - don't think there are any collaborators in her family, published 2010)

Even if this weren't her first novel, Julie Orringer's Invisible Bridge would be a marvelous achievement. Orringer possesses a rare talent that makes a 600-page story--which, we know, must descend into war and genocide--feel rivetingly readable, even at its grimmest. Building vivid worlds in effortless phrases, she immerses us in 1930s Budapest just as a young Hungarian Jew, Andras L'vi, departs for the École Spéciale d'Architecture in Paris. He hones his talent for design, works backstage in a theater, and allies with other Jewish students in defiance of rising Nazi influence. And then he meets Klara, a captivating Hungarian ballet instructor nine years his senior with a painful past and a willful teenage daughter. Against Klara's better judgment, love engulfs them, drowning out the rumblings of war for a time. But inevitably, Nazi aggression drives them back to Hungary, where life for the Jews goes from hardship to horror.

Suite Française by Irene Nemirovsky (written by a French Jew who died in Auschwitz but only recently published- 2007, based on her own experiences in the early phases of the war)

Beginning in Paris on the eve of the Nazi occupation in 1940. Suite Française tells the remarkable story of men and women thrown together in circumstances beyond their control. As Parisians flee the city, human folly surfaces in every imaginable way: a wealthy mother searches for sweets in a town without food; a couple is terrified at the thought of losing their jobs, even as their world begins to fall apart. Moving on to a provincial village now occupied by German soldiers, the locals must learn to coexist with the enemy-in their town, their homes, even in their hearts. When Irène Némirovsky began working on Suite Française, she was already a highly successful writer living in Paris. But she was also a Jew, and in 1942 she was arrested and deported to Auschwitz, where she died. For sixty-four years, this novel remained hidden and unknown.

Touch Wood: A Girlhood in Occupied France by Renee Roth-Hano (a children's book but good one and based on the author's childhood remembrances- published 1989) Grade 6-9 Roth-Hano recreates her girlhood experiences and impressions as a Jewish child in France during World War II. Written in a present-tense diary style, the story traces the family from the summer of 1940 after the German invasion has forced them to leave their home in Alsace; through a prolonged separation in which Renee and her two younger sisters are sent to live in a home managed by Catholic nuns; through the confusion and disruption of the eagerly awaited allied invasion; and ends with the family's reunion in Paris. While parts of Roth-Hano's story are familiar elements of many personal narratives of Holocaust experiences, they are, at the same time, very fresh and individual. As she and her family realize that Paris is not a sanctuary from the Nazis, she rails against the injustice she sees and is outraged and confused by the French betrayal of the Jews. Although the diary format sometimes makes the narrative jumpy, it is effective in involving readers and making the events seem immediate. The portrayal of Renee's emotions from petty jealousy to profound outrage rings true. Readers of Aranka Siegal's Upon the Head of a Goat (Farrar, 1981) and Clara Isaacman's Clara's Story (Jewish Pub. Soc, 1984) will have their point of view broadened by Touch Wood, which offers a French perspective. Many memorable stories have come out of the Holocaust. Touch Wood should earn a place among them. Louise L. Sherman, Anna C. Scott School, Leonia, N.J.

So some recommended reading for you,

Hello All:

Does anyone know when Ancestry Library Edition added the Public Member Trees? I was very surprised to be helping a customer today and have this pop up. It even gives the option of adding comments. The customer wondered how the person who owned the tree would know how to get ahold of if you added a comment since you don't login like the personal subscription. I suggested adding his email.

I looked on the Proquest site and all the training documentation still says that ALE DOES NOT have the Public Member Trees. I'm wondering if they send out notices of these types of updates and I'm just out of the loop.

Thanks,

Subject: [Genealib] ALE Public Trees

Hello All:

Does anyone know when Ancestry Library Edition added the Public Member

Trees? I was very surprised to be helping a customer today and have this pop up. It even gives the option of adding comments. The customer wondered how the person who owned the tree would know how to get ahold of if you added a comment since you don't login like the personal subscription. I suggested adding his email.

I looked on the Proquest site and all the training documentation still says that ALE DOES NOT have the Public Member Trees. I'm wondering if they send out notices of these types of updates and I'm just out of the loop.

Thanks,

To All,

The Public Trees in Ancestry Library Edition were announced at ALA Midwinter. At the time of the announcement, we didn't know what the exact release date would be. The release occurred on January 28. We're currently updating the product information and training materials. Please note that these are read-only trees. Library users can submit anonymous comments, but cannot make updates to the trees or upload new data. Personalized tools and features, such as the shaky leaves, are not available in the Library Edition.

Also recently added is same city directory collection that's currently found on Ancestry.com. This has been a popular request and Ancestry is pleased to now offer the collection in the Library Edition. This includes the Gale city directories, as well as directories from many other sources.

Hello All:

Does anyone know when Ancestry Library Edition added the Public Member Trees? I was very surprised to be helping a customer today and have this pop up. It even gives the option of adding comments. The customer wondered how the person who owned the tree would know how to get ahold of if you added a comment since you don't login like the personal subscription. I suggested adding his email.

I looked on the Proquest site and all the training documentation still says that ALE DOES NOT have the Public Member Trees. I'm wondering if they send out notices of these types of updates and I'm just out of the loop.

Thanks,

I've often wondered if updates were made to ALE at the same time as Ancestry.com. So if I see something new added to Ancestry.com at home, it's not necessarily added to ALE...or at least not necessarily at the same time. Would that be an accurate statement?

Thanks!

To All,

The Public Trees in Ancestry Library Edition were announced at ALA Midwinter. At the time of the announcement, we didn't know what the exact release date would be. The release occurred on January 28. We're currently updating the product information and training materials. Please note that these are read-only trees. Library users can submit anonymous comments, but cannot make updates to the trees or upload new data. Personalized tools and features, such as the shaky leaves, are not available in the Library Edition.

Also recently added is same city directory collection that's currently found on Ancestry.com. This has been a popular request and Ancestry is pleased to now offer the collection in the Library Edition. This includes the Gale city directories, as well as directories from many other sources.

I am a retired gen librarian. I have an Ancestry subscription and a public tree. Ancestry did not allow public trees (as far as I know) until the past year or so to be available on the Library edition. When I retired in 2009 my patrons could not access that database.

You will need to check further on this I am sure.

RUSA's online course "Introduction to Spatial Literacy and Online Mapping" begins next Monday! Registration closes at 5pm Central Time this Friday, Feb. 8.

This course runs Feb. 11-Mar. 3, and is completely asynchronous; there are no scheduled meeting times.

Through podcasts and hands-on assignments, participants in "Introduction to Spatial Literacy and Online Mapping" will explore uses for geographic information systems (GIS) technology within organizations and also its social uses beyond simple cartography. The course also covers the how-to of online mapping tools such as Google Earth, ArcExplorer, Scribble Maps and Google Maps.

The course content is especially relevant for public or reference librarians who want to organize information in a visual or geographic way to benefit the work of the library, to make information available to the community or any number of needs.

Get more information about this course:

Message-ID:

<1046526020.1170609.1360254865124.JavaMail.root@md18.quartz.synacor.com>

Good morning:

I just wanted to refresh your memory about this upcoming event for librarians.? Librarian's Day is hosted by ProQuest and the National Genealogical Society to promote education and network for librarian's serving the genealogical community.? Seating is limited to 100 so do not leave this to the last minute to register for this great day!

The URL for Librarian's Day and/or the full conference registration can be found at http://www.ngsgenealogy.org/cs/librarians\_day . The conference audience includes librarians, archivists, students, vendors, professional researchers, bloggers and historians, to name a few.

Conference Dates:

? ?????? NGS Annual Conference is 8-11 May 2013

? ?????? NGS Librarians' Day is Tuesday, 7 May 2013

Location:

? ?????? LVH-Las Vegas Hotel & Casino, 3000 Paradise Road, Las Vegas, NV 89109

Network Opportunities:

Opportunities exist to network with many other librarians and archivists at the NGS Annual Conference. ? Here's just a sampling of librarians and archivists who will be speaking during the main conference:

1. Kerry Bartels is an archives specialist at NARA Pacific Region (Riverside) in southern California. He has many years of experience as an archivist and genealogist.

2. Pamela J. Cooper, national speaker, Florida State Genealogical Society president, and Filby Award recipient; heads the genealogy department at Indian River County Library, Vero Beach, Florida.

3. Jennifer Crowder Daugherty, MLS, manager of local and state history at Cumberland County Public Library, North Carolina; chairs the ALA Genealogical Publishing Company Award Committee.

4. G. David Dilts, AG, senior reference consultant in US reference at the Family History Library, has served ICAPGen and the Utah Genealogical Association.

5. Joan E. Healey, AG, accredited in Midwestern States research, is a research consultant at the Family History Library.

6. Jean Wilcox Hibben, PhD, CG, national speaker, author, APG board member, and director of the Corona, California, FamilySearch Center; has a PhD in folklore and an MA in speech communication.

7. James K. Jeffrey, collection specialist in genealogy, Denver Public Library, is past president of Colorado Council of Genealogical Societies and the Society of Rocky Mountain Archivists.

8. Ahmed Johnson, African American genealogy specialist at the Local History and Genealogy Reading Room, Library of Congress; lectures at national, state, and local conferences.?

9. Jeff Kintop is the state archivist at the Nevada State Library and Archives and has spent thirty years working with Nevada historical sources.

10. Dawne Slater-Putt, CG, reference librarian at the Genealogy Center of the Allen County Public Library, is recording secretary for the Board for Certification of Genealogists.

11. James Sweany, twenty-year veteran of the Library of Congress, developed the Library's Native American genealogical resources and heads the Local History and Genealogy Reading Room.

12. Beth Taylor, CG, research consultant in the US/Canada unit at the Family History Library, has a BA in history.

13. Linda Turner-Gulbrandsen, AG, professional researcher and lecturer, is manager of the US/Canada research consultant services unit for the Family History Library.

14. Curt Witcher, MLS, FUGA, IGSF, manager at the Genealogy Center of the Allen County Public Library, is a former president of the Federation of Genealogical Societies and the National Genealogical Society, and founding president of the Indiana Genealogical Society.

15. D. Joshua Taylor, MLS, North American business development manager for brightsolid and findmypast.com, and is the incoming president of the Federation of Genealogical Societies.

16. Kory Meyerink, MLS, AG, FUGA, professional genealogist, formerly with the Family History Library, co-founded ProGenealogists, editor of Printed Sources , and is adjunct professor at Brigham Young University and San Jose State University, California.

Educational Growth:

? ?????? The four-day conference offers more than 150 lectures on researching people and places of the West, migration to and from the West, law, military records, immigration, methodology, academic history, family history writing, BCG Skillbuilding, African American and other ethnic research, technological innovation in genealogy (GenTech), plus much more.

? ?????? Vendors are packing the exhibit hall. ? Come and visit with some of the leaders in the industry that will be exhibiting. ? See what your patrons are using to do their genealogical research. ?

o ?? The vendor hall has some of the popular vendors already on board such as Ancestry.com, Archives.com, e-ImageData Corp, E-Z Photo Scan, FamilySearch.org, FindMyPast, Fold3, Movaco and ST Imaging, to name a few.

o ?? Booksellers and magazine publishers will be represented.

o ?? Societies from across the country will be there as well.

o ?? Educational opportunities ? Boston University will have a booth if librarians or patrons would like to expand their education. ? Also, certification groups will be there to explain the steps needed to become a professional researcher and/or just expand your working knowledge.

o ?? One of the best kept secrets about the exhibit hall? ? It is a great place to network with genealogists, vendors and speakers!

Costs:

o ?? Librarian's Day is free and includes lunch . ? Seating is limited to 90 participants, so you will need to register.

o ?? Full conference registration opens up early December 2012, with early bird registration ending on 19 March 2013. ? The full registration for over 150 talks is just $195!

o ?? Meal cost (breakfast, lunches and banquet) range from $24.00 to $51.00 (banquet).

o ?? Meals are served ? in the hotel, vendor area (hot dog type) and local restaurants.

o ?? Tours are separate cost ranging from $74.00 for the Hoover Dam to $58.00 for Night Tour. ? There is also a Museums Tour priced at $48.00.

o ?? Registration is now opened at http://www.ngsgenealogy.org/cs/attendee\_registration .

o ?? Librarians' Day is now open at http://www.ngsgenealogy.org/cs/librarians\_day .

o ?? Need to save money? ? There is even ?looking for a roommate? site.

o ?? Tips can be found on the NGS Blog can be linked to from the conference site of NGS. ? The blog will keep you connected with tours and other fun stuff to do while in the city. ?

Please share this information with librarians in your state. ? The educational benefit and the networking make this national conference a must-attend in 2013. ? If you have any additional questions I can be reached at Ancestry.com at 801-705-7892 or by e-mail of kharrison at ancestry.com . ? Thank you for your help in spreading the word about this great event.

I look forward to seeing you in Las Vegas!

Recently I came across a very interesting article in a local paper from 1905:

Daily Herald - 7 July 1905

TRACING A LOST DAUGHTER

After Years of Separation Mother has a

Clue to Whereabouts of her

Daughter

The following special to the Record may be of interest to the many people in Parker County. G.F. Bell, who is referred to here, resided in the Veal Station community about fifteen years ago, and not in Weatherford as stated:

Guthrie, O.T., July 3 - (Special.) - For the first time in twenty-four years, Mrs. Julia Hunter of Cripple Creek, Colo., has found a trace of her daughter and is now in Mangum, O.T. trying to locate her. She is assisted by Sheriff Jasper Nelson and County Attorney Thacker and hopes to find the girl, whom she believes is being concealed by G.F. Bell, a resident of Mangum and a former husband of Mrs. Hunter. The long lost daughter is the only child of Mrs. Hunter and Bell, from whom the woman secured a divorce in 1879.

Until Mrs. Hunter received a letter recently from a sister in Chillicothe, Mo., she had not heard anything definite concerning either Bell or her daughter in many years. When she was divorced from Bell, the court gave the little girl, Lurah Annie Bell, to the mother. At that time the child was six years old. Soon afterward, however, Bell managed to get possession of the child, taking her first to Weatherford, Texas, where she was kept for several years. The mother expended all her money in trying to locate the girl, and at times secured remote rumors concerning her whereabouts, but finally had to give up the search. The mother has been twice married since her divorce from Bell and Bell is also married again, having a wife and several children in Mangum.

Recently a letter reached a sister of Mrs. Hunter in Chillicothe signed by Lurah Annie Bell. The latter was asking for information regarding her mother. Soon afterward a letter was received also from G.F. Bell, who also wanted to know the whereabouts of his former wife in order to dispose of a piece of property owned by him and his first wife. He could not sell the property without his first wife's signature to the deed. The sister in Chillicothe immediately forwarded the letter from Lurah Annie Bell to Mrs. Hunter at Cripple Creek and the latter at once wired her daughter at Mangum, stating she would start for Mangum in a few days to meet the daughter. Mrs. Hunter was delayed in Cripple Creek longer than she had anticipated, and when she finally arrived in Mangum, she was unable to find the girl, although she saw Bell, her first husband, and had a conference with him. Bell stated the girl was out on his ranch and would return in a few days, but afterwards changed the story, saying she was in Weatherford, Texas, visiting friends.

Believing that Bell is concealing the daughter's whereabouts Mrs. Hunter called upon Sheriff Nelson for assistance and a thorough search has commenced. The officers believe that the letter, purporting to be written by Lurah Annie Bell, is a forgery and was written with the intention of getting Mrs. Hunter to Mangum. Citizens of Mangum have never known any such woman as Lurah Annie Bell. Mrs. Hunter will remain in Mangum several days and if the daughter is not found will proceed to Weatherford and other Texas cities, renewing the search. Mrs. Hunter is perhaps 50 years old, intelligent, diplomatic in bearing and courteous. Bell lives in a humble home in Mangum with his second wife.

My question is: Did the mother ever locate the daughter? I check census records and Texas bmd, but the father moved around so I have no idea where the daughter might have been.

Have you ever come across a story that just grabs at you and you really want to know "the rest of the story" ala Paul Harvey? And these families are not related to me. Am I crazy for being so involved in other people's lives? Maybe it's because when I read for pleasure it usually mysteries and this is indeed a mystery.

Any researcher with an imagination and a streak of romanticism gets caught up in things like this all time. A colleague and I were looking at records for a family just yesterday and wondering about "the rest of the story." While looking for someone else, I found a family of free African-Americans in the 1860 census, a woman with 10 children ranging in age from 19 down to 2, with no adult male in the household. None of them were listed with an occupation, including the older teenage sons. Who was supporting this household? Had they always been free, or had an owner emancipated them?

We see the landmarks of people's whole lives in just a few minutes-birth, family, marriage, children, death of family members, like someone with a crystal ball. Wills can be particularly fascinating as some children receive a dollar since they have already been given their "share" or have unpaid loans, and daughters are left money or interest in a business that is specified to be kept out of the hands of their husbands.

Subject: [Genealib] I want to know "The Rest of the Story"!

Recently I came across a very interesting article in a local paper from 1905:
Daily Herald - 7 July 1905
TRACING A LOST DAUGHTER
After Years of Separation Mother has a
Clue to Whereabouts of her
Daughter

The following special to the Record may be of interest to the many people in Parker County. G.F. Bell, who is referred to here, resided in the Veal Station community about fifteen years ago, and not in Weatherford as stated:
Guthrie, O.T., July 3 - (Special.) - For the first time in twenty-four years, Mrs. Julia Hunter of Cripple Creek, Colo., has found a trace of her daughter and is now in Mangum, O.T. trying to locate her. She is assisted by Sheriff Jasper Nelson and County Attorney Thacker and hopes to find the girl, whom she believes is being concealed by G.F. Bell, a resident of Mangum and a former husband of Mrs. Hunter. The long lost daughter is the only child of Mrs. Hunter and Bell, from whom the woman secured a divorce in 1879.

Until Mrs. Hunter received a letter recently from a sister in Chillicothe, Mo., she had not heard anything definite concerning either Bell or her daughter in many years. When she was divorced from Bell, the court gave the little girl, Lurah Annie Bell, to the mother. At that time the child was six years old. Soon afterward, however, Bell managed to get possession of the child, taking her first to Weatherford, Texas, where she was kept for several years. The mother expended all her money in trying to locate the girl, and at times secured remote rumors concerning her whereabouts, but finally had to give up the search. The mother has been twice married since her divorce from Bell and Bell is also married again, having a wife and several children in Mangum.

Recently a letter reached a sister of Mrs. Hunter in Chillicothe signed by Lurah Annie Bell. The latter was asking for information regarding her mother. Soon afterward a letter was received also from G.F. Bell, who also wanted to know the whereabouts of his former wife in order to dispose of a piece of property owned by him and his first wife. He could not sell the property without his first wife's signature to the deed. The sister in Chillicothe immediately forwarded the letter from Lurah Annie Bell to Mrs. Hunter at Cripple Creek and the latter at once wired her daughter at Mangum, stating she would start for Mangum in a few days to meet the daughter. Mrs. Hunter was delayed in Cripple Creek longer than she had anticipated, and when she finally arrived in Mangum, she was unable to find the girl, although she saw Bell, her first husband, and had a conference with him. Bell stated the girl was out on his ranch and would return in a few days, but afterwards changed the story, saying she was in Weatherford, Texas, visiting friends.

Believing that Bell is concealing the daughter's whereabouts Mrs. Hunter called upon Sheriff Nelson for assistance and a thorough search has commenced. The officers believe that the letter, purporting to be written by Lurah Annie Bell, is a forgery and was written with the intention of getting Mrs. Hunter to Mangum. Citizens of Mangum have never known any such woman as Lurah Annie Bell. Mrs. Hunter will remain in Mangum several days and if the daughter is not found will proceed to Weatherford and other Texas cities, renewing the search. Mrs. Hunter is perhaps 50 years old, intelligent, diplomatic in bearing and courteous. Bell lives in a humble home in Mangum with his second wife.

My question is: Did the mother ever locate the daughter? I check census records and Texas bmd, but the father moved around so I have no idea where the daughter might have been.

Have you ever come across a story that just grabs at you and you really want to know "the rest of the story" ala Paul Harvey? And these families are not related to me. hi all.

I have a quick question for the group. It was my understanding that Ancestry recently purchased Archives.com. When my patrons are on Ancestry Library Edition sometimes they are linked to a sources on Archives.com and when they click to that site --there is nothing. They can not access the information. We do not have a subscription to Archives.com. will this always happen if we do not subscribe to Archives.com? Anyone else have relevant experiences or suggestions?

Gwendolyn,

Do you have a specific title that is being linked to? We should not be showing those.

I will check when I get into the office tomorrow.

You need a subscription to both. Although owned by Ancestry it (and Fold3) are being run as separate companies.

I've done some checking and I can't figure out which title is redirecting you in this way. We should not be listing Archives titles in the Library edition that redirect you elsewhere.

If Gwen or anyone else can supply the title or titles, I would greatly appreciate it.

Dear Colleagues,

Can anyone help me sort through the differences between the various versions of Fold3 being sold to institutions by EBSCO? I've searched through the archive, and although this topic was addressed, it doesn't seem to apply to our situation. As far as I know, all of these products are available for remote access.

See the promotional flyer at
http://www.ebscohost.com/promoMaterials/Fold3\_Flyer\_Update\_8\_12.pdf

There are three different "versions" of Fold3 for institutions:

Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives Plus
Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives
Fold3 Holocaust Archives

Which version is closest to the Fold3.com that is sold to consumers? Does your institution subscribe to Fold3? Which version do you have?

Thank you in advance for your expertise.

Sincerely,

Message-ID: <CAJv_p_X7e6TX=LHXLpT84SR1vC27m+ZeE-DkycXCQmxH62dBPg@mail.gmail.com>

Dear Colleagues,

Can anyone help me sort through the differences between the various versions of Fold3 being sold to institutions by EBSCO? I've searched through the archive, and although this topic was addressed, it doesn't seem to apply to our situation. As far as I know, all of these products are available for remote access.

See the promotional flyer at
http://www.ebscohost.com/promoMaterials/Fold3\_Flyer\_Update\_8\_12.pdf

There are three different "versions" of Fold3 for institutions:

Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives Plus
Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives
Fold3 Holocaust Archives

Which version is closest to the Fold3.com that is sold to consumers? Does your institution subscribe to Fold3? Which version do you have?

Thank you in advance for your expertise.

Sincerely,

Kristen McCallum, MLS

Our library system subscribes to Fold3 Plus. This consists of the "regular" Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives, but also the Native American, African American, Holocaust, WWII and Revolutionary Archives. There is also some information on the "U.S. Bureau of Investigation" case file archives. This was the precursor to the FBI, so all the gangsters from the 1930s aren't listed :(

I have found the Native American Archive with it's Dawe's Rolls to be very helpful. However, I would be interested in knowing how it compares to and differs from the "home" version.

Subject: [Genealib] Librarian's Day at National Genealogical Society Annual Conference - Las Vegas - 7th May 2013 (Tuesday)

Good morning:

I just wanted to refresh your memory about this upcoming event for librarians.? Librarian's Day is hosted by ProQuest and the National Genealogical Society to promote education and network for librarian's serving the genealogical community.? Seating is limited to 100 so do not leave this to the last minute to register for this great day!

The URL for Librarian's Day and/or the full conference registration can be found at http://www.ngsgenealogy.org/cs/librarians\_day . ? The conference audience includes librarians, archivists, students, vendors, professional researchers, bloggers and historians, to name a few.

Conference Dates:

? ?????? NGS Annual Conference is 8-11 May 2013

? ?????? NGS Librarians' Day is Tuesday, 7 May 2013

Location:

? ?????? LVH-Las Vegas Hotel & Casino, 3000 Paradise Road, Las Vegas, NV 89109

o ?? Phone 702-732-511

o ?? <http://www.thelvh.com/> ????????????

o ?? Hotel room rates $119 for a single or doubles, additional folks is $35.00

o ?? Free parking

o ?? Ten minutes from McCarran International Airport

Librarians' Day Agenda:

? ?????? 8:45 a.m.?9:00 a.m. Welcome

? ?????? 9:00 a.m.?9:45 a.m. James K. Jeffrey, ?Confessions from the Reference Desk?

Reference interviews can be a lot like pulling teeth. Discover interrogatory techniques from one of America's most outrageous genealogy librarians! (James K. Jeffrey, collection specialist in genealogy, Denver Public Library, is past president of Colorado Council of Genealogical Societies and Society of the Rocky Mountain Archivists.)

? ?????? 10:00 a.m.?11:00 a.m. Jana Sloan Broglin, cg, ogsf , ?Hookers, Crooks, and Kooks: Aunt Merle Didn't Run a Boarding House? Learn about the black sheep and scalawags in your family. (Jana Sloan Broglin, cg, ogsf , a former FGS director and OGS trustee, is a member of APG, GSG, ISFHWE, and NEHGS.)

? ?????? 11:15 a.m.?12:15 p.m. Crista Cowan, ?Fact or Fiction: Finding Truth in Family Legends of Famous Relations? This session will focus on methods and resources for ferreting out the truth in generations of family stories passed along and embellished over time. ? (Crista Cowan, the Barefoot Genealogist, has worked at Ancestry.com since 2004; her interest in family history reaches back to childhood.)

? ?????? 12:15 p.m.?2:00 p.m. Lunch, William Forsyth, ProQuest Presentation.

? ?????? 2:15 p.m.?3:15 p.m. David E. Rencher, ag, cg, figrs, fuga , ?Strategies for Assisting Patrons to Find Their Irish Immigrants? This presentation focuses on helping library patrons succeed in the sources and methods for identifying Irish immigrants to North America using U.S. and Irish sources. ? (David Rencher, ag, cg, figrs, fuga , is the chief genealogical officer for FamilySearch.)

? ?????? 3:30 p.m.?4:30 p.m. J. Mark Lowe, cg, fuga , ?Newspapers: The Story of the West?

Newspapers are history?s first draft; could your ancestors be lurking on these pages? Learn about using newspapers as a research tool. (J. Mark Lowe, cg, fuga , professional researcher and educator at SLIG, IGHR, and RIGS Alliance, works on projects like "Who Do You Think You Are?")

Network Opportunities:

Opportunities exist to network with many other librarians and archivists at the NGS Annual Conference. ? Here?s just a sampling of librarians and archivists who will be speaking during the main conference:

1. Kerry Bartels is an archives specialist at NARA Pacific Region (Riverside) in southern California. He has many years of experience as an archivist and genealogist.

2. Pamela J. Cooper, national speaker, Florida State Genealogical Society president, and Filby Award recipient; heads the genealogy department at Indian River County Library, Vero Beach, Florida.

3. Jennifer Crowder Daugherty, MLS, manager of local and state history at Cumberland County Public Library, North Carolina; chairs the ALA Genealogical Publishing Company Award Committee.

4. G. David Dilts, AG, senior reference consultant in US reference at the Family History Library, has served ICAPGen and the Utah Genealogical Association.

5. Joan E. Healey, AG, accredited in Midwestern States research, is a research consultant at the Family History Library.

6. Jean Wilcox Hibben, PhD, CG, national speaker, author, APG board member, and director of the Corona, California, FamilySearch Center; has a PhD in folklore and an MA in speech communication.

7. James K. Jeffrey, collection specialist in genealogy, Denver Public Library, is past president of Colorado Council of Genealogical Societies and the Society of Rocky Mountain Archivists.

8. Ahmed Johnson, African American genealogy specialist at the Local History and Genealogy Reading Room, Library of Congress; lectures at national, state, and local conferences.?

9. Jeff Kintop is the state archivist at the Nevada State Library and Archives and has spent thirty years working with Nevada historical sources.

10. Dawne Slater-Putt, CG, reference librarian at the Genealogy Center of the Allen County Public Library, is recording secretary for the Board for Certification of Genealogists.

11. James Sweany, twenty-year veteran of the Library of Congress, developed the Library?s Native American genealogical resources and heads the Local History and Genealogy Reading Room.

12. Beth Taylor, CG, research consultant in the US/Canada unit at the Family History Library, has a BA in history.

13. Linda Turner-Gulbrandsen, AG, professional researcher and lecturer, is manager of the US/Canada research consultant services unit for the Family History Library.

14. Curt Witcher, MLS, FUGA, IGSF, manager at the Genealogy Center of the Allen County Public Library, is a former president of the Federation of Genealogical Societies and the National Genealogical Society, and founding president of the Indiana Genealogical Society.

15. D. Joshua Taylor, MLS, North American business development manager for brightsolid and findmypast.com, and is the incoming president of the Federation of Genealogical Societies.

16. Kory Meyerink, MLS, AG, FUGA, professional genealogist, formerly with the Family History Library, co-founded ProGenealogists, editor of Printed Sources , and is adjunct professor at Brigham Young University and San Jose State University, California.

Educational Growth:

? ?????? The four-day conference offers more than 150 lectures on researching people and places of the West, migration to and from the West, law, military records, immigration, methodology, academic history, family history writing, BCG Skillbuilding, African American and other ethnic research, technological innovation in genealogy (GenTech), plus much more.

? ?????? Vendors are packing the exhibit hall. ? Come and visit with some of the leaders in the industry that will be exhibiting. ? See what your patrons are using to do their genealogical research. ?

o ?? The vendor hall has some of the popular vendors already on board such as Ancestry.com, Archives.com, e-ImageData Corp, E-Z Photo Scan, FamilySearch.org, FindMyPast, Fold3, Movaco and ST Imaging, to name a few.

o ?? Booksellers and magazine publishers will be represented.

o ?? Societies from across the country will be there as well.

o ?? Educational opportunities ? Boston University will have a booth if librarians or patrons would like to expand their education. ? Also, certification groups will be there to explain the steps needed to become a professional researcher and/or just expand your working knowledge.

o ?? One of the best kept secrets about the exhibit hall? ? It is a great place to network with genealogists, vendors and speakers!

Costs:

o ?? Librarian?s Day is free and includes lunch . ? Seating is limited to 90 participants, so you will need to register.

o ?? Full conference registration opens up early December 2012, with early bird registration ending on 19 March 2013. ? The full registration for over 150 talks is just $195!

o ?? Meal cost (breakfast, lunches and banquet) range from $24.00 to $51.00 (banquet).

o ?? Meals are served ? in the hotel, vendor area (hot dog type) and local restaurants.

o ?? Tours are separate cost ranging from $74.00 for the Hoover Dam to $58.00 for Night Tour. ? There is also a Museums Tour priced at $48.00.

- o ?? Registration is now opened at http://www.ngsgenealogy.org/cs/attendee\_registration .
- o ?? Librarians' Day is now open at http://www.ngsgenealogy.org/cs/librarians\_day .
- o ?? Need to save money? ? There is even ?looking for a roommate? site.
- o ?? Tips can be found on the NGS Blog can be linked to from the conference site of NGS. ? The blog will keep you connected with tours and other fun stuff to do while in the city. ?

Please share this information with librarians in your state. ? The educational benefit and the networking make this national conference a must-attend in 2013. ? If you have any additional questions I can be reached at Ancestry.com at 801-705-7892 or by e-mail of kharrison at ancestry.com . ? Thank you for your help in spreading the word about this great event.

I look forward to seeing you in Las Vegas!

There are other differences, but not sure of the extent. I know there's an SSDI database on the personal site but haven't found it on the library version. Of course there's the interactive tagging, etc as well.

This consists of the "regular" Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives, but also the Native American, African American, Holocaust, WWII and Revolutionary Archives. There is also some information on the "U.S. Bureau of Investigation" case file archives. This was the precursor to the FBI, so all the gangsters from the 1930s aren't listed :(

I have found the Native American Archive with it's Dawe's Rolls to be very helpful. However, I would be interested in knowing how it compares to and differs from the "home" version.

Dear Colleagues,

Can anyone help me sort through the differences between the various versions of Fold3 being sold to institutions by EBSCO? I've searched through the archive, and although this topic was addressed, it doesn't seem to apply to our situation. As far as I know, all of these products are available for remote access.

See the promotional flyer at
http://www.ebscohost.com/promoMaterials/Fold3\_Flyer\_Update\_8\_12.pdf

There are three different "versions" of Fold3 for institutions:

Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives Plus
Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives
Fold3 Holocaust Archives

Which version is closest to the Fold3.com that is sold to consumers? Does your institution subscribe to Fold3? Which version do you have?

Thank you in advance for your expertise.

Sincerely,

At least the SSDI at the Fold3 personal site is Free access, even if it's not included in the institutional versions of Fold3. (Perhaps because they're not sure how much longer they'll be able to offer access to the SSDI at all?)

In Search of Freedom: African Americans and the Civil War

Location: Frederick Community College, Frederick, Maryland

Conference Date: March 1-2, 2013

The sesquicentennial of the American Civil War provides an opportunity to reassess our understanding of the conflict, and the motivations and experiences of the participants. The role of African Americans, enslaved and free, is of particular interest. How did the Underground Railroad help start the war? Who was responsible for emancipation? What role did African American soldiers play both militarily and politically? Did Freedmen's Bureau schools after the war make a difference? Join us March 1-2 to discuss these and other topics at In Search of Freedom: African Americans and the Civil War, a conference sponsored by the Catoctin Center for Regional Studies at Frederick Community College in Frederick, Maryland.

Keynote speakers and topics include James McPherson, "Black Men in Blue: African American Soldiers in the Civil War," and Barbara Fields, "Was Emancipation a War Crime?" Other presentations include:

Introductory Remarks, Robert Stanton, Senior Advisor to the Secretary of the Interior, and former Director of the National Park Service

States' Rights vs. Human Rights: African Americans and the Path to Emancipation, Cheryl LaRoche, Lecturer, University of Maryland

Running from Slavery to the Center of the Action: Slave Refugees and the Union Army, Chandra Manning, Associate Professor, Department of History, Georgetown University

Photography and Freedom: Representations of Black Americans in the Era of Emancipation, Barbara Krauthamer, Associate Professor, History Department, University of Massachusetts-Amherst

Resurrecting African American Lives in Maryland through Antebellum Era Records, Chris Haley, Director, Study of the Legacy of Slavery in Maryland, Maryland State Archives

African Americans and the Civil War in the Crossroads of War: Maryland and the Border in the Civil War Website, Dean Herrin, Acting Regional Historian, National Park Service

Crossing Freedom's Fault Line: How the Underground Railroad and the Mason-Dixon Line Caused the Civil War, Scott Hancock, Associate Professor of History & Africana Studies, Gettysburg College

They want to send their children to school?: The Freedmen's Bureau in the Daily Lives of African Americans, 1865-1872, Edie Wallace, Historian, Paula S. Reed & Associates, Hagerstown, Maryland

Betsy, Kim, et al.,

Thank you for responding. I also subscribe to the "consumer version" and I think that's why I was further confused. The consumer version includes the WWII Draft Registrations (Old Man's Draft), for example, but nothing is mentioned about WW II Records in the "non-plus" version of Fold3 for libraries.

So it looks like if I want to have access to most of the record groups I'm used to seeing in the consumer version, we will need to subscribe to Fold3 Plus.

It was unclear whether the plus version included additional content from EBSCO or if the content from Fold3 was divided up into different products. It appears to be the later. Since there is only one Fold3 version available for consumers, it doesn't make much sense to me why there are 3 different products available for sale from EBSCO. It just creates more confusion. Oh well.

Anyway, thanks again for your help! I couldn't do what I do without you all.

Kind Regards,

Kristen McCallum

It may be that it is simply a way of providing different price entry points for libraries (i.e. a marketing thing more than anything else).

Betsy, Kim, et al.,

Thank you for responding. ?I also subscribe to the "consumer version" and I think that's why I was further confused. ?The consumer version includes the WWII Draft Registrations (Old Man's Draft), for example, but nothing is mentioned about WW II Records in the "non-plus" version of Fold3 for libraries. ?

So it looks like if I want to have access to most of the record groups I'm used to seeing in the consumer version, we will need to subscribe to Fold3 Plus. ?

It was unclear whether the plus version included additional content from EBSCO or if the content from Fold3 was divided up into different products. It appears to be the later. Since there is only one Fold3 version available for consumers, it doesn't make much sense to me why there are 3 different products available for sale from EBSCO. ?It just creates more confusion. ?Oh well.

Anyway, thanks again for your help! ?I couldn't do what I do without you all.

Kind Regards,

Kristen McCallum

Dear?Colleagues,

Can anyone help me sort through the differences between the various versions of Fold3 being sold to?institutions by EBSCO? I've?searched through the archive, and although this topic was addressed, it doesn't seem to apply to our situation. ?As far as I know, all of these products are available for remote access.

See the promotional flyer at?
http://www.ebscohost.com/promoMaterials/Fold3\_Flyer\_Update\_8\_12.pdf

There are three different "versions" of Fold3 for?institutions:

Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives Plus
Fold3 History and Genealogy Archives
Fold3 Holocaust Archives

Which version is closest to the Fold3.com that is sold to consumers?
?Does your institution subscribe to Fold3? ?Which version do you have?

Thank you in advance for your expertise.

Sincerely,

I'm pretty sure most of the "Old Man's Draft" is available on familysearch.org for free. On the main page, scroll down to the word United States and click on that. On the next page, scroll down to "United States, World War II Draft Registration Cards, 1942" and click on that. The description of the collection says "Name index and images of cards for men, age 45-64 (born 1877-1897), included in the fourth draft conducted on April 27, 1942." The index may not be complete for all states, which is why the next collection listed includes an "image browse" which may cover the states that haven't yet been indexed.

familysearch.org also includes the SSDI, listed just after the U.S. censuses.

Message-ID: <B43388F8-E366-405A-8238-34438004463E@yahoo.com>

I have a complete run of the Ashtabula County (Ohio) Genealogical Society's quarterly publication, Ancestor Hunt, as follows:

every name indexes, 1991 (Vol. XVIII) thru 2008 (XXXV)

Vol. XIX (1992) thru Vol. XXXV (2008)

Vol. XXXVI, No. 1 (Feb. 2009)

Each volume (year) run runs to more than 100 pages, consisting of local materials including newspaper articles, school lists, articles about early families, etc. As "the" northeastern county in Ohio, it was settled very early by folks from New York, New England, Pennsylvania, etc.

This set comes to me from a relative who doesn't need it any more. (I have my own set which I'm keeping!)

Please reply off list with your name and library's mailing address.

Free to a good library home!

Thanks

Greetings Genealibs,

While hunting down a descendant by marriage of (my elusive cousin) Harvey's father today I came across one of the most puzzling census entries I've ever encountered. I decided to share it in case any of you wish to offer theories to explain anything other than the census taker having a serious problem, possibly of a liquid nature, or me unable to see the forest through the trees.

I was looking for George Duane Stobbart (1915-2008 MO). In 1940 the only likely entry I found was in Brookfield, Linn Co, MO in a household headed by William J. Carlon, 65, lawyer, residing in a rented dwelling (a lawyer renting??? I'm entertaining the idea he may have owned the building) on N Main St identified as the Francis Building. George is listed as a son. Here's the household lineup with age, state of birth (all MO except first two), relationship to head, marital status (all single unless indicated otherwise) & possibly occupation:

1940: 22 N Main Street, Francis Bldg, Brookfield, Linn, Missouri, pages 34-35 on Ancestry.com (also linked from George on my Sellers family tree)

William J Carlon 65 NY head, single, lawyer (listed on line 73, p34, followed by 7 blank lines; then from the top of p35:)

Ida Standly 62 IA lodger, widow, no occup

Almon E Rhodes 27 lodger, widower, mechanical engineer

Anna M Dean 13 daughter

Marjorie Daume 18 daughter

Ruth Smay 22 child's nurse in private home (in that building?)

Samuel Lickliger 26 lodger, social work director

George Stobbart 24 son, electrical utility worker

James Lockwood 54 brother, carpenter for a contractor

Jack Murphy 20 son, new worker

Raymond Cole 5 grandson

Earnest E Barr 39 b-in-law, soil erosion truck driver with CCC

Herbert D Bachtel 7 son

Shirley J Nickell 10 daughter

George's age is right and his employment fits with his graduation in 1949 from U MO with an electrical engineering degree (after much of the 40s in the military). From other research I believe his father was Frank Herbert Stobbart and his mother was Fay Evelyn Sellers Stobbart, Harvey's half-sister.

I found other records including William Carlon's death certificate and George's obit that offer no connection between them. Carlon apparently also had been a judge, born in New York but in Brookfield by 1910. I suppose he could have adopted all those "kids" with different last names ... but the brother and brother-in-law? Maybe the enumerator was giving the relation of the young children to the older adults just above them?

Wondering what I'm overlooking? I'm assuming (!) the Francis Building had apartments or at least rooms. In 2010 it was being renovated for offices, an online report said.

There are numbers on the left side of the census form on p35 that may indicate something the reviewers questioned about the enumerator's actions but I don't know. I can't imagine a 12-story building with 76 apartments on each floor in Brookfield, pop under 5,000 in 2010. Then there are the household numbers in order visited ... numbers I would have expected to be consecutive by family from William Carlon at 437 or at least to indicate room or apartment numbers.

Don't spend time on this unless you have an explanation or are as intrigued as I am. I just found it curious and have no certain explanation. Any replies should be to my email cas.search@gmail.com so as not to disturb those less intrigued, please.

Thanks for taking the time to read this. Have a great weekend!

I decided to share it in case any of you wish to offer theories to explain anything other than the census taker having a serious problem, possibly of a liquid nature, or me unable to see the forest through the trees.

I was looking for George Duane Stobbert (1915-2008 MO). In 1940 the only likely entry I found was in Brookfield, Linn Co, MO in a household headed by William J. Carlon, 65, lawyer, residing in a rented dwelling (a lawyer renting??? I'm entertaining the idea he may have owned the building) on N Main St identified as the Francis Building. George is listed as a son. Here's the household lineup with age, state of birth (all MO except first two), relationship to head, marital status (all single unless indicated otherwise) & possibly occupation:

1940: 22 N Main Street, Francis Bldg, Brookfield, Linn, Missouri, pages 34-35 on Ancestry.com<<http://Ancestry.com>> (also linked from George on my Sellers family tree)

William J Carlon                      65 NY head, single, lawyer (listed on line 73, p34, followed by 7 blank lines; then from the top of p35:)

Ida Standly                              62 IA lodger, widow, no occup

Almon E Rhodes                      27 lodger, widower, mechanical engineer

Anna M Dean                              13 daughter

Marjorie Daume                      18 daughter

Ruth Smay                              22 child's nurse in private home (in that building?)

Samuel Lickliger                      26 lodger, social work director

George Stobbert                      24 son, electrical utility worker

James Lockwood                      54 brother, carpenter for a contractor

Jack Murphy                              20 son, new worker

Raymond Cole                              5 grandson

Earnest E Barr	39 b-in-law, soil erosion truck driver with CCC
Herbert D Bachtel	7 son
Shirley J Nickell	10 daughter

George's age is right and his employment fits with his graduation in 1949 from U MO with an electrical engineering degree (after much of the '40s in the military). From other research I believe his father was Frank Herbert Stobbart and his mother was Fay Evelyn Sellers Stobbart, Harvey's half-sister.

I found other records including William Carlon's death certificate and George's obit that offer no connection between them. Carlon apparently also had been a judge, born in New York but in Brookfield by 1910. I suppose he could have adopted all those "kids" with different last names ... but the brother and brother-in-law? Maybe the enumerator was giving the relation of the young children to the older adults just above them?

Wondering what I'm overlooking? I'm assuming (!) the Francis Building had apartments or at least rooms. In 2010 it was being renovated for offices, an online report said.

There are numbers on the left side of the census form on p35 that may indicate something the reviewers questioned about the enumerator's actions but I don't know. I can't imagine a 12-story building with 76 apartments on each floor in Brookfield, pop under 5,000 in 2010. Then there are the household numbers in order visited ... numbers I would have expected to be consecutive by family from William Carlon at 437 or at least to indicate room or apartment numbers.

Don't spend time on this unless you have an explanation or are as intrigued as I am. I just found it curious and have no certain explanation. Any replies should be to my email cas.search\(at\)gmail.com so as not to disturb those less intrigued, please.

Thanks for taking the time to read this. Have a great weekend!

Yes, that's what I believe, too. They probably were "found" later and so added in. I did it slightly differently than Nancy did because I just went to the referenced "visited No." I particularly looked for those with the relationships of son and daughter and three of those bore out the theory. I did think the numbers in the margin were reference numbers, but didn't try to figure them out as Nancy did.

I can add a little more information regarding page 61 of the 1940 census. Finding entries on census page 61A is a signal the people listed were recorded on a second visit by the enumerator. In 1940, the enumerators were instructed to add second-visit households on page 61A, regardless of the page number on which the first set of visits ended. This information comes from Stephen Morse's article "Getting Ready for the 1940 Census: Searching Without a Name Index," published in the Association of Professional Genealogists Quarterly, 33 (2011): 246.

The key that something is up is that it is page 61A. That's where the enumerator was to list the households that were missed on his or her first pass through the district. However, this enumerator didn't follow the directions. The individuals listed at the top of this page (lines 1-13) should have been listed with their households with the notation "Ab" to show that they were absent when the enumerator was taking the household's information.

I put together a blog post for Archives.com about notations on the 1940 census, including "Ab" and why some enumeration districts skip to page 61A:

Thanks Bonnie! I should have thought to look at the instructions for the explanation regarding the use of page 61A rather than guess at the reason for the additional entries.

Thanks to all of you who took the time to explain this to me. I should have looked more closely and read the instructions. My only excuse is too big a hurry after too many hours in my own genealogy Friday after months away. You're great to have set me back on the path again! Love you all.

Hi Larry. Crazy, yes. Good to hear from you.

Dear all,

My library, a medium-sized public library with a small genealogy/local history collection, is battling around the idea of charging fees for in-depth research service. We currently handle all requests, even those reference questions that demand considerable time and expertise including genealogy-related questions, as all in a day's work.

I know many libraries charge for genealogical research. Would you please share your fee schedule with me, off the list, at lynette.jones at cityofcarrollton.com?

Also, do any of you in this group charge for other kinds of research, particularly those of you who are at public libraries? For example, research of a more detailed medical or business nature, creating bibliographies of materials or folders of journal articles, things like that--those questions that require a significant amount of time and/or expertise to find answers and appropriate material.

Any information or words of wisdom you can share will be greatly appreciated.

Thanks,
Lynette

Hi Lynette et al. -

The state library of Texas has a professional collection of books available for loan, which includes titles about determining how to charge fees for library services. (Access to this collection is free, btw, the only cost is the responsibility of return postage at the library mail rate.) Texans can access this library by e-mailing me at lsc at tsl.state.tx.us, and non-Texas residents can access the collection via their local library's ILL services.

Subject: [Genealib] fees for research services

Dear all,

My library, a medium-sized public library with a small genealogy/local history collection, is battling around the idea of charging fees for in-depth research service. We currently handle all requests, even those reference questions that demand considerable time and expertise including genealogy-related questions, as all in a day's work.

I know many libraries charge for genealogical research. Would you please share your fee schedule with me, off the list, at lynette.jones@cityofcarrollton.com?

Also, do any of you in this group charge for other kinds of research, particularly those of you who are at public libraries? For example, research of a more detailed medical or business nature, creating bibliographies of materials or folders of journal articles, things like that--those questions that require a significant amount of time and/or expertise to find answers and appropriate material.

Any information or words of wisdom you can share will be greatly appreciated.

Thanks,

Lynette

Hi, Lynette.

I work at a public library with an active history/genealogy department.

Here are our guidelines for mail/email reference:

<http://www.ccpl.org/content.asp?id=56689&action=detail&catID=11877&parentID=5402>

Here is the request form, which includes the fees involved:

<http://www.ccpl.org/content.asp?id=135929&action=detail&catID=5402&parentID=5372>

Hope that helps!

Sincerely,

Katie

Christina,

This good list came, as you see, via Genealib, but it surely looks useful. Thanks for putting it together and I'll hope I can spend some time snatching tips and good ideas before too long. Appreciate you, lady!

Dear colleagues,

Thank you to each person who responded to my request for information about your policies and practices regarding "research for fees". This group always come through with the answer, no matter what! Each response has been insightful, practical, informative, and helpful. The emails with links and online request forms were especially valuable. We are in the early stages of exploring this idea, and you've given us lots to ponder.

Thanks again for your assistance and support.

We have 3 issues of the "Christian Herald" that anyone may have for the cost of postage. The issue are Wednesday, September 3, 1890 (v. XIII, no. 36); Wednesday, January 28, 1891 (v. XIV, no. 4); and July 20, 1898 (v.21, no.29). They were published in New York but do not have any genealogy related articles, just religious articles.

Hi Elizabeth,

Ever hear of out-of-sight-out-of-mind? I boxed your books, put them in my trunk and forgot about them until I went to the grocery store on Saturday. My husband's been out of town for two weeks and we've had three major snow storms in that time. So I've stayed close to home and hearth. I've selected 8, but it looks like I need to select a couple more so will do that this afternoon and get my list to you. Three of the books you selected are unavailable. I'll give you those titles this afternoon as well. Sorry for the delay and the inconvenience. That was very inconsiderate of me.

Subject: [Genealib] Librarian's Day at NGS - ProGenealogists donates door prize worth $2, 200

In-Reply-To:

<1855408566.1551379.1362007397238.JavaMail.root@md18.quartz.synacor.com>

Message-ID: <649837690.1551421.1362007477110.JavaMail.root@md18.quartz.synacor.com>

Are you waiting for a good reason to sign up for Librarian's Day at NGS Las Vegas? ? How about the grand prize worth $2,200 in value! The odds are very good you could be a winner of a door prize! ? I only have 33 seats still available. ?

The committee just received word of a grand prize being offer to librarians from ProGenealogists worth $2,200 value. ? ProGenealogists? is the official research firm of Ancestry.com. ? Our firm has worked as researchers for PBS's Ancestors Series, African American Lives , the BBC?s TimeWatch series' episode entitled ?The Iron Coffin,? and Showtime?s production The Tudors . ProGenealogists provided research for the first three seasons of NBC's Who Do You Think Are? TV series, which was nominated for a Daytime Emmy Award for "Outstanding Reality TV Series."

For more information about ProGenealogists please visit their site at <http://www.progenealogists.com/aboutus.htm> . ?

Librarians will also have an opportunity to win personal subscriptions to Fold3 and Newspapers.com. ? Family Tree Maker team at Ancestry.com has also donated 10 Family Tree Maker 2012. ? Additional door prizes are coming in at this writing. ?

This exciting day is sponsored by ProQuest at the LVH-Las Vegas Hotel & Casino on Tuesday, 7 th May 2013. ? The day has been plan with outstanding speakers:

? ?????? Confessions from the Reference Desk by James K. Jeffrey, Collection Specialist in Genealogy at the Denver Public Library

? ?????? Hookers, Crooks, and Kooks: ? Aunt Merle didn?t Run a Boarding House by Jana Broglin, Certified Genealogist and a Fellow of the Ohio Genealogical Society and Director of FGS

? ?????? Fact or Fiction: ? Finding Truth in Family Legends of Famous Relations by Crista Cowan, AKA The Barefoot Genealogist at Ancestry.com

? ?????? Strategies for Assisting Patrons to find their Irish Immigrants by David E. Rencher, AG, CG, FUGA, FIGRS and Chief Genealogical Officer for Family Search

? ?????? Newspapers ? The Story of the West by J. Mark Lowe, professional researcher and educator (SLIG, IGHR & RIGS Alliance) as well as having worked on ? Who Do You Think You Are??

Additional information about the NGS conference please visit their site at http://www.ngsgenealogy.org/cs/librarians\_day . ? Remember early bird registration ends on 19 th March 2013. ?

Hello:

Ancestry would like to hear from our librarian customers. This is your opportunity to talk with the Product Team lead by Anne Mitchell (Ancestry Anne) for Ancestry Library Edition this year. I have scheduled two focus group meetings for 2013, one at NGS and the other at FGS. Spacing is limited to 20 at each of these events. Please e-mail me off line at <mailto:kharrison at ancestry.com> kharrison at ancestry.com if you are interested in attending either event.

The dates and times are:

? NGS Friday, 10th May 2013 at 2:30-5:00 PM

? FGS Friday, 23rd Aug. 2013 at 2:30-5:00 PM

As always you can reach out to us during the year with questions and concerns about Ancestry Library Edition or other Ancestry products.

Message-ID: <41cbf914.519dac.13d1e229c72.Webtop.46@charter.net>

NERGC's fourth Librarians' and Teachers' Day will be held on Wednesday, 17 April 2013 at the Radisson Hotel, Manchester, NH in conjunction with the Twelfth New England Regional Genealogical Conference. Sessions include Getting Patrons Started in Genealogy by Christine Sharbrough, MSLIS, CG; Creating Digital Collections for Genealogists by D. Joshua Taylor; ProQuest Information and Learning by William Forsyth; Tracing Your Immigrant Ancestors by Lisa Alzo; and What Genealogists Wish Librarians Knew by Marianne B. Marcussen. For information about each session, see page 4 of the full conference brochure at www.nergc.org/Program.html.

The cost for Librarians' and Teachers' Day is $40.00 per person and includes lunch compliments of ProQuest.

Also a reminder that the Early Bird deadline for registering for the NERGC conference is February 28. Right now the cost is $110 for the full 3-day conference (Thursday through Saturday, 4/18-4/20). After Feb. 28, the cost increases to $135. Single-day registration is currently $90 per day, and will increase to $100 per day after Feb. 28. Save yourself some money -- register now. Visit the NERGC Website www.nergc.org and click on ?Registration?.

Subject: [Genealib] Tracing European royal and noble ancestors.

Message-ID: <14A1CB0EE0494AD0A7D5775E1FE88B5D@EndUserPC>

Have you had researchers trying to trace ancestry from European Royalty and Nobility? If so, you may find this series very useful. It shows the most complete study of Royal Family Trees in print, including descendants in the United States, and has exhaustive indexing to help you with your search.

THE ROYAL HOUSES OF EUROPE

This series of books, published in England, provides an extraordinarily wide-ranging genealogy of noble families across Europe, including descendants who live in the United States and Canada:

It consists of 31 volumes, covering all the leading European Royal Dynasties and their descendants. They provide a full royal genealogy laid out in inter-connecting royal family trees of the Royal Houses of Europe. The books cover the reigning monarchies of Europe, the great Imperial Dynasties and the former monarchies of Europe. They include the British Royal House, now the House of Windsor, descended from Queen Victoria, and the British dynasties of Stuart, Hanover and Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. The dynasties of Hohenzollern, Romanov, Habsburg, Bonaparte and Bourbon have separate books on each, together with the Monarchies of Scandinavia, the Benelux, Liechtenstein, Iberia, Monaco, Italy and the Balkans, and the former German Kingdoms. In all cases the full descent is shown, extending to related noble and commoner families, including in the U.S.A.

The books are offered at a discount to libraries, at a price which includes delivery by post/courier to your door.

Details as follow:

See our website for full details of each individual book (press on book title for description).: <http://www.theroyalhousesofeurope.co.uk>.

They are essential tools for Genealogists, particularly in researching their European ancestry. They are supplied to libraries in the U.S, and Canada, and also in the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand and many European countries. They are also supplied to European royal families, academic libraries, genealogists and the media.

Hello all,

This is perhaps a little out of our general stream, but I thought perhaps someone amongst you might be able to help. I had a gentleman bring by a receipt book from an attorney's office. This book is leather bound and dates from around 1858. The first entry is from that year. The book has lined paper in it with notes and receipts written on the paper as well as other papers, letters and the like glued to pages or just inserted. The last papers date from 1914. I know it's a treasure trove, however, the patron plans to try to sell the book and wants to know how to ascertain its value. Any suggestions as to how to guide him?

Thanks for any help.

Gretchen,

You could tell him that if he sells it, it will most likely be taken apart and sold, probably page by page (I've seen it happen quite often at antique shows), and that the information may be lost to future researchers (which is probably its greatest value). You could suggest that he donate it to a local museum, library (yours, perhaps? ;-), historical society, or genealogical society. A local museum may also be able to point him to an appraiser, then he could donate it and get a tax deduction? Just some thoughts!

Tony

Is anyone else recently experiencing printing difficulties with HeritageQuest Online census images? Their format has changed recently, so that the census page that appears when one enters Download > View doesn't seem to have any way of being printed. No more pop-up mini-screen toward the bottom of the page. We're getting frustrated. We appreciated having the option of just printing a partial page for legibility's sake, but would also like to be able to print without saving the image first.

Michele,

Has anything else changed? Perhaps the browser that is being used to access the census image? Depending which browser you are using (Internet Explorer 8,9,10, Chrome, Firefox, etc) the image may or may not open up in Adobe Reader. You will likely see different printing options depending on what software is used to preview the image. Sometimes you can change the way your browser handles PDF documents. That might be something to look in to.

Just a thought ...
