IN WHEEL CHAIR

Student Attends
Three Colleges

By VIRGINIA MONTES
While most of us complain of just taking 15 hours of credit work, there is a young man on the USF campus who not only takes 17 hours but also attends three colleges. He does this all in a wheel chair, too. This student is none other than Tom Davis, described by one newspaper reporter as a "young man in a hurry."

Tom began with a combined load of 20 semester hours, but dropped three hours of mathematical statistics at St. Pete Junior College. He's now left with the American idea, calculus, and human behavior at USF. Modern algebra at Tampa U., and sophomore physics at St. Pete. Why the drop math? Tom explained that the "going had got a little rough."

Tom Davis' day begins at 7 a.m., when he drives his 1961 Corvair, with special manual controls, to USF for a class. At 9 o'clock he shuttles to Tampa

U. for algebra, and returns to USF for afternoon classes. At 7 p.m. he can be found in his physics lab at St. Pete. With all this, he still maintains a 2.8 average.

"If I could have gone to any university I wished," said Tom, "I would have gone to University of Miami. But I found that it was impossible for me to attend there. About a month before school started a friend told me about USF."

USF Good For a 'Lift'
"I came to look it over; saw that it had elevators in every building, and so I decided to come here. I believe that USF has the only complete elevator facilities for students in any college in the country," Tom explained.

He has a state vocational rehabilitation scholarship, and in June plans to start in the University Work Co-op program. His major is math, and his ultimate goal is to work with computers in interplanetary space probing.

Stricken with polio when he was eight years old, Tom was paralyzed for a time, from his neck down, and spent 1½ years in Warm Springs, Ga., for treatment and therapy. Today Tom lacks only the use of his legs. "Young man in a hurry" though he may be, Tom Davis is the kind that makes us all sit up and appreciate what we have, however little it may be. He's also the type no one can help but admire and respect.

By JIM DIXON

The past few weeks have formed a clothes conscious student body on the USF campus. The controversy over Bermuda shorts has finally received an official statement in support of Dean Howard A. Johnson's "Red Memo."

Last week's University Bulletin, the official voice of the administration, which originates in the office of Dr. Lewis B. Mayhew, director of evaluation services and institutional research, states that punishment is in store for those who indulge in "noticeable or gross departure from expected standards of conduct or dress."

The Bulletin story, which seemed to come as an aftermath of the recent student demonstration, had this to say:

"Student, Conduct, Dress and Discipline: The following statement, which will appear in the 1961-62 catalogue, concerning student conduct, dress and discipline is reproduced for the information of all faculty members:

"Students attending the University of South Florida are considered young adults working with their faculty colleagues in search of knowledge. It is hoped that rigid regulations of personal conduct will not be necessary, for freedom as an objective of education is difficult without the existence of freedom.

Teeth Put in Policy

"Just as the university expects high standards of academic performance so does it expect high standards of individual conduct. Similarly, it expects dress to be appropriate to the activities in which the individuals are engaged.

"Noticeable or gross departures from expected standards of conduct or dress on the part of students will first be considered errors in judgment. Advisors or other officers of the institution will discuss such lapse with the student concerned.

"Persistent violations of expected standards or established regulations will involve appropriate disciplinary action. The university may deny admission or continued attendance to those whose decisions and actions are contrary to the purposes and procedures of the university."

This statement of proposed disciplinary action for violators appeared shortly after the university's much publicized student demonstration against Johnson's red memo. (It appeared on red paper.)

Had No Leader

The unrest came to a head when a group of students got together for a student demonstration in the Administration Building patio during the first hour, Thursday, May 4. The group did not have a leader although Guy Ross told newspaper reporters he was the organizer. He was not.

The majority of the demonstrators wore their Bermuda's and other casual wear, and all sang songs to the accompaniment of Pat Boole's guitar.

During the demonstration it was hard to tell the onlookers from the participants, but most of those who wished to have no part in it watched from the second floor of the Administration Building.

State-Wide Alert

At one point 30 or 40 demonstrators marched single file around the patio clapping their hands and crying "We want Johnson. We want Johnson."

In preparing for the demonstration the students served as their own publicity men by calling many newspapers, radio and television stations, and gave the state a real "alert." Fictitious names were used by many, some claiming to be the editor of the campus paper, and in general gave a blowup story.

The news director of one television station phoned the USF news bureau and asked about details of the "riot by 5,000 students." This stab at state publicity, some believe, may have triggered the statement that appeared in the Bulletin, since the Legislature is presently in session.

A delegation of students sent in to negotiate with the dean of Student Affairs, but no definite "yes or no Bermuda shorts" ruling was agreed upon at that time.

To add to the excitement of campus life, student Guy Ross persisted that he was the leader of this demonstration and voiced additional comments as to the campus thinking during the Human Relations Institute Workshop, which was open to the public.

Black Eye For Arete's
As a result of this outspokenness, the Arete, men's social club may have heaped a black eye on themselves and taken a drop in general student opinion when a few of the members participated in hanging an effigy of Ross in the University Center.

Some students said that there was a plot to give Ross further "treatment" at his home. There were rumors of a demonstration which would include burning a cross in his yard. However, when it was discovered that Ross lived next door to a Hillsborough County deputy sheriff, things simmered down.

Dean Johnson still has his side of the story, and the meeting held at 8 a.m. on Thursday, May 11, in the Teaching Auditorium-Theatre produced results, still vague and cloudy. It was at this meeting that the university position, stating the official policy, began to become apparent to the students. Approximately 150 students were at the meeting.

Up to Students and Faculty
Now the "policy" has been stated and will be left up to the students and faculty to adhere to. Though there are no definite "rules and regulations," it is apparent that administration policy and standards have been outlined and are beginning to be understood as university requirements.

The only question left, in the opinions of many students is one of definition — and this seems to be covered by a close reading of Johnson's "red memo" and Mayhew's "green" Bulletin.

Author Party Set Tomorrow

An autograph party honoring V. M. (Red) Newton Jr., and his new book "Crusade for Democracy" will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Gallery Lounge.

Newton is the managing editor of The Tampa Tribune and "an outstanding newspaperman known and respected for his fearless attacks on graft and corruption in government," according to Dr. Edgar M. Hirschburg, associate professor of English at USF.

"Crusade for Democracy" will be the major topic of Newton's discussion, highlighting the problems of news censorship and dissemination of news. Newton is a graduate of the University of Florida and served as sports editor of the Tribune before becoming managing editor.

The autograph party is the second in a series honoring authors sponsored by the Hospitality Committee of the UC Committee.

"Crusade for Democracy" will be available during the autograph party. The USF campus Book Store will have copies for sale to students, according to Mrs. Phyllis Marshall, head resident of the UC.

All students and faculty are invited to attend this party and meet Newton.

Young Middle Age

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — A University of Illinois professor says middle age begins at 26.

Thomas H. Cureton Jr., says that's the age at which the powers of the body start to decline if a person allows himself to go on living as usual.

Dr. Cureton Jr., an instructor of physical education for men, said the youthful period is over at 14 for boys and 17 for girls, followed by adulthood which is a leveling off period.

He recommends that persons develop fitness programs to fill the demands of their life and enjoyment.

Similar Substitute

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Planning a mortgage-burning ceremony at a Boy Scout campsite, adult leaders decided it should be done in true scouting style—ignite the mortgage with flint and steel.

The scout leader stepped forward with his trusty scout kit. He struck the flint again and again. Plenty of sparks but the mortgage was unscorched.

A helpful companion stepped up and proved that fire can be kindled by flint and steel—in a cigarette lighter.

Danger of Compacts

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Kay Dyer drives a compact car. Three times in less than three months she was hit by larger vehicles. The third time made her the maddest.

She had just gotten her car from the garage after repairs for the second accident, and was driving home from work to dine with friends. While stopped at a traffic light, a large automobile hit her car from the rear. The driver got out, and explained:

"I looked right, I looked left, but I didn't look down."

Falls Still Charm

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — Niagara Falls hasn't lost its charm for the traveler, according to the Niagara Parks Commission. In its annual report to the Ontario Provincial Legislature, the Commission said two million automobiles and six million people passed through the parks in 1960.

USF, TU Compete Today

The second USF relays, now including two-way competition with the University of Tampa, is scheduled for 4:15 p.m. this afternoon at Chamberlain High Track Field.

The meet, which will include nine track and field events, will be a duplicate of the first, held April 10, won by Joe Rodriguez. The public is invited at no charge.

Rodriguez, Frank Meiners, and Victor Cafaro will head the list of 24 "veterans" attempting to keep face among Tampa Bay area track fans. Rodriguez is an expert 100 and 220-yard dasher and broad jumper, while Meiners and Cafaro handle competently the high jump and 220-yard run, respectively.

Other events include: low hurdles, quarter mile and mile run, 880-yard dash, and shot put. Richard D. Hunter, assistant professor, will conduct the meet.

The USF Campus Swimming Fest, scheduled for Saturday, May 20, will definitely be held at Temple Terrace Pool. The meet, sponsored by the Women's Sports Coordinating Board, will roundup activities for the year by the group.

Miss Sunny Fernandez, intramural coordinator, had previously announced the tentative location for the special event. "We were able to reserve the pool for the scheduled day, but only until 1 p.m. This just means we will have to follow a tight schedule to finish on time."

The first event of the day, women's 25-yard freestyle, will go at 9:15, followed by the 50-yard freestyle for men. Ten events will follow, with women's and men's features alternating. Three co-ed events will go later, beginning at 11:45 a.m. The diving event is scheduled for 11:15 a.m. Awards, in the form of plaques, will be presented at the conclusion of the meet.

Deadlines for entry blanks is set for 12 noon, Thursday, May 18.

Handbook Planned As Guide

The USF student handbook is now in the planning stages. The book is intended as a guide to the campus in general and student activities specifically. Heading the committee working on the book is Dr. Carolyn A. Pinkard, clinical counselor in student affairs, who said, "The book will be published as an orientation guide for incoming students."

Other faculty members of the committee include: George H. Miller, director of the co-op program; Duane E. Lake, director of University Center; Marion A. Berrian, instructor physical education; and Henry Robertson, assistant to Dean French. Student members are Ray O'Hara, Rodney H. Kite-Powell, Jan Harper, and Louise Stewart.

Generally speaking, the book will contain a forward consisting of a letter by the Dean of Student Affairs and one by the Student Government President; next will follow a statement of purpose and map of the campus.

Also included will be information regarding student-faculty activities such as orientation, advising, all-university projects, scholarships, loans, student employment, joint - committees, housing, and social affairs.

Another section will deal strictly with student affairs of government, publications, interest groups, intramurals, social groups, and events. Included in the book will be an events calendar. Handbook's student committee will be in touch with groups concerning the information needed for publication.

Rounding out the book will be any further information of interest of importance to the students.

FIA Election

FIA, a newly formed social club, has elected spring-semester officers. They are: president, B. J. Tynes; first vice president, Jill Sanders; second vice president, Jonnie Bruner; corresponding secretary, Pat McGlone; recording secretary, Lois Leach; treasurer, Judy Hagin; chaplain, Caren Read; parliamentarian, Jackie Chan; and publicity chairman, Ann Hurley.

Plans are being made for a social party.

A University of South Florida Ski Club is being organized. It is asked that all that are interested in joining the Ski Club attend the meeting tomorrow, Tuesday, Room UC 113 at 10 a.m.

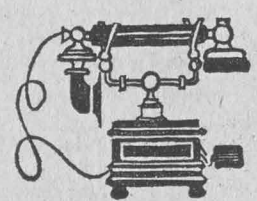

Orchids Removed— Lost Their Blooms

Regulars around the Administration Building no longer find added beauty in the form of hanging orchids.

The orchids, donated to USF by Mrs. Truman Green, were hung in conspicuous places in the patio area of the Administration Building.

Clyde Hill, physical plant director, said the orchids, which were removed several days ago, were taken down because of their condition. "Their blooms came off, and they all were wilting, so we sent them down to the nursery, where they could better be taken care of. The wind, sand and humidity were bad on their existence."

Asked about future similar decorations, Hill said, "As orchids come into bloom, and if they are still available for our use, we will put them back up."

Print Copier To Ease Work For Students

The library has recently announced another service rendering machine available to all students. A photo-copier has been rented for use on the second floor in the reference room. It was rented with the idea that students desiring copies of reference material not available to take home may have a permanent copy made in a matter of seconds.

The copier, a Xerox 914 Office Copier, is located conveniently near the door of the reference room. It gives clean, dry prints right away. The copier can give up to six copies a minute after a 20-second warm-up time. The machines electrical requirements for the electrical minded student are as follows: 115 volts AC, 2000 watts.

The machine can take originals up to 9 inches by 14 inches, although they have been known to take larger originals, and reproduce them to the standard notebook paper size. The machine can be set to print from one to fifteen copies at one exposure.

The cost is five cents a copy, which is very reasonable considering the cost of the machine. A student can save valuable time on that difficult chart, or even have a complete reference page copied in a matter of seconds to take home for further study.

P. E. Majors Recruiting New Club Members

The newly organized Physical Education Major's Club, which held its first meeting May 3, is making an all-out effort to recruit new members.

Approximately 18 students attended the first meeting of students planning to major or minor in health, physical education, recreation, or athletic coaching.

Dr. Gil Hertz, director of physical education at USF, advises the group, which plans another meeting later this month or in early June.

"Those contemplating majoring in any of these areas," Hertz said, "should contact the P.E. office in order to schedule courses in the coming semesters, and to receive further information on the club created for them."

At the first meeting the members heard guest speaker Philip Patterson, supervisor of physical education for Hillsborough County; Marie Howard, elementary supervisor for Hillsborough County; Dr. Jean A. Battle, dean of College of Education, and Dr. Hertz.

A student committee was formed to arrange and plan the next meeting. Members include Jerry Bell, Theresa Scott, John Bell, Martha Hohnston, Bob Alwood, and Dave Aycock.

ON CONSTITUTION

Second Discussion Calmer Than First

The third open meeting of the Constitution Committee will be held during the free hour at 10 a.m. tomorrow in S. 100. The meetings are being held to explain the proposed constitution to the students and to answer questions concerning it.

The meeting last week was the second in the indefinite series of these meetings. Meetings will most likely be held until the entire constitution can be explained and discussed. When student discussion on the proposed governmental plan has been completed, a campus-wide election will be held to give students a chance to ratify it. Students will be allowed to vote for or against either parts or the whole of the constitution. A two-thirds affirmative vote will be necessary for the constitution to pass.

During last week's meeting, Dick Murrell, chairman of the Constitution Committee, explained the proposed government outline prior to a discussion period on it. Murrell began the discussion by reading the constitution article by article and allowing discussion of each section. The meeting Tuesday will continue where discussion ended last week.

Last week's meeting was much calmer than the first one, even though almost 150 students attended and many sections were strenuously questioned. The parts of the constitution, which were completely discussed, were those concerning the membership of the student association and the division of power between legislative and executive branches.

Dr. Howard Johnshoy, dean of Student Affairs, suggested at the beginning of the meeting when discussion was primarily concerning the make-up of the student association, that since both sides of the argument had been discussed thoroughly, the issue should be left up to the students when they voted on the constitution.
