BAND MEMBERS MODEL NEW TRI-COLORED UNIFORMS

Modeled here by three USF students, George Uterhart, Bette Hasty and Kent Taylor, are the new tri-colored (green, gold and white) USF Band uniforms. George is wearing the "concert" uniform, Bette the women's uniform, and Kent the "marching" uniform. Note the back view of the "marching" uniform, which bears the initials USF. The band's final concert of the season, and the members' first in uniform, will be held at 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, May 24, in the teaching auditorium-theater.

USF Office Shift Due Before Fall

The space now available in the Library and the soon to be completed Life Sciences Building and Dormitory will mean an almost complete change in faculty offices, according to Robert L. Dennard, business manager and chairman of the physical plant and space use committee.

Plans for the proposed department changes have been made and will get under way at the end of this semester. All office changes are expected to be completed by next September when the Dormitory and Life Sciences Building are completed.

Next fall the health center will be located in the east wing of the top floor of the University Center. This space is presently being used for a girls' dorm. The English division will remain for the most part in the office area they occupied in the University Center this year.

The Chemistry Building, this year's Science Building and to be officially called Science Building No. 1, will house the physical sciences and the American idea course.

The Life Sciences Building, now under construction to the west of the present Science Building, will be called officially Science Building No. 2. This building will house the botany, biology, human behavior, and humanities section. The speech and hearing clinics will also be located in the new building to take advantage of a sound proof room being constructed there.

The College of Education will be located on the third floor of the new building. The Library Building will house the evaluation services and personnel from the various departments connected with the examining program on the fifth floor. The College of Business Administration will occupy the fourth floor and educational resources will be located in the Library's basement.

Seven offices will be constructed in the language laboratory for members of the language department. These proposed offices will be in the rear portion now used at times for classrooms.

THIRD MEETING POORLY ATTENDED

Vote Wednesday On Constitution

Only 25 people showed up for a discussion on the student government constitution last Tuesday at 10 a.m. The students that were present went over the sections of the constitution that had not been discussed previously.

All full and part-time students will vote on the ratification of the constitution Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the administration building and from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the UC. The ballot boxes will be located in the administration building and the UC.

Students may pick up a complete copy of the constitution with changes and corrections made at the UC information desk.

The voting will be done by sections, each section having a number that will correspond to a number on the ballot. If any section has over one-third negative votes, the section will be re-written. It will take two-thirds vote for ratification of the constitution.

The three discussion meetings that were held on the constitution attempted to, and did, give students a better understanding of the constitution. About 175 students showed interest by attending the meeting. Of the 175

First Impeachment

The University of South Florida's students have had their first impeachment of a student officer. Group 17 had a meeting last Tuesday in the UC and impeached their president, Jack Boyd, on grounds of gross negligence of duty by not calling any meetings.

The group elected a new president, Wanda Carter. Plans include throwing any other officer out of Group 17 who does not produce. Several other organizations on campus are considering similar action.

8 Musical Events Listed For Summer

Music seems to be the predominant theme for most of the events planned for the summer sessions at USF. Of the ten events now on the tentative summer schedule eight of them are musical events.

Three Chamber Music Concerts are on the agenda. These will be presented on June 29, July 13, and July 26. The first two will be held at 11 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. in the Teaching Auditorium Theater; the third will be held at 2 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. in the S-100.

Five Concerts There are five concerts planned. The first will be a piano concert, presented by Armin Watkins, professor of music, on June 22 at 11 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. On July 6, Edward Preodor, professor of music, will give a violin concert at 11 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. The University Band, at 2 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., on July 19, will present a concert.

In August there will be two additional concerts held. At 10 a.m. and 8:30 p.m., Aug. 1, the University - Community Symphony Orchestra will play. The season will conclude with a concert presented by the University-Community Chorus.

Two remaining items scheduled on the summer program are the only non-musical events. The first will be tryouts on June 21 for the play "Midsummer Night's Dream." The second will be the reading of the play, to be given on June 23.

All of the events, unless otherwise stipulated, will be held in the Teaching Auditorium Theater. All are open to the faculty, staff, students, and general public free of charge.

Hampton Heads Annual Staff

The top five positions on the annual staff for the coming year have been announced, according to George H. Miller, advisor to campus publications. Bill Hampton was elected editor; Merilee O'Berry, managing editor; Bill Alford, editorial coordinator; Guy Ross, photo editor, and Dee Norman, layout editor.

Present plans include adding a business manager, an art editor and advertising and subscription managers, as well as page editors. All of these positions will be filled from applications already received by the staff.

The staff has announced that they now have the tentative plans drawn up for the cover, the theme, and the various sections. Presently the theme and the cover design are being kept a deep, dark secret.

Dr. Zetler Has New Textbook Due Off Press

Dr. Robert L. Zetler, director of language and literature at the University of South Florida, has co-authored a communication textbook entitled "Successful Communication in Science and Industry—Reading, Writing, and Speaking" in collaboration with Dr. W. George Crouch, professor and chairman of the English department at the University of Pittsburgh. The book will be published in time for classes next fall by McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc., of New York.

Devoted to the techniques of writing, reading, and speaking, the book is keyed to the special problems of science and industry and draws upon these fields for practical problems, examples, questions, and discussion topics. Many examples are drawn from the area of nuclear physics.

The authors have class-tested much of the material for their textbook both in their college classes and in industrial training programs. Zetler and Crouch are also co-authors of three previously published textbooks, "A Guide to Technical Writing," "Advanced Writing," and "Effective Bank Letters."

Dr. Zetler, a native of Summerville, Pa., was on the staff of Chatham College at Pittsburgh before coming to USF in 1960. He is consultant in technical writing for the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Soft Talk and Study The library has added another convenience designed for students who find it necessary to study together. The rear portion of the library's reading room on the main floor has been designated as an area in which students may combine soft talking and study.

Coffee Break in the Clouds

Meanwhile, the faculty and staff members have found the location of the lounge on the fifth floor and there is now a boom in coffee breaks. Mrs. Ethel Scrivens is the attendant in charge. The going rate is five cents each for coffee, tea, or donut. Volume is on the upswing.

More than 60 faculty and staff members have picked up keys giving them elevator service to the fifth floor, the location of the lounge. Others desiring keys may pick them up at the receptionist desk at the main entrance or from the office of the director of the library.

Dr. Zetler has indicated the library collection is increasing all the time. There is a full-time staff of 13 people who receive new books and prepare them for the shelves. This group, which works unknown to most students, receives new material, catalogs and classifies it with its Library of Congress number, and then prepares it for the shelves. It was pointed out that the staff is presently ordering material requested by the faculty within two days unless it is out of print or not to be used in the immediate future.

The library received around 5,000 biographies several weeks ago, and is starting to process them. However, these books may be held back in favor of books needing to be processed in time for the summer session.

Walk Up Operation Students having business on the fifth floor of the library are instructed to use the elevator to the fourth floor and then walk up the stairs to the fifth. If the student so desires, he may have the person at the desk at the entrance of the library call to see if the person he wishes to see is in his office.

The faculty-staff lounge, located on the fifth floor along with the evaluation services, has been open for almost two weeks now. All faculty and staff have the privilege of using an elevator that ascends all the way to the top. This privilege is secured by means of lock and key.

All staff and faculty supposedly have keys to operate this convenience. Some library employees said the lounge isn't getting the use that is possible from the faculty, but attributed this to the fact that it just opened. They also added that more and more faculty and staff are beginning to use the lounge every day.

Term Paper Deadlines Boost Library Traffic

Cool Quiet Comfort Tops Parking Lot

By BILL BLALOCK JR.

Term paper deadlines and preparation for final exams have resulted in a sharp increase in traffic in the new University of South Florida library in recent days, according to Miss Anna L. Weaver, reference librarian.

Meanwhile, students are finding the library a much better place for study than the snack bar, the cafeteria or the back seat of a car in one of the parking lots.

Traffic 600 Plus Each Day On the average more than 550 students are using the library during the day, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., according to Mrs. Patricia Stanton, receptionist at the main entrance. Some 50 to 75 additional students are using the facilities at night.

The library checks out about 120 books a day for the two-week lending period. This figure does not include books used in the library and left to be reshelfed.

The reference and periodical areas on the second floor also have received extensive use. Miss Weaver pointed out there is a serials catalog located in the card catalog which lists all of the bound periodicals to be found in the library.

New Books Being Added Miss Weaver indicated the library collection is increasing all the time. There is a full-time staff of 13 people who receive new books and prepare them for the shelves. This group, which works unknown to most students, receives new material, catalogs and classifies it with its Library of Congress number, and then prepares it for the shelves. ### Orchestra's Second Performance Praised

By MELVIN REESE

Last Tuesday night the University-Community Symphony Orchestra gave its second performance of the year with Edward Preodor conducting in the Teaching Auditorium Theater. The orchestra is to be complimented on its lively performance and the fine presentation of the Beethoven Symphony.

The orchestra had difficulty holding the overture to "The Sorcerer's Apprentice," particularly in the beginning. The string section was noticeably weak but managed to improve once they started.

Miss Cynthia Wentz gave a marvelous performance of the Mozart A Major Piano Concerto. She balanced her tones well with those of the orchestra and not only gave the composition brilliance but added refinement and elegance. The orchestra lacked the polish that Miss Wentz showed in her performance. The piano was never overpowered but the intonation of the orchestra was not exceptional.

The Brandenburg Concerto No. 2, although difficult, was well presented. An exceptional performance was given by the flute and violin soloists.

The orchestra rose above themselves with the performance of the Beethoven Symphony No. 1. The Beethoven Symphony was one of the major works and consisted of four movements. Utilizing the full sound of the classical orchestra, the Beethoven brought out the best features of the University Orchestra. The ensemble and musical approach to each of the four movements displayed the fine quality of work done by the orchestra and its conductor during the school year.

CAMPUS ROUNDUP

'Big' Alligator Found in USF Patio Pool

By CAROL MARTIN

University of South Florida—Wildlife has invaded the USF campus in recent days. Among the latest of the invaders was a 4-foot alligator which found itself in one of the patio pools in the Administration Building.

Dr. Glen E. Woolfenden, professor in biology, and his lab assistant, Jim Lanier, "wrestled" the beast and finally removed him from the pool. Meanwhile, two garter snakes were removed from the Library patio where they had caused an uproar by two girls on "patio dates." (Editor's note: Have you ever wiggled your toes in that grass in the Library patio. Cool man, cool.)

Jacksonville University—A coed, Pat Rodd, has become the third girl in as many years to be awarded Jacksonville University's Wells Activities Cup, the junior college division's highest extra-curricular activity honor.

University of Miami—Dr. Raymond Van Dusen, a member of the University faculty since 1946 and chairman of the Department of Speech, is resigning, effective at the end of the present semester next month, to become coordinator of basic studies at Brevard Junior College, Cocoa.

Stetson University—Stetson music students Jack Jones, junior organ major from Ormond Beach, and Charles Moore, sophomore from Funston, Ga., have won first and second places, respectively, in the American Guild of Organists competition held in Charlotte, N.C.

Palm Beach Junior College—A new two-year terminal program in law enforcement will be open to all qualified students next fall, according to Dr. Harold C. Manor, president of Palm Beach Junior College.

Manatee Junior College—MJC debaters won top honors in the recent Florida State Junior College Forensic tournament at West Palm Beach.

University of Tampa—A bulletin board established in the administration building provides information on school and travel for the summer vacation period.

Florida State University—Ten FSU graduating seniors, including five coeds, were elected to the 1961 Hall of Fame, one of the highest honors which can come to a senior.

Florida Southern College—Copies of the Interlachen, Southern's yearbook, have been distributed to the students. This year the yearbook is dedicated to Dr. Robert MacGowan, professor of philosophy.

University of Florida—Tau Kappa Epsilon received the Tau McCarthy Trophy for outstanding fraternity service at the Inter-Fraternity Council banquet on campus recently.

University of Miami—Dean of Women Mary Brunson was honored recently at the third annual tea and open house in Eaton Hall. Faculty, students and administration were invited to the dormitory.

Jacksonville University—Betty Chappell Thayer topped a list of 10 sophomores elected to membership in Phi Theta Kappa, junior college academic national honor society. Betty's grade point average is 3.903 out of a possible 4.0.

Palm Beach Junior College—More than 300 people attended the recent Open House at PBJC, according to Dean Rachel Crozier. The visitors came to see the college and to meet the faculty and administration.

Manatee Junior College—Dean R. R. Oglesby, dean of students at Florida State University, will be this year's Manatee Junior College graduation speaker, according to Dr. Samuel Neel, college president.

Florida State University—One hundred twenty-four freshmen women have been initiated into the school this summer. The laboratory will cost approximately $10,000.

University of Florida—The Museum of Modern Art in New York City recently purchased "The Window Series," a lithographic series by Clinton Adams, head of the department of art and who is currently on a leave of absence.

University of Florida—Four

UF senior men were named to represent the university on the GE College Bowl Quiz. The contestants were selected after an elimination program that began in March with about 50 candidates.

University of Miami—Comments exercises will be held June 12 in the Miami Beach Convention Hall at 8 p.m., for University of Miami seniors.

Jacksonville University—Pat Kean, junior, has been elected president of next year's Student Government. Three seniors, John Wessling, Elzie Sanders and Shirley Aichel, were tapped into Green Key, the university's honorary leadership society.

Manatee Junior College—A fully equipped Dicta-Lab language system will be installed in the school this summer. The laboratory will cost approximately $10,000.

University of Florida—The Museum of Modern Art in New York City recently purchased "The Window Series," a lithographic series by Clinton Adams, head of the department of art and who is currently on a leave of absence.

EDITORIAL

Communications Problem

There seems to be some serious lack of coherent communication between administration and students here at the University of South Florida.

There is one official bulletin issued weekly by the administration. It comes out every Wednesday from the office of Dr. Lewis B. Mayhew, director of evaluation service and institutional research. It is the official voice of the faculty and administration.

This bulletin is not distributed for student use. Faculty members are expected to relay pertinent information to students. This is generally not done.

The voice of day to day administrative policy, then, is the faculty, and in whatever way they deliver the word.

The recent policy indicating punishment for inappropriate dress was printed in this university bulletin. We wonder how many students ever heard about this statement of policy, except as it was interpreted in the paper last week.

Why can't such information be communicated directly to students? If such a policy has been set up, it seems only logical that students should know about it. If the newspaper misinterpreted the policy, the students should know that too.

This policy was printed for distribution to students only once. It was in the pamphlet issued to all incoming students entitled "Courses, Classes and Programs." The only problem with this is there were not enough to go around.

All students must have this information, if they are to be expected to respond correctly.

There is an official bulletin board in the administration building. Someone has taken the locks off and persists in removing important announcements and replacing them with meeting notices. This has resulted in another gaping hole in communications.

A more efficient line of communication is not only desirable, it is necessary. It is obvious that students cannot uphold administrative policy if they do not know exactly what it is.

If there is room for meeting notices on bulletin boards, surely there is room for statements of administrative policy concerning students as often as they are necessary.

Another problem of communication arises when an office on campus attempts to locate a student to give him a message. It seems that some professors move their classes arbitrarily from one class room to another. Consequently, if a student cannot be found in his regularly scheduled classroom, an all-out search must take place.

What would happen if it was necessary to locate a student in case of an emergency?—W. P.

'Secrecy' Newton's Key Topic

"Secrecy in the Federal Government" was the main topic discussed at an autograph party held at 10 a.m. Tuesday in honor of V. M. (Red) Newton Jr., managing editor of The Tampa Tribune and author of the book "Crusade for Democracy."

Newton graduated from the University of Florida with an A.B. in liberal arts, and has served as national president of Sigma Delta Chi, distinguished journalism society. He also was the recipient of the following awards: Free-Enterprise, Freedom Award, Distinguished Service Award and was named Author of the Year.

In Two Parts

"Crusade for Democracy" was given as a series of lectures at the University of Florida. It is divided into two parts: The first is the story of Florida politics for the last 15 years, the second part concerns the secrecy in government in Washington.

He said that he felt that the Kennedy administration had not only retained the secrecy around government, but has actually tightened the secrecy even further. He brought out the fact that President Kennedy had called for a "voluntary censorship" of the newspapers AFTER the "Cuban situation had occurred" and had tried to put much of the blame of the Cuban invasion on the U.S. press.

Ignorance and Apathy

Newton went on to say that the "smoke screen" that has been drawn around government in the last 25 years has led to the ignorance and apathy of the American people towards our government and toward our foreign relations. This can be proved he felt by the fact that though $75 billion has been spent in foreign aid in the last decade, yet the American people had still not been given the chance to find out where their money has gone.

He felt that the two areas where secrecy in government has affected the American people the most was in defense and diplomacy. He said that this secrecy in some ways had led to the "isolation of Berlin," the Korean conflict, China, Laos, the Cuban situations, the loss of Poland to the Communists, and the decrease in American prestige.

He finished by saying "uninformed American people are a greater menace to freedom than any Communist menace." — M.J.E.

Rehearsal Set For USF Choral Program

The University of South Florida choir, including the University Chorus and the University-Community Chorus, will hold a rehearsal 7 p.m., Monday, May 22, in the Teaching Auditorium-Theater. The combined choirs will rehearse with the University Orchestra in preparation of the May 28 choral program to be presented in the University's Teaching Auditorium-Theater.

R. Wayne Hugoboom, associate professor of music at USF, is director of the University choirs.

INTRAMURALS

T.U. Beats USF; Rematch May 25

By JOHN GULLETT
The University of Tampa's "improvised" track team took first place in eight of the 11 events in the USF track meet May 15 at Chamberlain Field, giving the Spartans the unofficial intramural title between the two schools.

Neither university has an organized track team, but the two clubs were organized "just for fun." Sam Bailey, Tampa U. business manager and coach of the 19-man club, said before the meet, "We have the quickest organized track team in the history of sports. We started organizing at 11 a.m. this morning."

The Spartans won the meet by a wide margin, scoring a total of 67½ points to USF's 44½.

South Florida's only firsts were in the 440-yard dash, where John Moore ran a 57.5; the mile relay, with Mark Storrs, Francis Midkiff, Vic Cafaro, and Moore, winning time set at 4:04.4; and the high jump, where a two-way tie for first by Frank Meiners and Roy Graham boosted their team's total.

Interest Lacking
Richard D. Hunter, physical education instructor and coordinator of the USF sponsored meet, showed disappointment at his school's participation. "Interested students were given over a month to prepare for the afternoon's festivities, but very few showed up on the big day."

Less than 20 men from South Florida participated in the meet. "It's apparent," he said, "that the same group of fellows are in each activity that is offered at the university. Students always have something to say about lack of school spirit, but when the means are available to boost it, these same students are too busy to even come out and watch the events." There were about 150 spectators at the meet.

Immediately following the event, the University of Tampa returned the action of USF by challenging them to a second day of dual competition Thursday, May 25, at an undesignated site.

More Athletes Needed
Hunter made an urgent "call for help," asking that all interested parties sign up in the physical education office.

UC Committee's Subgroups Active

By JIM DIXON
The University Center Committee, with all of its subcommittees, have kept the activities rolling throughout the academic year.

The UC Dance Committee was responsible for the appearance of the Velvets at the dance, Saturday, May 20, in the UC Ballroom. The dance committee has planned another dance for all university students and faculty Saturday, May 27. The dance will be free and will feature Bob Blake and his band. This will be entitled "The Final Fling," as it will be the last dance of the semester. Dress will be casual.

The River Project

The UC Recreation Committee sponsored a car wash on Saturday, May 20, at the Standard Oil Station on the corner of Dale Mabry and Henderson Boulevard. The proceeds from this project will go toward the river project.

All UC committee members are invited to a dessert in the University Center at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 27. All members are requested to sign up for this activity at the information desk.

Duplicate bridge is still available for "card board" fans, every Thursday at 7 p.m. in UC 242. The hands are the same as those used by the faculty on Tuesdays.
