P.E.—INTRAMURAL

Enota-Turk Tilt Tops Grid Slate

A spirited Enota club, temporarily disheartened by the previous week's happenings, came through with a fourth-quarter pass interception play and a brilliant bit of defensive work for a 6-0 first-division victory over Epelta Tuesday during the second week of intramural touch football play.

The Enotas return to action today in a battle for first place among first-division teams, taking the undefeated Terrible Turks at 4:30 p.m. on Field 3. Action on Field 2 today will include a 3:30 p.m. contest between the Blue Devils and Alpha III, followed by a 4:30 p.m. game between the Mauers and Alpha IV-W.

Wednesday, CIEO and Outer Alpha will tangle at 4:30 p.m. on Field 2, while the Skeeters and the All-Stars match wits on Field 3.

The week's action will wind-up with two 4:30 p.m. contests, including an Arete and Epelta match, and a Disciples and Alpha IV-W meeting.

New Entry Deadline
Friday has been set as the deadline for the addition of new members to teams in either league, according to League Coordinator Jean McCarthy.

The Oct. 31 game was a battle of defensive wits, with Enota coming out on top in all departments. The winners managed three first downs in the contest, and played almost entirely at mid-field.

Defensive work by John Bell, Howard Kingry, Frank Meiners, and John Ward kept Epelta in their own territory, and an interception by Ward mid-way through the last period provided the only score needed to give Enota the win.

Enota's First Win
The victory was the first for Enota, since its 8-6 win over Alpha II-W Oct. 26 was successfully protested by the losers. The game will be played later in the season, with play resuming at the point of protest, and Alpha II-W leading 6-0.

Star-Gazing Party Draws Interest Here

By VIRGINIA MONTES

In this day of astronauts and flying saucers, everyone seems to have caught the "space bug," including University of South Florida. Evidence of this was a star-gazing party held on the USF campus last Friday.

The session was sponsored by the Tampa Amateur Astronomical Association. It gave interested persons a chance to view such spectacles as the rings of Saturn, the Andromeda and Ring Nebulas, the largest of all planets, Jupiter, and double-star systems.

Highlights of the session was the unveiling of a 10-inch reflecting telescope, built from scratch by seven members of the association. According to Jack Tanner, chairman of the group, the 10-inch telescope is the third scope constructed by the club, and the most ambitious project undertaken so far. This project, carried out during the members' spare time, took more than a year to build.

Club members who helped build the telescope were Tanner, Everett Randall, Mario Tata, George Monroe, Stuart

Jenks, Charles Hickey, and John Lisse.

For Student Use

The telescope will be kept at USF, and will be used by students and faculty members until the university is able to purchase an even larger instrument. The association hopes to make the "star party" an annual event.

That the star party was to be a success was evident from last Monday, Oct. 30, when the story concerning it appeared in one of the Tampa papers. Some "space bugs" were so eager that they came out Monday night, looking for the "party." After discovering that they were five days early, they left, but promised to return for the Friday night session.

Alpha Hall Elects

The residents of Alpha Hall have elected officers to the Residence Hall Council. This council will act as an executive council to the section leaders and will relay information to the residents through them.

Those elected are president, Chet Cornwall; vice president, Marcella Torres; secretary-treasurer, Aileen Avirett; program chairman, Lynda Miller; athletic chairman, Bill Terry; and publicity chairman, Jim Albritton.

The president and the vice president will represent Alpha Hall on the Executive Council of the Student Association.

Crowds See Play

Almost every seat in the Teaching Auditorium-Theater was filled on Oct. 27 and Oct. 28, when Pulitzer Prize winner Mark Van Doren's play "The Last Days of Lincoln" was presented here.

Please Pardon the Interruptions!

If you are a frequent user of telephone service, you may have experienced unusual difficulty in placing local calls during the past three to four weeks. These difficulties have appeared in the form of broken connections during conversations, recurrent dial tone while dialing a number, clicking or static-like noises on your line and possibly at rare intervals, three or four calls on the same line.

We're sure you'll be happy to know this is a temporary situation. In order to convert the equipment presently serving 80,000 Tampa area subscribers so that it will respond properly to the new seven-digit numbers starting November 5, we have had to make thousands of equipment changes.

Even though we knew we would be causing a number of service interferences, we decided to make these thousands of changes and provide as good a service as possible until this tremendous renovation had been completed.

With more than 80,000 changes involved, we also expect a few "bugs" to appear for a few days after the changeover. However, we are confident that service will return to normal by the end of this week.

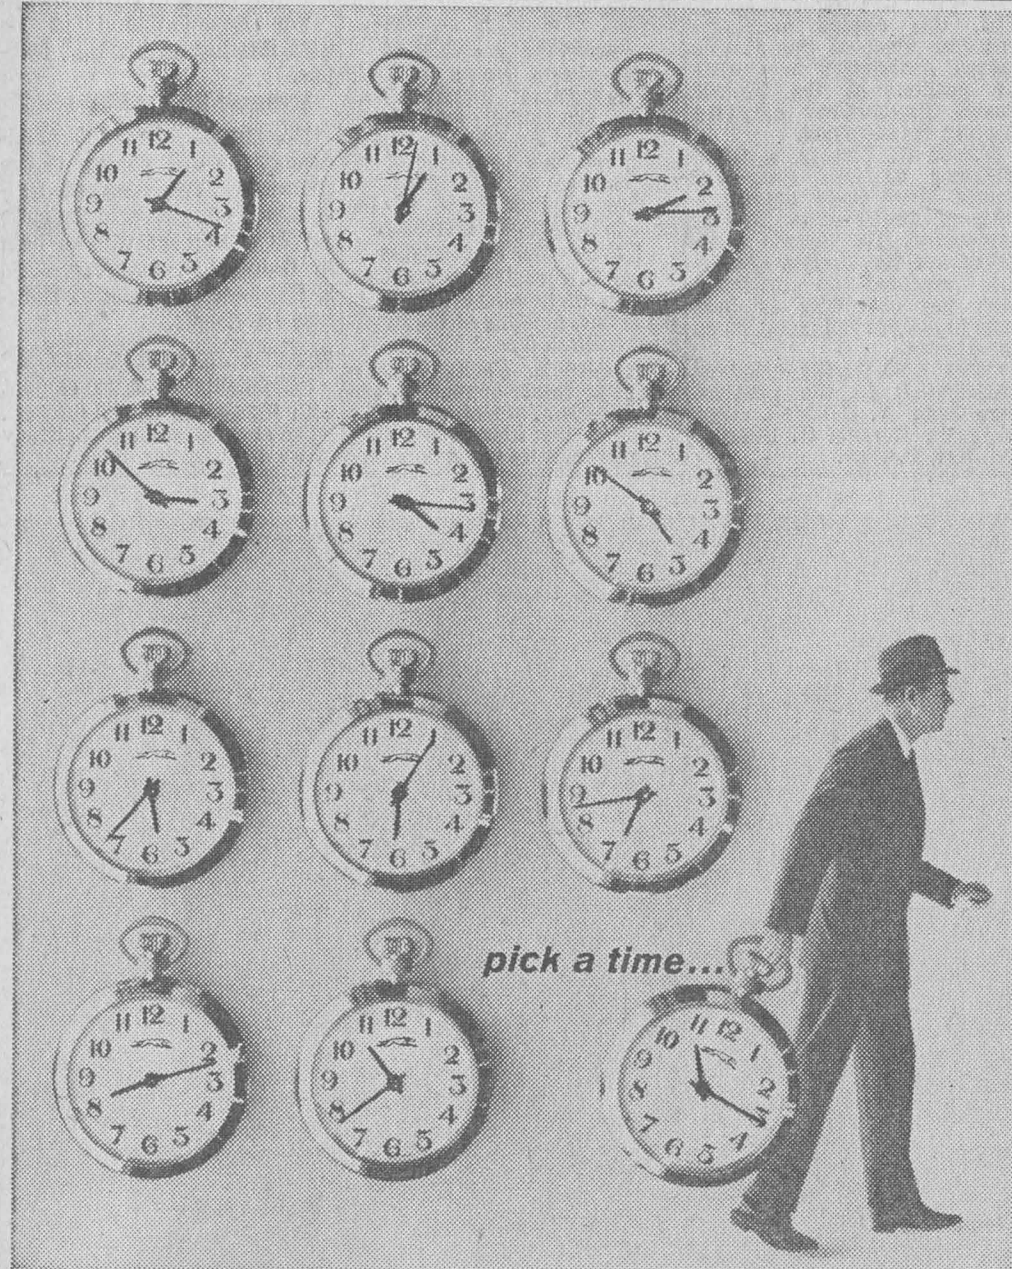

As a result of this change, which affects more than 50% of the telephones in the Tampa area, the busy condition occasionally encountered when dialing WEBster 8 central office, and the numbers which have been changed from REDwood 5, 6 and 7, will be alleviated.

When all remaining Tampa area numbers change to the new seven-digit system next March 18, the problem of receiving a busy signal before dialing is completed will be completely eliminated.

We thank you for your patience and understanding of the many problems which we, the more than 4200 employees of General Telephone Company of Florida, encounter as we strive to provide the best service possible to the more than 400,000 telephones in use throughout our Central West Coast area of Florida.

"TEENAGE MILLIONAIRE"

NO INDIANS ON WARPATH

Murrow Asks Films on Real U.S.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 6 (UP) — Edward R. Murrow, U.S. Information Agency (USIA) director, has urged the film industry to produce epics or travelogues in order to erase some foreign beliefs that Chicago is wracked by gang wars and Indians still threaten settlers west of the Mississippi.

He said Hollywood's light entertainment often was interpreted abroad as representing the real America and had extraordinary impact on people in new nations — particularly the illiterate.

"There are many people abroad who think that beyond the Mississippi lie badlands still periled by warring Indians, that all other Americans live in penthouse apartments and wear tailored furs," he said.

Some believe that a woman without a 40-inch bust can not be an American, Murrow said.

yesterday in a speech to representatives of the film industry. He urged producers to make films which showed the world who Americans were, what they were like, how they lived and what they did.

"We are not asking you to surrender the prerogatives of the free press to cover any aspect of America that you choose . . . we are not asking you to load your guns in favor of this administration," he said.

"But we are asking you to deal in truth with yourselves and your country's future, and to realize that what you do will be seen, absorbed, and felt by millions of people the world over."

The mercury soared to a record-breaking 78 degrees. The previous all-time high for Nov. 5 was 74, set in 1938.

Removal of Stalin's Body Logical Step

NEW YORK, Nov. 6 (UPI)—The removal of Josef Stalin's body from its place of honor in Red Square was the final and logical step in a series of events that started shortly after his death in 1953.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev carefully engineered Stalin's removal this week in an inconspicuous move along the side of the Kremlin, leaving the remains of Vladimir Lenin alone in the mausoleum visited by millions annually.

When Stalin died March 5, 1953, he was proclaimed as "the wise leader and teacher of the Communist party and Soviet people."

But shortly afterwards, criticism of the "cult of the personality" of the Soviet leader began to appear, without mentioning Stalin by name.

Less than three years after Stalin's embalmed body was enshrined in the glass-topped coffin in the mausoleum, Khrushchev denounced him as "insufferable . . . brutal . . . sickly suspicious."

But Khrushchev did not feel then that the Soviet public, conditioned for 30 years to regard Stalin as the benevolent, czar-like father of the nation, was ready for the abrupt change.

Khrushchev's 1956 denunciation was kept secret. It was not until last week that he repeated most of the charges at the 22nd Communist Party Congress, and permitted the Soviet people to learn about them in the press and broadcasts.

Khrushchev and Stalin's other successors have carefully controlled their repudiation of Stalinism from getting out of hand. They have not always been successful.

Enough of Khrushchev's secret speech leaked out to the satellite nations to become a major factor in the 1956 revolts in Poland and Hungary. The satellite populations reasoned that if Stalin was a criminal and his rule unjust, the same applied to their own ruling Stalin.

But despite Khrushchev's care in the de-Stalinization campaign, Soviet affairs experts here are concerned that he may be going too far too fast, even after eight and one-half years.

They predicted Khrushchev may seek to ally the shock of the attacks on Stalin through a tougher foreign policy, perhaps sharpening the Berlin crisis.

The experts believe Khrushchev's attacks on a man long dead are being made to fight a present danger to his rule—Stalinist tendencies in the Communist world, in particular, Communist China and its ally, Albania, who oppose Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence policy.

"The campaign is primarily related to efforts to make it impossible for the neo-Stalinists in the Sino-Soviet bloc to exercise influence," one Soviet affairs analyst said.

"By making a public instead of a secret denunciation, Khrushchev's irrevocable commitment against Stalinism becomes plain, and neo-Stalinist pressure is meaningless."

Whatever the reasons for the change, the Russians are being given a vastly different picture of Stalin than the one they learned in school and at party meetings.

Barbecue Hints

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—A Michigan State University foods and nutrition specialist indicates there's more to the cook-out than just putting the meat on the fire.

Anita Dean, the specialist, says charcoal won't produce the even heat it should if subject to drafts. She also says barbecue sauce should be used sparingly unless the aim is to mask the natural meat flavor; extra charcoal should be warmed before being added to the fire and good ventilation is essential when using a charcoal fire indoors because it uses a large amount of oxygen.

UNLIMITED EARNINGS FOR ELDERS

Lifting of Restrictions Urged

By ROBERT PETERSON

For years I've been trying to support Uncle Sam's contention that elders who earn more than $1,200 a year should forfeit something from their social security checks.

I took my unpopular stand after going to Washington, digging into the facts, and making an honest effort to understand the reasoning behind the social security law restricting the earnings of beneficiaries between the ages of 62 and 72.

Not Intended

Those with whom I talked reminded me that the social security program was not intended to serve those elders lucky and healthy enough to continue working. Instead, it was devised primarily to help those seniors who could no longer work.

Looking at it from that point of view there seemed to be merit in this law requiring that those healthy and active enough to earn more than a hundred a month should relinquish a bit of their social security.

But I'm changing my mind. People have come to view their social security benefits as inalienable rights, and the law restricting their income has been held up to such ridicule and castigation that it has ceased to be regarded as a sound and worthy instrument.

Its very existence seem to undermine man's faith in the integrity of our laws, as witness a letter sent to this column recently which asserts, "This law is so stupid that I have begun to question all the laws under which we live."

Four Reasons

Although I continue to respect the premise on which this law was based, I think this earnings restriction should now be abolished for these reasons:

First, the reasoning behind this law is not easy to understand. Second, it violates our traditions to be told that a man who retires can receive a pension, while a man who has the spunk and will to continue working must forfeit all or part of such a pension.

Third, it is discriminatory because it is geriatrically unsound to do anything which discourages—rather than encourages—older people from working as long and as enthusiastically as they possibly can.

Fourth, it is geriatrically unsound to do anything which discourages—rather than encourages—older people from working as long and as enthusiastically as they possibly can.

Of course, there are those who would like to abolish the entire social security program and who contend that people should stand on their own feet and provide for their own support in old age. But experiences

'Battling' Average

CHICAGO (UPI)—The average man blinks once every three seconds and the average woman once every four seconds, according to Dr. George N. Jensen, chairman of the National Contact Lens Month Committee.

A nervous person, Jensen added, may blink as much as 40 per cent of the time. Blinking is accomplished in 4/10 of a second and propels tears over the cornea at the rate of 1/3 dram each hour or several teaspoonsful a day. Actual crying increases the tear output 100 per cent, he said.

Flying Team

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio. (AP)—When Brook Oertel, president of a fishing tackle firm, flies his plane on business trips, his co-pilot is his wife, Emma.

The couple, grandparents of three, got interested in flying when a son-in-law became an Air Force pilot. They took instruction and passed their tests together.

"In my many years as a government flight instructor," says Norman Johnson of the Federal Aviation Agency, "this is the first husband and wife I know of to pass private flying tests on the same day."

Cantinflas in Style

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexican film comic Cantinflas, one of the highest-paid entertainers in the world, lives in a style the Hollywood of old was accustomed to but can no longer afford.

He's reported to own six automobiles, a yacht and a twin-engine airplane. What's more, he has four homes, including a ranch.

Cost of TV

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American public is now spending close to $500 million a year for electricity just to keep their television sets going, according to the Edison Electric Institute.

New Contac

All-day decongestant capsule gives up to 8 hours more relief than any leading "cold pill"

Read how Contac works

You get fast relief from Contac. And, more important, just one Contac capsule gives you up to 12 hours of continuous relief—up to 8 hours longer than a single dose of any leading "cold pill."

In fact, we believe one Contac capsule gives you more relief than any leading "cold pill" taken 3 or 4 times a day. Contac gives you continuous relief—continuous relief from itching, weeping eyes, sneezing; running or stuffed-up nose; congested nasal passages. Contac's relief lasts all day or all night, unlike the so-called "cold pills" that become ineffective after 3 or 4 hours.

Here are the facts about
Contac's all-day, all-night relief

Each Contac capsule contains more than 600 tiny "time pills." Some go to work right away. The rest are scientifically timed to dissolve gradually in your digestive system, to release their remarkable medications into your blood stream drop by drop for up to 12 hours of continuous relief. Contac maintains a continuous level of medication in your blood stream—circulating with every pulse beat.

Of course, if you have more than just a simple head cold or hay fever—if you have a temperature or if you don't improve in a couple of days—you should most certainly consult your doctor.

Only Contac gives you this unique, therapeutic formula!

1. A proven antihistamine to relieve sneezing, excessive nasal discharge, and itching and watering of the eyes due to head colds or hay fever.
2. A fast-acting decongestant to reduce swelling in congested nasal passages and to allow them to drain, relieving discomfort.
3. A special antisecretory agent to "dry up" excessive watering of the eyes and nasal secretions.

Feel better all day!
Sleep better all night!

Now, instead of dosing yourself every few hours with the "cold remedies" you've been using, get Contac. Take one Contac capsule in the morning and feel better all day, one at bedtime and sleep better all night.

This is the first time anything like Contac—pill, powder or capsule—has been available without a doctor's prescription! Only continuous action Contac gives up to 12 hours of relief with a single dose—a sustained, therapeutic level of relief no one-layer, two-layer or three-layer "cold pill" can equal. Next time you have a cold or hay fever, get Contac. And get the relief you've been hoping for.

Ask your pharmacist for Contac
—"the capsule that thinks!"
