Rhonda,

We have used a Hover Cam in our library for a few years. I do not recall that we have used it for a ledger (large) before, but it has been very helpful in capturing images of history books, directories, etc. which are too fragile to 'flip' over onto a scanner.

I realize this is not a high volume scanner that you may be looking for, but it is very cheap compared to some other products.

I am looking for information on overhead scanners that will do ledger books. Is anyone currently using one they would recommend? One they would not recommend?
Thanks!

Subject: [Genealib] NYC Death Certificates
Message-ID: <000701d33c66$90700eb0$b1502c10$@att.net>

Unfortunately NYC is not Texas and no 25 years doesn't work for NYC. If the person died before 1948 they can get copies from the NYC Municipal Archives (DORIS) http://www.nyc.gov/html/records/html/archives/genealogy.shtml

After 1948 one has to go to the BNYC Department of Health
https://www1.nyc.gov/site/doh/services/death-certificates.page

Effective January 2015 the NYC Department of Health further limited who may obtain a death certificate:

The Board of Health for the City of New York adopted changes to the New York City Health Code articles 205 and 207 in late 2014. A public hearing was held on November 14, 2014 and no comments were received. The proposal was presented to the Board of Health on October 7, 2014 in response to a comment from one of the board's members. Unfortunately the genealogical community was not aware of the hearing or notice. At its December 9, 2014 meeting the Board of Health adopted the new articles which may be read at:

Basically it expands access to confidential medical reports for deaths that occurred prior to January 1, 2010 and clarifies who may obtain a death certificate. Genealogists are not included. It adds siblings, grandparents and grandchildren to the list of people who may access confidential medical reports of death.
The only persons who may obtain or inspect records, files, reports, transcripts about deaths are:

1) the spouse, domestic partner, parent, child, sibling, grandparent or grandchild of the decedent,

(2) the legal representative of the estate of the decedent, or the individual identified on a death certificate filed with the Department as the person in control of the disposition;

(3) a party with a property right who demonstrates to the Department that information beyond the fact of the death of the decedent is necessary to protect or assert a right of that party;

(4) a funeral director who requests the record or information within twelve (12) months of when the death of his or her client was registered; or

5) persons or government agencies who otherwise establish that such records are necessary or required for a judicial or other proper purpose[;]or to prevent the misuse or misappropriation of City, state or federal governmental funds

As of January 12, 2015 the New York City Department of Health announced the new rules are in effect.

To make matters worse the NYC Department of Health has a new proposal with hearing set for October 24 which would implement 125 years for birth and 75 years for death. See the landing page of the NYGBS for the genealogical response:

The North Carolina Genealogical Society is delighted to present: J. Mark Lowe

"NC Taxes: People, Places, Time & Delinquency?"
An encore presentation!
A free viewing period of the recorded webinar will be 6-8 October 2017.

About the Webinar:
Discover the variety of North Carolina tax records, and how they can tell you more than the amount due. Learn where they are located and when to look at alternate sources for information. Taxation in the Americas began within the colonies for the crown. By the time the constitution was written in 1787, all colonies were taxing citizens on property, capitation (head), livestock, and other properties. The constitution gave specific authority to the state to levy and collect taxes. For purposes of our discussion, we will focus on the levy on people (poll tax), property, and other personalty.

Please share what steps you have taken to protect your collections when hurricanes threaten your area. Which have been most successful and which would you do differently next time? Have any of you used fabric-like hurricane screens which drape over the windows? What were your experiences with them?

Thank you.

Fairfax County Public Library's Virginia Room has more periodicals to trade. Please respond to our volunteer, Fran, at Bfm1010 at cox.net and Frances.Millhouser2 at fairfaxcounty.gov. Be sure to include your mailing address in your email so that we can make your mailing label. There's an Excel and a pdf version of the same list, so I hope everyone will be able to open it. My apologies for the attachments, but the county won't let us use any file-sharing sites.

If you don't have anything to trade, please send a check for postage reimbursement (made out to Fairfax County Public Library) to

Laura Wickstead
Virginia Room
10360 North St.
Fairfax, VA 22030

Trades are allotted on a first-come, first-served basis. The volunteer will include a packing list of your requests in your shipment with a check mark indicating that the item is included in the shipment, or an N/A meaning that the item is Not Available because someone else's request was received before yours.

At the end of August, my library received an email from FamilySearch indicating that affiliate libraries could receive access to restricted records by providing FamilySearch support with the library's IP address range. I did so, about a month ago, and they claimed we'd have access in a few days. This has not been the case. I've called weekly, sent emails, etc. and we are yet to receive any additional access.

I'm wondering, first of all, if anyone at an Affiliate Library has successfully received access to the restricted records and, if you have, what steps did you take to get access? Also does anyone have any tips for getting through FamilySearch support? (I feel like I'm just going round-and-round with them every time I call.)

Thank you for any advice and tips you can provide!

Best,

Lauren,

I'm wondering if it is a pilot program. We are an affiliate and haven't received any sort of notification. Has anyone else? I also agree about the technical support. Since it is mainly volunteers, it can be difficult to get transferred to the correct person.

Thanks,

Jennifer D.

We are an affiliate library and we did not receive notification about being able to view restricted records but a patron got the pop-up at home and told me about it.
I knew something was coming but was waiting for an official word from FamilySearch.

I went ahead and called FamilySearch and got the paperwork to give them our IP address. I sent it back and within a week the patrons who were interested in accessing the materials were able to.

I still haven't received any email or official notification from FamilySearch about us having access and I haven't had a chance to call them to get the official word. I was told we would receive an email confirming that they received our IP address and we were officially able to view the restricted records but I never did.

When I did call about some films that patrons ordered that hadn't yet been received I asked about their back log. They said it would be 2-3 weeks. They were working on getting the films out to affiliate libraries that were ordered close to or on the deadline date.

At the moment there are only two patrons who had inquired about restricted records and now are coming in and able to view the records that they could not view from home. We would like to advertise it but I have to make a call to FamilySearch just to confirm or find out if they have official wording for affiliate libraries.

We are an affiliate and just got the email from FamilySearch this past Friday. They likely will be rolling this out in stages, and knowing what I know from past interactions with FamilySearch Support, there will be a lot of bugs and hiccups to Whenever I call FamilySearch I'll straight up ask the first volunteer if I can speak with a supervisor. You can also send an email thru their "contact us" page. Try sending it to the Family History Centers Category, and they will hopefully forward the email up the chain of command to someone who can help.

Lauren,
I'm wondering if it is a pilot program. We are an affiliate and haven't received any sort of notification. Has anyone else? I also agree about the technical support. Since it is mainly volunteers, it can be difficult to get transferred to the correct person.

Thanks,

At the end of August, my library received an email from FamilySearch indicating that affiliate libraries could receive access to restricted records by providing FamilySearch support with the library's IP address range. I did so, about a month ago, and they claimed we'd have access in a few days. This has not been the case. I've called weekly, sent emails, etc. and we are yet to receive any additional access.

I'm wondering, first of all, if anyone at an Affiliate Library has successfully received access to the restricted records and, if you have, what steps did you take to get access? Also does anyone have any tips for getting through FamilySearch support? (I feel like I'm just going round-and-round with them every time I call.)

Thank you for any advice and tips you can provide!

We are an affiliate and received an email a month or so ago. Last week I received a phone call from them and was told to call the support center and give them our IP address so access could be set up. They said I would receive an email in a week or so letting me know the access was complete.

We are an affiliate and just got the email from FamilySearch this past Friday. They likely will be rolling this out in stages, and knowing what I know from past interactions with FamilySearch Support, there will be a lot of bugs and hiccups to work thru.

Whenever I call FamilySearch I'll straight up ask the first volunteer if I can speak with a supervisor. You can also send an email thru their contact us page. Try sending it to the Family History Centers Category, and they will hopefully forward the email up the chain of command to someone who can help.

I called the FamilySearch phone # from the email that we received on August 30th. 1-866-406-1830., I think I remember being transferred. I received a case # and then went from there. I honestly don't know who I spoke with. I didn't write down a name. I spoke with two different people on two different occasions. We weren't assigned one person to deal with.

We are an affiliate library and we did not receive notification about being able to view restricted records but a patron got the pop-up at home and told me about it. I knew something was coming but was waiting for an official word from FamilySearch.

I went ahead and called FamilySearch and got the paperwork to give them our IP address. I sent it back and within a week the patrons who were interested in accessing the materials were able to.

I still haven't received any email or official notification from FamilySearch about us having access and I haven't had a chance to call them to get the official word. I was told we would receive an email confirming that they received our IP address and we were officially able to view the restricted records but I never did.

When I did call about some films that patrons ordered that hadn't yet been received I asked about their back log. They said it would be 2-3 weeks. They were working on getting the films out to affiliate libraries that were ordered close to or on the deadline date.

At the moment there are only two patrons who had inquired about restricted records and now are coming in and able to view the records that they could not view from home. We would like to advertise it but I have to make a call to FamilySearch just to confirm or find out if they have official wording for affiliate libraries.

Hi Lauren,

The Algonquin Area Public Library has been successful in gaining additional access to some additional records. It happened within a few days after we sent in our IP ranges. There was no notification when it went live - it was our patrons who first discovered they could now access Chicago Death Certificates within the library which they are unable to access from home. Attached is a copy of the email I was sent and the form I was asked to submit with our IP ranges.

When I called Support, I got forwarded several times so I'm not sure which department eventually handled the request. Sorry, not help there.

Although we have increased access, I know that there are still some records that are restricted specifically to church members. Is there a specific microfilm # you are trying to access? I can check on our end to confirm if we have access to it as an Affiliate Library.

I don't remember any official notification that we got from FamilySearch, but we knew access was forthcoming and eventually contacted them to find out how. I wasn’t the one who did this, but the staff member who did spent a lot of time navigating their support.

Once we provided the IP address, we got access within a reasonable amount of time on our public computers. We found that our reference and workroom computers were not getting access, though, and contacted FamilySearch again. They couldn’t help us. It occurred to me to ask our IT department, and it turns out we have two IP addresses for these separate networks. Now, everything seems to work most of the time, but I think there are still bugs.

We also have access at our branches, which is something I never expected.

I have the same story. We are also an Affiliate Library. I provided FamilySearch with our ip addresses a few weeks ago via the form they sent me. I didn't get any notification that it was received or acted upon, but on Friday we had a patron request for a book via Interlibrary Loan, but I was able to find it on familysearch.org using my staff computer. The patron couldn't access it from home, as it said it was restricted to a Family History Center. So I guess they turned our access on?

Everyone,
I apologize for any problems you are having with FamilySearch support concerning IP addresses. All affiliate libraries are welcome to email me directly for assistance with this situation. Most affiliate libraries are reporting their access is working. If for some reason yours is not working, please check your IP address and then email me. I will work directly with support on resolving the issue.

Just a few additional updates for you to be aware of:

FamilySearch is updating our current contract before signing on more affiliate libraries. We hope to have this done the first quarter of 2018. If it is sooner there will be announcements to this list.

If you are currently an affiliate, you are welcome to send IP addresses for your main building (and by 'main building' I mean the building that signed the contract for not only public computers but staff computers as well. When the contract is updated then all libraries in your system are welcome to sign a contract and have access.

FamilySearch is beginning a monthly email newsletter to all affiliate libraries beginning this month. It will be a short, but informative email that we hope will be helpful to all genealogy and local history librarians (or any staff that is interested.)

Again, feel free to email me directly with IP issues and questions and I will follow up as quickly as possible.

Thank you to everyone who has replied to my question. It's been very informative and interesting to read about the different experiences we've been having with getting access to restricted FamilySearch records. I really appreciate the willingness of everyone on this listserv to share information -- this is incredibly helpful!

Also, thank you, in particular, to Cherie Bush of FamilySearch for offering direct assistance to any institution having issues with getting access. (See above thread for details.) This offer is much appreciated.

Best,

RESISTANCE AND PERSISTENCE: ENSLAVED WOMEN IN PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY*

Tuesday, October 17, 7:00 p.m.

In October, we acknowledge the contributions of women in Virginia history. Historian Sheri Huerta will examine the seldom-recognized contributions of enslaved African American women to Virginia's history. Even though opportunities to wield power were limited, some women took extraordinary measures to challenge the rights of slave owners and change their conditions of enslavement. Sheri Huerta holds a doctorate in history from George Mason University specializing in the antebellum South, slavery, legal history, and social culture.

"Virginia Women in History 2017": A Traveling Panel Exhibition from the Library of Virginia, will be at Central Library Oct. 5-12 and at Bull Run Library Oct. 16-25.
Among the women featured is Mary Virginia Jones, a mechanical engineer from Prince William County.

Thursday, October 19, 11:00 a.m.

Since Salt Lake City's Family History Library (FHL) discontinued microfilm loans, FamilySearch's online digitization project seems to be growing like gangbusters. We note that a large new crop of Prince William County images are now available, including all of Prince William land and personal property tax lists, 1782-1850; most surviving deeds 1731-1869 (deeds 1791-1808 are still waiting); surviving probate records 1734-1872; the vestry book of Dettingen Parish, 1745-1802; most surviving court minutes, 1752-1814; land causes 1789-1849; bond books, 1753-1873; and more.

Search the Catalog at Familysearch.org by putting in any place name (such as Prince William). Then click on your choice from the resulting menu. Those items now online have a small camera icon to the right of the contents of each reel. If a document is only on film you will see the icon of a microfilm reel. Some of FamilySearch's images are restricted because of contracts with the owning archives. If you encounter restricted images, you can now access them at RELIC, which is a Family Search Affiliate Library, or at any local Family History Center.

Thursday, November 9, 11:00 a.m.

Learn about the many and varied resources available to trace your Virginia ancestors. RELIC staff genealogist Darlene Hunter will describe official records (and their substitutes), compiled records, finding aids and institutional records.
She will also provide examples of how to locate and utilize them to document your Virginia genealogy.

We are a long-time affiliate library. We never did receive an email message from Salt Lake City describing the new program, as far as I am aware. We contacted SLC on Sept. 1 inquiring about accessing restricted content (since we would have no other good reason for remaining an affiliate). They contacted us on Sept. 5 (just after Labor Day), and explained we needed to send an IP address. I sent it and they replied on Sept. 7 that our IP had been accepted and we would be online in a couple of days. True to their word, we had direct access to restricted images on Sat. Sept. 9. I don’t know of any particular limitation on the access that we now have.

that affiliate libraries could receive access to restricted records by providing FamilySearch support with the library's IP address range. I did so, about a month ago, and they claimed we'd have access in a few days. This has not been the case. I've called weekly, sent emails, etc. and we are yet to receive any additional access.

I'm wondering, first of all, if anyone at an Affiliate Library has successfully received access to the restricted records and, if you have, what steps did you take to get access? Also does anyone have any tips for getting through FamilySearch support? (I feel like I'm just going round-and-round with them every time I call.)

Thank you for any advice and tips you can provide!

Best,
Lauren Kuntzman

We are a long-time affiliate library. We never did receive an email message from Salt Lake City describing the new program, as far as I am aware. We contacted SLC on Sept. 1 inquiring about accessing restricted content (since we would have no other good reason for remaining an affiliate). They contacted us on Sept. 5 (just after Labor Day), and explained we needed to send an IP address. I sent it and they replied on Sept. 7 that our IP had been accepted and we would be online in a couple of days. True to their word, we had direct access to restricted images on Sat. Sept. 9. I don't know of any particular limitation on the access that we now have.

At the end of August, my library received an email from FamilySearch indicating that affiliate libraries could receive access to restricted records by providing FamilySearch support with the library's IP address range. I did so, about a month ago, and they claimed we'd have access in a few days. This has not been the case. I've called weekly, sent emails, etc. and we are yet to receive any additional access.

I'm wondering, first of all, if anyone at an Affiliate Library has successfully received access to the restricted records and, if you have, what steps did you take to get access? Also does anyone have any tips for getting through FamilySearch support? (I feel like I'm just going round-and-round with them every time I call.)

Thank you for any advice and tips you can provide!

Best,
Lauren Kuntzman

Hello,
I can tell you that we are an affiliated library but did not get notified by family search about needing our IP address until a couple weeks ago. Once I obtained that and contacted them, they directed me to fill out paperwork and email it to them. I did have contact with a real person who acknowledged they received the paperwork. I was given an ID# and told that the paperwork would be escalated to the next level. I have not tried to open any documents thus far since I went through the process but I do believe that if it had been completed that I would of been notified.

I hope this helps someone.

Sincerely,
Michelle Wagner

Hello Cherie,

I appreciate your information that was posted on the Genealib list. The Rutherford B. Hayes Presidential Library & Museums (formerly the Rutherford B. Hayes Presidential Center) has been an affiliate library since 2008. We would like to have our IP address on file so we can receive access to the restricted familysearch records.

I have attached the form that was attached to a message in the Genealib list with our information on it.

If you need further information, I'd be happy to supply it.

Thank you.

Everyone,
I apologize for any problems you are having with FamilySearch support concerning IP addresses. All affiliate libraries are welcome to email me directly for assistance with this situation. Most affiliate libraries are reporting their access is working. If for some reason yours is not working, please check your IP address and then email me. I will work directly with support on resolving the issue.

Just a few additional updates for you to be aware of:
FamilySearch is updating our current contract before signing on more affiliate libraries. We hope to have this done the first quarter of 2018. If it is sooner there will be announcements to this list.

If you are currently an affiliate, you are welcome to send IP addresses for your main building (and by 'main building' I mean the building that signed the contract for not only public computers but staff computers as well. When the contract is updated then all libraries in your system are welcome to sign a contract and have access.

FamilySearch is beginning a monthly email newsletter to all affiliate libraries beginning this month. It will be a short, but Informative email that we hope will be helpful to all genealogy and local history librarians (or any staff that is interested.)

Again, feel free to email me directly with IP issues and questions and I will follow up as quickly as possible.

Lauren,

I'm wondering if it is a pilot program. We are an affiliate and haven't received any sort of notification. Has anyone else? I also agree about the technical support. Since it is mainly volunteers, it can be difficult to get transferred to the correct person.

Cherie helped our library gain access to the FHL-affiliate-only digital files and, to test if we were up and running, I used these as examples:

Here is a link I cannot access from home, but now can from our library:

And here is a link (scroll down to "click for digital copy") I can still not access from our library (nor home):

Agreed, Julie. I tried the links from home and got "You do not have sufficient rights to view the requested object - Only a limited number of users can view this object at the same time, and viewers must be in the Family History Library, a partner library, or a Family History Center. If you are in one of these locations and are receiving this message, the user limit has been exceeded. Please try again later."
But I was trying from home. They must be verifying the IP addresses.

I usually lurk here but now have a simple question for all of you - be gentle! ;-)

Do any of you circulate and/or make available in your library Flip-Pal's for patrons to use?

If you do have them, what is your policy on using them?

Is there a "certification" to go through before you can use/check out?
What about breakage/loss?

Maybe it would be easier to send me a copy of your policy - if you can!

Thanks in advance.

Subject: [Genealib] Fairfax County Virginia Room books to trade--VA and WV titles
Message-ID: <CAA5Zxu9OHCFPMd0WrqqkhScj9HVJNX9DP4o9pSKLrPH3St0A@mail.gmail.com>

Fairfax County Public Library's Virginia Room has more books to trade.
Please respond to our volunteer, Fran, at Bfm1010 at cox.net and Frances.Millhouser2 at fairfaxcounty.gov. Be sure to include your mailing address in your email so that we can make your mailing label. There's an Excel and a pdf version of the same list, so I hope everyone will be able to open it. Apologies for sending attachments, but the county won't allow us to use file sharing services.

If you don't have anything to trade, please send a check for postage reimbursement (made out to Fairfax County Public Library) to
Laura Wickstead
Virginia Room
10300 North St.
Fairfax, VA 22030

Trades are allotted on a first-come, first-served basis. The volunteer will include a ?packing list? of your requests in your shipment with a check mark indicating that the book is included in the shipment, or an N/A meaning that the item is Not Available because someone else?s request was received before yours.

As has been mentioned previously on this listserv, the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene is proposing a new rule that would greatly restrict access to NYC vital records.

Just wanted to remind everyone that today, 10/24, is the last day to sign the petition to maintain access to these records. Signatures to the petition need to be in by 5:00 PM.

Full details (and the petition itself) are at https://www.newyorkfamilyhistory.org/nyc-vital-records-access.

It's time for me to come up with some more new projects on which libraries, genealogical societies, historical societies etc. are working. The title of the series is Doing It Ourselves, because many times folks have collections that just can't wait for commercial databases or even free ones to get around to doing.

If you would like to get 1000-1200 words written about your work in the In Depth Genealogist online magazine please contact me via email and we can discuss your ideas. I have been put on to some great things the past several years through this list, and hope that you folks will come through...
again!

Thank you.

Hello,

We are looking for a new microfilm repair company. We currently use Navient. Does anyone use a different company? We have Minolta Reader Printers. Thanks.
