NC Government and Heritage Library Hosts "From Rogachev to Raleigh: Discovering Immigrant Roots" Oct. 10

Raleigh, N.C. -- Learn how librarian Barbara Freedman uncovered her immigrant roots from Rogachev, Belarus -- and found some surprises along the way -- during "From Rogachev to Raleigh: Discovering Immigrant Roots," a free program hosted by the North Carolina Government and Heritage Library, 109 E. Jones St., Raleigh, Oct. 10 at 2 p.m.

Ms. Freedman will discuss the genealogical resources and methodologies she used to make her discoveries and offer guidance for attendees to use them in their own research.

The program is part of "Becoming American," a series of documentary screenings, discussions, and programs exploring and celebrating America's immigration history presented by Wake County Public Libraries. To learn more about "Becoming American," visit wakegov.com/libraries.

Hello,

Could anyone shed some light on how much Ancestry Library Edition costs? I have a group that might donate it to our library but they want to know how much it costs. I am loathe to contact the company directly as I always get someone who is chomping at the bit to make a sale and will not leave me alone even after saying "no" repeatedly. I hope you will understand and have an answer for me. You may email me privately if you wish. My email address is below.

When I was responsible for it, mostly being 7 years ago, we were charged on a market basis. That is, we had x number of card holders in y number of libraries, and our annual subscription fee was z dollars. Smaller town libraries paid far less than did we, the large central library. And I looked at this as both Head of the Genealogy Dept and also as Head of the Acquisition Dept.

Hope that this helped.

Greetings All:
This is an excellent opportunity to learn about Federal records and spend a week in Washington, DC. The deadline for this $600 scholarship is December 31st. Direct inquiries to Mr. Zizka. (Is that a great name for genealogy research or what?!?) Find his contact information and links for scholarship in the attached document.

[Richard S. Lackey Memorial Scholarship]

Genealogical Institute on Federal Records (Gen-Fed) Alumni Association

October 1, 2018 - The Genealogical Institute on Federal Records (Gen-Fed) Alumni Association is pleased to announce the Richard S. Lackey Scholarship for attendance at Gen-Fed in 2019. The Alumni Association, whose purpose is to promote, conduct, and foster genealogical education, research, study, and analysis, began offering the scholarship in 1984.

The scholarship is awarded annually to an experienced researcher active in a paid or volunteer position which directly benefits the genealogical community. This year the scholarship will award $600, which covers full tuition for the Genealogical Institute on Federal Records (Gen-Fed), and partly defrays hotel and/or meal costs. The Gen-Fed Alumni Association will also provide dinner at the Gen-Fed Alumni Banquet on Friday night, 2 Aug 2019, where a check for the amount less tuition will be presented to the recipient.

It's going to depend on the size of your library, so you should contact Proquest.

Fairfax County Public Library's Virginia Room has books and duplicates of census microfilm for Virginia to trade. Please respond to our volunteer, Fran, at Bfm1010 at cox.net<mailto:Bfm1010 at cox.net> and Frances.Millhouser2 at fairfaxcounty.gov<mailto:Frances.Millhouser2 at fairfaxcounty.gov> . For the microfilm, please specify that it's Box 1 and give the reel number. Be sure to include your mailing address in your email so that we can make your mailing label. There's an Excel and a pdf version of the same list, so I hope everyone will be able to open it. Apologies for sending attachments, but the county won't allow us to use file sharing services.

If you don't have anything to trade, please send a check for postage reimbursement (made out to Fairfax County Public Library) to

OTHER HISTORY NEWS

RELIC is cosponsoring a program to be presented by Lifelong Learning Institute (LLI) on Wednesday, October 17, at 7 p.m., at Bull Run Library. The author Michael Giorgione will be talking about his latest work, Inside Camp David: the Private World of the Presidential Retreat. The program is free and registration is not required. "Camp David is American diplomacy's secret weapon ... the camp has played a vital role in American history over the past century ... at Camp David, we finally get to see these leaders at their most vulnerable, their most unguarded, and as their most true selves."

Saturday, October 27, 11 a.m.-1 p.m. Genealogy Fair at Montclair Community Library, 5049 Waterway Drive, Montclair, Virginia. RELIC will be represented along with other local genealogical organizations. Come and learn what we have to offer the researcher.
The Prince William County Historic Preservation Division has recently published its electronic newsletter Historic Perspectives (Fall 2018), which includes articles about

* The Doeg Indians in northern Virginia,
* Hampton's Legion Artillery at the Battle of Freestone Point (Sept. 1861),
* How recent rain damage at the Brentsville Courthouse provided an opportunity to see more of the building's structure, and
* An analysis of the courthouse Bible and early representations of the County seal.

You can read those articles, and see earlier issues of the newsletter, as well as learn about events offered at each Historic Site. http://www.pwcgov.org/government/dept/publicworks/hp/Pages/Historic-Perspectives.aspx

The Bureau of Indian Affairs has "A Guide to Tracing American Indian & Alaska Native Ancestry" that I've found useful (especially for patrons trying to prove ancestry in order to join a tribe). At one time, I think I saw a credit to Henry Louis Gates for this document, but his name is not on it anymore: https://www.bia.gov/sites/bia.gov/files/assets/public/ois/pdf/Guide_to_Tracing_American_Indian_Alaska_Native_Ancestry.pdf

Here is a list of steps from the Department of the Interior: https://www.doi.gov/tribes/trace-ancestry

Regarding what the National Archives has to help: https://www.archives.gov/research/native-americans

Hi folks! This is a personal question, so if it's out of place, please let me know.

TL;DR: What is the best resource for researching Native American Ancestors?

I am trying to find out more about my great-great grandparents, one or both of whom were Native American. Is there a seminal work that can help me search for Native American ancestors? I have tracked them in census and other records and have exhausted those resources. I need to change the focus of my search and I don't know where to start.

Thanks!
Rebecca

The North Carolina Government and Heritage Library will offer a free online class to those interested in learning how to start genealogical research. RootsMOOC is a free online course and a friendly introduction to family history research in the U.S. using commonly available sources. Enrollment is now open, and class begins Oct. 22. Register now at http://bit.ly/RootsMOOC2018.

During this class, the staff at the North Carolina Government and Heritage Library will help participants learn about the most useful sources, tools, and techniques for getting their genealogy research off the ground. The class is divided into an orientation module and four learning modules. Each week a new module will be available on that Monday morning. As with many online courses there is no set time to meet during RootsMOOC - participants can set their own schedule.

Participants in this course will have the opportunity to complete an ancestor chart, conduct interviews with family members, and share their own research progress with fellow participants. You’ll be challenged to go beyond the sources that are available online, identify local genealogy societies and libraries in your area, and connect with experts who can help you wherever your search takes you.

Through video interviews, tutorials, discussions, and structured learning activities, participants will learn the very basics of genealogy research, such as the best places to get started, how to stay organized, and what kinds of documents and search tools they'll encounter along the way. Participants will share their research progress and help each other overcome roadblocks as they share tips and tricks in the online discussion forums. Librarians, archivists, and other experts from North Carolina and around the United States will be participating as well, answering questions and pointing class members in the right direction. If you've been looking for a place to get started on your family history research, RootsMOOC just might be the tool you've been waiting for.

Course details:

Orientation Module - Begins Oct. 22
Module 1: Getting Started - Begins Oct. 29
Module 2: US Census - Begins Nov. 5
Module 3: State & Local Resources - Begins Nov. 12
Module 4: Online Sources & Strategies - Begins Nov. 19

*Materials and discussion boards will be available in Canvas through Dec. 31

Hello!

I just shared information about RootsMOOC: Intro to Genealogy and Family History Research. If you haven't already please enroll now, http://bit.ly/RootsMOOC2018. This is a free online genealogy course open to everyone! We are encouraging librarians to sign up and spread the word about your local history and genealogy collections. If you are interested in "volunteering" please read on.

Looking for guides to RootsMOOC

Interested in helping others learn how to conduct family history research? The State Library of North Carolina's Government and Heritage Library seeks knowledgeable volunteers to participate in RootsMOOC, a free online course on genealogy and family history research. As a volunteer guide, you could help us answer questions from any of the hundreds of people we expect to participate. Course launches October 22. Sign up here:http://bit.ly/RootsMOOC2018

Depending on your level of expertise with genealogy topics, you may consider participating in the course in the role of an informal guide, helping other participants along when they have questions or would benefit from the input of a genealogy expert.

What might your participation look like?

We have no expectations for the amount of time you commit to participating, but if you have a few spare minutes here and there to dip into the course's discussion boards and answer a question or two, that would be most welcome. You may find that this is a great opportunity to point an attentive, eager audience to your library's collections and services.

How do I participate?

First, you'll need to enroll in the course<http://bit.ly/RootsMOOC2018> as a regular participant. When the course opens on October 22, you will receive an announcement in your email. We strongly encourage you to complete the Orientation Module, which will show you the ropes of the course and will guide you through the process of setting up your profile. During each module, there will be numerous discussion boards that you will be free to contribute to. You might consider linking to external content, sharing search tips, and generally encouraging other participants as they learn the basics of genealogy research.

How else can I help?

RootsMOOC will benefit greatly from a critical mass of knowledgeable genealogists, librarians, and archivists. If you know of anyone else who might be interested in helping, forward this email to them!

You can also encourage your patrons to sign up themselves. Feel free to share the course URL on your library's web site, in your social media streams, or in your monthly newsletters. http://bit.ly/RootsMOOC2018
Lesson plans

We have created lesson plans for each module if you are interested in hosting an in-person program with your staff or patrons. If you are interested in me sending you the materials please email me, rebecca.hyman at ncdcr.gov.<mailto:rebecca.hyman at ncdcr.gov>.

Course Schedule

* Orientation Module - Begins October 22
* Module 1: Getting Started - Begins October 29
* Module 2: US Census - Begins November 5
* Module 3: State & Local Resources - Begins November 12
* Module 4: Online Sources & Strategies - Begins November 19

Materials and discussion boards will be available in Canvas through December 31, 2018.

Hi Rebecca!

I would love to let people in my library know about this class and maybe have an in-person session to answer questions. Would that be an acceptable use? Is it okay if I do this?

Thanks!

During this class, the staff at the North Carolina Government and Heritage Library will help participants learn about the most useful sources, tools, and techniques for getting their genealogy research off the ground. The class is divided into an orientation module and four learning modules. Each week a new module will be available on that Monday morning. As with many online courses there is no set time to meet during RootsMOOC; participants can set their own schedule.

Participants in this course will have the opportunity to complete an ancestor chart, conduct interviews with family members, and share their own research progress with fellow participants. You'll be challenged to go beyond the sources that are available online, identify local genealogy societies and libraries in your area, and connect with experts who can help you wherever your search takes you.

Through video interviews, tutorials, discussions, and structured learning activities, participants will learn the very basics of genealogy research, such as the best places to get started, how to stay organized, and what kinds of documents and search tools they'll encounter along the way. Participants will share their research progress and help each other overcome roadblocks as they share tips and tricks in the online discussion forums. Librarians, archivists, and other experts from North Carolina and around the United States will be participating as well, answering questions and pointing class members in the right direction. If you've been looking for a place to get started on your family history research, RootsMOOC just might be the tool you've been waiting for.

Course details:

Orientation Module - Begins Oct. 22

Module 1: Getting Started - Begins Oct. 29

Module 2: US Census - Begins Nov. 5

Module 3: State & Local Resources - Begins Nov. 12

Module 4: Online Sources & Strategies - Begins Nov. 19

*Materials and discussion boards will be available in Canvas through Dec.

Kenneth Weant has been at it again! Five new volumes of his popular series, Missourians In the Civil War, have been released. These are Volumes 61 through 65 and it completes the cataloguing of vital records and military names found in the St. Louis Daily Missouri Democrat. This series is designed to consolidate vital information from existing newspapers so that it becomes more easily accessible and relative to researchers. Because many of the records during this period fail to include first names, this consolidation process fills in the gaps and adds value to every snippet. His entire series is available at http://gonewestpub.com/missouri-civil-war-newspaper-resources/

Gone West Publications is the consolidation of works from three authors who have a passion for genealogical newspaper research in the State of Missouri. Very few counties in the State remain uncatalogued. Volumes contain everything from church records, births, deaths, life-changing events and stories from Old-Timers. Brick Wall Researchers are welcome.

Ladies & Gentlemen,

Our library branch will begin a major remodeling project early next year. I am in the process of rearranging some of our genealogy collection. Would anyone be interested in eight years of Tennessee Historical Quarterlies? The issues were bound by year and are in very good condition except for our library sticker and spine labels. The group contains the following years: 1977, 1978, 1979, 1980, 1982, 1883, 1984, 1985. The quarterlies are free for the asking, all we ask is that you pay the postage. I can send them through courier if you are a PINES library.

Please contact me directly at rsanders at hallcountylibrary.org<mailto:rsanders at hallcountylibrary.org>.

We have received a donation of one issue/volume, Vol. 4, of Calvert Connections, which was published by Old Time Publications, Spokane, WA and edited by Peggy Butherus in the 1980s (no date on this one). It is described as a "newsletter for the interchange of genealogical data and history of the Calvert families whose ancestors came to America from England."

Since we have no other issues of this, I would be happy to send this to anyone who would like to fill a gap in their collection--or just want Vol. 4. I'll throw in the postage. :)

Best wishes

Dear Family History Librarians,

Please share with your colleagues and patrons.

Early-bird registration for the Michigan Genealogical Council (MGC)'s 2018 Fall Family History Seminar on Sat, Nov 3 in Lansing, featuring keynote John Philip Colletta, with breakout sessions presented by State Librarian Randy Riley, MGC Vice-President Dan Earl, Senior Archivist at the Archives of Michigan Kris Rzepczynski, and Selection Specialist at the Capital Area District Libraries Jessica Trotter!

Student registration for the seminar is free with student ID and proof of age (23 or under).

Co-sponsored by the Archives of Michigan and Library of Michigan, the Fall Family History Event is one of the most anticipated seminars each year. Additional information and registration are available at https://mimgc.org <https://mimgc.org/>
Dear Teresa,

We were finally able to get together yesterday and ship the periodicals. Unfortunately, my list of remaining periodicals seems to have been incorrect and I was only able to send you some of the titles you had requested. But the good news is that makes the shipping costs less. We had to buy boxes to ship these and with the postage the total bill is $237.70. You can make the check payable to MAGS (Mid-Atlantic Germanic Society) and send it to our treasurer, Robert Greiner. 10605 Johns Hopkins Rd. Laurel, MD 20723. Please let us know if you need a further invoice. You should expect to get five large boxes.

I am glad we were able to rescue these periodicals and get them to a good home.

Hello all,

I am new to this list being a retired state government librarian and also a genealogist. One of the societies in which I am an officer was given a bunch of genealogy periodicals that have been residing in my garage for several years. Our society library took some of them initially and a dozen or so boxes were shipped to the Mid-Continent Public Library but stacks still remain. As a last ditch effort to get rid of them before recycling them I am offering them to anyone on this list. I would prefer that you take whole runs rather than random copies. The only cost to you would be to pay for the actual postage. I am attaching a list of the titles and issues available.

Hi Teresa,

Unfortunately I can't tell you exactly which periodicals we were able to send. My helpers just packed up everything they could find from your list but did not keep track of what they were packing. I am attaching a copy of your wish list so you can check off which ones you have when you unpack them.

I also made up an invoice for you which is attached below.
