LORETTA LOVELY

Dick - your muzzle will be finished by Christmas--it takes a whole lot of knitting!! (ha)

Dr. Wells - a belated Happy Birthday. We heard about your present--a wilted rose?

More on the continuing saga of Bruno (Andy and Betty Feinstein's cat). This week Bruno attacked Andy's prize "fighting fish" in the aquarium--and promptly ate them. (Bruno bites the dust!)

THE GENERAL

FRIDAY NIGHT FILM SERIES presents THE GENERAL, a film starring Buster Keaton, noted for its uncompromising authenticity, as well as its comedy and visual beauty. It is based on a daring Civil War raid, made by a band of 20 Union men. They made their way south to Atlanta to seize a train and run it north, destroying bridges and communications behind them. The film uses the point-of-view of the Southern engineer who had both his engine and his girl stolen by the Yankees.

FOR YOUR INFO

Those of you who attended class on Thursday probably noticed a power failure during the late morning. One student-philosopher proffered a reason for the phenomena (?): Professor Peter Carpenter's class PHI 301, God and Reality, was in session at that time and the group was discussing whether or not there was a God. They had just begun to probe one of St. Anslem's major tenets--better to exist--then suddenly, the lights went out! Hm.

FROM THE LIBRARY

The Library staff has been so busy trying to get the huge backlog of catalog cards filed that we are late with our Fall greetings. However, we hope it's "better late than never" to welcome all the new and returning students to the campus. Since we have many new students this quarter, we'd like to acquaint them with a few of the library's services.

We have a Dennison coin-operated copying machine for students to use when they need copies of reference or any other material which cannot be checked out of the library. It is located in the typing room where there are also four typewriters and two calculators available for student use.

Since the library collection at the St. Petersburg Campus is of necessity much smaller than that of the main campus in Tampa, we offer an intra-library loan service to the students here whereby we may obtain a book from the Tampa library for them. Come in to the library and ask about this service.

In fact, if you haven't done so, come to the library and just see what we do have. Browse-get acquainted-and PLEASE ask questions. Bldg. A, just back of the lobby entrance.

The Career Planning and Employment Center calls to your attention the coming job interviews to be held on campus.

Students graduating any quarter this year should check the calendar of interviews that can be found on the board in the North Lounge, B Bldg. and also in the A Bldg. near the front.

We have 7 firms interested in talking with the seniors during the months of October and November. Five of these firms are interested in all majors and two wish to see accounting majors. So whether you are graduating in December, March or June, it is a good idea to begin your job interviews now.

Also, students in their senior year are urged to register with the Placement Service so a file of your credentials can be available to employers when you are ready to seek a position.

Check with Fran Seagrave in Room 115, Bldg. B for further information concerning interviews, registration for placement, and job openings.

Career opportunities are here.

Five interviewers are coming to the St. Pete Campus during November. They wish to talk to all majors graduating during the 73-74 year.

These interviews offer opportunities in 5 different types of work. Better hurry - sign up now for an appointment. Room 115 Bldg. B.
