Hi, fellow genealogy librarians,

The Los Angeles Public Library is now hosting its monthly genealogy series "Genealogy Garage" on YouTube and Facebook. Please join us LIVE at 11 a.m. (PST) on Saturday, 10/17, if the subject looks like it is of interest (or if you just want to see some of what we're doing for our genealogy patrons here in Southern California)!

The title of the presentation is "Think Like An Archivist" and will feature two librarians from our Digitization & Special Collections department--go to this link to read more about it:

EXPLORE RELIC
October 2020 - The Ruth E. Lloyd Information Center for Genealogy and Local History (RELIC)

Start your historical journey here. RELIC's email newsletter highlights upcoming free events and happenings. Genealogy and local Virginia history are our specialty as a service provided by the Prince William Public Libraries. You can always find more about us at pwcgov.org/relic<<https://www.pwcgov.org/relic>>.

RELIC service is now available by email at <<https://www.pwcgov.org/cdn-cgi/l/email-protection#5e2c3b32373d6c1e2e293d39312870312c39>> and at our new phone number: 703-792-8380. While Central Community Library, at 8601 Mathis Avenue in Manassas, is still under renovation, RELIC has unpacked there in spacious new quarters. Please check our library's website for updates as to when the public will be invited in.

UPCOMING VIRTUAL PROGRAMS

[Welcome RELIC at Central Library]<<https://bit.ly/39k8Kds>>

WELCOME TO RELIC AT CENTRAL COMMUNITY LIBRARY!<<https://bit.ly/39k8Kds>>
After 25 years at Bull Run Regional Library, the RELIC department has moved to a new home at the renovated and reopened Central Community Library. RELIC's Kirk Johnson leads this brief virtual tour with an overview of the resources and materials available for patrons researching their family history or the history of our community.
Beginning Thursday, October 1<<https://bit.ly/39k8Kds>>

[Using Interlibrary Loan for Your Genealogical Research]<<https://pwcgov.libnet.info/event/4413328>>
USING INTERLIBRARY LOAN FOR YOUR GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH<<https://pwcgov.libnet.info/event/4413328>>
Although RELIC has a robust collection of materials, neither RELIC nor Prince William Public Libraries can own every record of interest to patrons. Fortunately, it's possible for us to borrow materials from other library systems for patron use. The Library of Virginia, in particular, has a wealth of materials of interest to genealogists and local history researchers. RELIC's Kirk Johnson will guide you through the process of finding materials on the Library of Virginia website and other institutions, and placing an Interlibrary Loan request.
Beginning Thursday, October 1<<https://pwcgov.libnet.info/event/4413328>>

[Google Search for Genealogists]<<https://pwcgov.libnet.info/event/4545340>>

ADVANCED GOOGLE SEARCHING FOR GENEALOGISTS<<https://pwcgov.libnet.info/event/4545340>>
Google is a powerful search tool, but many users never learn how to use it to the full potential. Instructional Technology Coach, Susanne Besecker will lead this live demonstration of how to utilize the Advanced Search functionality of Google to assist your online genealogical research. Registration required.
Tuesday, October 13, 7:00 - 9:00 p.m. <<https://pwcgov.libnet.info/event/4545340>>

"WHAT A CONTRAST THIS MORNING PRESENTS TO YESTERDAY": THE FREEDMEN'S BUREAU IN PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY<<https://pwcgov.libnet.info/event/4419190>>
The Civil War retains an important part in the American experience over 150 years after its conclusion. But what happened after the war? The Reconstruction Era is mostly forgotten today, or when it is remembered retains misconceptions that became popular 100 years ago. The Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, and Abandoned Lands, or Freedmen's Bureau was charged with the monumental task of undertaking the first instance of nation-building in American history. Bill Backus from Prince William Historic Preservation will present a live virtual lecture on the history of this important institution here in Prince William County. Registration required.

AGENCIES OF HISTORY

Last month, we explored some of Prince William County's institutions of local history. This month, we will focus on several other local organizations and websites that provide additional assistance for your research.

THE HAYMARKET MUSEUM<<https://www.townofhaymarket.org/museum>>: "The Haymarket Museum chronicles the story of a small, 19th century town and its surrounding agricultural community" (founded 1799). The museum, located in Town Hall, is now open Saturdays and Sundays from 7:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.

HISTORIC DUMFRIES VIRGINIA, INC<<https://historicdumfriesva.org/>>: Located at the Weems-Botts Museum in Dumfries, they describe themselves as "the historical society of the oldest chartered town in Virginia" (1749). The nearby Lee Lansing Research Library contains their collection of historical materials. The Museum is currently open by appointment, but also provides a virtual tour. They maintain a blog of interesting Dumfries facts and folklore here.

THE MANASSAS MUSEUM

SYSTEM<https://www.manassascity.org/things_to_do/manassas_museum/>: This is the largest museum in our local area, founded in 1973 on the centennial of the City's founding. They are now open six days a week with the usual safety measures in place. The Museum System also maintains several historic sites within the City, including Liberia, and the Jennie Dean Memorial. A full-size bronze statue of Miss Dean will be dedicated at the latter site on October 24.

THE OCCOQUAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY<<https://www.occoquanhistoricalsociety.org/>> (formerly Historic Occoquan Inc.): "For more than forty years the members of OHS have worked diligently to preserve the memory of Occoquan's past" (founded 1804). Although the Mill House Museum is currently closed, the Society has placed a good number of historical articles on their web site.

PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY<<https://sites.rootsweb.com/~vapwcgs/>>: Before the pandemic, they had scheduled meetings at Montclair Community Library. Since the 1980s, they have published a newsletter, currently on hiatus. On their website is a list of books in their library from which they will do look-ups. They also provide information about local cemeteries, including a full transcript and photos of burials in the Woodbine Cemetery.

PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY VIRGINIA (Ronald Ray Turner's website)<<http://www.pwcvirginia.com/>>: Local historian Ron Turner has compiled hundreds of works documenting the history and genealogy of Prince William County people. Most of his books are available freely on this site.

PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY GENEALOGY (Carolyn Lynn's blog)<<https://pwcogenealogy.blogspot.com/>>: Carolyn Lynn ferrets out somewhat obscure, but really interesting stories about the people from Prince William's past, primarily from regional newspapers.

It's a long shot, but one of our patrons is trying to get a copy of an article via interlibrary loan from a 1972 issue of a pretty obscure genealogy journal called Dakota Territory, published by the now-defunct Black Hills Genealogy Club (Rapid City, SD). I am not finding any library in OCLC that has it; the Topeka Genealogical Society and the Southern California Genealogical Society seem to have it, and I may have to suggest to the patron that contact one of them personally; they don't do interlibrary loan, and don't seem to have a simple copy request option as opposed to a $20 research fee (at least as per their websites).

Before I suggest that, though, I thought I'd just ask whether anyone else has it...? And if so, how you would like us to submit a copy request.

Thanks!

If all else fails Allen County Public Library has an article service for patrons and charge $7.50 for each article. The form is under Article Fulfillment.

<https://acpl-cms.wise.oclc.org/our-services>

They will ask for the PERSI (Periodical Source Index) citation which can be found on the index that is available on findmypast for free. <https://search.findmypast.com/search-world-Records/periodical-source-index>

Your patron may have originally found their citation there. Allen County creates that PERSI index but they don't participate in ILL for articles (understandably).

Some issues appear to be digitized on FamilySearch. I imagine the patron will need to be at an affiliate library to view them.

Yes, that's where she got it. That might be her best option, although the slow one....it's all by mail still.

Message-ID: <0D422E95-7626-434E-ABFA-3AC17ECA2264@icloud.com>

I've started a "Census Fun Facts" blog posts series on the History Hub website, <https://historyhub.history.gov/>. If one registers on the website, it is then possible to follow one or more of the various blogs.

Anyway, the direct link to the first post, The 1940 "X" in a Circle, is here: <https://historyhub.history.gov/community/genealogy/blog/2020/09/22/census-fun-fact-1-the-1940-x-in-a-circle>
<<https://historyhub.history.gov/community/genealogy/blog/2020/09/22/census-fun-fact-1-the-1940-x-in-a-circle>>. The direct link to the second post, Fictional Names: Just Call Me Another Time, is here: <https://historyhub.history.gov/community/genealogy/blog/2020/10/06/census-fun-fact-2-fictional-names-just-call-me-another-time>
<<https://historyhub.history.gov/community/genealogy/blog/2020/10/06/census-fun-fact-2-fictional-names-just-call-me-another-time>>.

I am aiming to post every other week, and will post a link to these on my personal website/blog, The Twelve Key, <https://twelvekey.com>, as well.

Hi Martha,

The Allen County Public Library has been subscribing to newsletters for decades and indexing them on PERSI. PERSI is available on FindMyPast and it looks like they have the 1972 articles indexed. That will give you all the citation information you need to order them directly from Allen County as the other poster mentioned.

Sincerely,

Hi Melissa; This is from Proquest on Sept 1, 2020- Access to Ancestry Library Edition has been temporarily expanded to library cardholders working remotely, courtesy of ProQuest and its partner Ancestry. Remote access will be available until December 31st 2020 and will be re-evaluated monthly as needed.

Hi all,

Does anyone out there have the Family Tree Make CD-ROM Birth Index, Southeastern Pennsylvania, 1680 - 1800? If so, could you find out if there is a "Henry Stauffer/Stauffer, born between 8&18 Aug 1792?" I don't expect your time and trouble for free. Feel free to invoice me for this. My personal email address is listed below, please use it. Thanks in advance.

A little back story for you - This gentlemen is most likely our Great Great Grandfather. My brother is convinced he is. I am not, but this information would be appreciated.

Good morning;

I just wanted to share that our library is attempting our first Genealogy based virtual program with Sunny Morton. She will be talking about Comparing the Genealogy Giants. Here is the link for the event <https://events.starklibrary.org/event/4619234> Please feel free to share, or anyone who has done these who well have them been received at your library?

We just did our second virtual genealogy program yesterday, and it went well (author visit with Libby Copeland <<https://www.crowdcast.io/e/libby-copeland-virtual>>, author of The Lost Family: How DNA Testing Is Upending Who We Are). We've done one with Zoom and one with Crowdcast. One nice thing is that we are getting more signups than we normally do for in-person programs, and from farther away--we are in Nebraska but had attendees from British Columbia and California. They don't all necessarily attend, but that's pretty much the case with our in-person programs, too; and we're able to contact everyone later to share the recording, which is also great for creating and maintaining connections with patrons.

Good luck with yours, Sunny Morton should be a draw!

I'm struggling to find a comprehensive list of recipients of silver stars in both WWI and WWII. What do you suggest? I'm not a relative and don't want to order the whole service record.

There are some lists organized by branch of service or conflict.

One of the better sources for valor awards is actually online:

This website has lists of Silver Star recipients by war and thereunder by branch of service: <https://homeofheroes.com/> <<https://homeofheroes.com/>> - <https://homeofheroes.com/silver-star/> <<https://homeofheroes.com/silver-star/>>

I haven't looked at it in great detail, but it includes the service member's name plus the text of the citation pertinent to the award.

Hello Melissa,

I'm not sure there is such a thing, so I'll be watching for other replies.

- * The National Archives Catalog has images of Silver Star award cards for (Army) Air Force recipients, 1942-1963 (ARC ID 4530002).
- * The U.S. DoD site, "Military Awards for Valor - Top 3" (<https://valor.defense.gov/>) has what are probably complete listings, but only since 9/11.
- * The Hall of Valor Project (<https://valor.militarytimes.com/>) has a large database with profiles, but I've cross-checked it with the Archives Catalog's AF awards, so I know it's not complete.

If you're looking for a few people, you might find them in one of these databases. If you're looking for a complete listing of Citation/Silver Star recipients for WWI and WWII, I would like to see that, too. :-)

Regards,
Susan Johnston

Good morning;

I just wanted to share that our library is attempting our first Genealogy based virtual program with Sunny Morton. She will be talking about Comparing the Genealogy Giants. Here is the link for the event <https://events.starklibrary.org/event/4619234> Please feel free to share, or anyone who has done these who well have them been received at your library?

Does anyone know where Alice J. Ramsay's 1987, Relationship Chart was originally published?

One of the most popular relationship charts credits Alice J. Ramsay, but I cannot find where this chart originally appeared or information about its creator. We would like to use this chart in our library's beginner class, but want to provide proper attribution/permissions.

I've attached the chart for reference incase anyone is unfamiliar with her chart.

Thanks for your help!

Subject: [Genealib] Cataloging question

Message-ID: <cb2b95cd10b0e251cf828d5d624aadad@usinternet.com>

Hello group,

Our library is in the midst of a massive reclassification project to bring our holdings up to current library standards.

It has been determined that a modified Dewey system will be used to classify the 50+ years of volunteers' cataloging work of over 30,000 holdings in our care.

With that in mind, I have come across family history related materials, and there has been discussion among my library colleagues as to the use of the classifications 929.2 and 929.42. Many of our materials seem to straddle that fine line.

My thought is that if there is significant genealogical information contained in the work (portraits, genealogical tables, maps, indexes, etc.), it should be classified as 929.2. If a work is simply a "surname study" which solely provides bibliographic information, pointing researchers to source information, it should be classified as 929.42.

I apologize if this topic has been discussed in this group; I'm new to genealogy cataloging. If anyone has specific thoughts/examples of how you differentiate between these two classifications, please provide!

Kind regards,

Ann,

Your classification system should bring together ?like? materials to make it easier for the patrons to find them.

I would put it in 929.2

I agree with Tom, most patrons like to browse the genealogy section, so unless it's a really huge collection, I agree that putting it all in 929 makes sense.

I agree with Tom, most patrons like to browse the genealogy section, so unless it's a really huge collection, I agree that putting it all in 929 makes sense.

In one of the classes that I took (UW Madison, Genealogical Librarianship, Spring 2010), the following was recommended:

Dewey

Use 929 for all genealogies, charts, and family histories. Cutter the 1st letter of the main surname (e.g. 929 K for Kirby family).

Use county Dewey to collect all subdivisions (town, city, village, etc.) with the Cutter starting with the first letter for the county. This keeps city and town materials from ?disappearing? at the end of all county sections. Example: 977.201 M for a book on Spoon River, Indiana in Marion County.

Library of Congress Classification

Use CS71 instead of 929 and Cutter the same way.

Similar to Dewey ? E.g. F587 R for an item on the history of Beloit, Rock County, Illinois.

I like this system better when libraries Cutter the first three letters of the county ? helps separate counties with the same first letter and is quickly recognized by savvy searchers.

I have a collection of about 9,000 cataloged items. Big enough to need a good organizational scheme, but small enough to browse once you get to a particular place/topic on the shelves.

The system I inherited is Dewey-based. All items are assigned to my "Indiana Room Collection" (a fake branch) and labelled with a sub-collection designation before any number (the IN at the start signifies Indiana Room).

1. Sub-collections represent major sets of records (and room location)
1. INHU -Huntington County (still cataloged in the 970s - 977.271)
 2. INFH - family histories
 3. INFIC - fiction
 4. INGI - genealogy resources
 5. INNFI - non-fiction or "history resources"
 6. I have additional sub-collections that I inherited, but I don't really think they're necessary. (e.g. Local Yearbooks, City Directories, Archives)

2. Family Histories are in 929.2 and Cuttered with the first 6 letters of the major family surname.

3. Fiction is limited to Indiana and Huntington County authors. And, the Indiana authors are only some of the biggies (e.g. Gene Stratton Porter). [All have either Indiana or Huntington author spine labels - Huntington is also labelled in other sub-headings.]

4. "Genealogical Resources" are in the 970s per Dewey. I use St. Louis County Library's helpful guide -

<https://www.slcl.org/content/dewey-decimal-numbers-us-states-and-counties>

1. In a somewhat-successful attempt to help overcome the difficulties of using "regular" Dewey, I have created a few color-coded maps that are posted in strategic positions (and a copy is available in portable form) for the U.S., Indiana, and Ohio (our biggest series). To the right of the map is a table-based alphabetical listing of counties (i.e., I copy the SLCL's table and reformat it to fit the page).

1. I used public domain base maps showing states/counties and the "draw a freehand shape" tool in PowerPoint. Time-consuming, and a bit tricky.

2. "Genealogical Resources" usually means "resources with names." (e.g. county histories, cemeteries, vital records, yearbooks, city directories)

3. Right now my Cutters on these are non-sensical, I'm thinking of re-cataloging many so that they are consistent and more closely reflect how we like to shelve things.

1. Currently, most books are Cuttered with author surname or the first few letters of the county (no author, edited works).

2. I'm thinking of: CEM (cemetery), CENS (census), BUS (businesses), CHU (church), DIR (city directories, phone books), FUN (funeral home), HIST (locational histories), IMG (photos, post cards, picture books), MIL (military), ORG (organizations and clubs), PLAT (maps),

PROP (property), YRBK (yearbooks), and similar. Things that don't fit into the groupings would probably get the county abbreviation.

5. "History Resources" (usually more topical, less name-laden) use regular Dewey. Exceptions would be those resources that don't really fit into a location like religious denominational records from a national perspective, or our series of unit histories and adjutant's reports from the Civil War. [They could have gone under Indiana, but previous people decided to keep all the war stuff together. We have a few folks in these frequently, so I haven't moved them. Plus, it would mean a bit of shelf shifting which I don't want to do.]

1. Biographies and group biographies have a B or GB rather than a Dewey number followed by the subject individual's last name (B) or author's name (GB). A group biography is a compilation of shorter biographies of unrelated individuals (e.g., Indiana authors, famous Hoosiers).

Biographies

are shelved at the beginning of INNF. (You could also catalog these in 920.)

2. I use LibraryThing's Melville guide to try and learn where I should put things not quite the same as what has come before (a challenge even so) <https://www.librarything.com/mds/0>

1. I never had an actual cataloging class during my MLS, so I'm self-taught. I do consult with our non-librarian cataloger and WorldCat.

3. For genealogy research guides, I did some research then tweaked things as follows

Genealogies

(Reference & Collection Development, other misfits)

929.10

Guides and Helps

(writing, teaching, general, preservation & digitization)

929.100

Dictionaries & Directories

929.101

Record Types (Maps, DNA, Tax Records, etc.)

929.102

Online (general, Ancestry.com, etc.)

929.103

General Ethnic (when not tied to a continent)

929.104

European Ethnicities (when not tied to a continent)

929.105

Asian Locations-Based Publications

929.106

African Locations-Based Publications

929.107

North American Locations-Based Publications (but, again, some of my state and county based guides are in the INGI series - sigh).

929.108

South American Locations-Based Publications

929.109

Australia and Pacific Locations-Based Publications

We developed a modification of the Dewey classification to bring together similar genealogical materials for our collection.

929.2 ? Genealogies and FAMILY HISTORIES, arranged by SURNAME. Use the Dewey geographic tables for collections of family histories by ETHNICITY or PLACE, e.g. African-American at 929.2196; Ireland at 929.2415; Virginia at 929.2755.

929.3 ? Genealogical SOURCE MATERIALS and guides to research by ETHNICITY or PLACE (COUNTRY or STATE), e.g. African-American at 929.3196; Ireland at 929.3415; Virginia at 929.3755.

929.4 ? Personal names. 929.42 ? Guides to Surnames. Add Ethnic table (T5) as needed, e.g. English Surnames: 929.422.

We opted to group local (county and city) genealogical materials with the HISTORY number for that place. We have found this useful for people looking for all sources for that locality: e.g. Prince William County history and genealogical sources at 975.527.

Using the geographic tables instead of just arranging the counties/cities alphabetically has the advantage of putting all localities within a geographic region together on the shelf, e.g. Dumfries, Virginia, at 975.52731; Manassas, Virginia, at 975.52734.

Hello group,

Our library is in the midst of a massive reclassification project to bring our holdings up to current library standards. It has been determined that a modified Dewey system will be used to classify the 50+ years of volunteers' cataloging work of over 30,000 holdings in our care.

With that in mind, I have come across family history related materials, and there has been discussion among my library colleagues as to the use of the classifications 929.2 and 929.42. Many of our materials seem to straddle that fine line.

My thought is that if there is significant genealogical information contained in the work (portraits, genealogical tables, maps, indexes, etc.), it should be classified as 929.2. If a work is simply a "surname study" which solely provides bibliographic information, pointing researchers to source information, it should be classified as 929.42.

I apologize if this topic has been discussed in this group; I'm new to genealogy cataloging. If anyone has specific thoughts/examples of how you differentiate between these two classifications, please provide!

Our California Genealogical Society uses an application from WorldCat, everything is cataloged with Library of Congress call numbers. And our catalog is available for anyone around the world to see what we have available.

Our webpage, californiaancestors.org might be of interest.

Subject: [Genealib] ALE remote access issues

Message-ID: <CAAwgk_rntX8yNANrx05Gr7AbPkrLnRc7JUUp8JKsYXgYdru2QHw@mail.gmail.com>

Hello all,

I have a patron accessing ALE remotely, and she has complained that her connection to ALE stops in the middle of searching, and then it won't let her back into the database, etc. She says she has good high-speed internet, and she obtained a brand new library card, so those are apparently not the issues. She has talked to our IT, which thinks it is a problem on her end, and she has talked to Ancestry directly, and they think it is a problem on the library's end. She is using Safari on a Mac.

Has anyone else run into any similar issues?

Thanks for any insight.

Hi Traci,

We have been having a similar intermittent problem with Safari. Also, a recent Chrome update also caused us some headaches until our web people got that sorted out. We have not figured out why some interactions on Safari work and some don't.
