

FREE WORKSHOPS AT THE USF CONTEMPORARY ART MUSEUM

The University of South Florida Contemporary Art Museum reprises a popular exhibition with “Museum at Work,” which brings everything behind those “staff only” doors into the galleries. Staff will be on hand daily to discuss and demonstrate the work of museum professionals.

Of special interest will be free workshops held every Friday from June 5 through July 10, each from noon to 1 p.m.

June 5: “You Just Have to See It,” will demonstrate how an exhibition is designed and the art is installed plus you’ll get a tour of the museum’s workshop, collection and storage areas.

June 12: Caring for Your Collection and Valuables will suggest best ways to package, store and move treasured heirlooms and art.

June 19: Framing Your Collection will educate you on the best practices and materials for framing.

June 26: Photographing Artwork targets artists and professionals but welcomes everyone.

July 10: Installation of “Selected” is the culmination of a crowd-sourced exhibition in which all the works will have been chosen by visitors.

More at www.usfcam.usf.edu/events.html

---

JUNE 2, 2015    SHEILA COWLEY    NO COMMENTS

---

POST TAGS:, ARCHIVING, ART COLLECTION, CROWD-SOURCE, CURATING, EXHIBIT, FRAMING, PHOTOGRAPHY, WORKSHOP,

POSTED IN:, CLASSES , OPPORTUNITIES ,

---

AUTHOR

Sheila Cowley

ALL STORIES BY: SHEILA COWLEY

---

