ST. PETE TIMES LAUDS THE SENIOR ACCOUNTING ORGANIZATION

The SAO has been working hard since June to promote interaction between the small business community and the Service Corp Of Retired Executives. The project workers are in the midst of twelve counseling cases under the supervision of SCORE and the Small Business Administration. The Times article Monday, Nov. 1st on page 8B not only is a fine story, but points out the important role USFSP can play in the community.

Closer to home the SAO is still trying to set up their book selling project. Under this plan books will be taken on consignment to sell at a higher price than their trade in value at the bookstore. Complete details will be presented at the Nov. 11th meeting at 3 P.M. in room 223A in A-Bldg. DON'T MISS IT!

ANY ONE FOR LUNCH?
Speaking of speakers, TOM JAMES of Raymond, James and Associates can be heard Nov. 3rd at the Princess Martha Hotel. For the exact luncheon time contact SAO President, Jon Angier at 527-7818.
