The Tobacco Leaf.

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, AUG. 5, 1868.

THE TAX BILL.

As the copy from which we reduced the tax bill two weeks ago was not verbally correct in every respect, and as there exists a great demand among that portion of the trade who are not subscribers to THE LEAF for copies of that portion of the bill that refers to the tobacco tax, we shall next week reprint it, and strike off an edition large enough to satisfy all. Those, therefore, who wish a copy of the new law—and every one in the trade needs it—will send us their orders in time.

IS IT HONEST?

When the Convention of Tobacco Dealers and Manufacturers met in Washington last winter, it was found that the Committee on Ways and Means had already decided on one point which the delegates had come prepared to recommend. They found that the Committee had already concluded to adopt the stamp system for the payment of taxes as a means of preventing fraud. As it was the unanimous wish of the trade that this system should be adopted, instead of the existing dishonest one, this determination gave general satisfaction. So far so good. After the Convention had adjourned, and when the new Tax Bill came to be submitted to Congress by the Committee, it was thought by the trade that many of its odious and hostile provisions, even if finally passed, would in some measure be compensated for by the benefit that would accrue to the trade from a prompt carrying out of the stamp system. In fact, that system of payment of the taxes was the distinguishing feature of the Bill, and the trade naturally looked forward to its passage with anxiety and hope. The bill has now finally passed, but what do we see? Its salient characteristic—the stamp system—is first forbidden to be put into operation under sixty days, and then the Secretary of the Treasury is empowered to direct a still further adjournment until December 1. In the name of common honesty and common sense, we ask, why this delay? Is it such a mighty undertaking to design and print off a few thousand stamps to start the trade in the new system? Have the resources of the engraving and printing department of the United States Government become so contracted, that more than thirty days need be consumed in so plain a matter? We appeal to Congress, to the officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau, to the trade, to the entire community, in short, to say whether any such time as that accorded by the Act is necessary for the preparation of these stamps? Meantime, the trade, in all its branches, continues to suffer from the doubt and uncertainty engendered by this extraordinary condition of affairs. Extraordinary, we say, for such we must term a law a portion of whose provisions go into operation at one time, and others at the pleasure of certain officials. We doubt whether a similar spectacle has ever before been offered in the history of American legislation. But if sixty days is twice the length of time necessary in which to prepare the stamps, what shall we say of Senator Sherman's amendment, which extends the time until the first of December next? What reason the Senator can allege in excuse for offering such a resolution, or the Senate and House for adopting it, we are at a loss to imagine. Certain it is that the necessities of the trade could not have been consulted. Must there not have been some official or political reason for such an enactment? Again we would ask—Is this honest? The trade are doubtful as to what course to pursue, and in some instances—imported cigars, for example—the uncertainty is hourly taking money out of their pockets. The old frauds are being perpetrated with the accustomed impunity, and the officials are, as usual, indifferent. If Commissioner Rollins is honest, let him order the payment of all taxes at the factory, or else the immediate bonding of all goods, until the stamps can be prepared. This was the intention in adopting the stamp system—to have the taxes paid at the factory, and the Commissioner will only be furthering the intent of the law by issuing such an order. If he fails to do so without good reasons, publicly assigned, we shall be compelled to conclude that there is as little genuine honesty in the head of the Bureau as there is in his official subordinates.

TOBACCO AS A LUXURY.

Mr. J. O. Phister, in his remarks before the Cincinnati Tobacco Fair, published by us last week, struck the right chord regarding the general practice of styling tobacco a luxury. "Now, I tell you," said Mr. Phister, "what we intend to do further: We intend to insist that tobacco is no more of a luxury than anything else that we can do without; and while we are entirely willing to pay reasonable demands on us in the way of taxation, and do not desire to shirk one single iota of responsibility, we do intend to 'fuss and fight' with Congress until we are set right on this point; until the carriage, the piano, the watch, the carpet, the fine bonnet, the fine set of parlor furniture, the fine suit of clothes—in short, every article of wealth and luxury, are put upon precisely the same footing as tobacco, and pay exactly the same rate." Such, somewhat crudely expressed, is the great principle upon which the trade should insist. Granting that tobacco is a luxury, why should it be discriminated against by hostile legislation? Either let all luxuries be taxed, or none. But then the question arises—What are luxuries? It will be seen at once that the term luxury is, after all, relative, and not absolute. What may be the most superfluous of luxuries in one social circle, in another becomes an indispensable necessity. Again, an article may be one of necessity to a poor, hard-working community, while it is one of luxury to one more refined; for, who will not acknowledge that to the poor laborer his pipe is as much of a necessity to him at the end and during the intervals of his day's work, as his bread and meat? Indeed, are there not thousands who, if compelled to do without either for a season, would not prefer small rations of the latter to yielding any of the comfort derived from the former? Man is something more than a machine for the digestion of food, or the achievement of a certain amount of work. Take away what might have been at first a non-essential to his existence, and you will find that you have deprived him to a great extent of his usefulness as a member of society, and reduce him in a corresponding degree to a level with the brutes. Who will deny, therefore, making our remarks practical, that tobacco is one of those articles, which although not necessary to man in the low sense that food is, in a higher sense is with many quite as essential. Life may be sustained on a certain amount of bread and water, and science may accurately determine that amount; but what kind of men would such a system produce that takes away from them all so-called luxuries, and reduces them to the bare pittance that we know will sustain life? What would our laboring population become if placed on such a diet? Would it not stupefy and sink them in the scale of being? Let everything be done, on the other hand, to add to the comforts of the laboring man, and we brighten his intellect and at the same time add to his value as a citizen. Tobacco is such a comfort to him, and to his material well-being it has become a real necessity. Deprive him of it, and you start him on the downward road that ends in brutish imbecility.

Again, the use of the weed may have become so vital a habit with persons in every condition of life, that total abstinence from it would seriously injure, if not hopelessly wreck, the constitution. It has, then, become a necessity in the strictest meaning of the word. But who shall pretend to so intimate a knowledge of my habits and health, as to positively decide what may or may not be a necessity in my particular case? An article may be absolutely necessary to me for my comfort and continuance in health, while to my neighbor it may be the veriest superfluity. And is it not at least bordering on presumption, to say of an article of such universal consumption as tobacco, that it is a mere superfluity to the great majority of those who use it? Speaking from a physical point of view alone, we doubt whether it is possible for the majority of persons to use tobacco for a series of years without its becoming a necessity to them, in the sense that they could not give up its use without great danger. Nor would its use on that account be necessarily injurious to the constitution. The opponents of tobacco may argue as long as they please, but unless they can prove that the use of the weed has added to the bills of mortality, or shortened the average term of human life, all their scientific disquisitions will prove in vain. The use of tobacco is annually increasing, but we do not hear of any corresponding increase in the death-rate in consequence. When an article is so universally consumed by the great body of the people, what folly to discriminate against it as a luxury! Compared with other so-called luxuries, it is an article of prime necessity. Poor men use tobacco who cannot afford to indulge in pianos, watches, carriages, fine bonnets, or fine clothes. It is absurd to say that the poor man need not smoke, or chew, did he will otherwise; we have the patent truth that the great mass of the population do use the weed, and our speculations and legislation should be based on this great and undisputed fact.

The truth is, that all this talk about tobacco being a luxury and its bearing its share of taxation, etc., is only a blind on the part of our law-makers to cover up a fatal weakness in their system of taxation, which dictates the saddling of one or two principal articles of consumption with the great burden of supporting the Government. If the honest and mainly principle of direct taxation were adopted, we should have an end at once of all discrimination against certain trades and commodities. Every citizen is bound to contribute a certain proportion of the expenses of the Government, to determine and collect this proportion should be the great end aimed at by Congress. Then, with our expenses reduced to the lowest practicable point, and each citizen paying cheerfully his just dues, we should see the dawn of a political millenium in which our native land would take a foremost rank among the nations of the earth!

ALL ADRIFT.

We give place to the following remarks by a valued correspondent, on an important financial question. While not agreeing with all the arguments advanced, Mr. Allen's experience with regard to the sales of our Bonds abroad certainly entitles him to a respectful hearing:

There are so many contradictory statements, views, and controversies respecting the finances of our country, that a few facts of personal experience may give some additional conviction to those who may agree with the ideas herein expressed.

During the year 1864 the writer was in Europe, forwarding the interests of the United States. Offers had often been solicited, by persons much interested, not in the particular desire to do good to the Union or its then struggling cause, but a general wish on the part of each individual, who had any money to invest, to discover the true way of drawing the largest interest on their money when invested. It was merely a question if the U. S. Five-Twenty bonds were good, or if they would ever be paid. At a public meeting, called by the U. S. Consul at the Hamburg Exchange, held March 12, 1864, the writer acted as secretary, said meeting then being entirely in the interest of the United States; and as one of the speakers, after explaining matters connected with the war, he emphatically alluded to our loan or bonds, which at that time were little appreciated and not much understood. He told the people there that the information to them was based upon one important point; that it was for their own interest; that the North was bound by its honor, would pay these bonds, and would, surely be successful; that the American people did not come to ask Europe to take their loan; yet as an investment, especially for European capitalists, there was no better in the world, viz.: Gold was quoted in the United States all the way from 200 to 275, and for 38c. to 44c. on the dollar, or for $38 a $100 bond could be bought. On said $38 an annual interest was paid of six per cent. in coin on the amount of $100 to the holder. What an interest! say from fourteen to sixteen per cent., paid to those who invested their money in United States securities. Notwithstanding rebel endeavors to decry its value in toto, investments followed day by day, gold continued dropping, and bonds were constantly ordered from abroad. The writer published several articles, on the same subject, in the journals of Frankfurt-on-the-Main. Who profited by such a trade? Of course the buyers, and not the makers of said bonds. The question of paying the principal in coin was never asked; the interest was one object, and if the bonds would be paid at maturity, was the principal thought. Has or does anyone to-day who holds or who buys United States bonds, pay gold? Does anyone doubt that if Congress will act sincerely and wisely, to vote down any proposition to legislate about gold, or what most of our Rip Van Winkles call specie payments, no panic, no convulsion, no repudiation need be feared? If they will only let gold alone, regulate the currency of the country, let it be a Government issue, equal and uniform, sending forth enough legal tenders, why fear? Some talk of England, Russia, France, Prussia, others of lesser powers; yet take, for example, the Empire of Austria—one might as well compare a sparrow to an eagle as that country to the United States—yet even Austria has come down from her paper currency which in 1860 was at a discount of 40, to 15 in 1867. Her paper currency is uniform over the Empire—a Government responsibility. What is the use of fearing when there are all the brightest prospects for us in the future? If to-day every bond was paid off in the currency of the country, every holder of United States bonds has made a good investment, especially the Europeans. Did the persons who bought our securities pay par, and, with some exceptions, in Europe, did they lend us their money from sympathy? They invested for their benefit alone, with no other purpose than self-interest. Yes! it is true; when they became holders of our bonds then their sympathy was with us, and they were loud in wishing us and our armies success. Was it principle or selfish interest that prompted such feelings? Even as it is to-day, most of the bankers have realized fortunes from our bonds, and as an investment there is no better.

Let no one predict disastrous consequences to the United States; that cannot be. Let us hope there is wisdom left in our Congress, which, with the surplus in our Treasury, will pay off $300,000,000 gold-interest-bearing bonds, leave it then alone; reduce the heavy burdens of taxation as much as it will bear, curtail General Government expenses; business of every description must prosper, money will be easy for all necessary purposes, and in less than a dozen years, we will gradually have specie payments. We shall hardly feel it; it would be reached without panic, without encroaching either on one class or burdening the other. Gold fell at the close of the Rebellion from 275 to 24, at one time, without any serious consequences; and yet apprehend any difficulty if it reaches a lower point than now quoted, especially when it will come gradually. Still, one more important point: our country is, above all, so gigantic and grand, growing with unequal rapidity, so rich in every production—yes, an hundred-fold more than any other civilized nation on earth; in ten years our population will almost reach one-half more than it now is; our industrial and commercial pursuits will increase in proportion, more than any other people's on the globe. There is no use to compare this country and its people to any other power on earth, as that cannot be done; there never was a parallel. Enclose us with a wall as high as the heavens, and we would need no other climate than our own, for everything to render man prosperous and happy and great, to be neither influenced by bondholders, nor secretaries, nor President. Look at the folly of contraction; it paralyzed every channel of industry and trade, almost bringing about a general panic. Let $500,000,000 legal tenders be issued, to pay interest-bearing bonds as they come due; and who can be so blind not to comprehend the impetus it would give to every avenue of commerce. The contrary may suit a few bondholders, many worthy and responsible members of the New York Chamber of Commerce, who only study their own selfish interest, never that of others. How mistaken some members of Congress are to cry out "Halt!" even at the shadow of a ghost, "our honor is at stake!" One may be inclined to think that the advocates of specie payments are holders of bonds; and to them let us say, "Do not fear! By doing your duty to your country and people, your bonds may suffer, but the day is near at hand when you will surely get gold for them; but do not be greedy and want it at once. The honor of the country is not and will not be stained, if we do pay at all times our debts, with the money of our country. No pledge was given to pay gold, except the interest, notwithstanding the anxiety of some secretaries, ex-secretaries, agents, and sub-agents, in order to effect sales, and thereby secure their commissions. If any of them promised to pay gold, interest and principal, had they any such authority? They, in their capacity, respectively, acted as employees of the people of these United States; and no employee has any power to transact business in prospective which would bind the employer, except he, the employer, ratify the act. A legally-appointed agent has power to bind his principal only to the proportions of his authority. If Congress had promised to pay gold, then by all that is sacred and honorable, we must and will pay gold. But, for all the good and the love to our country, let the question of paying gold be left alone; it will surely come, and much sooner than any of us are aware. To consider the wishes of foreign bondholders a paramount should at once be discarded; or to let the wild and visionary schemes of officers, ex-officials, officials and others, is also a fallacy and a bubble. The confidence is good in the National Banking system; it depends upon the responsibility of the Government. That makes it equal to a Government issue. JULIAN ALLEN.

REMOVAL.—Messrs. Pollak & Son, manufacturers of Meerschaum Goods, have removed from No. 692 Broadway to No. 485, near Broome street. Messrs. Pollak also have a store at No. 27 John street.

The quantity of tobacco imported into Italy in 1866 amounted to the value of 20,350,048 frs., and the exports to 592,565

the Government suffers from defections among its vital supporters, upon the other hand it is expected to find backers among its usual antagonists. Many members of the Left appear favourable to the project. It is a very fair question on which to fight a Parliamentary battle. Much may be said on both sides, and perhaps one of the ex-Ministers and leading Deputies who now "shame" would have been quite capable themselves of adopting a very similar measure had they been in power. An able and influential Opposition orator might make out a good case for the Government, and the Government have to be sought. Is M. de Cassagnac the man? He owes his smoking country some amends for having raised the price and lowered the quality of the "Cavours." Where, many have decided within the last forty-eight hours, where is M. Cattazani? He left Florence on Saturday night and is now over the hills and far away, off to Wiesbaden or to some other of those German places whither people resort to wash themselves inside and out with stink-smelling water. But is he coming back? He said he would, but chi sa? In a week or so we shall have the debate, and it is a long distance to return all

THE TOBACCO MARKET.

DOMESTIC.

Spanish.—Spanish tobacco is also dormant. Some small lots of the new crop have arrived, but it can hardly be said to be yet on the market. We quote 76 bales new Yara on private terms; 26 bales Havana at $7 1/2c. Of the business for the month, the Circular of Messrs. M. RADER & SON, has the following: "The transactions in Havana have not been to as large an extent as last month. The small stock of fine goods and the high prices which are demanded for anything but suitable, no doubt help to continue the present lull, and will probably last until, with receipts of new crop, and lower prices, we may expect a better trade. A few low cost crop fillers have been received, and although showing good quality and leaf, are as yet without takers. Sales amount to 2,000 bales, within our prices; 900 bales were for shipment. Some 50 bales of Yara were sold at from 90c. to 95c. per average lots. A small lot of new crop has arrived and shows a very good style of tobacco for this market. At the price asked is above the views of our buyers." The Circular of Messrs. J. S. GANS & SON says: "In

LORILLARD'S Various Brands of
SMOKING TOBACCO.
LORILLARD'S YACHT CLUB. See special advertisement.
LORILLARD'S SIESTA. This is composed of the best bright Virginia, possessing the full flavor of the natural leaf.
LORILLARD'S MAGDALEN, a very bright, mild tobacco.
LORILLARD'S STAR OF THE WEST, medium bright Virginia, a low-priced tobacco of very superior quality.
LORILLARD'S EUREKA is pronounced by all who have used it, the best low-priced tobacco manufactured.
LORILLARD'S TURBINE, a strong dark tobacco, cut from Cavendish plug, a very popular brand in the New England States.
LORILLARD'S WHITE PUFF, light and mild, a good low-priced tobacco.
LORILLARD'S CUT VIRGINIA PLOD. This is a new brand lately introduced and from the constantly increasing demand, is highly appreciated in all parts of the country.
LORILLARD'S GENUINE IMPORTED TURKISH We are now importing genuine Turkish leaf, which we cut ourselves, and pack in various sized wood drums, which enables us to sell it much lower than that imported already cut; we can safely guarantee that this tobacco will give universal satisfaction.
We are manufacturing many other brands too numerous to mention, all of which we recommend to consumers and to the trade generally.
P. LORILLARD,
16, 18, and 20 Chambers st., N. Y.

MONEY IN CENTURY TOBACCO.
The originality of this enterprise has called forth a wide spread criticism from the press. The public have looked upon it in various ways—some accepting it in good spirit, as an evidence of princely liberality on the part of the proprietors; others looking upon it as a reckless and needless expenditure of money, while some few pronounce it a humbug; but the people generally, who have purchased the Tobacco, and who have found it a good article, are fully convinced that they have received value for their money; while those who were fortunate enough to find Greenbacks had the true satisfaction of securing a good article of tobacco at a price in addition.
THE CENTURY
has, within a very few months, become a most popular brand of tobacco. In all sections of the country, wherever it is introduced, its increased demand is sufficient evidence of its success. It is manufactured with great care from selections of choice old leaf, and entirely free from any deleterious drugs. All good judges of tobacco unanimously pronounce it THE BEST, and we are determined to spare no expense in its manufacture, but if possible, increase our efforts to make it the STANDARD BRAND OF THE DAY.

LORILLARD'S SNUFFS
Are too long and favorably known to need comment; it will suffice to say that the quality is unrivaled, that they are always reliable, and are now what they have been for the past century.
THE ONLY STANDARD SNUFFS IN THE COUNTRY.
As many parties are rolling our jars with a spurious article, we would respectfully advise purchasers to examine the packages and satisfy themselves that our labels are not defaced.

16, 18, and 20 Chambers st., N. Y.

TOBACCO FLATTENING MILLS AND SHAPES.

After an experience of twenty-five years in the mill-making business, I have improved and secured Letters Patent on Tobacco Flattening Mills by which one-third more tobacco is pressed in the same space and time than in the old Mills. The backs are of solid rolled iron, to which the slinkers, plated, are attached by rivets, through and through, countersunk and filed smooth to prevent impressions on the tobacco, and making the mills more durable.

My claim is fully set forth in my Letters Patent, and this is to caution the public against manufacturing or using said Patent unless the right has been properly obtained from me.

My Mills will be stamped with my name, &c.

Tobaccoists will find it greatly to their interest to adopt these Mills in their establishments, for economy in time, labor, and durability, as well as cost.

With confidence I refer to the tobaccoists of this city.

For orders for any style of above, such as pounds, quarter pounds, long and short tens, twist, etc., apply to

THE PHILADELPHIA TOBACCO

BOARD OF TRADE.

The Tobacco Board of Trade in Philadelphia has had the following rules printed in card-form, for general distribution among the members of the Trade: Adopted, July 9, 1868.

RULE I. The Inspector shall be elected annually by the Board of Directors of the "Tobacco Trade of Philadelphia," and his commission duly signed by the President, shall date from the first day of August, in each year; the Board reserves the right to revoke said commission, for sufficient cause, at any time. RULE II. It shall be the duty of said Inspector, at his earliest convenience, to respond to all orders from members of this Association who may require his services. RULE III. It shall be the duty of the Inspector, in sampling Leaf Tobacco, in cases, to remove the entire top and bottom of every case, from each end of which he shall draw two (2) hands of tobacco, from such depth as may, in his opinion, fairly represent the character and condition of the tobacco so inspected.

RULE IV. The sample so drawn shall be tied securely with twine, and sample tags affixed with whitetape, sealed legibly with the seal of the Association (to be provided for the purpose). Such tag shall be printed in blank, weights and tares to be written thereon, together with the date of inspection and signature of the Inspector; a record of which he shall keep in a book, to be provided by him for the purpose. When tobacco is heated, or otherwise damaged, he shall so mark the tag. RULE V.—The inspection of tobacco in hds. shall be in conformity with the rules prescribed by the Philadelphia City Tobacco Warehouse. RULE VI.—No Inspector, while in office, shall buy, sell, barter, or trade, directly or indirectly, in domestic leaf tobacco, or furnish information in regard to lots of tobacco sampled by him; any violation of this provision shall be deemed a misdemeanor in office, and shall, upon satisfactory proof thereof, forfeit his commission, and be thereafter disqualified from ever holding the office of Inspector of leaf tobacco for this Association. RULE VII.—In no case shall the Inspector have power to appoint a Deputy.

If he shall be sick, or otherwise unable to discharge the duties of his office, an Inspector "ad interim" shall be chosen by a committee of the Board of Directors, and commissioned by the President, who shall act as Inspector until he receives written notice from the Inspector of his ability to resume his duties.

RULE VIII.—The fee for inspection shall be fifty (50) cents per case, to be paid by the owner; the Inspector to furnish the necessary labor. RULE IX.

—Further rules relating to the inspection of leaf tobacco, or changes in existing rules or rates, may at any time be made by the Board of Directors, when the same may be necessary. COVENANT.

—It is hereby agreed and declared to be the purpose and intention of this Association, in order to sustain this feature of our organization, to submit all leaf tobacco, in cases, which we or any of us may now hold, buy, or receive on commission, to inspection as above provided; and any member who shall sell, or offer for sale any leaf tobacco, in cases, which shall not have been duly inspected after the first day of August next, shall forfeit and pay, for the use of this Association, the sum of five (5) dollars for each case not so inspected.

The Board of Directors, at a meeting held July 23, 1868, elected Mr. George Boldin, Leaf Inspector for the "Tobacco Trade of Philadelphia," who will enter upon his duties on the 1st day of August, 1868. He can be found at his office, No. 325 North Water street, Philadelphia.

D. C. McCAMMON, Pres't.

W. M. ARBEE, Sec'y.

ALLEGED TOBACCO FRAUDS.—John

Heidel and John Reineke have been arrested for alleged frauds in the sale of tobacco. From the evidence of officer Prior, who arrested them, which was given before the United States Commissioner, it appears that he had noticed Heidel lounging about saloons on the Gravois road for several months past, and on Saturday he observed him and Reineke going up the road; Heidel had a sack on his shoulder, and he halted them. He found seven boxes of cigars, which had been refilled with new cigars, while the stamps on them were old ones. Reineke said he bought them from a drunken man. Heidel has a small store on Lombard street, where he makes cigars. All the evidence on the part of the Government has been given, and yesterday the case was con-

CORRESPONDENCE.

PROSPECTS OF THE NEW CROP.

EDITOR TOBACCO LEAF: Being a constant reader of your valuable paper for three years past and a shipper of Western tobacco, I take this method of laying before my friends and the readers of THE LEAF my views and information concerning the growing crop of tobacco. Reports from all parts of the country have been time and again published in THE LEAF, and being at leisure, I determined to investigate the prospects of the new crop.

I visited Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, and West Virginia, and can assure my tobacco friends that there never was a time when so large a breadth of country was planted in the weed. I have conversed with numerous planters, and they invariably state that there is nothing they can produce as remunerative as tobacco. During the great want of money with them, they held large quantities of cotton, but were forced to sell when market prices were low; consequently, the advances went into the hands of speculators. Tobacco planters seem to think that tobacco commands throughout the year a more regular or uniform price than cotton, and have turned their attention to it. In some regions of Missouri and West Virginia tobacco is still small, but of a rich color; in Southern Missouri there has been a scarcity of rain, which impeded planting. Large quantities had to be set out by the aid of watering cans. The planters have been so determined to produce tobacco that they have to a great extent neglected other crops, in order to give attention to tobacco. If the country succeeds in producing only two-thirds of a crop we shall still have a great quantity.

ROBERT G. WHITE.

CINCINNATI, July 23, 1868.

A GLANCE AT THE LEAF MARKET.

Regarding the tobacco market and the situation, we find by the last report from the Inspection the stock on hand to be 32,529 hds.; but facts are that 7,000 hds. will have to be deducted, which have been bought for the French market, and which will be shipped this month, which will reduce it down to 25,529 hds. For Italy and Spain, 11,000 hds. will be taken, still further reducing the stock to 14,529 hds., not counting the outside demand of Havre and other foreign markets, which will yet be forthcoming. The market has been held artificially quiet through contractors holding back in order to weaken it as much as possible, but as soon as heavy shipments have been made, showing the large decrease and small stock remaining, the trade will be more apt to comprehend the situation, likely. Of the tobacco that has been bought for Regie the largest portion will be held back as long as possible, in order to influence the market until they have got their required amount bought. In consequence of all these facts before us, an advance of prices will be unavoidable, especially as the main outside buyers have held back in order to do better. Had they been in the market as usual, the supply would now be unequal to the demand.

TOBACCO OBSERVER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4, 1868.

INTERNAL REVENUE SEIZURES.

The factory of Francis C. Archibald, at Factoryville, Staten Island, has been seized by Inspector Harvey. Mr. Archibald was engaged in the manufacture of smoking and chewing tobacco. He commenced business in June, but failed to enter in his books the full amount of leaf bought. The books showed sales during the month of July of 60 lbs. smoking and 130 lbs. chewing; whereas it was discovered that he had sold over 500 lbs. during a single day—July 29. The case is now under investigation.

BUSINESS CHANGES.

RICHMONDISM.

The Richmond Tobacco Exchange has passed a resolution prohibiting persons who do not reside in Richmond from bidding at their sales. This is a decided Richmondism. Just such narrow, contracted ideas as inspired their resolution will blast the business prosperity of any community. We had fond
