OUR DIRECTORY.

Before this article will be seen by our readers, a considerable number of the subscribers to the Directory, over which we so long and persistently labored, will be in possession of copies of the work. During the progress of our labors, while experiencing the anxiety always inseparable from the production of a work of this nature, we were constantly cheered by the hope that, through the exercise of unusual care and attention, we might be successful in overcoming the obstacles that seemed to lie in the way of the attainment of the object we had in view, and that we should be able to present to the Tobacco Trade of the country a book of reference, which, if not entirely perfect, would at least be so well done as to reflect no discredit upon those for whose use it was designed, or upon those engaged in its preparation. We do not, ourselves, know that this hope has been realized; yet, we feel, as we contemplate the result of our efforts, that we have done as well as was possible under the circumstances; while the extraordinary demand now prevailing for the volume seems to indicate that our friends and patrons are entirely satisfied with the character of our achievement. Though several thousand copies of the Directory have already been distributed, not a single word of complaint has reached us from either advertisers or subscribers; on the contrary, both have been most generous in their praise of the book. Embellishments, typography, binding, classification, scope, arrangement and magnitude, each part and feature of the volume, has met with the unqualified approbation of every body who has communicated with us on the subject since the date of publication; and it is in the gratification arising from this unexpected unanimity of favor, that we shall seek and find—however satisfactory the pecuniary results—our chief reward for the effort expended in this our first book-offering to the Tobacco Trade.

Some of our contemporaries have already favorably noticed the Directory. We append the following generous notice from the Evening Post:

"The Tobacco Trade Directory" is the title of a large and handsome volume, published by "The Tobacco Leaf Publishing Company," of which Mr. J. Henry Hager is the head. The work is not strictly literary, unless it may claim recognition as such for the leaf which constitutes its basis, and for the volumes of words, in which it ends. But this is a child's play of words, and would run into a puff ere long, when our ob-

THE SALE OF TOBACCO BY PRODUCERS.

We transfer to our columns on another page, the letter of a correspondent of our namesake, the Clarksville (Tenn.) Tobacco Leaf, on the subject of the new law, as affecting the producer, and propose here to offer a few observations on the same subject, with the view of directing the mind of the writer, and others like him, of some of the erroneous impressions that appear to have been formed regarding it.

And first, the law was not enacted at the instigation of "a lot of dealers," as suspected by the correspondent of our contemporary, "with a pocket full of money, and not stinted in the use of it." But on the contrary, the law was passed to meet what seemed to be a pressing necessity, and was urged not only by dealers throughout the country, but by manufacturers and the Department at Washington.

Manufactured tobacco was heavily taxed, and as it was only natural, while such was the case, that consumers would substitute untaxed leaf for the manufactured article, and was shown that they did so to a very great extent, it became, as was thought, indispensable that something should be done to restrict the consumption of tobacco in a crude state, and the legislation objected to was designed to accomplish that purpose.

Additional motives for the enactment were found in the two following circumstances. It was alleged that illicit manufacturers could, and did, obtain material for the prosecution of their illegitimate traffic more readily, and with less liability to detection, from producers than from dealers, as the former were not obliged to keep a record of their sales and the latter were. And out of this fact arose the next, and most important motive: the most important in the estimation of the Government at all events; and, indeed, on that account, important to everybody; because all are interested in whatever is of interest to the Government. To enable the officers of the revenue to have an approximately correct basis for estimating the amount of manufactured tobacco, cigars and snuff that ought to be produced and amenable to taxation, it was necessary for them to know how much leaf was converted into those articles. This information, according to the inference of Congress in 1868, could be obtained from leaf dealers by to whom reference has been made in the law, as we understand it, to sell their tobacco loose. They may, and do still, sell tobacco on the field, or in bulk, in large or small quantities, in the curing-house, just as they have always done. The provision of the law which says, "Every person shall be regarded as a retail dealer in leaf tobacco whose business it is to sell leaf tobacco in quantities less than an original hogshead, case or bale," does not apply to producers, as will be seen by the expression we have italicized. It refers only to men known, or that may become known, to the trade as retail dealers in leaf tobacco.

The correspondent errs, too, in assuming that the "burden of the law falls upon the citizens of Virginia, Tennessee, and Kentucky, while those dealing in or manufacturing tobacco in other States are benefited." The burden falls on all alike wherever tobacco is raised, and that is in nearly every State in the Union, and the benefit if any there be, must therefore be shared alike.

MINOR EDITORIALS.

THERE are said to be nearly seven thousand hogsheads of tobacco in the Richmond inspection warehouses.

ANOTHER WAREHOUSE.—A tobacco warehouse has been opened at Roanoke Station, Richmond and Danville Railroad, on the 2nd instant, and liberal sales made.

CONNECTICUT TOBACCO IN ILLINOIS.—A subscriber in remitting the price of THE TOBACCO LEAF for another year, says: "We have a splendid crop of Connecticut seed leaf, the product of imported seed, in Jo. Daviess County, this season."

A REGIO TOBACCO AGENT KILLED.—At the accident on the Paducah and Elizabethtown Railroad on the 10th inst., Mr. Maddalassi, a tobacco agent for the Italian Government, was killed. He was found standing on his feet leaning against the car, dead.

THE TOBACCO COMMERCE OF RICHMOND, VA.—The exports from Richmond to foreign ports during the twelve months ending 30th ult., were: Leaf, 5,262 hds., valued at $867,596; strips, 1,457 hds., valued at $205,950; stems, 211 hds., valued at $836.50; manufactured, 20 boxes, at $395.

A STEPHENS correspondent of the Cloverport (Ky.) Transcript, says: "The tobacco-buyers of our town are busily engaged in getting their houses ready for the coming crops. They pronounce the present crop good, and say that the planters are caring for it splendidly. Some have finished cutting, and the weather is very favorable for cutting and curing."

TOBACCO TRADE OF DANVILLE, VA.—Says the Danville Register, "We learn from a circular issued by Holland's Warehouse, that the amount of leaf tobacco sold in Danville during the year ending the 30th of September, 1872, was 14,065,639 pounds. This shows an increase over the sales of the previous year of 874,233 pounds; so it will be seen that this market continues steadily to grow in amount of business from year to year."

A FELLOW-SOLDIER OF "THE PLANT."—We have the honor to welcome to Europe, says Cope's Tobacco Plant, the Editor of our vigorous contemporary, THE NEW YORK TOBACCO LEAF, Mr. J. Henry Hager. Smokers and lovers of the "weed" will hail him as the representative of the healthy and enterprising attachment of Americans to the cause of Nicotia. We may hope for him what some of his compatriots would call "a good old high time" while he is among us, and hope he will carry with him on his return only the kindest recollections of that Old World which never forgets that it owes the gift of tobacco to the land of the stars and stripes.

A NEW FIELD OF ENTERPRISE.—During his frequent visits to Austria and Italy, Mr. J. D. Krenelberg, of Baltimore, one of the largest shippers of tobacco to Europe, being the senior member of the houses Krenelberg & Co., New York, J. D. Krenelberg & Co., Baltimore, and Krenelberg, Schaefer & Co., New Orleans, conceived the idea of establishing in this country a factory for cigars like those so much in favor and so largely consumed in the Austrian and Italian countries.

His factory has now for several months been in successful operation in Baltimore, and the world-renowned qualities of the Virginia tobacco, for smoking purposes, are offered to the smoker's palate in the shape of "cigars."

The finest qualities of Virginia and Kentucky tobacco are selected for the purpose, and the processes of manufacture, as well as the preparations of the leaf, are different from those generally known.

So far, the use of Virginia tobacco in manufacturing cigars, was almost entirely excluded in this country, and it became necessary to adopt the manner of the Austrian Government which, through long experience, has succeeded in making this cigar the great favorite, and of daily increasing consumption.

The peculiarity in the manufacture of these cigars is, that the dry filler with a short straw to serve as a mouth-piece, and a rush running through the whole length, is covered with the wrapper in a very wet condition. They are then bundled, and placed in a drying room to be subjected to excessive heat for several days, after which they are taken to a cool room to absorb moisture enough to be handled for a drying process in the open air.

The cigars are then ready for use, and being light, after the rush is withdrawn, will evolve the peculiar aromatic flavor in which the Virginian tobacco excels. While they have not the quality and flavor of the imported Havana cigar, they are a good substitute at the low price they sell for.

The factory is now operated with about a hundred hands, mostly females, under the superintendence of a gentleman from Austria who has been engaged in the manufacture of the cigars for a number of years in the different factories of that country, but it is said Mr. Krenelberg contemplates erecting buildings sufficient to employ one thousand hands.

WHO MAY BUY LEAF TOBACCO.—A correspondent, says the Richmond Whig, writing from Wattsburg, Lunenburg, Co., Va. propounds this question: "Can any person, not a licensed purchaser of leaf tobacco, buy such tobacco sold under execution at public sale to the highest bidder?" At first blush, it would seem that the interdiction against selling to any other than a licensed purchaser holds good in this case as well as in a private sale by the owner—but there is a difference of opinion about the matter, and we respectfully refer it for decision to Commissioner Douglass and the legal fraternity generally.

ANSWER BY "THE LEAF."

Any body is at liberty to purchase under such circumstances, as will be seen by the following Washington dispatch of the 10th instant:

"The Commissioner of Internal Revenue writes to the Assessor of the Second District, at Concord, N. H., saying that under the law and regulations of the Commissioner, a tobacco or cigar manufacturer may sell in bulk without the payment of tax, on refuse scraps, clippings, etc., incidental to his own business, but the law does allow, and the regulations never contemplated the general purchase and sale of this class of tobacco in bulk, and without the payment of tax. The sales must be limited to tobacco scraps, waste, clippings, etc., which have resulted from the manufacturer's own business, and sold as material to be further manipulated, or manufactured, or mixed with other manufactured tobacco. Permits for the sale of this class of tobacco must be kept within the limits of the law and regulations. Another decision says no license or special law is required in order to enable a person to purchase tobacco of a Sheriff or any other person; but where one makes a business of buying and selling tobacco, he is required to pay a special tax, either as a dealer in leaf tobacco or a retail dealer in leaf tobacco, as the case might be. The liability attaches to the selling, and the mode of selling determines the amount of tax to be paid."

THE TOBACCO MARKET.

DOMESTIC.

NEW YORK, October 15.

Western Leaf.—There has been a little more life in our market, though business has been much checked by difficulty of shipping. The Home and Virginia demand for fillers is good, and the latter promises to be regular and large hereafter, as their home stock becomes exhausted. Cutters have been looking round, but we hear of little done with them. The sales reported amount to 772 hds., of which 96 Mason County cutters, 244 fillers to manufacturers, 109 to jobbers, and 323 to shippers. Prices are generally regarded as $\frac{1}{4}$ @ $\frac{3}{8}$ below the top notch of the season, at least for export sorts.

Virginia Leaf.—The demand for Virginia leaf during the past week has been moderate, being confined chiefly to manufacturing sorts, and comprising the usual varieties. Prices generally were firm but without noticeable indications of increasing stiffness. For primings there appears to be little or no inquiry, and prices are as yet undetermined. They will probably remain unquotable until something definite is heard from the markets abroad where they are usually wanted. Trade has been curtailed the same as during the previous week by the general apathy now prevailing in all business circles; the sensitive and unsettled condition of the money market, combined with the near approach of Election day, with all its distracting and disquieting influences, making business men cautious, and reluctant to move with much animation until public affairs have assumed a more tranquil aspect. In view of all the circumstances affecting trade deleteriously, no great amount of activity is to be expected until the new season is inaugurated.

Seed Leaf.—With the exception of a few small sales for shipment, the business of the week in seed leaf was confined principally to the local trade, in which a regular though not active demand prevailed.

For export, the reported sales were 105 cases Ohio at 10@11c; 200 cases Illinois on private terms, and 40 cases Western at 9 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. The home trade took 400 cases Connecticut Wrappers at 45@55c, and 164 cases New York, running lots, at 12@14c. The cool, dry weather of the past fortnight has probably checked the injury that was being done by the "rot," which at one time appeared so threatening to the new tobacco so that it is now safe to assume that the damage will not be serious, and, considering the magnitude of the crop, will be scarcely appreciable. From all we can learn, the circumstance mentioned by us last week of the total destruction of a crop in the town of Bloomfield, Conn., is quite exceptional, and affords no basis for an apprehension that a considerable quantity of tobacco will be lost to commerce and trade.

There is as yet no evidence of haste in buying this year's product, but little having thus far changed hands, so far, at least, as has come to our own knowledge. We have heard of some having been purchased recently in the Housatonic Valley, but whether a large or small quantity information did not reach us.

Spanish.—Havana continues, of course, in good demand, and the reported transfers for the week foot up about 600 bales at 92@125. There is no new feature of importance to be mentioned in connection with the trade, and in the nature of things, none is to be expected. Old stock is being rapidly reduced by the activity among manufacturers, and the new must soon begin to change hands with increased freedom. We have no sales of Yara to report, but presume transactions therein were of the average character as respects price and quantity.

Manufactured.—We hear of offers too low for acceptance, and of sales both for export and consumption. Among the transfers were several lots of Navy. The week, on the whole, has been a moderate one in the Cavendish trade, and present appearances reflect no signs of better promise in the immediate future.

Concerning a bonded warehouse exclusively for export at this port, whereof we took early opportunity to write in favor, the Washington correspondent of the Saturday Oct. 11, has the following to say in the Journal of Commerce issue of that paper: A number of tobacco commission merchants and exporters have appealed to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to induce him to recommend to Congress the establishment of one export bonded warehouse at New York City. Under the new law and regulations there is only one way to export tobacco. That is, from a manufacturer's hands. A commission or export merchant may buy and ship tobacco abroad. But the manufacturer must give the bonds and his name must appear on the landing certificate. The exporter may find a way to avoid the discovery of the manufacturer's name until it comes to the production of the landing certificate. Then the foreign buyer, possessed of the manufacturer's name, is apt to realize that the exporter is not philanthropic enough to pay rents and clerk-hire and staff at first cost. As a consequence he inclines to go to first hands in the future. Several such cases have grown out of the new law. Again, the manufacturers, in one or two instances, have sent the same kind of tobacco to the same foreign markets supplied by their usual commission merchants, having discovered the opening through their export paper. This sells cheaply the experience of the "middlemen," or distributors, and has a tendency to lessen their profits by competition, disadvantageous to them, in the markets they try to secure. It is to the distributors, advantage to keep the destination of his tobacco a secret from his manufacturers, and that is absolutely impossible to do under existing law and regulations, as presented through the act of June 6, 1872. The commission merchants assert that the tobacco manufacturers, as a class, are well taken care of in that law, and that the "middlemen" are forgotten. They say that this is a hardship, and that in order to set them even, as well as to give advantages to many small manufacturers, an export tobacco bonded warehouse, for export only, should be established at New York. Mr. Kimball, Chief of the Tobacco Division, believes that the commissioner intends to give the new system a thorough trial before recommending any change in the law. The Commissioner himself has just arrived, but has not considered the subject.

The Journal's correspondent, no doubt intended by his observations to give a helping hand to an object of very great desire and importance, but we cannot but fear the flippant and desultory manner in which he has expressed his ideas is calculated to prejudice rather than assist that object. And first, we judge errs in stating that number of tobacco commission merchants have appealed to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in relation to a warehouse at all. If such an appeal had been made we should have been likely to hear of it, and we have heard of nothing of the kind. The merchants will probably take action in the matter then in their opinion the proper time for so doing shall have arrived. Concerning the secrecy which the merchants desire to persevere respecting the destination of their shipments, it should be said their sensitiveness on this point does not spring from a desire to keep others from a field occupied by themselves, but with a desire inherent in every body to keep that which is their own. Every foreign buyer who deals with a New York tobacco house is just as much the representative of the capital of that house as is the stock belonging to it, or as are the deposits in the bank. He is the product of the energy, enterprise and fair dealing of the house, and but for its efforts, its years of favors conferred, and accommodation extended, would never, perhaps, have been known to the commerce of the city. Men are not expected to voluntarily and willingly tell where their gold is concealed so that he who will may take it. Yet not more unreasonable would it be to expect them to do that than to imagine a merchant should gratuitously tell a rival where one or more of his patrons might be found and seduced from him. In the tobacco commerce the field of enterprise is a broad one, and we have got to see the merchant engaged therein who has the slightest wish to prevent a manufacturer from selling his goods whenever and wherever he can. He only asks that each, the manufacturer and himself be put upon an equality. But this under the law is not done. The manufacturer has his goods and his manufacturing, the latter at once his store and his export warehouse; the merchant has neither goods nor warehouse. With the facilities of the manufacturer for promptly making up assortments for the foreign market what chance has the merchant who can get no goods, saving what the manufacturer will supply him with, after having first supplied the foreign buyer, the merchants own, perhaps, included?

Give the merchant also a warehouse with export facilities, and to that extent he and the manufacturer are on equality; though in all other respects the latter will still possess the majority of advantages. Yet give him this, and he will be satisfied. If then the manufacturer, with superior opportunities, can seduce away the merchant's customers, there will be no one more ready than the latter to applaud the achievement.

The above quoted extract intimates that the existing plan is to be fully tested before another will be adopted. We sincerely hope not. We cannot believe the best interests of our Government can be subserved by sacrificing a great industry in the solution of an experiment. No test is needed to prove what will be the result of the present system. Six months from the 6th of December next there will hardly be a tobacco merchant in the city of New York who will take the trouble to direct the shipment of a cargo of Virginia tobacco. Our merchants will not be crushed by their hard fate, nor will they stand idle next year any more than now; but their orders will be directed to Canada and not to Virginia.

Already this is being done and the traffic thence will increase until it absorbs all the capital and all the energy here. It is difficult for some to realize the extent of the danger to American production and American commerce in those Canadian manufactures. Virginia's grip is the grip of a giant, but see what was done in Brooklyn and New York when, during the war, the giant's arms were paralyzed. What was done here can be done in Canada, let none believe otherwise.

Canadian tobacco lies now in bond in this city; Canadian shippers may send cargo after cargo here without restraint, and all they send may remain here as long as they choose to leave it. Is it right, is it creditable, is it paralleled by any fiscal legislation in the world, that an American tradesman can not do in his own country what a foreigner can?

Smoking.—There was a very fair trade in smoking tobacco curing the week, and sales embrace the usual assortments.

Cigars.—No change in the cigar market to report. A steady demand continued for all good and medium grades. The strike among the cigar-makers in Havana, having been abandoned as speedily as it arose, the import trade felt no perturbation in consequence of that event.

Gold opened at 112 $\frac{1}{2}$, and closed at 112 $\frac{3}{4}$. Exchange has been steady. PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Growners of seed leaf tobacco are cautioned against accepting the reported sales and quotations of seed leaf as furnishing the price that should be obtained for them at first hand, as these refer in most instances to old crops which have been held nearly a year, and the profit on which must naturally include the interest on capital invested. Growers cannot expect even in the case of new crops, to sell them for the same prices as are obtained on a re-sale here. Of course every re-sale must be at an advance, and therefore the price obtainable by the growers will always be somewhat over than our quotations.

During September a few hogsheads of the new crop, mostly primings, appeared on the breaks and were sold at prices a fraction below quotations for the old crop. The quality of these was rather poor, being light and chaffy, and furnishes no criterion for judging as to the general crop. New Crop—Most of the early planted tobacco, has been cut and housed, and as the season for curing has been favorable, we may look for early receipts provided prices open to suit planters. A portion of the late plantings has been cut in a stunted and green state and will be of an inferior nondescript style, and with a continuance of ten days of the present good weather the remaining portion will be cut and housed. Our information induces the opinion that the crop will be about equal in extent to that raised in 1870, but inferior to it in quality.

PETERSBURG, October 12.—Messrs R. A. Young & Brother, Tobacco Commission Merchants, report: The market remains unchanged with a good demand for good and fine dark leaf. Lugs continue in good demand at quotations; primings are lower, owing to high freights.

PHILADELPHIA, October 14.—Mr. E. W. Dickerson, Reporter for the Tobacco Trade of Philadelphia, writes as follows: In my last report I omitted 100 cases seed leaf. Including that, I have to report now sales of 480 cases of seed leaf, 150 bales Spanish, 10 hds Kentucky.

Cigar-makers are busy. Sales of domestic cigars 1,100,000.

Manufactured tobacco, 1,500 pkgs.

There is a greater activity in cigars than in other branches of the trade.

RICHMOND, October 12.—Mr. R. A. Mills, Tobacco Broker and Commission Merchant, reports: In reviewing our market for the past week, I have to note more animation and a slight improvement in prices.

The breaks and offerings are small, and will continue so for the balance of the season, as nearly all of the crop has passed out of first hands and the trade is dependent almost entirely upon reviews. The present stock of old tobacco, will, however, supply all demands that is likely to be made upon it, and should the supply of any kind run short, we can expect it out of the new crop, some little of which has found its way to market, but will not be used yet. We had a heavy frost last night; have heard of no damage to tobacco crop. I suppose it is all or nearly all housed. The transactions were 577 hds, 154 tcs, 15 bxs. I revise my quotations:

SAN FRANCISCO, October 4.—The Commercial Herald reports the market as follows: The ship Ladoga, 236 days from New York, brought 325 cs leaf, thus making good our already liberal stock. As for manufactured, our people have got so much into the habit of supplying themselves at auction trade sales that there is really little to be known in the interim. The jobbing trade at present is very slack, and quotations for leaf and manufactured measurably as before noted. The exports were 7 cases to Japan, and 6 cases, 1 do cigars to China. There are now on their way to this port from domestic Atlantic ports 220 hds and 1,392 cases.

ST. LOUIS, October 9.—Mr. J. E. Haynes, Tobacco Broker, reports as follows: Received 46 hds against 85 the previous week. Sales have been small, and the market irregular.

FOREIGN.

ANTWERP, September 20.—Mr. Victor Forge, Importer of Leaf Tobacco, reports: Sales of the week were 50 hds Kentucky, and about 100 hds Virginia, the latter to speculators who have been looking about for the past week, but holders keep too firm to allow them to meet their views, and give way to large transactions. Only a small business done for home consumption. Receipts per William, from New York, 43 hds Kentucky.

LIVERPOOL, September 28.—Mr. F. W. Smythe, Tobacco Commission Merchant, reports: Throughout the week just ended, the business in this tobacco market has been of the common daily retail character, the sales have been chiefly of strips at full prices, but transactions in dry leaf have only been to a limited extent; something has been done in export leaf for Africa and for the Continent, generally speaking at about previous prices. Maryland quiet; other growths much wanted for cutting purposes. Cavendish selling from day to day in a small way for ship-stores. Market firm.

LONDON, October 3.—Messrs. Grant, Chambers & Co. report as follows: There has been more activity in the market for States tobacco, and the present limited character of the stock on sale has caused holders to advance their limits, especially upon fine classes, which are now firmly held. No progress has been made with the sampling of the last imports. Western Leaf and Strips—Of the former there is a scarcity of colors sorts which are required for Home use, and of export descriptions, stock is quite bare. For strips there have been a good demand, the limited stock prevented any transactions of importance. Virginia leaf and strips have had but little attention owing to the trifling stock on sale. Maryland and Ohio have not yet been operated in to any extent; supplies are now freely coming to hand. Cavendish has been in better demand, and a fair business has been done.

Thursday, September 26.—Messrs. Grant, Chambers & Co. report as follows: There has been but little doing in United States tobacco during the past week, and only a few retail sales for home trade purposes have been effected. Prices for all descriptions continue firm and holders show inclination to make the slightest concessions. Western leaf and strips have again been the articles of attention, the stock of which here offers a limited assortment. Virginia leaf and strips of fine, rich, leafy classes, continue in request and for the latter full rates are obtained. Maryland and Ohio are now being sought after, especially the light, dry grades; the late arrivals are now in course of sampling. Cavendish has had but little attention from buyers; prices continue steady.

Our Monthly Circular is as follows: During the past month there has been a fair inquiry for United States tobacco, but in consequence of the limited nature of the stock on sale, the transactions have been restricted to the more immediate requirements of buyers. The home trade have taken such an offer of ordinary to medium classes, also some selections of the finer grades; the latter of which have commanded a trifle advance on previous rates. Holders of all descriptions continue firm and show no disposition to give way upon top prices. For substitutes there has been a good demand, and all available classes have been readily placed at top rates; and for cigar tobacco there has been more inquiry, leaving our market but poorly supplied. Imports—1,194 hds. Deliveries—1,019 hds, against 849 hds in the corresponding month of last year. Stock—14,693 hds against 18,044 hds in 1871; 14,745 hds in 1870; 17,332 hds in 1869; 17,427 hds in 1868; 22,484 hds in 1867; and 25,076 hds in 1866. Virginia Leaf and Strips—When dark and rich in quality are sought after: of the latter there is but little of this description, and buyers are looking to supply their requirements from the present import. Bright grades; when leafy and in good condition, sell readily. Kentucky and Missouri Leaf and Strips—Have been in fair request, and much larger sales would have been effected had the stock in the market offered a better and more extensive assortment. In leaf for export purposes there were various inquiries, but there is little of any description now offering; and of strips the supply is now but trifling, nearly all the medium and lower grades having been placed, and for the finer classes holders look for an advance on present prices. Maryland and Ohio—Of the former there is but little to be had; only the bright and moderately leafy classes are now in request. Of Ohio the market is well supplied, and some of the late arrivals offer a fine assortment, both as regards color, leaf, and condition, and at this season of the year it is to be expected that it will readily find buyers. Havana Cigars—When of good appearance and fine flavor, continue to be taken upon arrival, and for such low prices are demanded, but common and ordinary classes are almost unsalable; only a limited supply of cigars of the new crop have yet come in the market. Havana Leaf—Only filly classes in request, for which full prices are paid. Wrappers lots are difficult to place, even at moderate rates. Yara and Cuba—Of the former none offering in the market; of the latter a small parcel has just come to hand, and will be offered shortly. Manila Cheroots and Cigars—Sold freely, more particularly the former, of which the market is bare. Prices for light weight classes remain firm. Manila Tobacco—Continues in good demand, and prices for fine descriptions are higher. But little of the 1870 firsts are now to be had. Holders look for better prices further on. A parcel of 3,100 bales, 4th Cagayan 1870 crop, has arrived per the Elena, and will be offered at public auction on the 10th inst, or not previously disposed of. Columbian—Albalema would have a ready sale, but there is nothing offering. Carmen has been more inquired for, the stock, however, is much reduced, as some parcels which were offering here, have been shipped. A good demand exists for fine brown leafy classes. Giron—Nothing offering. Palmyra—Of fine quality much wanted, and would realize full rates; common and ordinary difficult to place. Esmeralda—If well assorted, continues in request, arrivals are specially expected of a portion of the new crop, which is reported as fine, but for which high prices have been paid at the place of growth. China—There is no alteration to report, a further arrival has taken place, but the whole is intermixed with dark and almost useless tobacco, which will be a great drawback to its ready sale; bright, well-selected descriptions would sell freely. Paraguay—Nothing offering in the market; arrivals would command full prices, and meet a ready sale. Porto Rico—A parcel just to hand will shortly be offered, this tobacco is, when well-selected, in favor with buyers. Arracan, Brazil, and St. Domingo—None on sale. Turkey—When of good bright color and moderately leafy sells freely, but common classes are difficult to place. Macedonian—Moves off slowly arising from the general character of the stock being mixed, both as regards color and quality. Greek—Has had but little attention, and been but little dealt in. Rio Grande—Nothing new to report. Java—Is now held for such long rates, that buyers have operated but to a trifling extent. Sumatra—Continues in favor with our manufacturers, the even brown classes command full prices. There is but little now on the market. Dutch and German—The former when dry and of fair quality sells freely, and for the latter there is a good inquiry, both for cigar and cutting purposes. Japan—Is still freely used, but there have only been a few trifling sales, as there is but little now offering on the market. Hungarian—Stock bare; good useful descriptions would meet a ready sale. Latakia—Has had rather more attention from our buyers, but no sales of importance have been effected. Negrohead—Is held for higher rates; parcels of known brands are sold as soon as they are landed. Cavendish—Continues in fair request; holders are firm for good to fine descriptions. Stalks and Smalls—Are but little inquired for.

We would direct the attention of shippers and importers to an arrangement made with the London and St. Katharine Docks Company, by which tobacco can be landed at the following low rates: Quay Rate—Including weighing gross, examining externally for damage, the use of transit shed for 14 days from the date of the import ship breaking bulk, and delivery 4th per 100 lbs net. Rent after 14 days, 1d per 100 lbs net, per week. (Note.—The Quay Rate will only apply to tobacco delivered for exportation. It must be declared to be in transit at the time of entry, and delivered within one month from breaking bulk, after which the Housing Rate will attach in addition.) Sampling, to the extent of 5 per cent. only will be allowed on tobacco placed on the Quay Rate, the charge for which will be the same as "Sampling as a separate operation." Housing Rate—Including the ordinary operations, 3d per 100 lbs net. (Note.—Tobacco entered for warehousing with the Company, will be subject to the Quay and Housing Rates.)

Paying Bonded Warehouse Storekeepers—Extraordinary Vascillation.

NEW YORK, October 12. EDITOR TOBACCO LEAF.—We feel justified in calling the attention of your readers to the course pursued by the Government to proprietors of export bonded warehouses as shown by the following correspondence and statement of facts:

On August 8, 1872, we wrote to the Commissioner at Washington asking whether, under the Internal Revenue Law, approved June 6, 1872, proprietors of export bonded warehouses for tobacco, would be obliged to pay the salaries of storekeepers, to which we received the following reply:

WASHINGTON, August 12, 1872. "I reply to your letter of the 8th instant, that the act of June 6, 1872, provides that storekeepers assigned by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to export bonded warehouses for tobacco after August 1, 1872, shall be paid by the United States. Very respectfully, CHARLES CHESLEY, Acting Commissioner."

This being signed by Charles Chesley, as Acting Commissioner, Solicitor of the Internal Revenue Department, to whose opinion the Commissioner referred in confirming his decision, regarding the tax of 32 cents upon tobacco bonded between June 6 and July 1, and this interpretation of the law, agreeing with that of our Collector, and of merchants in this city, I had no question that it was the rule upon which the Government would act.

On September 11, 1872, I received the following: "Demand is hereby made for the payment of the sum of one hundred and thirty-five dollars, for reimbursement of pay of the Storekeeper of Export Bonded Warehouse No. 6, for the month of August, 1872."

To this I refused assent, showing my letter from the Bureau of Internal Revenue, as my reason. By the mail of that day I wrote the following:

NEW YORK, September 11, 1872. Hon. J. W. DOUGLASS, Commissioner. DEAR SIR—I am just in receipt of a demand for salary of Storekeeper of Export Bonded Warehouse for Tobacco No. 6, which I refused to pay on account of your letter to me dated August 12, 1872, reading after August 1, 1872, 'storekeepers shall be paid by the United States.'

This decision being so evidently the intention of the last Congress, that we doubt not you will instruct our Collector accordingly. I am, dear sir, Yours faithfully

On September 24, 1872, the following demand was made by the Collector:

THIRTY-SECOND DISTRICT, NEW YORK, September 24, 1872.

A tax under the excise laws of the United States, amounting to one hundred and thirty-five dollars for reimbursement of amount paid to storekeeper for the month of August, 1872, has been assessed against you, and transmitted to me by the assessor of this district, for payment of which sum demand is hereby made. If not paid within ten days from service, it will become my duty to collect the same by distraint and sale, with a penalty of five per centum additional upon the amount of tax, and interest at one per centum per month. A fine or penalty of not less than ten, nor more than five hundred dollars is imposed for doing business without the payment of this tax. Payment may be made to me at 83 Cedar Street. (Signed) M. B. BLAKE, Collector.

Amount of tax, $135.

The same day we wrote the following letter to Washington.

NEW YORK, September 24, 1872.

Hon. J. W. DOUGLASS, Commissioner, Washington. DEAR SIR—I wrote you on 11th instant, stating that a demand had been made upon me for amount of salary of storekeeper of this warehouse (No. 6 Tobacco Bonded Warehouse), and that I refused to pay, in consequence of a letter from you, dated August 12, 1872, stating that 'Government would pay after August 1st.'

I have been called upon again to pay the amount, but shall await your reply, to know whether to conform to instructions from your department, or from the Collector of this District. I am, dear sir, yours very truly,

On the 7th October, the third demand was made for salary and five per cent, which was refused, when the officer said he was ordered to distraint. I therefore paid the demand, under protest, in order that the business of the house should not be stopped.

After the call from this officer I saw a letter from B. J. Sweet, dated October 3, to another party, and saying "the letter of August 12, to which you refer, is therefore revoked," thus showing that the decision of August 12 was law till October 3. Notwithstanding this fact, the Department instructed the Collector here to collect from proprietors, which he attempted to do September 11, added penalty upon September 24, and distrainted October 7.

I have received no reply from the Department to my letters of September 11 and 24, although I expressed myself willing to follow their instructions.

No comment is necessary upon an act so contemptible as to instruct a proprietor not to pay, and instruct the Collector to enforce payment and even to distraint, if necessary.

Annexed we present additional correspondence on the above subject.—[ED. LEAF.]

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, WASHINGTON, October 3, 1872.

SIR—I reply to your letter of the 1st instant, that the proprietors of export bonded warehouses are required to reimburse the Government for the salaries of their storekeepers.

The letter of August 12, 1872, to which you refer, is therefore revoked. Very respectfully,

B. J. SWEET, Acting Commissioner.

JOHN W. MARCH, Esq., U. S. Int. Rev. B. W. H. No. 5 New York City.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, WASHINGTON, October 17, 1872.

SIR—Yours relative to the manner of paying storekeepers on duty, at export bonded warehouses with inclosure, is received.

In reply I have to say that the letter of August 12, to Henry R. McLane, on this subject, was written inadvertently as relating to the manner of paying all storekeepers, whereas it should have been limited to the manner of paying such storekeepers only, as may be on duty at distilling bonded warehouses. The act of June 6, 1872, made no change in the manner of paying storekeepers on duty at tobacco export bonded warehouses, and the proprietors of such warehouses must therefore reimburse the Government for their compensation in the same manner as formerly.

Inclosed please find copy of a letter written to Mr. McLane, September 13, 1872, explaining the matter, which letter remained some time in the New York Post-office uncalled for, and was finally returned to this office.

Very respectfully, B. J. SWEET, Acting Commissioner.

MR. GEORGE H. FOREMAN, No. 104 Front St., New York City.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT REVENUE RULING.

NEW YORK, October 12, 1872.

EDITOR TOBACCO LEAF.—The following letter of the Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue to the Assessor of the Third District of New York, is of considerable importance to the Cigar Trade, and is now, for the first time, I believe, made public.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, September 21, 1872.

SIR—I have received your letter of the 19th instant, asking to be informed if a cigar manufacturer who holds a power of attorney authorizing him to manufacture cigars, sign bonds, make inventories and monthly returns, cancel stamps, etc., can be allowed to manufacture said cigars for others on the same premises as those occupied by himself as a cigar manufacturer.

I reply that there can be no separate and distinct factories with different factory numbers occupying the same premises at the same time.

A manufacturer of cigars, may make cigars for B, another manufacturer, B having his name on the caution notice as proprietor, but A's factory number must appear on the caution notice.

A must make returns monthly for all the cigars made in his factory, and be personally responsible that all cigars made at and removed from his factory are made and removed as provided by law. Respectfully,

CHARLES CHESLEY, Acting Commissioner.

MORRIS FRIEDMAN, Esq., Assessor Third District, New York.

This letter involves what at first glance would appear a very simple proposition under the law, inasmuch as the law requires each manufacturer to be bonded, and provides for the application of a denominated number by which it is to be known. In reality, however, there is, owing to the manner in which the manufacture of cigars has been conducted by some cigar manufacturers, something implied, and aimed at, which invests it with the usual revenue sinuosities, and makes it, beside, a document of more than ordinary importance. To make its bearing intelligible to the uninitiated, it is necessary to explain the circumstance that seemed to render its proclamation necessary, which I shall endeavor to do.

Believing that it was to their advantage in various ways to appear to be the manufacturers of the cigars sold by them, several of the heavy cigar-dealing firms throughout the country, soon after the act of July 10, 1868, went into operation, made arrangements with some of our prominent city manufacturing firms whereby they were enabled to achieve the object they had in view without actually becoming manufacturers; that is, without actually producing the cigars in which they dealt. They filed bonds, obtained special tax receipts, invested the real manufacturers with power of attorney, and in all respects, as they supposed, complied with the requirements of law. By means of this arrangement the names of the dealers appeared in the brand and on the "caution notices" of the boxes as manufacturers; and such to all ordinary intents and purposes they would have been but for certain provisions of the law, which, by implication, if not by specification, invalidated their title as such. Among other things for which the law provided was the entry in the Government record-book of the details of their daily transactions, which entry could not conveniently be made, because the attorneys, manufacturing also for themselves on the same premises, could not keep the materials of the several manufactures distinct, the tobacco especially. To operate to advantage under this arrangement, the manufacturer A, who held power of attorney to manufacture for B, C, D, etc., had to store and use his tobacco in common, and make the cigars in common. B might want all dark goods, C all light, and D, and others, medium colors, and if to supply these varied tastes or necessities, special lots of tobacco had to be appropriated to the several parties, there was an end of the arrangement. Instead of setting tobacco apart in this way, A, of course, selected from the aggregate product of cigars the various colors and styles required by his various clients—to carry out the legal metaphor—boxed, branded, labelled, and stamped them in the name of the several clients, and in due course, forwarded them to the warehouses of the owners, or elsewhere, as directed.

In all this, no violation of law was intended by any body, and, except technically, none was committed. Only first-class men were engaged in these transactions, and all their proceedings were intended to be regular and honorable, and up to the date of the letter above incorporated, no objection had been made by the Revenue Department to their mode of doing business. It now appears, however, that the system under which they operated has to be discontinued; and for the reason, the sole reason, that the system does not admit of that distinctive separation of manufactures, and that adherence to technical details which the law requires.

Interpreting the law in accordance with its letter, the Revenue Department could not rule in this matter otherwise than it has done. Yet it would seem as if in view of the fact that the practice has been permitted for four years, it should have been allowed to continue without molestation, since its only effect upon the revenue was to increase it, and since nobody, so far as I have heard, has ever complained of its being an appreciable infringement of law, or perceptible injury to those whose business was conducted prosperously.

How much of the present prosperity of the cigar trade is ascribable to this very feature of it—infusing as it has done into the old arteries a new, active, and enterprising competing element—is not, perhaps, demonstrable; but that some portion of it may be fairly attributed to this cause, probably nobody will dispute.

Another thing, too, is worth considering in this connection, and that is, to what extent laws shall be suffered to impinge or contract the rights of individuals when the exercise of those rights is in no wise harmful to any public or private interest. Having paid all dues and complied with all the essential forms prescribed by law, why should laws be so framed as to make the privilege, for which payment has been made, no privilege at all, unless something else is done, which is of no earthly use or consequence to any interest, human or divine?

Our revenue statutes are in many instances unnecessarily restrictive, and in no particular are they more palpably so than in this implied obligation to subdivide our manufacturing establishments.

THE FIRE FIEND IN TOBACCO BARN.—A new barn, full of tobacco, belonging to Royal Stokes, colored, of Lunenburg County, was accidentally destroyed by fire last Monday.

On this subject the Paducah Kentuckian remarks: "We think fewer barns have been burned in the Purchase this season, than

Will attend to the Custom House Work on Export of Merchandise in Bond.
Also, to recovering Drawback on Exports of Paid Merchandise.
Having been engaged in attending to exports of merchandise (in bond and tax paid) under Internal Revenue Laws, as a specialty for more than ten years, he has acquired an experience which is the best guarantee for reliable, prompt, and thorough attention to exports of Tobacco and Spirits under the New Internal Revenue Law. He thinks that he will attend to the business so well in preventing delays and mishaps, that the goods will command the highest market price, thereby more than saving to the Manufacturer or Dealer an necessary charge.

Prentice's Improvement on German Cigar Moulds.

This Improvement is a lifter extending from one end of the Moulds to the other, and which by being pressed on rises all the bunches of any number at the same time.

ADVANTAGES OVER THE OLD STYLE.
First. Saving of time, as the bunches are raised out of the mould, without any dragging or tearing, making a difference of at least 50 Cigars in a day's work.
Second. Time saved in turning the bunches can be turned very rapidly when lifted.
Third. It is impossible to destroy or break the bunches in taking them from the moulds as they are entirely free.
All styles of forms can be altered. Orders received for the moulds with the improvement, by

COMMON-SENSE CIGAR MOULDS,
Patented April 23, 1872.

These moulds are used by some of the largest manufacturers in the United States, and acknowledged the best in use. The above cut represents the machine; A is half of a mould or retainer, which is placed on the lever or follow. C, this lever is immediately raised, which leaves the bunch or filler in the retainer, as shown in the above cut, thereby avoiding any extra handling of the filler which has been found the greatest objection to all other moulding machines now in use.

Interesting to Cigar Manufacturers.
We have been manufacturing Cigars during the past six months on the improved BALTIMORE
CIGAR MACHINE making fine work with perfect satisfaction. Two girls with one machine can fill 100 German moulds, or make 2,500 filler bunches per day, and two girls with two machines can put on the wrappers and finish the same number per day. The work is equal to hand made. The labor is light, requiring no power other than the state and hand motion. The machine can be regulated to make cigars of any size.

REAR VIEW OF THE HIGHLANDER TOBACCO WORKS.
L. L. ARMISTEAD, Proprietor, Lynchburg, Va.
The following highly popular brands are manufactured at these Works and packed in the most approved style, viz.: Occidental, Highlander, Cuban, Ashleigh, Bee Tongue, Dick Tater, Red Rover, Revenue Cutter, Not for Joe, besides Special Brands.
The unprecedented success of these brands has rendered it particularly necessary to increase and improve the line of machinery, and to build a large addition to the Factory within the past few months, affording more than double the former capacity. Price lists and circulars forwarded on application.
