TUL Offers Adult Education Program

Islay Streefer, coordinator/instructor of the Tampa Urban League's basic adult educational program, and Ida Booth, instructor/counselor of the program. (Photo by David Burgess)

TAMPA — The Greater Tampa Urban League was awarded a grant for FY '88 under Section 306 of the Adult Education Act to conduct an education program for adults in the vicinity of Tampa Park Plaza.

The program provides individualized, computer assisted instruction and one-on-one tutoring to develop basic educational skills. The curriculum includes reading, language and math. The computer lessons are augmented by textbooks, workbooks and other supplemental materials.

The program offers classes in basic skills from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday. During intake, applicants are interviewed to determine the most convenient and practical schedule for them to attend classes.

Program participants are interviewed and tested to determine their academic level. Lessons are then designed to assist the participant in his/her development. Students are taught how to access the lessons from the software and tutors are available to provide assistance.

This program is a harmonious expansion of the delivery system providing adult education programs.

Sanctions Battle Blends With Presidential Politics

WASHINGTON, DC — Anti-apartheid lobbyists have joined with congressional supporters of the South African sanctions package to use what they call presidential election year pressure tactics to gain passage of the legislation which could deal the toughest blow to the Reagan administration's "constructive engagement."

At a recent Capitol Hill strategy meeting, representatives of religious, labor and anti-apartheid groups met with House and Senate staffers to target members who may be wavering on voting for HR 1580, the sanctions bill sponsored by Rep. Ronald V.

Dellums (D-CA). The House was scheduled to vote on the bill Aug. 11. The Senate version (S 2378) sponsored by Sen. Alan Cranston (D-CA), is expected to be considered in early September before Congress adjourns for the election recess.

Supporters of the bill say their trump card to push for Senate adoption is Democratic vice presidential nominee Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, viewed as an emerging power broker in the Congress and within the Democratic Party, who could help persuade moderate Democrats to support the measure.

According to congressional sources in early

August, Bentsen staff were unwilling to indicate how the senator will vote. However, Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis has pledged to support the legislation.

While a Dellums aide predicted that the House bill would pass easily, others insist that the Senate requires greater pressure. One staffer indicated that mail from many of the senators' home districts is running overwhelmingly against sanctions. Since this is a presidential year, the staffer noted, constituents' concerns have a greater impact.

Danu Smith, director of the Washington Office on Africa which is leading the lobbying battle for the sanctions bill, said his organization has been mobilizing grassroots support in states where pressure is needed.

The sanctions bill calls for a full embargo against South Africa and would force disinvestment of all U.S. firms doing business with South Africa and Namibia, the neighboring country which the apartheid government illegally occupies.

Congress passed a limited sanctions package, the Comprehensive Antiaparthoid Act of 1986, over President Reagan's veto.

Racism in America Growing, Charges Justice Marshall

WASHINGTON, DC — Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall gave a sound warning that racism in the United States is "broader and stronger" than ever before.

Marshall appointed to the bench in 1967 during the administration of Lyndon B. Johnson addressed an overflowing audience of conventioners during the 18th annual awards banquet of the National Bar Association held at the Sheraton Washington Hotel.

As over 1,000 attorneys, judges and legal professionals from across the country listened attentively, the Justice asserted that inroads made by him and other civil rights advocates are being threatened. "We're not gaining ground, my friends. We might be losing it."

Marshall said the NBA's role is as important as when he became involved in the 1930s. He cited the growing social and economic problems in this country. "We claim that we have made great strides — a lot of people do. I'm in the group that doesn't believe that," said the Justice who added that he would continue the fight for equality in America until racism and other injustices are eradicated.

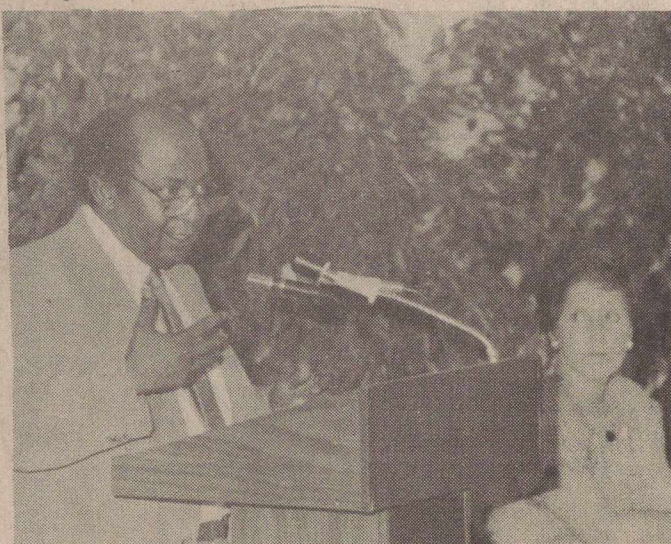

Reminding the capacity audience that there is strength in numbers, Marshall, who appeared to be in good health, called for a large-scale united effort to stave off the expansion of racism. "All of us have a job. We can't do it as an individual and we can't do it in small groups," he said.

He stated the U.S. Constitution and the Declaration of Independence have little importance if the people of this country do not adhere to the democratic principles they espouse. Principles he has tried to achieve for the last 50 or 60 years. "(Our) goal is that every Negro child that is born to a Black mother in the state of Mississippi or any other state like that, born to the dumbest, poorest sharecropper, is, by merely drawing its first breath in a democracy... is born with the exact same rights as a similar child born to a white parent of the wealthiest family in the U.S.," Marshall asserted.

The Justice concluded his speech on a positive note encouraging listeners to revise their thinking patterns to become forward thinkers rather than continue to look over their shoulders at past accomplishments. "We should stop talking about how far we've come and start talking about how close we are."

Marshall, 80, was appointed to the Supreme Court to replace Justice Tom Clark. Involved in one of the lengthiest confirmation processes, Marshall is one of the court's more liberal justices. President John F. Kennedy appointed him to the Second Circuit Court of Appeals in 1961 and he was given a recess appointment. He was confirmed by the Senate in 1962. Prior to his judicial positions, Marshall served as director-council of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund from 1984 until his appointment to the federal bench.

UNCF Committee Sponsors 'Men Who Cook' Banquet

ST. PETERSBURG — On Saturday, Sept. 24 the local committee of the United Negro College Fund (UNCF) will sponsor a "Men Who Cook" banquet at the St. Petersburg Hilton and Towers. This unique affair will be held in the main ballroom at 7:30 p.m. and will feature favorite dishes (meats, vegetables, salads and desserts) prepared by men from all areas of the community. Participants will prepare their favorite gourmet dish for the enjoyment of guests attending this event.

Funds raised will be used for scholarship awards to students attending Bethune-Cookman College, Edward Waters College and Florida A&M University, all in Florida.

The committee is inviting men to participate in this unusual activity and share their special culinary skills with the public. All interested persons should contact Larry Walker at 321-7725 or 393-4617 or Eugene Danzy at WRXB radio station, 864-1515.

ST. PETERSBURG — On Thursday evening, Aug. 11 Frank Pierce playcampers entertained their parents and guests with a playcampers show consisting of activities that playcampers participated in during the summer program. A fashion show followed. Guest speaker for the evening was Officer Lila Davis of the St. Petersburg Police Department. She gave an important message to parents on the drug program that relates to the community and things that parents need to do for their children.

Officer Davis recently received the 1987-88 law enforcement award from the Optimist International Club for her outstanding contribution to law enforcement.

Parents were given an opportunity to view their children's art work created during the playcamp.

Accolades were presented to Officer Davis, Manny Funes and Fantastic Sam's Hair Cutters.

Center supervisor Thelma Footman announced the upcoming fall program that begins Aug. 31. Parents may pick up applications from the center's office.

Voters Coalition Hosts Candidates Forum

TAMPA — The Hillsborough County Voters Registration Coalition/Operation Big Vote conducted a political forum on Tuesday, Aug. 9 at Hillsborough Community College, Ybor campus.

More than 150 voters came to hear the candidates answer questions on various issues. Tampa Mayor Sandra Freedman welcomed the public.

Bob Gilder, coalition executive director, was very pleased with the turnout of the candidates but he was especially pleased with the attendance of the public.

Mayor Launches Campaign Against Illegal Dumpers

TAMPA — Mayor Sandra Freedman has launched a new campaign against illegal dumpers, including systematic surveillance of known illegal dump sites and prosecution of those caught dumping illegally.

Four city code enforcement officers will work staggered shifts in an effort to catch dumpers in the act. The city attorney's office is researching the possibility of sentencing violators to community service which would include cleaning up these sites.

"It is time for us to realign our priorities so that we can make our neighborhoods better places to live," Mayor Freedman said.

Change in SSI Effective July 1

ST. PETERSBURG — Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipients in the Pinellas County area may be able to continue receiving full SSI payments while they are institutionalized for short-term medical treatment.

A change in the Social Security Act effective July 1, 1988 provides for the continuation of SSI checks for up to three months for individuals entering a public institution or Medicaid facility, such as hospital or nursing home.

Previously, SSI payments were stopped or reduced to $25 per month ($30 effective July 1, 1988) for the first full month of care in a public facility or Medicaid institution.

The purpose of this provision is to help SSI recipients maintain their home while they are institutionalized for Medicaid treatment not expected to exceed 90 days. Checks would continue at the full rate during the period of treatment.

In order to qualify for this provision an individual, his representative payee or the facility must notify the Social Security Administration of the institutionalization by the 10th of the month after the month of admission. A physician must also certify that the admission for medical treatment is expected to last 90 days or less and the individual must demonstrate that he needs to pay some or all of the expenses of maintaining a home until his expected date of discharge. All three conditions must be met for the provision to apply.

BADD Sponsors School Fun Day

ST. PETERSBURG — BADD (Blacks Against Dangerous Drugs), a non-profit substance abuse agency, will sponsor a Back to School Fun day on Saturday, Aug. 20, 5 p.m. at Campbell Park. This event will promote drug free fun for teenagers, ages 13-19.

The teenagers will organize in groups to compete in field events after which swimming in the pool will be available. Childs Park teens have issued a challenge to other teenagers especially to those in the Wildwood area to come out and compete.

Also on Aug. 20, the community outreach group and BADD will hold a Youth Love Rally at Frank Pierce Park.

This prevention program will feature speakers from BADD, church ministry, Alateen, PCAS and other agencies and will promote music, songs and God's word.

BADD's prevention programs are targeted at high risk youth, non-substance abusers and their families and are designed to prevent future substance abuse. BADD will promote more educational, cultural and recreation activities in the near future.

Food, drink and BADD T-shirts will be distributed at both locations.

U.S. Coast Guard Academy Nationwide Competition

NEW LONDON, CT — The U.S. Coast Guard Academy announces that it is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as Cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, class of 1993. Applications are being accepted for both men and women. Appointments as Coast Guard Cadets are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas.

Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to Dec. 15, 1988. Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Assessment (ACT) prior to or including the Dec. 10, 1988 administration for the ACT and the Dec. 3, 1988 administration for the SAT. The competition for appointment for Cadet is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the SAT or ACT and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs and/or part-time employment. Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate proficiency in both the mathematical and applied sciences field.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must be unmarried at the time of appointment, have no legal obligations resulting from a prior marriage and must have reached the age of 17 but not 22 by July 1, 1989.

JWB Highlights Teen Pregnancy

ST. PETERSBURG — While birth rates among non-white adolescents in Pinellas County are higher than state and national rates, it appears that this rate is decreasing, according to a report completed in July by the Pinellas County Juvenile Welfare Board (JWB). Included in the current issue of the quarterly Social Indicator Report is a special section on adolescent pregnancy. According to the report, the Pinellas birth rate for non-white adolescents was 125.1 per 1000 females in 1985 as compared to a state rate of 121.3 and a national rate of 97.4. Minority adolescent birth rates dropped 3.0% during the years from 1980 to 1985, however birth rates among white adolescents in the county increased 15.6%.

"We attribute this increase primarily to the fact that more white adolescents are choosing to give birth rather than terminate their pregnancies," said James Mills, JWB executive director.

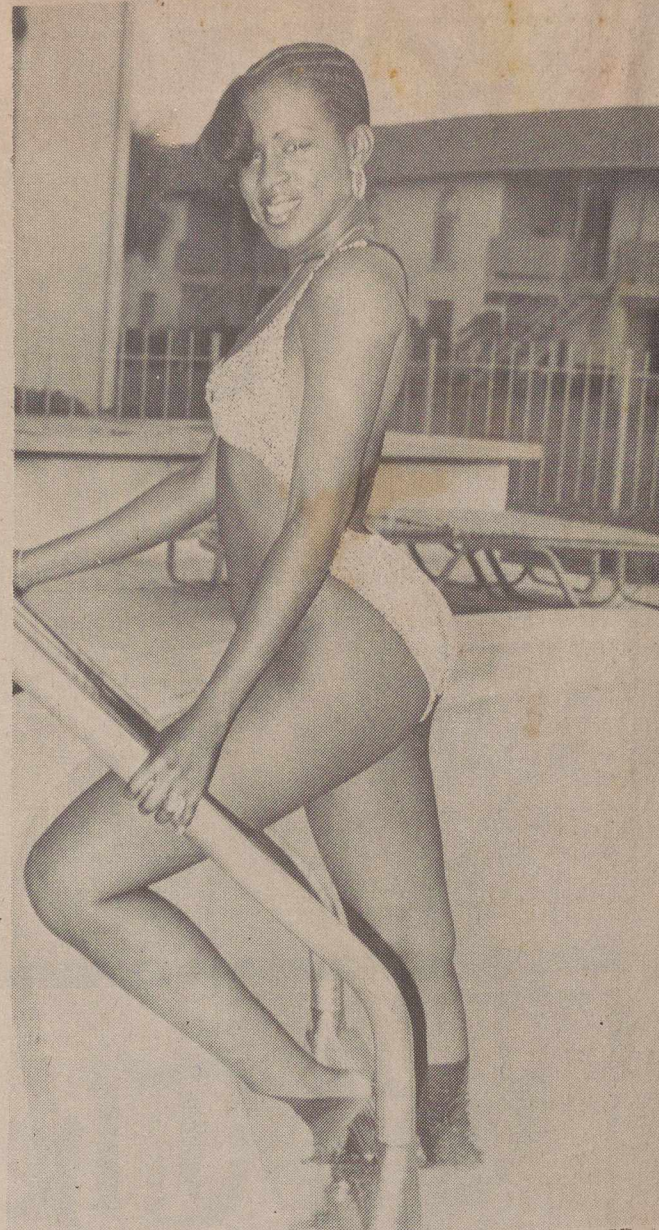

Noting that adolescent pregnancy is a problem which affects every segment of our community, Mills continued, "It is up to each of us to first become aware of the problem and then to work together to help prevent teen pregnancies through community understanding and education."

The Social Indicator Report also includes data regarding hunger in Pinellas County and shows that among social services agencies providing food assistance to the county population, significant increases have occurred in the numbers of residents being served by these programs.

Honoring The All Black 24th Infantry Regiment

by Rep. Augustus F. Hawkins

Changing military history is not an easy task. But through the dedicated efforts of a number of Black veterans, notably David Carlisle of Los Angeles, the impossible may become reality.

Briefly, here is the situation. At the start of the Korean War the military still operated with racially segregated units. One of these units, the all Black 24th Infantry Regiment, was instrumental in turning back North Korean communists at Yechon, a village about halfway between Seoul and Pusan. Press dispatches referred to it as "the first sizable American ground victory" of the Korean War. The Army however described this encounter as an insignificant skirmish and referred to the 24th in uncomplimentary terms.

The reason why the official military history version is so important, other than the obvious one of unfairly tarnishing the honor of brave fighting men, is that history books and scholarly articles are written from them. In fact, one book written by a British author uses this faulty account in his biography of the Korean War.

Efforts to reverse this disparaging military history version concerning the 24th have not been easy. David Carlisle and other Black war vets have been petitioning the Secretary of the Army to look into the matter and take necessary steps to correct the military history account of the battle of Yechon. The Army recently established a task force to review the whole issue and the investigation will include interviews with surviving war veterans, news correspondents and other military officials. This is a significant response, which I expect to be favorable to the 24th.

The history of the 24th Infantry isn't just confined to the Korean conflict. The regiment was first formed at Fort McKavett, Texas on Nov. 1, 1869. They were assigned to military campaigns associated with the westward expansion of the U.S. and were stationed at several posts along the southern edge of the Great Plains. The 24th played a principal role in the

by Benjamin F. Chavis

The sight of white plainclothes police officers awkwardly carrying large, round movie film containers under their arms outside of movie houses in Cape Town, South Africa is reminiscent of both the terror and extremist actions of Hitler's Nazi regime.

The racist apartheid regime of South Africa recently banned and seized all copies of the movie "Cry Freedom." The police commissioner of Cape Town, Gen. Hennie de Wilt, stated that the movie had "a propagandistic theme" and that the movie violated South Africa's two-year-old state of emergency.

"Cry Freedom" depicts the life and tragic death of Steve Biko. Biko was a forceful and energetic foe of apartheid. He was beaten to death by South African police while in their custody. This movie also portrayed the journalistic activism of Donald Woods, a white South African newspaperman who became a Biko supporter.

One of the realities that South Africa is too blind to see is that you cannot ban the truth or confiscate the determination of a people to be free. This latest ban by the Botha government in South Africa is indicative of the sense of moral and political weakness which permeates all of the fabric of present day apartheid.

Banning "Cry Freedom" is only another senseless and desperate act by South Africa. These repressive acts will not succeed in preventing a remembrance of Steve Biko. The martyrs of the struggle for liberation and freedom in South Africa and throughout the region of southern Africa are remembered for their sacrifices and leadership. Ironically, this latest move by South Africa will only ensure that the world community will never forget Steve Biko and the nameless,

On The Hill

By Chester A. Higgins, Sr.

WASHINGTON, DC — The Carl Rowan case has Capitol Hill and all America buzzing. Indeed it seems to be blown up to grotesque proportions, almost totally unrelated to factual reality.

And what are the facts of the case? Simply these: in the post-midnight morning of June 14 a group of teens invaded the grounds of the attractive northwest Washington home of Rowan, frolicked in his outdoor swimming pool, smoked pot, swilled beer and left marijuana butts and empty beer cans strewn around. While the group partied, someone tried to jimmy Rowan's bedroom window. He was awakened, called the cops, grabbed a gun and confronted a young man whom he said lurched at him. Rowan fired, shooting the youth in the hand. The teens scattered, all but one other than the wounded victim, scampering over the fence and getting away clean.

What we have then is an invasion of property by a rowdy group of teens and the shooting of one of them by the head of the household protecting his home. The youth was not even seriously wounded by the .22 caliber popgun (given to him by his son, an ex-FBI man) Rowan wielded. No big deal.

Why then has this rather small bore case become a national cause celebre? A number of facts and complex emotions including race (the teens are white; Rowan black) muddy the waters: Rowan's celebrity status — a chance for the media to tweak the chin whiskers of a distinguished syndicated columnist for apparent hypocrisy (Rowan's crusading drive in his columns for handgun control and by dint of his use of an alleged unregistered and thus illegal handgun he has been targeted as a phony). Then there is the smoldering issue of handgun control itself, the U.S. Attorney's office reluctance to charge the teens and finally doing so, but quickly dropping the charges in exchange for 40 hours community services.

Some angry Blacks have charged it the youths were Black and the home invaded white, the law would have moved much more swiftly and harshly. On the other hand, critics have charged the district prosecutor's office with weeks of foot dragging reluctance to charge Rowan because of his celebrity status. When it finally did, it miffed Rowan because he felt he had an understanding to come in voluntarily not have a warrant issued for his arrest.

In the meantime, Rowan has been assailed by hundreds of crank calls, his life reportedly threatened and DC Mayor Marion Barry has been personally requested by NAACP executive director Benjamin L. Hooks to intervene and throw out the charges against Rowan.

Meanwhile, an unhappy Rowan will now get his request for a jury trial (Sept. 22) and we may all then be able to put this matter behind us and go on to other more important things.

But to me there is another troubling aspect to this case — Rowan's apparent disdain for the Black Press. I first heard of this case in St. Louis where NNPA was holding its 48th anniversary convention. Sometime near the end of the conclave, Frances Murphy II, publisher of the Washington Afro-American mentioned the Rowan story and declared: "Carl won't talk to us." I returned to Capitol Hill and immediately called Carl. He answered the phone graciously but flatly told me, "I'm not talking about it."

But he did talk about it on his popular talk show, "Inside Washington," and before that to the wire services, dispatches of which we read in St. Louis papers. He simply did not talk to the Black Press.

After pleading not guilty to the charges he read a prepared statement to the general press but he made no special gesture to the Black Press.

Later at the NAACP's 79th annual convention in DC, I watched as this great body gathered a wounded Rowan warmly to its massive bosom. Hooks introduced him and raised his hand high in a victory symbol. The vast audience gave him a resounding welcome as Rowan beamed near tears. He was home at last with the Black family that would protect and succor him.

The troubling aspect for me is not that Carl Rowan or any other Black has an obligation to give the Black press an exclusive interview or even a special statement although that would be nice. But if he gave one element of the media a statement it seems he is duty bound to give the same to the Blacks.

Perhaps Rowan is symptomatic of Black middle class upward mobility that not only flees the physical Black ghetto but severs in some measure its spiritual ties as well. America's Black leadership is just now beginning to come to grips with this question.

Dear Editor

PCAS is trying to place a treatment center in a neighborhood that is not receptive to the program. PCAS is in an area that has accepted the program for years. PCAS is now funded so that the program can assist and treat substance abuse clients as residents. There is a residential center already in the Largo area. PCAS should remain where it is presently located and expand its service to the drug abuser in South Pinellas especially St. Petersburg. City council should look at keeping PCAS in St. Petersburg.

Business In The Black

by Charles E. Belle

Due Business With Dukakis

Over 20 percent of Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis' dough for his position was donated by Greek Americans. A figure the second place finisher wished his private world could have provided for him. Hence, be prepared for some new playmates in politics if you plan to profit during the Dukakis decade. Dedicated to victory "with discipline not dazzle" Dukakis outlasts his rivals and expects to enter the White House next year. Dukakis dreams of a full employment economy. Every-one interested in participating with the next President of the U.S. should understand his respect, indeed request, for the education of every American. All those who would be workers during the Harvard trained President's term, will want to work on getting the best education possible.

Dukakis is dedicated to developing the best men and women workers in America. "We don't stop until we've made America number one again," is his theme song. Since women's participation in the labor force has become a must, Dukakis backs child care, paternal

Speaking To The People

by W.F. Allen

No One Cares About The Black Man's Freedom

What has happened to our black Afro-Americans? We have lost respect for our fellow Blacks and have made our neighborhoods a battleground, killing, raping, robbing and destroying other Black people's property. There is such a large percent of the Black people selling and abusing drugs and some of us still call ourselves Black and beautiful.

Brother is a Black slang word that is often used among Black people but it is just a word with no meaning. If Black people would treat each other as brothers and sisters, we might be able to further our goals. Our leaders are not getting involved. Apparently they might just be afraid for their own lives.

Many of our Black jazz radio stations do not take time out to turn this matter of destroying around. They give Blacks music instead of hope. They give them dances instead of advice. They tell jokes on the radio instead of telling them about their future. No one seems to care anymore about our future leaders of tomorrow. We have totally turned against God's name and never call out to God unless we are sick or need help with money.

Some Black people are making sure if the Black people do not get destroyed by killing one another they sure will be destroyed by drugs that are overflowing our community each and every day.

Nobody cares. Nobody wants to get involved in the construction of the Black movement toward freedom. There is no value on the black Afro-American's life and the courts like it this way. Do you?

Wouldn't you like to change all of this and make your life worth something and make your name important enough to be carried on proudly after you are gone?

leave and pay equity. In 1950, married women with children under six were barely 12 percent (11.9%) of the work force but by last year (1987) had rocketed to nearly 57 percent. Furthermore, over half of the current married women in the work force have children under the age of one. And you can imagine the larger number of unmarried minority women working with children. Dukakis cares about these children's welfare and future as well as the current plight of the married and single parent.

Plans for progress under a Dukakis administration will be built around strengthening the family structure. The basic background of Democratic presidential candidate Dukakis is a united hard-working family with firm belief in obtaining the best education available for both parents and children. The work ethic is ever present in Dukakis' personal background and he believes that hard work coupled with an excellent education can eradicate poverty from every ethnic group.

Getting on board the Dukakis train means making the best of your educational opportunities and working for what you want to achieve in life.

Investing in America

"And so, my fellow Americans, ask not what your country can do for you: Ask what you can do for your country." — President John F. Kennedy, 1961 Inaugural Address

President Kennedy's words ring true 17 years later. In the same spirit, the Democratic Leadership Council of which I am a member, recently proposed creation of a voluntary citizen corps to re-invigorate our sense of civic responsibility and help meet national needs.

Civilian youth volunteers could help out in schools, hospitals, day care centers, nursing homes, homeless shelters and with other community needs. Short-term military recruits could ease an estimated 350,000 need in the reserves (which would be critical in a war) and still contain costs by avoiding the many benefits and higher pay awarded to career soldiers.

Young volunteers serving one or two years would earn subsistence-level wages during their service and afterwards receive vouchers worth $10,000 per year of social service or $12,000 per year of active military service, since the latter involves greater risk. Vouchers could only be used for college education, job training or a down pay-

Question Of Beauty

by Deanie K. Victor

No matter what the season, there always seems to be a reason to despair where the hair is concerned. It takes a while for the hair to become climatized when moving from one region to another. But what about when you aren't going anywhere and there always seems to be a problem making the hair behave? Is it because you have "bad" hair?

The truth is there isn't really any bad hair. Hair may be difficult to manage because it has not yet been cultured and conditioned. Once the hair has been exposed to good quality products, it will eventually respond. It takes longer for some textures of hair. Some "good" hair is difficult to manage too because it has been mistreated and abused.

The weather is often a dictator. Cold climate usually brings about dandruff and/or dryness. Sometimes brittleness accompanies these conditions. Because the sebaceous oil glands are not producing the same amount of oil flow as they do in warm weather, a supplement must take place. Oiling the scalp, hot oil treatments, cholesterol treatments all help. Also using an oil sheen spray to brighten up that dull hair will be beneficial.

The rainy season brings with it high humidity. There really is no such thing as water-proof hair, you know.

Even if the hair doesn't get wet with the rain, there are still droplets of water and mist affecting the hair. Walking out in the morning air which is heavy with dew or fog will cause the hair to droop. Without the protection of a hair covering or very heavy spraying with holding spray, you can expect the hair to fall. And that's an understatement.

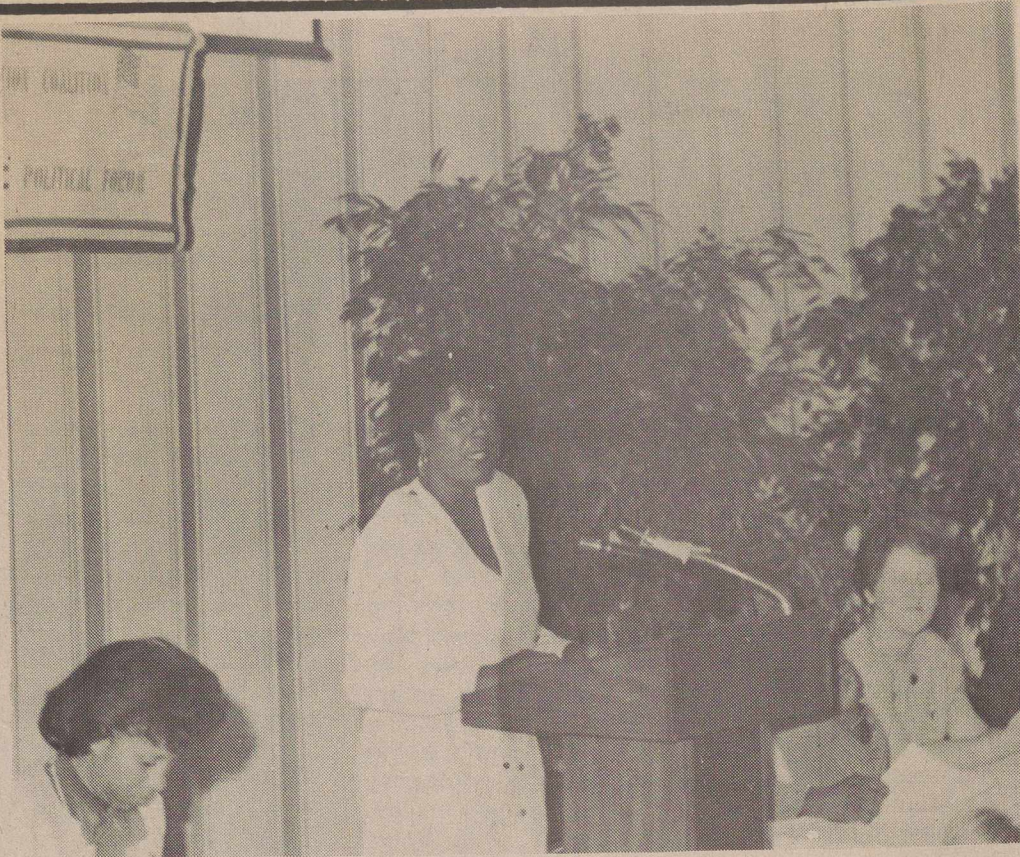

On the other end of the spectrum, very dry weather can cause the hair to just frize up and fly away (have static). When the moisture leaves the hair and the hair is misbehaving, it's time to replenish. Moisturize the hair to combat this condition.

So just when you think you've solved your hair problems, you find that the seasons have changed and you have a different set of problems. The conclusion is that as the seasons change, you change with the seasons. No big deal. Just as you nourish your skin when it is dry, treat your hair with some moisture. Just as you put forth more effort to keep dry in rainy weather, use the same precautionary steps to protect your hair.

Allow your hair to speak and you listen. Use the oil sprays, the holding sprays, moisturizers, conditioners, head coverings, etc. They all contribute significant answers to the question of beauty.

Toward Permanent Weight Management

TAMPA — The Hillsborough County Cooperative Extension Service is recruiting master volunteers for the training program Toward Permanent Weight Management (TPWM).

TPWM is a comprehensive 10-week series of lessons aimed at improving fitness and helping people move toward reaching and maintaining a healthy body weight. Lessons focus on changing eating habits and developing a permanent exercise plan to promote and maintain weight loss.

Master volunteers are being recruited in four areas of Hillsborough County. Eight people will be selected from each area.

Training will be conducted at the Hillsborough County Cooperative Extension Center. Interviews will be conducted on Sept. 8 and 9 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Call 621-5605 for an appointment.

Volunteers will receive 15 hours of educational training. Payback hours will be 30 hours or for each hour of training volunteers will pay back two hours.

Training begins on Oct. 6, 13, 20 and Nov. 3, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Group Plans Annual Event

TAMPA — The Bay Area Entrepreneurs Festival committee, a group of concerned local business owners and residents, was formed as a division of the Tampa-Hillsborough Chamber of Commerce. It seeks to add another dimension to private and public sector approaches for improving conditions of the Black community by creating an image that encourages tourist and local residents to visit and patronize the business and entertainment establishments in the area. The organization will sponsor an annual event, Bacfest '88, which this year will be held Nov. 12-27. Co-chairs for the event are Lanny Sumpter and Jim Spencer. They see this event as a community project which requires the support of residents, city, county and state officials.

Shawn Payne, Bacfest administrative director, views the event as a vehicle to improve the image of Blacks in the county. She says that all events will occur throughout the Tampa-Hillsborough area and are designed to interest and attract all of Tampa's multi-ethnic, multi-cultural populace and visitors. For many it will

NOTES, NEWS AND VIEWS...

Angeltowners are getting ready for what could possibly be one of the biggest events in musical history when the Bishop Tutu World Peace Concert gets underway at the Los Angeles Coliseum Sept. 10. This 12-hour concert will have close to 75 celebrities — musical or otherwise — participating and hosts will include Oprah Winfrey, Joe Piscopo, Bobcat Goldwait, Arsenio Hall along with Shari Belafonte-Harper and Quincy Jones serving as musical director.

Confirmed acts so far include the Fat Boys, Richard Marx, 10,000 Maniacs, Ozzy Osbourne, Kool and the Gang, Levert, Keith Sweat, Pato Banton, King Sunny, Ade, Ruben Blades, Ice T, Doug E. Fresh, Deniece Williams, Gilberto Gil and Sly Stone. Net proceeds from the concert will go to the Bishop Tutu's group of foundations, a charity that benefits South African children. ABC radio network will handle live coverage across the U.S. and pay cable Showtime will broadcast the event live and in living color with repeats to be shown several more times in September.

The speculation that Oprah Winfrey might forsake the small screen (television) for the big silver screen is just another passing fancy. Oprah has put her name on the dotted line of a renewal contract with King World, the syndicators of her talk show, and the deal will keep her popular television talk show into syndication until 1993! This doesn't mean that Oprah will not be seen on the silver screen at all. It just means that she will not devote full time to portraying roles in feature movies but will appear from time to time in selected roles and productions, time permitting in her rather busy schedule.

If you cannot imagine a Black actor or model turning down modeling job assignments these days that pay upwards to $7,500 for a TV commercial shot, then get ready for this bit of news. A number of Black actors and models primarily out of the Nu Yawk area have started turning down modeling assignments for tobacco, hard liquor, beer ads, furs, cosmetics from South Africa, and believe it or not, even hair straighteners.

Saturday, Sept. 24 will be the date for the sixth annual Radiothon at the Regency West Ballroom in Tinseltown for the Sickle Cell Disease Research Foundation. This nine hour fundraising program will bring out lotta name entertainers and celebrities to appeal to the public to support this worthwhile cause and will be carried live over radio stations KGFI and KJLH/FM.

HOLLYWOOD HOTLINE...

Actress Dwan Smith who has been playing the role of Dr. Irma Foster, chief of the psychiatric department on ABC-TV's popular daytime soap opera "General Hospital" for the past year and was the first Black woman to capture the title of Mrs. California in 1985 and went on to become the first runnerup in the nationally televised "Mrs. America Pageant" later in the year, has been re-signed by Wes Kinney, executive producer of the show to play the role for another two years. The lovely and talented Ms. Smith is also in the process of putting the finishing touches on her debut album that will contain a number of songs that she also wrote.

The hilarious performance by the many comedians that showed up for the recent laugh fest to benefit the Comedy Store Comedian's Drug and Alcohol Abuse Foundation initiated by Comedy Store founder Mitzl Shore, will end up being seen and heard in the edited version of the Comedy Store's 15th year reunion show that will air on NBC-TV network soon. Richard Pryor, Arsenio Hall and Robin Williams will be among the many popular and funny comedians you'll see when the 15th year reunion show airs.

Speaking of Arsenio Hall, it seems like the first project of this three picture deal with Paramount will be a follow-up comedy of "Coming to America" with his buddy Eddie Murphy that the two of them will write and star in. If you think that's hot news, what about the news that Paramount is so hot on Arsenio that they are renegotiating his three picture deal and want to throw more pictures into the deal to tie him down.

Dr. Mel Donaldson, an instructor of literature, film studies and Afro-American culture at Pasadena City College in the Tinseltown area, should be all smiles about his new novel The River Woman, which is fast becoming a must read item amongst readers on the West Coast. From modern New York City back to the small town of Bainbridge, GA, The River Woman is a novel about roots and the force that a shameful past has on the present and future. It is also an arresting story about investigative journalism, pseudo-religious leaders, voodoo, slavery and suppression, feminism and personal courage focusing on the two main characters of the novel who dig into the past and peel away layer after layer of human history until they both arrive at the chilling truth of their real relationship and the secret of The River Woman... and that's Hollywood this time. Until the next time — Lanier.

Governor Appoints Coleman to Board

LARGO — On Aug. 12 Gov. Bob Martinez appointed Pinellas County Sheriff Gerry A. Coleman as a full board member with voting privileges of the Florida Commission on Police Standards and Training.

Sheriff Coleman said, "I am deeply honored at this appointment and the profound confidence that Gov. Martinez has shown in assigning me to this most important commission..."

The commission sets standards, oversees certification of all law enforcement officers in Florida and is responsible for the design, delivery and evaluation of all law enforcement and corrections training in the state.

Minority Students to Receive Engineering Scholarships

TAMPA — The University of South Florida will award 28 minority students scholarships this September with the help of the National Action Committee on Minority Engineering (NACME).

NACME, a New York-based non-profit organization, has given USF a $22,000 grant to support minority students, said George Card, coordinator of advising at the College of Engineering.

"NACME gets contributions from industry and the money is applied to engineering colleges throughout the U.S.," Card said.

USF has received money through the program since 1981, Card said. In some years, the scholarship funding has totaled as much as $30,000, he said.

Card said 247 minority students are currently enrolled in the USF engineering program. This year's grant will provide approximately 28 individual scholarships totaling $700-$800 each, he said, adding that the scholarships also are renewable.

To qualify for the funds students must be Black, Mexican-American, Puerto Rican or American Indian and have been admitted to the College of Engineering, he said.

At least 75 percent of the students awarded scholarships must be freshmen, Card said. The remaining 25 can be transfer students. And all of the students must have a 2.5 grade point average at high school or at the college from which they are transferring.

"We are still considering students for the grant for semester one," Card said. For more information about the NACME scholarship, contact Card at 974-2684.

USF Offers 'Survey of Human Disease' This Fall

TAMPA — Heart diseases, cancer and AIDS are just a few of the topics that will be covered in the course Survey of Human Diseases beginning Aug. 31 at the University of South Florida.

The course, number CFH HSC 4554 901, is sponsored by the USF College of Public Health. The class will be held 6-8:50 p.m. Wednesdays in room 206 of the Life Sciences Building (LIF) on the Tampa campus.

Dr. Karen Liller, course instructor, said students enrolling in Survey of Human Diseases should have completed one biology course and lab and be familiar with medical terminology.

"The general public is invited to enroll but they should have the prerequisites or the consent of the instructor," Liller said.

She said the first part of the course will be an introduction into diseases while the second half of the class will focus on specific human diseases.

"The content is important," Liller said. "The class will be exciting as well as informative."

For more information, contact Liller at 974-4867.

SPJC Holds Reception At New Building

ST. PETERSBURG — At a recent press conference, St. Petersburg Junior College officially announced the acceptance of Allstate's former regional office. On Thursday, Aug. 18 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. members of the community will have a first hand look at the newly acquired SPJC building. At the reception, Allstate will announce another gift to SPJC and the community.

In addition to housing the law enforcement program, the SPJC building will be home for the new community resource center for substance abuse. "By creating this resource center, Allstate will be fulfilling a long-time corporate goal by making life better within the community by establishing a center to treat substance abuse," says Larry Williford, senior vice president and Allstate board member. Williford will present the college with 25 tapes entitled Drug Free Kids and a contribution for $30,000 as seed money for the substance abuse program.

"SPJC's commitment to excellence in education and Allstate's commitment to community service, allows us to enthusiastically join hands to face the destructive force of drug abuse in our area," said Dr. Carl M. Kuttler Jr., SPJC president. "We are proud to be partners with Allstate in this community joint venture between a business and an education facility."

The building, in honor of Allstate's gift to the college, will be named the Allstate Center. This center, the college's 6th site in Pinellas County, is located at 3200 34th Street S.

You Are Wonderful

To my wonderful readers: This column begins the 10th year in which my column has appeared in most of your newspapers. I have written approximately 400 columns about such subjects as stress, hypnosis, how to get rid of headaches, what to do if you lose your job, how to get a job, subliminal suggestion, how to have a successful date, how to avoid herpes, how to cope with old age, how to cure sexual impotence and dysfunction, how to improve your marriage, how to cleanse your body of drugs, how to train your baby without spanking and how to deal with racism.

That's just a sample of the topics.

Some of you have read every column that I have written since 1979. Others have been following the column for a shorter number of years. But all of you have been wonderful, enthusiastic and dedicated readers who regularly write to me.

I have made hundreds of friends across the U.S., Canada, Jamaica and the Virgin Islands. At present, almost 200 newspapers carry my column each week.

Scores of readers have traveled across this country to obtain counseling for many problems at my offices in Washington, DC. I have used counseling and hypnosis to help many of you to gain confidence, lose weight, stop smoking, become assertive and deal with hundreds of other personal problems.

I have traveled to many of your cities to deliver speeches and seminars at universities and social clubs.

This comment from Ms. Mary Wilson, in one of your hometowns, is typical of the many letters that I receive each week.

Dear Dr. Faulkner: There are two things that I look forward to each week: reading your exciting column and discussing your wonderful ideas with my friends. I feel as if I know you. When can you come to visit my city and give a speech?

As I begin the 10th year of Coping, I want the next 10 years to be better than the previous 10. I want you to write to me at P.O. Box 50016, Washington, DC 20004.

Tell me what you think about my column, tell me what you would like me to write about, tell me if you would like for me to visit your city and talk to your group or organization. Your letters are very important to me, so please don't delay. Stop what you are doing and write to me today.

SID's Pick Braves High

LOMAN, MS — The 1988 season should be a good one if the preseason prognosticators are correct concerning the Alcorn State Braves football squad.

The Braves are picked to finish second in the tough eight-team Southwestern Athletic Conference race behind three-time defending champ and rival Jackson State. Alcorn has been in that same position as runner-up the past two seasons with identical 5-2 conference records. The poll was conducted by the SWAC's Sports Information Directors during the 11th annual SWAC tour which visited five cities in July.

Alcorn has six players selected to the preseason All-SWAC football squad in 1988 in a poll conducted by the head coaches. They include junior offensive guard James Harper of Jackson, MS, senior quarterback Larry Brown of Rayville, LA, junior placekicker Kevin Coburn of Clarksdale, MS, sophomore defensive lineman Bennie Goods of Port Gibson, MS and senior defensive backs Michael Andrew of Magnolia, MS and Jack Phillips of New Orleans.

Phillips was a first team selection in 1987 and a second team selection as a sophomore. Coburn, Goods and Andrews were selected to the second team this past season.

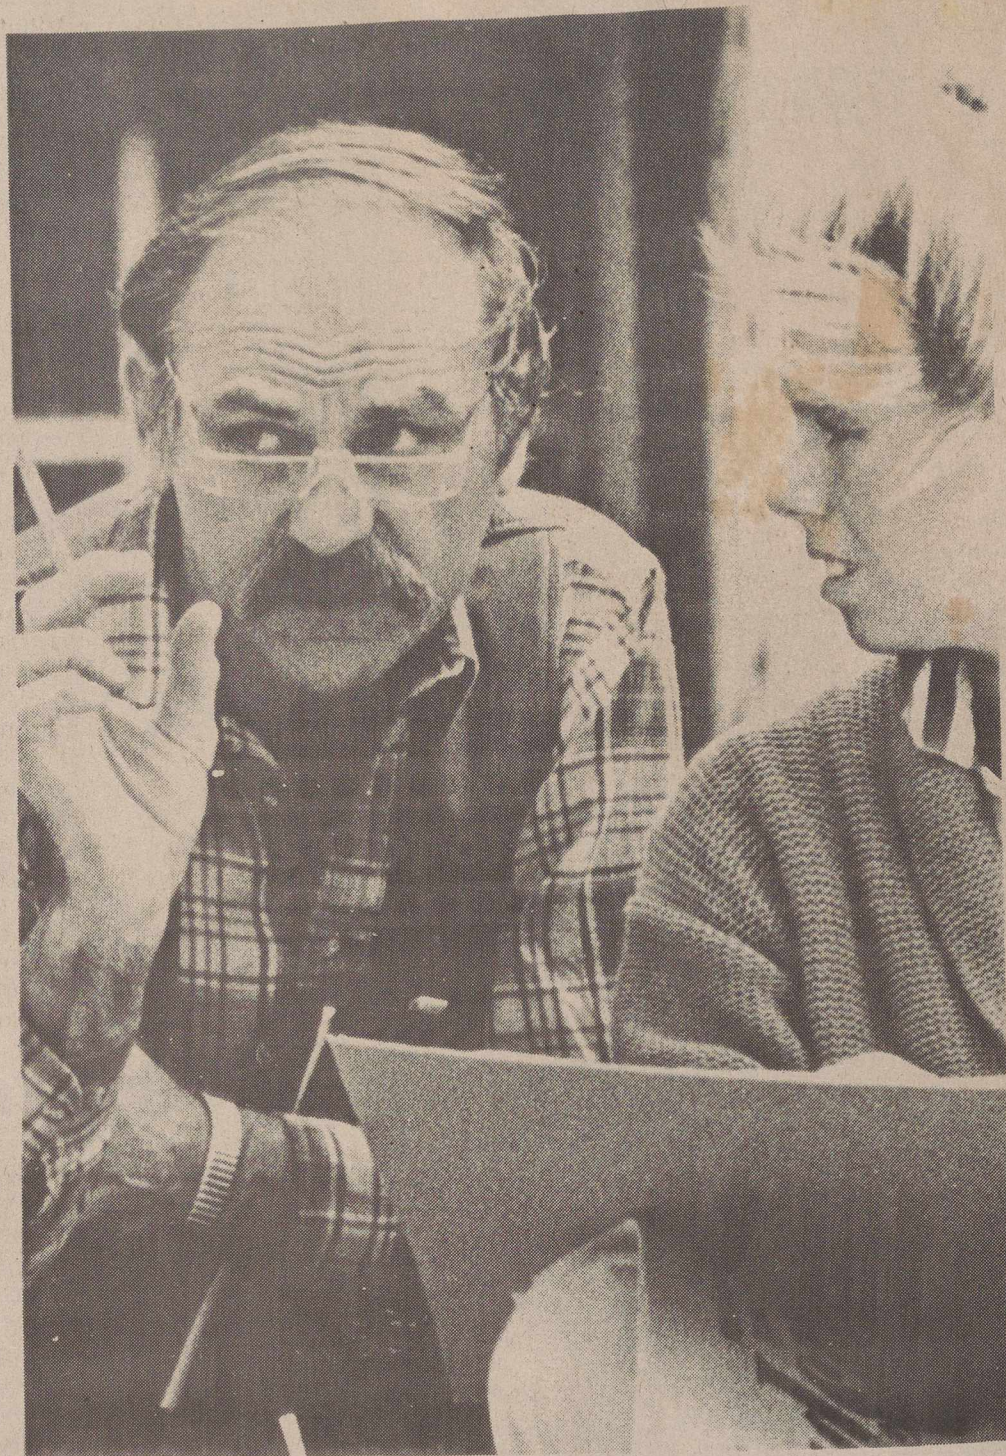

The Braves open their season Sept. 3 against rival Grambling State in the annual Red River Classic. The game will be played in Shreveport's Independence Stadium. Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m.

The 1988 Pre-Season All-SWAC Football Squad as voted on by the SWAC head coaches follows:

TE Craig Davis, Southern; T Ricky Warren, Grambling; T Charlie Stevenson, Mississippi Valley; G James Harper, Alcorn State; G Donald Holts, MVSU; C Johnnie Wynn, Alabama State; WR Ron Lewis, Jackson State; WR Davis Smith, Texas Southern; QB Larry Brown, Alcorn; RB Lewis Tillman, Jackson State; RB Brad Baxter, Alabama.

Outland Trophy Sculptor Busy At Work

Howard Seen As Repeater

GREENSBORO, NC — Howard University has been picked to win the 1988 Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference football championship by the poll of league head coaches and sports information directors. The Bison, defending champions, collected 12 of 18 first-place votes and accumulated 194 of the maximum 216 points.

Delaware State College finished second in the voting with five first-place signatures and 176 total points. Florida A&M University grabbed the remaining first-place vote and totaled 146 points for third. South Carolina State College finished fourth with 126 points, Bethune-Cookman College fifth with 64, North Carolina A&T State University sixth with 45 and Morgan State University seventh with 23.

Howard is defending a MEAC football crown for the first time but its head coach Willie Jeffries

Willie Jeffries
Howard head coach

boasts five in a row (1974-78) while at SC State. In 1987, his Bison ran to a 5-0 league mark and a 9-1 overall record. No MEAC team has won titles back since SC State did it from 1980-83.

COACHES POLL

In a poll of MEAC head football coaches only, the Howard Bison registered five of the seven first-place votes and 80 of the maximum 84 points for the No. 1 spot in the preseason conference rankings. Delaware State Hornets took second with two firsts and 72 points. The FAMU Rattlers placed third with 54 total points, the Bulldogs of SC State fourth with 44, B-CC Wildcats fifth with 26, the NC A&T Aggies sixth with 18 and the Morgan State Bears had seven points for a seventh place ranking.

The scoring system for both polls was a 12, 10, 8, 6, 4, 2, 1 format with 18 voters in the overall poll and seven in the coaches only.

The preseason finishes as picked by head coaches and SIDs follow. It shows the standing, points and first votes. The coaches only poll shows the same.

Future Top Prosecutor is Tough

WASHINGTON, DC — A tough U.S. attorney with a bulldog's persistence in pursuing crime and criminals and who just happens to be Black is expected to be quickly confirmed by the Senate and become the nation's chief prosecuting attorney, the fifth highest position in the Department of Justice.

He is Edward S.G. Dennis Jr., a 43-year-old who since 1983 has been a racket-busting U.S. attorney for the eastern district of Pennsylvania. During that period he sent a prominent Philadelphia councilman and his aide to jail, as well as the powerful chief of the city's entrenched mob and the number of cops — over 30 persons in all indicted or convicted — in a case that is still ongoing and now involves the entire police narcotics unit.

Dennis will need every bit of his professional toughness as he comes into a Justice Department recently wracked with ongoing investigations of charges against Edwin Meese III, the country's chief law enforcement officer, and a poisonous environment of low morale, one that most Blacks and many whites view as racist, especially in W. Bradford Reynolds' civil rights division.

So despite Dennis' brave assertion to a Senate committee considering his nomination that he found no atmosphere of malaise at the department where he is serving in the interim period until confirmation, a Senate oversight committee a few doors down the hall in the Dirksen Senate Office Building, was being told precisely the opposite.

Edward Dennis was born on Maryland's impoverished eastern shore in the small rural town of Salisbury. But his were not dire circumstances. Indeed, his grandfather was a rather prosperous business man running a bicycle repair shop and managing a funeral home. But the Depression wiped him out and he never quite recovered. His father Dr. Edward S. Dennis is a 1952 Howard University Medical School graduate, a World War II officer and a 10-year post office employee before he earned his doctorate. He is now retired.

Edward Dennis is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University, the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy and the University of Pennsylvania Law School. He served as a law clerk under Federal Judge A. Leon Higgenbottom of the district court of eastern Pennsylvania. He was assistant U.S. attorney of Pennsylvania for five years, 1975-80 and chief of the narcotics and dangerous drug section of the Department of Justice for three years 1980-83. Thus, his insistence that, because of his long professional association with the department and familiarity with its personnel, he could state emphatically there was no malaise had a strong ring of truth.

Internship Is A Key To Success

ORLANDO — "Serving an internship is one of the most valuable experiences a college student could ever have," said Sheila A. Davidson of Kinston, NC, who had just completed a summer long internship at Red Lobster headquarters in Orlando. "You can't imagine how valuable it has been to help me decide what it is I want to do with my future," she said. A 21-year-old senior majoring in environmental health at Western Carolina University. Davidson served her in-

Kansas City Man Finds Niche in Navy

by Gwendolyn R. Jackson

SAN DIEGO — During the 1960s not many young Blacks could have both a college education and an opportunity to plot the course of a Navy cruiser. But times change, and former Kansas City resident Gary Walker proves the point.

NAVY ENSIGN — Gary Walker serves aboard the cruiser USS Long Beach homeported in San Diego. The 29-year-old ensign is the son of Willie and Betty Walker of Kansas City. Walker, a 1977 graduate of Center High School and a 1982 graduate of Rockhurst College, joined the Navy in June 1986. Later this year Walker will become the first ensign to navigate the Long Beach.

"I thought of joining the Navy right out of college but a friend talked me out of it because I already had a good job offer," says the son of Willie and Betty Walker of Kansas City.

"For four years my civilian job went well. Then I got dealt a bad hand on a project. I thought seriously about joining the Navy after that."

The 29-year-old Walker is now a Navy ensign and the prospective navigator onboard the USS Long Beach, a guided missile cruiser homeported here. Becoming navigator on a ship the size of the Long Beach as an ensign is almost unheard of.

"When the captain called me into his office and told me that he'd like me to get fully qualified to become the ship's navigator, I was flabbergasted," says Walker. "It felt good to know he thought that highly of me."

"Walker stood out among the selection of officers I had to choose from," says Captain John Pollack, commanding officer of the Long Beach. "I feel he has the most potential."

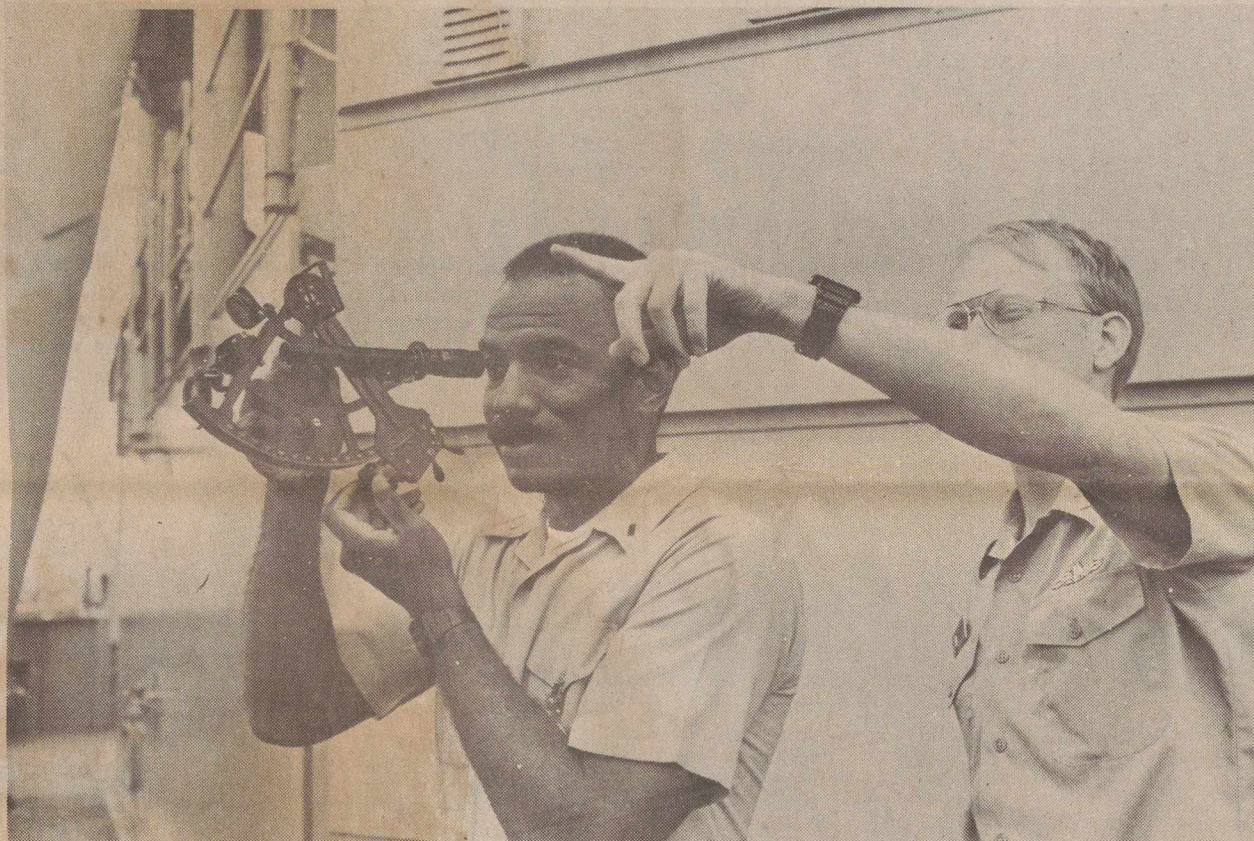

As navigator, Walker will use celestial navigation and radar to determine the ship's position and plan its maneuvers.

"The Navy offered me two things that I was unable to get in the business world — personnel management experience and the chance to travel," he says.

Walker got his chance to travel. Five days after he reported aboard the Long Beach, his first Navy command, the ship set sail on a six month western Pacific deployment.

"It wasn't a typical deployment with exotic port visits because of the U.S. involvement in the Persian Gulf," he says. "Part of the deployment was spent patrolling that area."

"But we did get a

IN TRAINING — Navy ensign Gary Walker, left, receives instruction on using a sextant, which measures the angle between the horizon and the sun or stars as a means of determining position. change to visit Australia and Tasmania during the Christmas holiday season," says Walker, whose eyes lit up at the mention of Tasmania.

"The Long Beach was the only ship in our battle group to go to the island of Tasmania. The people there really received the crew members well. Although it was summertime, they made Christmas really nice."

After graduating from Center High School in 1977, Walker went from the Drama and Key Clubs and the football and track teams to Northwest Missouri State University.

While majoring in system's management, he was active in Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity and as an assistant Boy Scout leader. After transferring to Rockhurst College, he graduated with a business degree in 1982.

Although Walker feels the Navy has been good to him, he is undecided about whether he's make it a career.

"At this point, I'm still making up my mind," he says, stopping to think about it.

"This is my first duty station. If the Navy offers me something better when I leave here, why should I get out?"

"But when I start to feel that things are looking better in the civilian world, then I'll make that move."

"Of course there are things that I want to do whether I stay in the Navy or not," adds Walker, "like getting married and having

Transportation Net Work Makes Jazzin' Easy

TAMPA — A motorcoach transportation network has been developed for Tampa's Jazzin' Jubilee that will connect cabaret-style venues in the downtown area, Westshore area, Busch Gardens and in historic Ybor City. Thirteen venues throughout Tampa, in addition to eight sites at Busch Gardens, will play host to the four-day traditional jazz extravaganza which takes place from Thursday, Sept. 1 through Labor Day on Monday, Sept. 5.

Motorcoach transportation will move jubilee participants easily between venues while jazz bands from across the country and around the world "cook it up" with the best of traditional jazz — from ragtime to Dixieland to blues.

The shuttle service is free to Tampa's Jazzin' Jubilee badge holders and runs continuously between designated cluster areas. Shuttle pick up and drop off points are at the Marriott Westshore in the Westshore area, at the Hyatt Regency in Tampa's downtown and at Ybor Square in Ybor City.

Transportation to Busch Gardens, the Dark Continent, will be available on Sunday evening when jazz events move to the park for an exciting evening of entertainment.

Tampa's Jazzin' Jubilee is Florida's tribute to traditional jazz featuring over 30 prominent jazz bands, including headliners Al Hirt, Kay Starr and Alvino Rey.

A number of special events and concerts are planned for the Labor Day weekend jubilee which is being organized by the Tampa/Hillsborough Convention & Visitors Association.

Preventing Cancer Through Diet is Goal of New Program

GAINESVILLE — Cancer prevention through diet is the goal of an innovative, new program developed by a home economist with the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (IFAS). A pilot project will be tested using volunteers from Georgia-Pacific's Palatka worksite in a joint effort with the University of Florida, said project designer and researcher Linda Bobroff. The program could potentially benefit every county in the state.

"The emphasis is to increase the consumption of fruits, vegetables, and foods high in fiber. There's some evidence, for instance, that eating vegetables in the cabbage family, like cauliflower, broccoli and brussel sprouts lessens the chances of getting cancer."

Some experts also believe that consuming excess calories over a long period of time increases the possibility of developing the disease. In addition to educating participants on the types of foods that are beneficial, the eight-week-long program is designed to help participants control the amount of dietary fat they consume, she said. If the project proves successful in Palatka, it could benefit every county in the state. The diet modification program would be made available to the network of home economists in the IFAS Cooperative Extension Service, Bobroff said.

"Cancer is the second leading cause of death in every county in Florida. There's certainly a need for this type of education," Bobroff said.

PLOTTING A COURSE — Navy ensign Gary Walker, right, receives instruction on using navigational charts to plot the ship's course. Assigned to the guided missile cruiser USS Long Beach, Walker will become the first ensign to navigate the cruiser once his training is complete.

children.

"I also want to get my master's degree but I'm not exactly sure in what area — in systems, business or maybe even in law. I'm torn between those things right now."

Walker may be undecided about his future but one thing is certain. Opportunities are there and he has both the knowledge and the drive to plot his course

Native Sarasotan

Gregory E. Miller, a former native of Sarasota, flew in recently for the burial of his father. A graduate of Sarasota High in 1977, he attended the University of Louisville on a football scholarship where he majored in physical education and sports medicine and minored in mass communications. A single father of twins, Cory Brinston and Courtney McCole Miller, he is currently employed by UPS in Louisville.

Recently Greg acquired a full time assistant football coaching job at Ballard High Bruins, a major 4A contender in Kentucky. The school has won the state championships three times in the past five years in football as well as basketball under the direction of head coach Ron Maddrick, formerly head of Murry State University. Greg says he did not accept the position for financial prosperity but to give back to sports what it gave him. He flew back to Louisville last Sunday.

P-A-R-T-Y

Leatrice (McDonald) Gaines held a fabulous birthday party last Saturday night at her beautiful 29th Street S home. There were many family members and a host of friends there to help the birthday lady enjoy this memorable occasion. A sumptuous feast was served. Hostesses helping serve were Evelyn Pierce Bowens, Maggie (Christie) Gaines and Mary Perry. The back patio was arrayed with many chairs and tables for accommodation. Spinning the sounds was son Ray Thomas. There were wall to wall people who enjoyed themselves until the wee hours of the a.m. Out-of-town guests were Billy (Huger) Edwards, J. Thomas of Tampa and Calvin Goodman and family of Orlando.

Earvin (Magic) Johnson of the world champion Los Angeles Lakers continues to swell the coffers of the United Negro College Fund with his annual Magic Johnson All Star Classic. This year's game, held in the Forum, was declared a financial success even though all funds are not in.

It was just a friendly run and shoot game when Charley B. The Mailman, Spud, Human Highlight Film, Mugay, Air Jordan, Zeek, Coop and Magic took to the hardwood.

The above nicknames belong to Charles Barkley, Karl Malone, Anthony Webb, Dominique Wilkins, Tyrone Bogues, Michael Jordan, Isiah Thomas, Michael Cooper and Johnson.

The NBA stars consider it an honor to be invited by Magic to play in this game. They all know it's for a most worthy cause plus they enjoy being able to do some of the things which league play prohibits. Another plus is the fact their fun is helping to make it possible for some deserving kid to get a college education.

The Magic All Star Classic has become one of the premiere Los Angeles events. Preceding the game, a "Midsummer Night's Magic" black tie event is held. It features a silent auction for prizes of jewelry, furs, automobiles and trips. Winners are also able to bid on memorabilia of entertainers and athletes.

We tip our hats to Magic and friends for their commitment to excellence through education for deserving and worthy students.

Leave it up to those loyal Grambling athletic program supporters to do it up brown. Recently received a note from old friend, Jerry Edwards, owner and operator of the Flying Fox on Crenshaw Boulevard saying that an affair at his place brought in some big bucks for the school.

Guests of honor were legendary coach Eddie Robinson and his staff who were getting ready to leave Los Angeles after spending a week at the LA Raiders camp in Oxnard.

Jerry honored Eddie with a night in his name. Tiger supporters came out of the woodwork for this affair. Eddie was overwhelmed by the support received.

"It's always exciting and the humility is there when people do this kind of thing," Robinson, who holds college all time record for wins (341-119-15) by a football coach, said. "The kind of guy Jerry Edwards is, he means a lot to us at Grambling."

Robinson added that he was "quite grateful" for the contributions made that night at the Flying Fox on behalf of the school's program. "Our Black schools are fighting for their lives financially and

Aggie Staff Revamped By Hayes

GREENSBORO, NC — Newly appointed North Carolina A&T Aggie head football coach has moved swiftly to organize his coaching staff, the crucial first step in his goal to rebuild the school football program.

Hayes was named head coach succeeding Mo Forte, who resigned to accept an assistant coach position with the NFL's Denver Broncos, the 1988 Super Bowl runnerup.

Hayes announced that George James, a four-year veteran on the Aggie staff, has been retained and promoted to assistant head coach. James will continue to coach linebackers.

The coaches on Hayes' staff are Linwood Ferguson, Michael Ferguson, Joseph Godette, Kenny Phillips and Kevin Wilson.

Linwood Ferguson begins his second stint as an Aggie staffer having been there during the 1982 and '83 seasons. He returns after serving as head coach at South Macklenburg High in Charlotte, NC. He is the defensive coordinator.

Phillips, formerly a Catawba College of Salisbury, NC staff, will be the defensive line coach.

Wilson joins the A&T staff after holding a similar position with Hayes at Winston-Salem State. He is the offensive coordinator. Godette, who likewise followed Hayes from WSSU, will coach the offensive line.

Michael Ferguson, who spent last season as an assistant coach at North Forsyth High School in Winston-Salem, will coach the defensive backfield.

Hayes also named

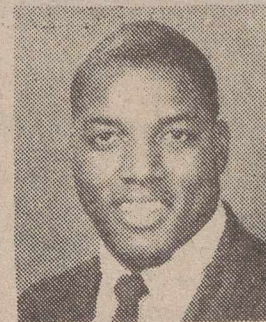

Phillips

Wilson

L. Ferguson

M. Ferguson

Godette

James

Kenny Duckett and Karlton Watson as graduate assistants. Watson is a Canadian Football League veteran and Duckett, a Wake Forest graduate who played in the NFL, will coach quarterbacks and wide receivers respectively.

Hayes, 44, brings 22 years of coaching experience to A&T. The last 12 years were spent at Winston-Salem State where he coached the Rams to a 90-42-2 record and dominated the CIAA Southern Division winning six titles. In 1987, the Rams won the CIAA title and played in the NCAA Division II playoffs.

A native of Durham, NC, Hayes earned All CIAA honors while playing at North Carolina Central. Immediately after graduation, Hayes joined the coaching ranks. His stints included Gretna's (VA) Northside High, Winston-Salem's Paisley High, Durham's Hillside and Wake Forest before succeeding Cleo Wallace at WSSU in 1976.

The Aggies were 3-8 last season.

McCoy Ball is Success

WACO, TX — Paul Quinn College baseball is on the rise thanks to St. Petersburg's Al McCoy who assumed the head coaching position last season. The 1988 season had a healthy 17-5 record. Observers say the success is due to a new philosophy instilled by McCoy called "McCoy ball."

Al McCoy

Tiger fans termed the season as the "return of the wounded Tiger."

McCoy said McCoy's ball, which was designed to make something happen "not let something happen" was the essence of his game. The team really came around during the last five games, four of which it won.

National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) rankings released recently proved McCoy's point. Several of his players were ranked high by the NAIA. They include Earl Carter, centerfielder (No. 1 in the region); Steve Skillern, first baseman (ranked second); Randy Brown, second baseman (ranked fifth); Darrell Brown, shortstop (third); Melvin Foster, third baseman (ranked third); Keith Scott, left field (seventh); John Wiley, right field (second); Cavanaugh Clark and Jesse Caruthers tied for seventh as catchers.

McCoy attributed much of the club's success to the student body's support.

He said he's sending out feelers to his friends in the Sunshine State asking that they be on the lookout for players who may not be able to get into Florida A&M or Bethune-Cookman on scholarships. "Send them to me, I'll get them on scholarships here," he stated.

McCoy, who starred in baseball in St. Petersburg's Gibbs High and FAMU, played professional softball for several years before returning to the college ranks. He was FAMU alumni secretary and was serving as FAMU Booster Club's executive director when he accepted the Paul Quinn post where he also serves as housing director.

Scouts Name Board Members

TAMPA — George A. Davis, president of the Suncoast Girl Scout Council, Inc., announced the following board of directors positions:

Melanie Adams-Miller of Florida Power Corp. elected first vice president; members-at-large Margarita Gonzales of Tampa and the public/community relations coordinator, City of Tampa, Elaine Perry of Brooksville and an assistant vice president and branch manager for Sun Bank and Trust Co., Jan Platt of Tampa and a Hillsborough county commissioner Kathleen Klobier Koch of Valrico.

NCNB National Bank, Janet Myers of Temple Terrace and account executive for Dexal, Burnham, Lambert Investments.

Diamond Rattlers Doing Well

TALLAHASSEE — Three former Rattler diamond-eers are making a go of it in professional baseball at this writing and two of them earned major star status for themselves in 1988.

Chicago Cubs' right-fielder Andre "Hawk" Dawson, a Miami native and the 1987 National League MVP, earned his second straight spot on the National League's All Star team, along with Jacksonville native and former punter-place-kicker Vincent Coleman, the base-stealing phenom for the defending National League champion St. Louis Cardinals.

Both Dawson and Coleman started the game for the National League, which lost 2-1 in Cincinnati on July 12. Coleman, as the NL's leadoff hitter, got a base hit, stole a base and scored the NL's only run.

Another former Rattler entered the pro ranks this spring as Atlanta, GA native Marquis Grissom (yes, another outfielder) was drafted in the third round of the June draft by the Montreal Expos, a team which in 1975 drafted Dawson out of FAMU.

Through 38 games, the 5-11, 180-pounder, who was twice All MEAC and the league's MVP this past spring, was hitting .287 with five homers, five doubles and two triples for the Class A Jamestown Expos of the New York-Penn League.

Grissom is on a hot streak after a slow start, having hit .332 with four homers, four doubles and one triple and 14 RBI in the last 28 games. In a two-game series against Albany (NY), Grissom had three doubles and two homers, one a grand slam.

TAMPA — Missionaries on the move could very well describe the young matrons of Beulah Baptist. Organized in 1975 under the leadership of Geneva Samuels and Rosetta Judge, they began their labor of love with a charge to get closer to God and do His work.

They do so by staffing the nursery every Sunday, supporting a missionary teacher abroad, sponsoring an annual prayer breakfast, secretly demonstrating "you are loved and appreciated" to all seniors

ST. MARK PRESENTS GOLDEN STAR AWARD

Last Sunday, Aug. 14 Mrs. Bertha Waller received the Golden Star award for her faithful service to St. Mark Missionary Baptist Church, where she has been a member for 25 years. All her children witnessed this wonderful occasion.

In photo one are Evelyn, Grace Pace presenting the award to Mrs. Waller, Barbara

The elated and surprised Mrs. Waller made our day. There's nothing like making someone happy. (Photos by W.L. Jones)

Galilee Observes Their Dual Day

Pastor Earnest Jones and the church family cordially invite you to join in the celebration of their 14th annual Dual Day observance Aug. 20-21. Theme: "O magnify the Lord and let us exalt His name together."

The Youth Department begins the celebration on Saturday, Aug. 20 at 7:30 p.m. with Rev. Wayne E. Wilson, associate minister of Bethel Metropolitan Baptist, as their honored guest speaker.

Rev. Wilson was born and reared in Burlington, NC by the late Deacon Thomas and Mable Wilson.

Rev. Wilson

He was the former pastor of Middle Run Baptist Church in Xenia, OH.

Rev. Wilson's interest in youth activities and affiliations have been extensive. He served as organizer and coordinator of the youth in prayer fellowship in Burlington. In Ohio he served as coordinator for the youth department of the Western Union District Association and advisor for the youth department in the Baptist State Convention. He also served as pastoral advisor of the Baptist Student Union at Wilberforce University in Ohio.

Presently, Rev. Wilson serves as district executive member of the Boy Scouts of America in Pinellas County.

On Sunday, Aug. 21 the 11 a.m. speaker is Mrs. Ida Cromartie, a member of Mt. Zion Primitive Baptist Church under the leadership of Elder Victor E. Gooden.

Mrs. Cromartie is an active member of the deaconess board and a Sunday school teacher for the young adult class. She is an inspiration to others and above all she is a born again Christian. Her main mission is to share the word of Christ and motivate others to seek comfort in our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

The Rev. Howard W. Jones, pastor of Bethel Community Baptist Church, has been selected as the distinguished guest speaker for the 3 p.m. service.

Rev. Jones is a native of Hampton, VA and a graduate of Phoenix High School. He served in the Air Force for 20 years. During his military tenure he pursued his education and graduated with a BA degree in behavior science from Wilmington (DE) College. He received a master of divinity degree from Virginia Union University School of Theology.

Rev. Jones

Rev. Jones accepted the call to the Gospel ministry in 1973 and was ordained in 1975 by the Friendship Baptist Church of Merced, CA. He served in positions of assistant/associate minister of the Emanuel Baptist Church and the Royal Oaks Gospel Service at Torrejon Air Force Base in Madrid, Spain, the Dover, DE AFB Gospel Service and the St. James Baptist Church of Richmond, VA. He was also the former pastor of First Baptist Church of Clinton.

Since retirement from military service, Rev. Jones has been employed as a veterans vocational rehabilitation assistant, youth counselor for the Opportunities Industrial Center, job developer with offender aid and restoration and also as instructor at Virginia Union University School of Theology.

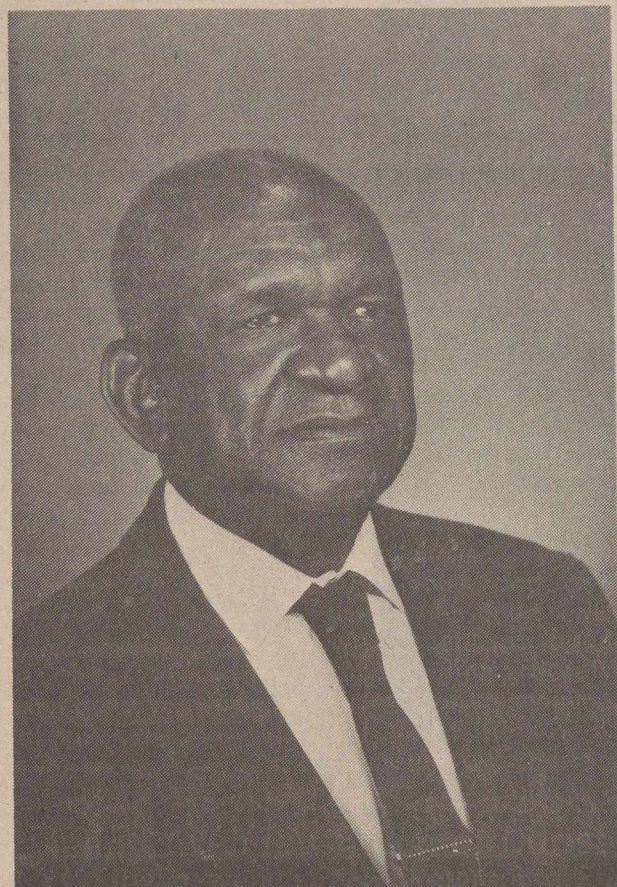

Currently, Rev. Jones is a candidate for the doctor of ministry degree at Drew University, Madison, NJ. Rev. Jones and his wife Irma Dianne are the parents of two children, Erica and Howard.

There will be no 8 a.m. service this Sunday. Church school begins at 9:30 a.m. with special guests from various churches of this city. Dinner will be served after the 11 a.m. service. Members are asked to bring desserts.

All captains are asked to make their financial report before the 3 p.m. service.

Dual Day colors are pink and burgundy. Galilee encourages the community to share their special Dual Day celebration and keynote speakers. Deacon Edward Samuel and Mrs. Betty Jenkins are Dual Day chairs.

Galilee will host the fellowship service of the state mission board of the Progressive Missionary and Educational Baptist State Convention of Florida from Aug. 22 to 26. Service begins Monday at 7:30 p.m. Martha Philpott, reporter

Grand Central Progressive Observes Pastor's Anniversary

Aug. 15-29 is being celebrated as church and pastor's 29th anniversary.

Rev. S.W. Williamson has served as pastor of Grand Central Progressive for more than 29 years and is being shown in many ways by many people how much he is loved and appreciated for his dedication and service to God and humanity. He is being feted in a series of nightly services by various churches, co-workers and friends. The public is invited to share in these services.

Mt. Zion Progressive

Pastor Garrett and members cordially invite friends to join them in the 9:15 a.m. Sunday school with classes for all age groups, 10:45 a.m. worship with music by the Mass Choir, Vernard McKenney, minister of music. Rev. Horace Holloway of Southside Tabernacle will bring the message.

Monday, 7 p.m. Bible study

Wednesday, 7 p.m. teachers meeting followed by prayer time. Iva Hayes, reporter

Bethel Metropolitan

Bethel Metropolitan invites the community to share in a full roster of church activities on Sunday and throughout the week.

Each Sunday worship opportunities begin with the 7:50 a.m. service highlighted by special deacons' devotion periods and music by Bethel choirs.

The youth and children of the church will serve breakfast each Sunday immediately following early morning worship. Rosemary B. Harris, reporter

They were also assigned to the Philippines to help restore internal disorders in that country from 1899 to 1902. They were then ordered to protect lines of communication during border disturbances caused by Mexican Gen. Francisco Villa, known as Pancho Villa. When World War II broke out, the 24th served honorably and effectively in the South Pacific. After engaging in a number of battles during the Korean War, including their victory at Yechon, they were broken up when President Truman desegregated the military.

Earlier this year I introduced House Resolution 483 to honor the brave contributions of the 24th Infantry Regiment who last month held a reunion. I expect the bill to be passed next month which will give the Congressional recognition they richly deserve. Black Americans have served this nation honorably dating back to the Revolutionary War. Many of their courageous efforts have been left out of our history books. For this reason and others we should make every attempt to correct this unfortunate neglect.

Tribute To A Black American

meeting the demand in many communities.

To make sure more child care facilities become available in more of our neighborhoods, the ABC bill would establish a number of measures and incentives designed to boost the supply of child care.

If you care about decent child care, pick up your pen or telephone right now and let your Washington representatives know you support ABC. Time is running out in this legislative session to get Congress to act.

countless other sisters and brothers who have given their lives in the cause of freedom.

The South African National Congress, the liberation movement of South Africa, deserves our support. The people of South Africa and the people of Angola, Mozambique, Zambia, Zimbabwe and Botswana all need our resolute solidarity and commitment.

Child Watch

by Marian Wright Edelman

Marian Wright Edelman is president of the Children's Defense Fund, a national voice for children.

Stand Up For Better Child Care

When you are at work do you worry about whether your children are safe? Do you have trouble finding decent child care anywhere near where you live? Do you have to cut back on other essentials to pay your child care bill? Have you ever been forced to settle for child care that is less than your children deserve?

If you answered yes I urge you to join me and millions of parents from across our nation in standing up now for better child care. In the next few months we have a chance to make a real difference by passing the Act for Better Child Care Services (ABC bill, HR 3660 and S 1885). Tell your representatives in Washington that our children cannot wait any longer for decent child care. We must pass ABC now!

ABC will help families that are struggling to pay for child care. Every child in America deserves safe quality child care. But only well-off families can afford the skyrocketing cost. Suppose, for example, that a woman is raising two children on a take-home salary of $12,000 a year from her full-time job. If she lives in a major American city or the suburbs, her child care bill could come to $6,000 a year, or half of her entire income.

For this woman and millions of others making low or moderate incomes who are struggling to pay for child care, ABC offers help meeting these costs based on each family's level of financial need.

ABC will protect our children from poor, unsafe child care and the damage it can cause.

Every parent knows how important good child care is to the health, growth and social development of a child. And every parent fears the risk to a child posed by low quality or downright unsafe care. We have all read the horror stories of children who are hurt or even killed in accidents because they did not have adequate care.

ABC will cut down on parents' wild goose chase for decent child care. Parents often wear themselves out searching for child care that is convenient and affordable. That is because the supply of child care in our nation is not

Mother Knows Best

I ran into an old friend the other day who had just been through a trying experience with her son. "It was terrible," she began. "My eight-year-old is a B student and tests out at above average IQ. Yet Herby's teacher said he was hyperactive and needed to be put on Ritalin because she'd caught him reading science fiction a lot in class."

I was on Herby's side. I love science fictions. Besides, he reminded me of my oldest kid. I asked my friend to continue.

"Well, I took Herby to Dr. Drugspin, the famous child psychiatrist downtown. Everything was going fine until he abruptly stopped talking right in the middle of his interview with Herby."

"Why did he do that?" I inquired.

"Well, one of his tricycle wheels broke. He looked terribly embarrassed when that happened. He almost fell off."

"Didn't the tricycle put you off?" I asked.

"No, not at all. Everyone knows all psychiatrists are eccentric. Besides, the tricycle was very clean. Well, anyway after he fixed his tricycle, he really got down to business. He smelled Herby's breath, asked him how old he was and had him sign his name. After studying these results, he gravely explained the problems to me.

"He told me that not only was Herby hyperactive but his breath was awful indicating a perilous chemical imbalance and that his reading habits indicated SciFiTime Dislocation Disorder. Further, his poor handwriting was a sure sign of Handwriting Slopinitis Disorder. To top it off his IQ was dangerously high."

"Then he told me that fortunately Ritalin would handle all of these things and he dashed off a prescription. I was puzzled but I figured he was the doctor. He ought to know. So, later on, after I did some shopping, I went to the drug store and gave the pharmacist the prescription. But he came back a few minutes later saying he couldn't fill it because Dr. Drugspin had killed himself after we had left his office."

"So I said to hell with it. If Drugspin was so smart why couldn't he handle his own problem?"

Day two of Freedom

"I see your point," I told her. "So what did you do with Herby?"

"I told him if he didn't stop reading science fiction in school, I'd cut off his allowance, ground him for a month and generally make life miserable for him. Now everything is fine."

Capers from page 13

News of Philadelphia Eagles quarterback Randall Cunningham's recently signed contract calling for a reported $4 million over three years drew a response from Washington Redskins quarterback and Super Bowl MVP Doug Williams, who is in line to make about half of Cunningham's yearly salary.

"Randall is supposed to get that kind of money," Williams said. "He's made Philadelphia a lot tougher than they'd be without him. Probably no other quarterback is as important to his team. He's as important to the Eagles as Dan Marino is to Miami, as John Elway is to Denver or Bernie Kosar is to Cleveland."

Leave it to Doug to always be complimentary to his fellow players always humbling himself. Doug is just as important to the Redskins as any of the other quarterbacks he mentioned.

His humility in situations like this shows his greatness. Reporters, who asked the question, were quite surprised when Doug didn't lash out as the Redskins front office for not paying him an equal amount or even more since he led the team to a record-breaking Super Bowl win.

He must be good because Redskins coach Joe Gibbs is still insisting that Doug is his No. 1 quarterback in spite of the preseason success backup Jay Schroeder is having.

Incidentally, Doug's picture, getting ready to throw a pass in the Super Bowl, adorns the cover of the 1988 Southwestern Athletic Conference Media Guide. It boasts about his being Grambling's qb from 1974-77 and being an All American the last year and the Super Bowl's MVP. That's a fitting tribute to the Bayou Bullet who also holds an honorary doctorate from his alma mater.

That's thirty for now.

ences, said, "We are pleased to make this five-year commitment to Howard's endowment fund and to reaffirm our support of academic and scholarship programs at this prestigious institute of higher learning."

Dr. Roger Estep, vice president, university relations and development, was in Rochester to accept a check for the first installment of Kodak's pledge. Dr. Estep noted, "Howard's two-fold mission is to provide quality education at a reasonable cost for any student and to assist in the development of solutions to human and social problems."

"Kodak's gift," he continued, "will help strengthen the programs and activities of Howard University in pursuit of that mission."

Strong also announced that Kodak has agreed to be an active participant in Howard's 1989 Charter Day Dinner, a gathering of about 1500 alumni, friends and members of the university community. Colby H. Chandler, Kodak chair, will be featured speaker at this March 1 event.

TAMPA — Playmakers Theatre, a professional theater in residence at the Ritz Theatre in Ybor City, will offer an acting workshop this fall called basics of acting. Taught by Barbara Smith, the course will run Sept. 12 through Oct. 6, meeting each Monday and Thursday 7-10 p.m.

The workshop will feature a variety of methods and techniques gleaned from the instructor's 20 years of acting experience. It will include work on monologues and scenes, voice and body exercises, theater games and evaluation techniques. The course is intended to be useful both to beginners and to those with some performance experience.

Phone 248-6933 for further information.

Mt. Zion Ame Church

Rev. London is the pastor of New Jerusalem

Temple Baptist Church. He is a noted evangelist and singer.

Guest choirs from the St. Petersburg community will sing. Everyone is invited. Rev. Samuel L. Green Sr. is the pastor.

Alternatives for Architecture Exhibited at USF

TAMPA — Modern Redux: Critical Alternatives for Architecture in the Next Decade, presented by the University of South Florida's Art Museum, will be on exhibit Aug. 29-Oct. 4 in the Teaching Gallery and the Theatre Lobby

Gallery at USF.

Curated by Douglas Davis, architecture critic for Newsweek, and organized by the Grey Art Gallery and Study Center of New York University, Modern Redux provides the Tampa Bay area with a visual analysis of a new modern alternative to post modern revivalism in contemporary architecture.

Exhibition hours are: Teaching Gallery (FAH 110) Monday-Friday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Theatre Lobby Gallery (TAT 1) Monday-Friday 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Library Hosts Financial Planning Discussion

TAMPA — Good financial planning should include a savings plan as well as investments, for a strong national economy is based on people saving as well as spending. The Northwest Branch Library, 15610 Premier Drive, will host a free presentation, Establishing a Savings Program, on Thursday, Sept. 15 at 10 a.m.

Irene Campbell, Hillsborough County Cooperative Extension Services, will discuss savings principles and talk about how to save systematically. Learn how to view money as your servant.

ty, has been launched by its publisher, the National Council of Negro Women. The publication will focus on contemporary topics affecting women such as education, current affairs, lifestyles, health care, finance, cuisine, as well as reviews of films and books.

Local Olympians Profiled in WXFL Special

TAMPA — You may not have heard of Tino Martinez, Ty Griffen, Arthur Blake or Allison Jolly, but each may soon be a household name. All are bay area athletes on the U.S. Olympic team that will be competing in the upcoming summer games. You'll meet them, along with several other Olympic hopefuls, in WXFL-Channel 8's next For Kids' Sake special, Going for the Gold. The prime time program, an inspiring look at the long, hard road to Olympic glory, will be broadcast on Wednesday, Aug. 24 from 8 to 9 p.m. Going for the Gold is hosted by U.S. Olympic team member Carol Lewis. She'll introduce viewers to her brother, track and field star Carl Lewis, gymnast Phoebe Mills — the youngest American athlete to compete in Seoul, and swimmer Steve Bentley. Each athlete shares very personal stories about their Olympic dreams.

BOR Happy
With Plan

TALLAHASSEE — During its recent meeting here the Board of Regents (BOR) applauded the quick response and aggressive moves taken by FAMU president, Dr. Frederick S. Humphries, to improve internal control operations in the purchasing and athletic departments.

The BOR had expressed concern during its May meeting about FAMU's athletic ticket operations after learning of shortfalls in football ticket receipts from six home games and the 1987 Orange Blossom Classic. Reports indicated that FAMU was missing $17,000 in receipts from its home games and $49,000 in receipts from the classic.

Investigations by the board concluded that the shortfall for the home games was probably due to poor internal control. Dr. Humphries was asked to develop a more efficient and effective operation.

Humphries appointed a new athletic director, Dr. Walter Reed from Jackson State University, a new athletic business manager, an assistant athletic business manager and an athletic ticket manager.

"We emphasized to the board that the athletic ticket operation is on the mend. Dr. Walter Reed has already demonstrated in the short while he has been on campus that he has a complete grasp of our program. He has put new procedures and methods into place and brought on new people. His open style, wealth of experience and management ability have set a new tone for the program. We know that under his leadership, we will have a very tight and accountable ticket operation this year," Humphries said.

YOUR
by Lucille Burton
Week of August 23-29

ARIES

March 21 to April 19

You'll accomplish most if you make plans alone yet execute them in the presence of others. Subordinates need to be treated with respect and can be surprisingly helpful. Reach out to a friend you've put off in the past. Use discretion before talking about another person. Words could backfire.

TAURUS

April 20 to May 20

A group activity may place you in the role of leader. Friendships with young people will be unusually fulfilling. You'll have to make the first move. Sense what your immediate goals are so that you're not random about directions. A former friend may offer to do a favor. There may be strings attached.

GEMINI

May 21 to June 21

You'll be able to draw together people of diverse backgrounds with a common goal. It's your turn to play hostess. A male may be nit-picking, but it's only because he needs reassurance. Any efforts will now reap rich rewards. This isn't the time to be lazy. Try to maintain a balance between socializing and private time. Limit new projects.

CANCER

June 22 to July 22

A political speaker could awaken a sense of justice in you. Follow through and consider taking an active role. You'll be implementing many plans. Don't be in a hurry to understand it all too quickly. An aggressive person may vie for your attention. You have to tend to details.

LEO

July 23 to Aug. 22

A financial investment with a friend could bring rich rewards. Focus on long-term investments. Delve deeper into psychology or spirituality; the answers you're seeking already exist. Sharp words exchanged between you and someone you hold dear may actually bridge a communication gap. Be wary of confiding in someone.

VIRGO

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22

Much depends on your own follow-through now. Use lists to help you move toward your goals. A strong sense of individuality marks this period, and you'll need to be both original and within conventional boundaries. Repay a considerate person now. You'll instinctively make the best moves. Be confident.

LIBRA

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22

Consider what would be the wisest use of your financial resources. Some careful analysis would net you more cash with little effort. Don't pressure a weak family member to change. Be prepared to spend alone time; catch up on reading. A disagreement with a friend could be worked through if you remain open-minded.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21

You might want to liquidate holdings to have more cash on hand. Don't make financial moves without wise counsel. Communications may tend to get muddled. Make an extra effort to say what you mean. Seek out the company of friends for a day's outing. Don't rush, or you'll run the risk of a minor accident. An exotic foreigner could be intriguing.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21

Keep up your appearance. An important person could have you in mind for a job where style and energy count. You'll be a fine arbitrator if you support both parties and focus on issues, not personalities. Don't spread your energies too thin. A group sport project will help keep you in shape.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22 to Jan. 19

Firm family support underlies the current dissension. Try not to overmanage the outcome. A close friendship may go through deep-seated changes. A new creative activity—photography or painting—could reveal another dimension of you. A male relative can be the catalyst for your advancement. Focus on personal growth.

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18

Someone you've helped in the past may be unexpectedly lucky for you now. It's the right time for personal reorganization—redo closets, clean out drawers and make room for the new. You'll have satisfaction through events in a young person's life. Make concessions for a loved one. A former adversary may wish to mend fences.

PISCES

Feb. 19 to March 20

You could find yourself more in the public eye than you're used to. Your real support will come from home base. Be clear about what is right for you and don't become defensive. You may be confused about how to connect with people who can help you. Don't take anything at face value; ask questions. Try not to get into an argument over money.
