

'burg Blogs »

Vision 20/20 Faculty Input Forums draws diverse, committed participants

Posted January 14, 2014 at 4:27 pm by vision2020

“Criticism comes easier than craftsmanship.”

This anonymous quote captures the guiding theme of the two Vision 20/20 Faculty Input Forums that took place today.

Approximately 60 faculty were charged with identifying issues that they thought would be important to communicate to the strategic planning team.

What I saw were faculty committed USFSP and its students. I observed a diverse but united group excited to help craft the vision for the institution and identify important next steps to help us be a distinctive educational institution that we can be proud of, one that produces successful students and that in some way makes meaningful contributions to our surrounding community.

V. Mark Durand, Ph.D.
Professor of Psychology
Vision Team member