THE EDUCATION BILL.

This bill, as passed by the Senate, provides for the expenditure by the National Government of $77,000,000 within the ensuing eight years for educational purposes in some of our States and Territories. Do taxpayers desire to have their burdens continued in this way in order that our surplus revenues may be disposed of without changing our tariff and internal revenue systems? If so, now is the time, while the House has to act upon the proposition, to make known the fact.

PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATS IN LINE FOR A PROTECTIVE TARIFF AND INTERNAL REVENUE ABOLITION.

The Pennsylvania Democratic State Convention was held at Allentown on Wednesday, Ex-Speaker Randall guiding the course of events on the occasion. Besides naming Mr. Randall for President, the Convention adopted a series of resolutions whereof the following is a part:—

"We favor a tariff for revenue limited to the necessities of the Government economically administered and so adjusted in its application as to prevent unequal burdens, encourage productive industries at home, and afford just compensation to labor, but not to create or foster monopolies, and to this end we favor the abolition of the internal revenue system of taxes and such adjustment of the existing tariff duties as will be consistent with these principles."

THE TENEMENT HOUSE CIGAR BILL PASSED BY THE ASSEMBLY—PROSPECT OF PASSAGE IN THE SENATE—ARGUMENTS OF MR. WISE AND MR. STRASSER.

The New York Assembly passed on Wednesday the new Tenement House Cigar bill, which was framed with a view to avoiding the objections raised by the Court of Appeals to the bill on the same subject previously enacted. The following telegram from our Albany correspondent enabled us to personally make known to cigar manufacturers in this city the fact of the passage of the bill in advance of all other purveyors of public intelligence:—

ALBANY, N. Y., April 9.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 9.

Tobacco Leaf Publishing Co.:

The Committee on Public Health of the Senate reported favorably the Tenement House Cigar bill. Its chances of becoming a law are very good.

It remains to be seen whether or not the Senate will act as unwisely in this matter as the House has done.

Our correspondent telegraphed Friday afternoon as follows:—

ALBANY, N. Y., April 11.

Tobacco Leaf Publishing Co.:

Tenement House Cigar bill will come up under special order Monday evening in the Senate, and the indications are that it will pass.

THE BILL AS PASSED.

AN ACT to improve the public health by prohibiting the manufacture of cigars and preparation of tobacco in any form in tenement houses in certain cases, and regulating the use of tenement houses in certain cases.

The people of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:—

Section 1. The manufacture of cigars or preparation of tobacco in any form on any floor, or any part of any floor, in any tenement house is hereby prohibited if such floor or any part of such floor is by any person occupied as a home or residence for the purpose of living, sleeping, cooking, or doing any household work therein.

Sec. 2. Any house, building, or portion thereof occupied as a home or residence of more than three families, living independently of one another, and doing their cooking upon the premises, is a tenement house within the meaning of this act.

Sec. 3. The first floor of said tenement house, on which there is a store for the sale of cigars and tobacco, shall be exempt from the prohibition provided in section one of this act.

Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of every sanitary inspector of any city to which this act is applicable, to report any violation of this act to the board of health of such city, or to the police magistrate, and to procure the punishment of the person or persons having committed such violation; but this provision shall not be construed to preclude any other citizen from performing the duty herein assigned to said sanitary inspector.

Sec. 5. Every person who shall be found guilty of a violation of this act, or of having caused another to commit such violation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished for every offense by a fine of not less than ten dollars and not more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment of not less than ten days and not more than six months, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 6. This act shall apply only to cities having over five hundred thousand inhabitants.

ARGUMENTS OF MR. WISE AND MR. STRASSER.

The interminable Tenement House Cigar bill was argued in the Public Health Committee of the Senate at Albany on Tuesday last, Mr. Morris S. Wise, as usual, representing the cigar manufacturers, and Mr. Strasser, representing the labor unions, Mr. Strasser, who had not apparently profited by the lesson taught him in logic and debate by Mr. Wise in their last encounter, made some startling assertions to the committee, of which Senator Low, the able opponent of the oleomargarine fraud, is chairman.

Mr. Strasser said, among other things, that the number of manufacturers producing this system was twenty-five; that the city members had uniformly voted for the law in previous years, and they surely knew what was good for the city, and that the workmen had petitioned Congress some years ago to prohibit the system; that Senator Conkling had championed their side of the question, but had felt compelled to refuse them relief in the United States Senate for the reason that in the Senate's opinion the matter was properly the subject for State and not national legislation.

Mr. Strasser, with the evident view of capturing the chairman of the committee, also asserted, in referring to the constitutionality of the proposed law, that it was founded on the doctrine of the police power contained in the oleomargarine law "so ably championed by the chairman and passed that day," etc.

He also made the startling assertion that the death rate in the cigar tenements of New York city ranged from 35 to 100 per thousand.

These arguments, glibly put forth by Mr. Strasser, furnished Mr. Wise with a whole magazine of ammunition wherewith to fire sundry broadsides at his enemy and to blow him out of sight.

Mr. Wise began his reply by telling Mr. Strasser that he (Strasser) would make a good fiddler, as he drew a long bow. That Mr. Strasser had been guilty not alone of falsehood, but his falsehoods were deliberate and he had had to do with it. Mr. Strasser wanted this law passed because the children of the cigar-makers were killed and made into oleomargarine; or perhaps the dairy interest needed protection because the home workmen used oleomargarine exclusively.

He (Strasser) had attempted to grease the chairman by dragging oleomargarine into this fight. But this was consistent, because oleomargarine had as much to do with cigar making in tenements as the question of public health had to do with it. Perhaps Mr. Strasser wanted this law passed because the children of the cigar-makers were killed and made into oleomargarine; or perhaps the dairy interest needed protection because the home workmen used oleomargarine exclusively.

manufacture of cigars in tenement houses. If the Senators are influenced in their action by the mere fact of the number of cigars they will promptly reject it. It is in the interest of a lot of demagogues who want all cigar-makers to be employed in factories so that they may be more easily subjected to union rules. The Board of Health investigated the matter some time ago, and found no reason for stopping this home manufacturing on the ground of its unhealthfulness. If the Assembly bill becomes a law it will deprive many worthy poor people of the means of earning an honest living.

THE SEED LEAF MARKET THROUGH DEALERS' SPECTACLES.

Estimates of Stocks in First Hands Vary Materially.

THEY RANGE FROM 30,000 TO 50,000 CASES.

The Condition of Trade.

With a view to ascertaining the judgment of the leaf tobacco trade relative to the existing state of business and the amount of leaf held in first hands at the present time, a LEAF reporter interviewed a number of representative men of the Seed leaf market on Thursday. The opinions, as given to him, are recorded below. The estimates of the different gentlemen who were consulted are widely divergent. They all agree on one point, however, and that is, that there is a scarcity of tobacco. Some place the number of cases of tobacco now in first hands as high as 50,000 cases, and others as low as 30,000 cases.

Mr. N. Lachenbruch:—The market is quiet, but goods move off with considerable regularity in small parcels. There is very little tobacco remaining in the country. Not near so much as people think there is. The new crop of Wisconsin will not exceed 15,000 cases, and of that only 5,000 cases will come to this market. About one-third of that crop is taken by one manufacturing firm in this city. The rest of the crop is sold to the market, and as soon as the crop for Havana Seed has died out, it will be readily bought. I cannot give any estimate of the stock of old tobacco held, as I have not figured it out at all.

Mr. Sam'l Spingarn:—I think that from 42,000 to 45,000 cases of 1881 Pennsylvania remain unsold. There are from 1,500 to 2,000 cases of 1882 Pennsylvania in the hands of dealers. I have not figured it out, but I should think that not much more than 40,000 cases of old tobacco of all kinds and growths remain in possession of dealers. Trade is quiet, and suitable goods are scarce.

Mr. Cassin Tag:—Without going into figures I would place the stock of 1881 Pennsylvania at 15,000 cases. Of 1882 tobacco of all kinds I judge 15,000 to 18,000 cases would be a correct estimate. The market is quiet. There has been some new Havana Seed sold this week. I place the stock of all old tobaccos at 45,000 or 50,000 cases.

Mr. Schroeder & Son:—Very little Seed leaf is selling. Sundries are being bought at a lively rate. We can give no estimate of stocks held by dealers. We don't see that any one can say how much of this leaf or that leaf is held in the market with any degree of certainty.

Mr. E. M. Crawford:—I have formed no estimate of how much tobacco is in the hands of dealers yet unsold. It would take considerable figuring, and even then the result would be very uncertain. All the 1881 Pennsylvania is pretty well sold, excepting the portion of it which is wrappers. The market is quiet, and very little good old tobacco is for sale.

Mr. Julius Bunzl:—I estimate the 1881 Pennsylvania now in first hands at 10,000 cases. The stock of 1882 of all kinds cannot exceed 20,000 cases. The entire stock of old tobacco, I think, is 30,000, possibly 35,000, cases. Business is quiet. The market is bare of suitable goods.

Mr. Landman:—I have no idea what the stock of old tobacco is. I think there is much less 1881 Pennsylvania in first hands than is generally thought. A great deal of this tobacco has been sold privately, for the reason that the seller did not wish to have it known that he had sold it. He has sold it to his customers to know that he was using it, on account of the prejudice against it.

Mr. G. Falk, of G. Falk & Bro.:—Business is very quiet. Manufacturers complain of inactivity in trade, and are indisposed to buy much. The stocks held here are not suitable. The entire stock of all kinds of tobacco, I think, is 30,000, possibly 35,000, cases. Business is quiet. The market is bare of suitable goods.

10,000 cases of 1881 Pennsylvania is a fair estimate. Mr. M. H. Levin:—I am inclined to think that the stock of old tobacco lying around the country. I cannot give an estimate, as I have no idea how much tobacco there is yet in first hands. It is hard to say anything about it, and estimates made are more or less unreliable.

BUSINESS MENTION.

While visiting Philadelphia this week, we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. J. E. Portuondo, of 1342 Chestnut street. As was to be expected, we found him continuing the policy which has made the success of the "La Flor de Portuondo" factory, and the popularity of the "La Flor de Portuondo" brand of cigars. Of this brand he makes a specialty, and his name has become associated in the public mind with the enjoyment that smoking good cigars gives. He continues importing direct from the island of Cuba the Vuelta Abajo leaf tobacco, and thus maintains the great reputation of his high grade of cigars. Himself a Cuban, he adds his native advantages the superiority which great study, close application and long experience combine to give him. His factory is worked on principles that are peculiar to itself, and are such as to warrant the assumption that he will not only be successful in his present position in the trade, but become one of the most prominent manufacturers of cigars of the high order of merit in the country. Some of Mr. Portuondo's productions exceed many of the imported brands. Mr. Portuondo keeps a large wholesale and retail store at 1342 Chestnut street. Mr. W. C. Herrmann, who represents the house on the road, leaves for the West in a few days. We call the attention of our readers to the card of Mr. Portuondo on our 5th page.

We are advised of the dissolution of the well-known Havana tobacco importing firm of V. Miranda & Co., of New York, and the re-organization of Mr. Edward Kaeppler, Mr. Jacob Weiss, Hirsch and Mr. M. Wm. Wilkens, who have been connected with the old firm for many years, and their business will be conducted under the firm name of Weiss, Hirsch & Wilkens.

The attention of our readers is called to the card of Messrs. Lasa & Millos, cigar manufacturers at 29 South Eleventh street, Philadelphia. This firm, who have been connected with the Quaker City cigar trade for the past fifteen years, have, by strict integrity and close application to business, built up an enviable trade in fine Havana and domestic cigars, which they sell in large quantities. Parties desiring a good article at reasonable figures are requested to give them a call.

Our Richmond correspondent says:—"The new firm of Arrington & Scott have become members of our trade, with offices at old tobacco Exchange. The senior members are Arrington & Sons, of Petersburg, Va., a large and well-known commission house; while the junior member, Mr. Jno. R. Scott, Jr., is a son of J. R. Scott, president of the Richmond and Petersburg Railroad, and vice president of the Merchants' National Bank of this city. It is a capital concern."

One side of our supplement this week is occupied by the advertisement of Wm. Wickes & Co., the cigar-box, ribbon and label manufacturers, who announce their removal to their immense new factories, corner of First and Second streets, New York. Mr. Wickes & Co. are vacating a factory which is large, but the new one they will occupy from now on will be a large one. It is a description, and at some future time we will seek to picture it as it is to our readers who have not the opportunity of actually perusing it. As will be seen by reading Mr. Chaskel's announcement, he directs attention to his new brand of flavor called the "Aroma de Cuba," and other old brands that have won a reputation for him. One grand feature of Mr. Chaskel's flavors is that they are distinct and different from each other. By using them singly or by combining them, manufacturers can make up to 100 different flavored brands, and will therefore be enabled to suit all tastes; and by their own ingenuity in making a suitable combination, can sell their customers a cigar that they alone make, instead of as before, when all manufacturers used the same flavor. Mr. Wickes & Co. are wholesale agents for Mr. Chaskel.

The leaf tobacco firm of Messrs. Julius Vetterlein & Co., of 135 Arch street, Philadelphia, has done a very satisfactory business during the past twelve months, and their trade, we learn, is steadily increasing. The senior member of the firm, Julius Vetterlein, is a native of Philadelphia some forty-five years ago, and none is more honored and esteemed than he. The firm carry at all times a good stock of Seed leaf and imported tobaccos, and are always ready to supply any demand made upon them.

LOCAL JOTTINGS.

—Report says H. Schubart & Co. sold a lot of new Havana Seed this week.

—N. Lachenbruch & Bro. sold 500 cases new 1882 Pennsylvania Seed to Straiton & Storm a day or two ago.

—Mr. Jas. S. Hudson, of Stoughton, Wis., the agent there for E. Rosenwald & Bro., is in the city comparing notes with his principals.

—One pleasant feature of the week in the cigar trade is the one million cigar order received by one manufacturing firm on Thursday.

PHILADELPHIA NOTES.

Mr. Arthur L. Robinson, vice-president of the Louisville Leaf Tobacco Co. of Louisville, Ky., paid our city a visit this week.

Mr. Ford, Oppenheimer, the New York leaf dealer, was seen on our market this week.

Mr. John Lottier, of the firm of Lawrence Lottier of Richmond, spent a few days in our city this week. Mr. Lottier says the "Police" is earning the reputation of being "one of the finest" in the country.

Mr. J. M. Duncan, representing the firm of M. B. McDowell & Co. of Chicago, was in town this week. Mr. Duncan's visit was caused by the death of his venerable father, William Duncan, Esq., who died a week ago at the good old age of 80 years.

The opinion of some of the packers of Pennsylvania leaf in this city has very much changed recently in regard to the crop of '83 tobacco. They say a great deal of poor tobacco has been raised; at the same time, some of the finest grades of leaf have been seen this year, as good as can be found in the best of previous crops.

Some very handsome textures of Wisconsin Havana Seed of '82 was shown on the market this week, which has returned from Europe. It found many admirers.

Mr. John G. Grant, the business manager of THE TOBACCO LEAF, spent a couple of days in our city this week. As usual, he is all smiles. He is on his Southern trip. We wish him the same success, wherever he goes, that he always receives in the Quaker City.

Quite an extensive sale of low and medium grade cigars took place here the past week at auction, which brought much better prices than could be realized at private sale.

Mr. Edward Batchelor, of the firm of E. Batchelor & Co., could be seen on our streets this week, looking exceedingly well, after passing through his painful surgical operation.

Teller Bros. are doing a large business in Havana tobacco of their own importation. They sold 125 bales to Gumpert Bros., the cigar manufacturers, this week.

Mr. Albert Marburg could be seen this week in our market, lively and full of good humor as ever. Mr. Marburg is on an Eastern tour, and states that his firm's "Seal of North Carolina" and other brands of popular smoking tobacco, meet as usual, with great success.

CINCINNATI NOTES.

The cigar-makers' outlook still continues, and no signs of an early discontinuance of it are discernible. D. W. Staderker & Co., the St. Charles street manufacturers, have become thoroughly disgusted with the tyranny of the Cigar-makers' Union here, and have decided to remove their business to some other place. It is not improbable that other manufacturers will follow their example, and go elsewhere.

Binsinger & Brunswick, the latter gentleman of the Brunswick Billiard Table Co., have established a liquor and cigar business on Main street. Isaac Reis, the bankrupt cigar and leaf dealer, will be manager of the new concern.

I caught a glimpse of Lawyer Morris S. Wise, of New York, on our streets yesterday. He came here to attend to the Williams failure, and from what I hear, a lawsuit will be the outcome of his visit.

CHICAGO NOTES.

I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Powell. In the trade Mr. Powell is the representative of Julius Ellinger & Co., of 51 Murray street, New York, with branch factory in Key West, Fla.

There will be very little moving done by our cigar and tobacco jobbers and wholesale concern on May 1, the next moving day, as they seem, with one or two exceptions, to be fully satisfied with present quarters.

I notice that Aaron Goldsmith has again bobbed up serenely in our market, with his usual smiling countenance.

It seems Chicago is never to be known as a plug tobacco manufacturing center. Those who have tried it seem to have met with disastrous results. Rumor has it that one company, who adopted a name but recently, is again searching Webster's Unabridged for a new appropriate title, which will be the "open sesame" to the dealers' pockets.

Quiet still reigns supreme in the Chicago trade, and drummers seem to be aware of the fact as well as manufacturers.

Mr. Swartz, of Wm. Demuth & Co., the well-known pipe house of New York city, says trade in their line is about the same with them as all others—not much to do and plenty of time to do it in.

I think all the big preparators must have gone into their hole and pulled the hole in after them, as after diligent search I cannot find them; therefore I think at least some have reformed, although Jim Davis and Aaron Shubert are out of town.

Puro Butter.

John W. Woodside, a member of the firm of Stewart, Ralph & Co. of Philadelphia, and well known to the tobacco trade of this country as secretary of the National Tobacco Association of the United States, has become largely interested in the dairy business, and is producing at his "Big Milk Dairies," at Oxford, Chester county, Pa., a large quantity of "Gilt Edge" butter. Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia are at present the principal markets, but Mr. Woodside proposes very soon to give the people of New York an opportunity to use good pure butter at a reasonable price.

New Tobacco Warehouses to be Constructed.

A joint stock company has been formed here for the erection of a large tobacco warehouse, and rumor has it that another will also be built in time to handle the next crop. These are built to enable Winston to handle the large crop which will be raised in surrounding counties, if weather is favorable.

Two Months Earlier.

"Old Times" sketch, "Forty Years Ago," published in last week's Leaf, was intended to say: Leaf tobacco stored in Galveston, Texas, would sweat and mature two months earlier than at the North, instead of two weeks, as printed from the original manuscript.

American Newspapers in 1884.

From the edition of Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co.'s "American Newspaper Directory," now in press, it appears that the newspapers and periodicals of all kinds at present issued in the United States and Canada reach a grand total of 13,402. This is a net gain of precisely 1,600 during the last twelve months, and exhibits an increase of 6.81% over the total number published just ten years since. The increase in 1874 over the total for 1873 was 493. During the past year the dailies have increased from 1,138 to 1,254; the weeklies from 3,022 to 3,028; and the monthlies from 1,091 to 1,092. The greatest increase is in the Western States. Illinois, for instance, now shows 1,000 papers in place of last year's total of 904, while Missouri increases 604 instead of the 523 reported in 1883. Other leading Western States also exhibit a great percentage of increase. The total number of papers in New York State is 1,323, against 1,309 in 1883. Canada has shared in the general increase.

The large barn of Col. Jas. Duffy, near Marietta, Pa., together with an immense stock of grain, agricultural implements and twelve head of blooded stock, were burned Monday night.

Annual Report of the Tobacco Trade of San Francisco for 1883.

This is one of the lines of trade where there has been a decided advance made in 1883. The total imports of tobacco exceed those of 1882 very considerably—those of manufacture especially so. Only in cigar importation has there been any falling off; but that has been made up by the increase in the quantity manufactured. The tax agitation unsettled business in the early part of the year, but this was made up for long before the close. Not only has our home trade been good, but our export demand is progressing also. The reduction of the tax results more to the benefit of the retailers than it does to the manufacturers or consumers. There has been some talk of doing away with the duty altogether, and this has received the support of the growers, but the opposition of the manufacturers, who do not wish their business to be periodically disturbed by the uncertainty arising from continual changes in revenue matters.

The value of the business done last year may be given as follows:

Tobacco manufactured	$3,500,000
Do leaf	2,000,000
Do cigars	5,200,000
Total for 1883	$10,700,000
Do 1882	9,750,000

CIGARS.	Cases.
1883	2,444
1882	2,631
1881	1,977
1880	1,992
1879	2,354
1878	1,739

The importations of the year have fallen off somewhat, but not as much as had been supposed, seeing that we have received close on 24,000,000. There is, though, a falling off of about 2,500,000. This is indicative of what may be expected in the future, as our make of cigars have far exceeded that of any other year in the history of the trade. The following table gives the production for the past year and for several years past:

	No.
January	11,975,450
February	11,193,475
March	11,654,025
April	5,627,200
May	24,674,778
June	13,375,350
July	13,351,500
August	15,612,500
September	15,519,300
October	15,854,550
November	15,390,420
December	16,346,176
Total for 1883	171,188,125

Our increase, therefore, has been nearly eight millions over 1882. The course of production did not run smoothly. In April it fell to five millions, but in May, when the tax reduction was effected, it rose to nearly twenty-five million. Since then its course has been nominal. There has been a light export by sea, and by the Central and Southern Pacific roads. The latter, especially to the West and South. This is one of our industries that continues to flourish. The reduction of the internal revenue tax has not been of any benefit to the consumers or manufacturers. The cigar-makers have obtained a portion of it in higher wages, while the retailers have had the rest. The opening year promises an equally satisfactory record as the past.

Imports from Havana, as well as from Manila, have, to a very great extent, given place to our own local factories, of which there are scores of them, employing hundreds, if not thousands, of Chinese, Mexicans and other foreigners. We have also a Boys' and Girls' Factory, which latter needs the fostering care of our citizens. Competent men engaged in the business agree that the number of cigars made far exceeds that of previous years. Our local makers have worked up quite an extensive export trade with the West—as regards beauty of finish, but also of quality, or even temperature is said to be very beneficial to the tobacco leaf, and our cigars are correspondingly esteemed.

The tobacco trade of 1883 was affected by the same cause that affected the cigar trade, to wit, the complications arising from the tax and revenue matters. Sales declined greatly in April and May, in fact the pending reduction affected the trade of all the earlier part of the year. There was no profit, or little or none, to importers from it, as the price went down to 60¢, while the revenue reduction was 50¢. During the latter part of the year there was an advance of 2 to 3¢, owing to the reported probable short crops of the tobacco growing section of the East, and prices next year will probably be stiffer. The manufacturing interest developed respectable proportions, as shown by the following table:

	No.

The very promising outlook here indicated has ceased with the failure of the Seal Tobacco Company, owing partly to the fact of not preparing goods well suited to the market and partly to internal complications. Then the jobbers were not very anxious to favor the new goods, and they had every stock for the coming year, and with high prices, will make money. The stock on hand cannot be less than three millions of pounds. The quantity of leaf used in the manufacture of cigars and tobacco was close on five million pounds, so that there must be a large stock in the city. The importations at other places have been considerable, reaching over eight hundred thousand pounds.—San Francisco Journal of Commerce.

At a meeting of the cigar-makers of the State, in Newark, N. J., it was decided to establish a black-list similar to that of the brewers, as a means of getting rid of bad paying customers.

FOREIGN TOBACCO NEWS.

(Translated for The Tobacco Leaf.)

TURKISH TOBACCO.

The exports of tobacco (and tumbekis) from Smyrna during 1882, according to a recent statistical statement, amounted in value to 675,700 francs.

TOBACCO CULTIVATION IN ALGERIA.

The cultivation of tobacco was first introduced in Algeria by French colonists during the year 1844, and from that period rapidly progressed, so that the production in 1886 amounted to 3,000,000 kilos. From that time there was a decline in the quality of the tobacco, causing a reduction of the trade, but at the present time a good quality of tobacco is produced, especially in those localities where the ground is fertilized by irrigation. No restraint is placed on tobacco-raising on the part of the Government, but the best quality is bought up for the French Regie. Most of the kind produced is of a kind known in Algeria as chebli. During the years 1876-77 and '80, Europeans were engaged in the cultivation and manufacture of tobacco in Algeria, who produced 2,732,500 kilos on 2,471 hectares of ground, while 8,021 native planters produced only 1,342 kilos on 4,154 hectares of land. Since that time there has been an occasional decrease in the amount produced, owing to some dry seasons. The amount of fine tobacco, and of the kind known as chebli, averages from six to eight quintals for each hectare, one quintal being equal to 100 kilos.

Of the other qualities about ten or eight quintals are raised at an average on a hectare of ground. During the period from 1877 to 1881 the French Government bought up in Algeria about 15,650,000 kilos raw leaf tobacco, amounting in value to 11,900,000 francs. The Algerian tobacco trade is a manufacture met with great success at the French Exposition and at the World's Fairs at Melbourne and Sydney, where by official reports it has been established that tobacco manufacture has been brought to great perfection in Algeria. The exportation of leaf tobacco from the colony amounted during the year 1887 to about 350,000 kilos, while during the period of 1877 and 1878 the exportation was as follows: In 1877, manufactured tobacco, 121,000 kilos; unmanufactured, 3,445,441 kilos; in 1877, manufactured tobacco, 121,000 kilos; unmanufactured, 3,445,441 kilos. In 1879 only 1,087,500 planters were engaged in tobacco raising in Algeria, who devoted 3,180 hectares of land to tobacco, producing 1,226,181 kilos; 11,079 native planters devoted 6,584 hectares of land to tobacco raising, producing 1,384,802 kilos. The exportation of tobacco from Algeria was unmanufactured, and 148,345 kilos manufactured tobacco for the year 1880.

According to statistical records it appears that the exportation of tobacco from Algeria during the period from 1871 to 1881 amounted in value to about $5,700,000 francs.

In consequence of the failure of the tobacco crop in the German tobacco regions last year, it appears that efforts will be made to induce the Government to raise the duty on imported tobacco, which is already subjected to a duty of 42 1/2 marks per cent. At Schwedt-on-the-Oder, which is the centre of a tobacco-growing region, a committee of tobacco growers has been set out to the Government and a number of leading citizens of the locality, was recently formed to prepare a petition to be submitted to the German Parliament, calling for an increase of the tobacco duties. Arrangements were also made for a public meeting in reference to this matter, and the members of the Reichstag were expected to be present.

INFORMATION FOR TOBACCO GROWERS.

Speaking of the preparation of tobacco-plant beds, a Wisconsin exchange says: "The better location is a hillside of rich ground with southern or eastern exposure, well protected on the north and east sides. An old bed should never be used for a new variety of seed. The ground should be well spaded or plowed in the fall. Dig a pit eight inches deep, five feet wide, and the required length, fill three or four inches with straw, and cover with a layer of stable manure to the depth of six or eight inches. At the bottom of the pit, add a layer of soil, and cover with soil, adding wood mould, if convenient, five inches deep.

In the spring, as soon as the soil is dry enough to work, it should be raked off fine and mellow. The bed may be greatly enriched by a top-dressing of manure, but should not be placed so close in contact with the seed, but below to tempt the roots. Build a cold frame around the bed, with plank twelve inches wide on the north or upper side, and six inches wide on the south or lower side. In ordinary seasons it is best to sow the seed at three different times, about a week apart, say the first, second and third weeks of April, so that transplanting may be done in June, and a rush avoided in topping and cutting.

The Miamibus Bulletin says: "The first of April is early enough for any kind of tobacco seed. Dutch Seed Leaf and White Burley should be sown on the list, and canvassed. Zimmer's Spanish, Wilson's and Allen's Hybrids, Haynes' and Binkley's Havana may be sown in the first week of April. If Zimmer's Spanish is sown at that time, the plants will be up in eight to ten days and ready to plant by the 25th of May."

William Schöveling, of New Milford, Conn., recommends to tobacco raisers the following fertilizer as the best known: 2,000 lbs cotton seed meal, 1,000 lbs superphosphate, 500 lbs air-slaked lime, and 100 lbs ground land plaster, well mixed and sowed broadcast on the tobacco ground, and well harrowed in. This quantity will be sufficient for two acres, and costs from $54 to $56.

In the selection of soil for beds choose preferably clay, loam, mixed with black loam. Let the beds be five feet wide and run lengthwise east and west. Turn up the ground shallow, not over six inches, elevating the surface three to four inches, with a fall of about two inches from north to south. Run six-inch boards along the south side of the bed and eight-inch boards along the north side, with a reflector on the north side, with triangular end pieces. Now cover the surface of the bed barely with chicken manure. Rake when ready to sow and cover with fine rotten wood and loam gathered from about a decayed log in the forest, to the depth of four to six inches. Lay a dry seed and mix with dry leached ashes, and sow on a still day. Do not mix the seed with ashes until you are ready to sow. Tramp with a board or pat across the center lengthwise, to take show-ers. Keep the surface of the bed moist, moist; carelessness in this particular will be fatal. Remove the canvas every day for about twelve days before planting; keeping it off between the hours of 3 P. M. and 9 P. M. to harden the plants.

Deep, old soil, well drained and heavily fertilized with well rotted barnyard manure is best for tobacco. Avoid shallow, level new and undrained lands. Phosphates for tobacco are yet in serious doubt. Fields that were not roughly plowed and fertilized last fall are now before us for treatment. The best immediate results are attained by covering such fields with manure and plowing it under, so as to throw the manure two or three inches below the surface, then harrow occasionally until ready to furrow and hill.

Every planter should sow two or three times as much seed as he will require, and make three or four sowings, a week apart, to manœuvre for choice of plants and season. Be prepared to water out your plants rather than allow them to attain leaves larger than a silver dollar before planting.—Miamibus Bulletin, April 6.

The most important point to secure a good sweat is to have the leaf in the proper order, neither too dry nor too damp. In one case the sweat will be insufficient and necessitate re-sweating, which process seldom reflects to the advantage of the grower. In the other case the leaf is liable to sustain damage or become altogether worthless. The necessary amount of moisture absorbed by the leaf to render it in proper condition must be decided by the judgment and experience of the packer. Some qualities require more than others, it makes some difference whether the moisture is obtained by the application of water or from the atmosphere, or whether the moisture has been accumulated from a dampening cellar by remaining there longer than is necessary. An even air damp is considered the best, but if the tobacco has been kept or dampened in a cellar, care should be taken to dry out the butts previous to packing. It is here that damage is liable to occur, or at least begin. It is a good plan to leave a space of about half an inch between the butts and the head of the case to allow surplus moisture to escape, and to give the case to be more easily removed in sampling. About 400 pounds in wrappers, in three feet six inch or three feet eight inch cases, according to the length of the hands, is the proper weight to pack. Pack 375 pounds seconds in three feet six inch or three feet four inch cases, and fillers in three feet cases with about 350 pounds.

The old style of "lining" up the cases should be avoided, as it is strongly objected to by manufacturers. It is well enough to put poor or short hands, if there are any, on the outside, but using seconds, top leaves or any other sort or grade than that which comprises the bulk of the case is an injury, not only to the reputation of the packer, but will affect the price of the goods if the fact is known to the buyer. Cases when packed should be in close room above the warehouses, with a free circulation of air around, but not in it, which room should be opened as little as possible during the sweat. It is sometimes advisable to cover the cases on top with boards or blankets, the better to retain the heat. The cases should always lie upon the head and never be allowed to stand on the head after packing, even for a short time. When the tobacco has once entered the sweat care should be taken not to open the cases till the process is completed, or to let it cool off too quickly by subjecting it to cool draughts of air.—W. F. A., Hartford county, Conn.

HINTS AND SUGGESTIONS.

To Inquire: William Wilson & Son, Plainville, Onondaga county, N. Y., are the originators of Wilson's hybrid (Havana) tobacco.

Notice is again given that our supply of Sumatra tobacco seed is exhausted, and no more can be obtained.

The question of how much seed to sow in the bed is perhaps one of the most perplexing connected with its early stages. Also whether to sprout the seed or sow dry. Both ways are practiced, though for the larger number of growers the seed should be sown sown, thoroughly tested before sowing, as then a better estimate of the amount that should come up can be made. Then plants, when they begin to grow, will not prove too thick, which is the almost universal complaint. When a plant is taken out of such a thick mass and put to the test, the grower believes every day of a long June day, the chances are small for its living, much less for growth. It is rarely you hear any say their seed bed is just right. So it is safe to say there is hardly any danger of sowing too thin. My rule is a desert of sowing in being. If you are not sure, raise from two to three times as many plants as are needed; it is better to have too many than not enough.—E. N. Hawley, Fairfield county, Conn.—New England Homestead.

A gentleman who has cultivated tobacco for the past twenty years in Kentucky writes to the Leaf, giving his experience as a tobacco raiser. He says:

"I have come to the conclusion that 'Little Yellow' is the most profitable tobacco for general cultivation. This variety matures from ten to twelve days earlier than the other varieties, causing less work and being safer to grow. I have never bought one pound of fertilizer on my farm. I believe every farm should produce her own fertilizer by turning under green crops and saving all available manure that the farm-yard produces, and do away with the cost of foreign fertilizers. I sow new plant beds burnt in February in new ground, where the evening sun will shine on them.

"I follow my ground in the fall, before the frost kills the grass. I do my deep plowing in the fall, or not at all. I lay off my rows three feet ten inches apart; take a small one-plow and throw the furrows together, to form a little ridge, then check the other way the same distance and the tobacco will stand three feet ten inches apart. I always set out as early as possible, for the early planting is nearly always the surest crop. Weeds and grass must be kept down by plowing deep and often. When the plants are ten inches high throw the dirt to them with a diamond plow and that will fill them up and keep them from leaning in case of wind or rain. As soon as the tobacco is ready to top, the bottom leaves should be taken off, for they are nothing but worm harbors. When the topping is done, nearly all growers quit plowing, but I find that the production will be nearly doubled by continuing to plow shallow until the weed begins to grain. The plant will be no larger but much thicker, and commands a higher price. Always let the crop mature. Tobacco cut green will be light and bitter, and is not worth half as much as good ripe sweet tobacco. Great pains must be taken to keep every leaf sound. Do not hang too much on a stick, neither should the sticks be crowded in the barn, for there is danger of the house burning. If too thick, then the tobacco begins to yellow, and the result will be a bad crop. Keep it in the barn until the leaf is cured. Only replace the fire in time of very damp weather, and you will have a nice crop if your barn is tight."

The Clergy and Tobacco.

The Philadelphia annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, now in progress at St. George's Church, Philadelphia, was Friday a week ago called to order for the third day's work by Bishop Warren. The pliancy of the meeting was soon ruffled. Dr. H. B. Swindells, a prominent member of the pointment of a committee to prepare for the entertainment of the delegates at the next annual conference.

"The detestable habit of chewing and smoking indulged in by many of our preachers," exclaimed the Rev. William Cooper, with visible excitement, "has alienated even the most hospitable people, and unless they are assured that their carpets will not be ruined by tobacco expectorations we cannot expect them to receive ministers in their houses as guests."

This opened up the question of "tobacco and the clergy," and the Rev. Mr. Swindells hastened to assure the patiently-listening Bishop that preachers, as a rule, were and always would be regardless of their obligations in the homes in which they were received.

Dr. Cooper reiterated his statement, and declared he knew at least one case where a sister was compelled to purchase a new carpet after the tobacco-chewing preachers had gone. The motion of Mr. Swindells prevailed.

Mr. S. W. Hokes, of Manchester township, York Pa., last year raised on a quarter acre of ground 397 pounds of Wilson's Hybrid Havana tobacco which he sold at 23 cents, realizing from his quarter acre of ground $91.30, which would be at the rate of $365.20 per acre.

Mr. John T. Skinner, of Baldwinville, N. Y., paid out for Lichtenstein Bros. & Co. nearly $100,000 in the last ten days. Over 1,200 cases have been received, about one-half of their purchase.

SEED LEAF CROP REPORTS.

NEW YORK.
Baldwinsville (N. Y.) Gazette, April 10:—There is nothing doing in the tobacco market. We have not learned of a single transaction during the present week. What few crops are in the hands of the growers are generally held too high to meet the ideas of the buyers. The growers are busy getting their plant beds ready and procuring their seed. The indications are—judging from the reports we have received—that more tobacco will be grown in this section this year than last, and probably more than was ever grown in one year before.

MASSACHUSETTS AND CONNECTICUT.

Hartford (Conn.) Post, April 8:—Most of the farmers at Warehouse Point have sold their tobacco at satisfactory prices. Some of them were very fortunate in securing their crop before the early frost came, which did so much damage in several towns in the north part of the State. Messrs. William T. Barber, J. H. Simonds and H. J. Barber, twenty acres of good tobacco. Among others, Mr. R. A. Parker had ten acres of prime tobacco which he cut early and secured in good order.

It is anticipated that there will be the usual amount of tobacco raised this year. It is reported that Mr. George B. Barlow will export some sixty acres. Naturally enough, where so much tobacco is raised, cigar manufacturers locate.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Lancaster (Pa.) Intelligencer April 9:—The boom in '83 tobacco continues unabated. Buyers are still on the war-path, and the growers continue to deliver large quantities at the city warehouses, wherein may be seen large gangs of workmen assorting and packing the weed, which continues to show up much better than was expected earlier in the season, though buyers continue to growl at the inferior quality and refuse to pay higher prices than when the market opened. They all want Havana Seed, and to accommodate them large quantities of that variety will be planted at the proper time. From all parts of the county we hear that the acreage will be as large or larger than ever, and a great proportion of it will be of three popular kinds of Havana—New York, Wisconsin and Connecticut.

There appears to be an increasing demand for old Seed leaf tobacco, and the crops of '81 and '82 are being rapidly disposed of to jobbers and manufacturers. The sales of this city last week reached 600 cases or more, and though no figures have been obtained, prices are said to have improved.

Lancaster (Pa.) Examiner, April 9:—The sales of old tobacco in this market last week were 357 cases of '81 and 125 cases of '82. M. H. Marks & Co., of New York, purchasing 157 cases of '81 and 25 cases of '82. The boom in the '83 crop gave no evidence of falling off during the past week, but, on the contrary, seemed rather to increase. Buyers were out in every direction in large numbers, and ten of them met at one point in Salisbury township last week. The best evidence of the existence of a boom is the great quantity of tobacco received during the past week. Skiles & Frey received 400 cases; J. Bunzl & Sons, 400; John Moore, 400; C. G. Schuberth & Co., 400; John McLaughlin, 300; B. S. Kendig & Co., 300; Henry C. Moore, 200; David E. Adams, 200; J. H. Hillbrand, 200; Sener & Kreider, 200; John Hildebrand, 200, at prices ranging from 6 to 25 for wrappers, 4 to 6 for seconds and 2 to 3 for fillers.

A correspondent writing from Morgantown, Berks county, about two miles from the Lancaster county line, says: "Buyers have been through Honeybrook township, Chester county, last week

Spencer's Price Current, March 29.
The following brands have been registered at the Civil Government of this province: "La Corona" (cigarettes) by D. Perfecto R. Lopez, and "Ellen" (cigars) by D. Juan Lopez.
According to the report of La Alborada of Pinar del Rio, the tobacco crop has been safely housed in that vicinity, and persons of intelligence pronounce the quality excellent for the larger part.
Leaf—This market has continued very quiet; but owing to the recent arrival of a certain number of parcels of the Vuelta Abajo new crop, to be immediately followed by larger ones, a renewal of business is generally anticipated, inasmuch as the tobacco trade in all its branches has been the less affected by the prevailing financial crisis. Among the first parcels received there are several that, as regards classes and prices, are quite suitable for the American and German markets.
Cigars—No extra movement is being as yet noticed at any of our factories, only a few of the most credited ones working on a moderate scale. We are informed that one of the most important and long established manufacturers at Key West intends to remove his factory from said place to this.
