

Ninth Annual Cooperman-Bogue Awards

Named after the founders of the Juvenile Welfare Board, the Cooperman-Bogue Awards honor outstanding Pinellas County human service workers. Honorees are those who consistently provide 110% effort to help children and families, and are an inspiration to co-workers and the people they serve. Above all, honorees represent the belief that extending a helping hand, not just during the normal workday, but all of the time, really does make a difference in peoples' lives. Each year, four winners are selected, from which the annual winner is chosen.
